POOL WORK IS PROGRESSING FINANCE EXPLAINED

Steady progress is being made on the repair and rebuilding of the Area Living War Memorial Swim Pool at Kendrick.

Some delay was experienced in shipment of some necessary items; but as of Monday, all items seem to be assured and it is hoped to complete the work by the latter part of this week — with the opening to be held early next week.

Financial Condition Explained

On June 9 the following explanatory letter went out from the swimming pool committee:

"Dear Pledgee: Your pledge for the Memorial Swimming Pool Fund is very much appreciated. The swimming pool repair situation has become more critical with the low bid on the equipment accepted at $4,625.00 cost. Engineering fees are $350.00 and installation costs and pipe are estimated at $1,000.00, making the total cost approximately $6,000.00.

The School District Summer Recreation Program will receive Federal Funds under P. L. 89-10 Title III Program has included $3,000.00 for pool repairs. This money has been granted and will be available soon.

This leaves the sum of $3,000.00 to be raised by Pledges and Donations. If the Pledge Sum collected should exceed the amount needed for immediate Pool Repairs, the money will be left in the Swimming Pool Fund for improvements and repairs in future years.

Your pledge was made originally with the understanding the pledge would not be needed if we received the Federal Grant Money. The payment of this pledge is your option. Your favorable support will help very much.

— Swimming Pool Committee."

A. O. Kanikkeberg, Treasurer

As in the original drive years ago when the money to build the pool was being raised, A. O. Kanikkeberg is treasurer of the Swimming Pool Fund. The committee states that if you can see your way clear to make your gift, it should be given to Mr. Kanikkeberg.

The gift is really needed, for costs far exceed the estimates, even with the government money.

RAIN, RAIN AND MORE RAIN OUR LOT

Everyone says "we had a wonderful winter" — but it seems that right now we are paying the bill for that time.

Rain, rain and more rain has been our lot for the past month, and this past week has certainly been no exception. Temperatures have been in the high 40's to low 50's at night, and mostly in the high 60's to low 70's during the day — and rain or "shower activity" as the "weatherman" prefers to call it, has been the rule.

Sunday the Kendrick area was visited with a miniature cloudburst, of brief duration — but how the rain did fall for about half an hour, with gutters running to capacity and the wind blowing.

Many farmers had planned to begin haying this week — but, following this downpour, it will probably be several days before field work can be resumed.

A few logging trucks are still operating, but most of them are sidelined, waiting for roads to dry out.

Another Storm Strikes Monday

Monday afternoon about 4:15 one of the blackest clouds imaginable appeared on the horizon, and shortly thereafter followed a few bolts of lightning and claps of thunder — and then the rain came. It literally poured for about 40 minutes. Gutters in downtown Kendrick were full to capacity, and huge "puddles" formed in every low spot.

The water rushing down the old school house hill carved great quantities of gravel off Main Street from the freshly oiled hill road, carrying off most of the surplus. Mud, carried by the water, streamed down the drainage ditch on the hill, and washed deep channels in the alley on the hill.

The storm also washed huge quantities of gravel off the roadbeds on the Sperry Grade and on State Highway 99 (American ridge).

Apparently most of the storm hit directly in the Potlatch canyon, for other areas reported but little, if any rain.

No major damage was reported to date from anywhere in the area.

GRASS SEEDING SET ALONG HIGHWAY

Through cooperation between the Idaho Highway Department, representatives of Kendrick farmers, and the Latah Soil & Water Conservation District, the seeding of grass along the new Kendrick-Troy highway (SH99) will be set up to suit local conditions.

Lester Clemm, district chairman, stated that at the regular Board meeting last week these men discussed three items — the use of straw as a mulch, seeding in the spring rather than the fall, and the addition of some brome grass to the seed mixture of hard fescue and crested wheat grass.

Attending the meeting were Dick Boscoter and Wayne May, Jr., of Kendrick; Gary Morris, Charles Bower, Gerald Snow and Lester Clemm of the district board; Don Aldrich, state highway engineer, and Mr. Huglen, contractor.

Strong concern was expressed by the farmers and the Board for making all possible effort to get a good stand of grass on future highway projects. For reasons of erosion control, weed prevention and community beautification it was felt these road seedings need careful attention.

The group suggested withholding grass seeding from the road building contract as a separate item, in order to make it possible to put in a roadside program in the spring, when it was most likely to be successful. It was the feeling of those present that by seeding in the spring the growth in the summer months would reduce the erosion problem that normally accompanies fall seeding.

DINNER HONORS PASTOR, FAMILY

A good sized crowd was present for the pot-luck dinner at the Kendrick Community Church, Sunday, June 4, at 12:30 p. m. Rev. and Mrs. David Zaske and children were guests of honor. ## LENORE BRIDGE TO BE CLOSED

Wednesday morning, June 14, the first span of the Lenore bridge over the Clearwater river, just off Highway 12, was lifted from its foundations and placed along side of the present roadway, where it will be dismantled. The 120-foot span will be replaced with a fill extending into the river and a shorter, 35-foot span. Crick Co., Spokane, contractors of the $552,900 Idaho Department of Highways contract to widen and straighten the roadway in the Lenore area, accomplished the removal by the use of two cranes.

A crane was placed on each side of the bridge, which picked up the span and lifted it onto the fill.

RANCHERS MOVING ANIMALS TO RANGES

Missoula — Ranchers have started moving approximately 152,000 head of cattle and 120,000 sheep onto the National Forest ranges in the five-state northern region, Neal M. Rahm, regional forester, announced.

Sixteen National Forests of the Northern Region extend from eastern Washington, across northern Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, and western South Dakota. More than 5 million acres of land in these National Forests are open to grazing. This includes four National Grass lands in the Custer National Forest.

Cattle and sheep graze these public lands under more than 2,200 paid grazing permits. Ranchers pay about 70 cents per cow-month for grazing the cattle and approximately 14 cent-sper sheep-month for the sheep. Approximately $92,000 of the fees paid for grazing is returned to local counties for schools and roads. Calves and lambs are not counted in the Forest Service's range-use count. Summer ranges are usually grazed from June 15 until about October 5.

Local ranchers and the Forest Service maintain more than 3,500 miles of range fence on these grazing allotments. They also cooperate in building and maintaining 550 miles of cattle driveway and about 4,000 water developments.

It is estimated that the 270,000 calves and lambs that graze in Northern Region National Forests will gain approximately 46 million pounds this summer. This represents 11 million dollars in local livestock operations.

In addition to the cattle and sheep that graze on the National Forests, more than 11,000 pack and saddle horses graze these public lands.

J. EDGAR HOOVER TALKS ON CRIME INCREASE IN U. S.

Wash., D. C. — Serious crime in the United States increased 11 percent in 1966, when compared with 1965, according to figures just made available.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said all Crime Index offenses showed substantial increases in volume. Crimes of violence were up 11 percent with a 9 percent increase in murder; 10 percent increase in aggravated assault; 10 percent in forcible rape, and robbery 14 percent. The crimes against property also increased 11 percent as a group. Individually, burglary rose 9 percent, while larceny, $50 and over in value, and auto-theft, were each up 12 percent.

Mr. Hoover stated crime increases were reported by all city groups, with the sharpest increase in volume having been noted in the group of cities with less than 10,000 inhabitants up 14 percent. Large cities with populations in excess of 100,000 had an average increase of 10 percent. The rural areas were up 7 percent and crime in the suburbs rose 13 percent.

The crime increases, according to Mr. Hoover, were consistent throughout all geographic areas. The southern states were up 13 percent; the north central states 11 percent; the western states 10 percent, and the northeastern states 9 percent.

The figures released by the FBI disclosed that in 1966 police arrests of adults for all criminal acts, excluding traffic offenses, dropped 1 percent. At the same time, however, arrests of persons under 18 years of age increased 9 percent. In cities with over 100,000 population, adult arrests were down 3 percent, and juvenile arrests were up 7 percent. The suburban areas recorded increases in both adult and juvenile arrests of 2 percent and 11 percent respectively. Arrests of adults in rural areas declined 3 percent, while juvenile arrests increased 9 percent.

Nationally, the police solutions of the Crime Index offenses averaged 25 percent. According to data furnished to the FBI by local law enforcement agencies, the police solved 89 percent of the murder; 72 percent of the aggravated assault; 65 percent of the forcible rape; 35 percent of the robbery and 21 percent of the property offenses.

"Clarence," she said with an air of superiority, "you think you know everything, don't you? That thimble you're wearing ... it's on the wrong finger!"

Boise — Ed. Baker holds three pounder in right hand, but monster rainbow in left dwarfs its apparent size. The largest fish is 9 1/4 pounds, and was caught in the Snake river just below Brownlee Reservoir. Its length was 25 1/2 inches and its girth 18 1/2 inches. Baker, who lives in Cascade, assumed the big trout was a steelhead and registered it accordingly on his salmon-steelhead permit card.

Regional fisheries biologist Tom Welch of McCall examines scales to learn that the fish had lived through five winters and was in its sixth year of life. It had been gorging on small crappie which had passed through the turbines of Brownlee Dam.

EDUCATION BLDG. CONSTRUCTION SET

U. of I., Moscow — Construction began June 1st on the $1,181,640 College of Education complex on the campus with completion set for April 1, 1969.

Included in the first phase of the complex construction will be the main education building and the industrial education building. Funds for the construction were provided by the 1965 legislature, the federal government and the sale of Regent Bonds.

Construction of the Women's Health-Education building, the next unit of the complex, will be financed by an appropriation from the 1967 legislature and federal funds.

The education complex was authorized by the legislature in 1965 and will bring to the campus the latest developments in education and laboratory facilities. Included will be a "Learning Center" for demonstrating new education techniques, materials and equipment. There will also be a "Reading Clinic" where students from throughout the university can be referred for improvement in their reading.

FISH

Fish in the Inland Empire come big and plentiful, thanks to widespread and effective programs of planting and conservation. Our streams and lakes attract thousands of fishermen from all over the country and provide exciting recreation for local sportsmen. Fishing stands first among the many recreational resources in this area, say those who study vacation preferences.

And, to the Pacific Northwest, fish is one of the most important commercial industries, employing thousands and producing millions in revenue.

At The Washington Water Power we have given a lot of attention to this important source. Some years ago, WWP was the first utility to place a full time fish-and-game biologist on its staff.

His work is conducted in cooperation with the Fish and Game Department of Washington, Idaho, Montana, and with other regional conservation groups.

These programs are largely responsible for the excellent fishing that you'll find in WWP reservoirs around the Inland Empire. Try fishing one soon, or bring your boat for water skiing, or maybe you'd just like to picnic.

Welcome! Have fun.

THE LIFE OF A NEWSPAPER EDITOR

Boise — The Buhl Herald and The Camas County Courier, Fairfield, both carried reprints of the following hilarious commentary on the lot of the newspaper publisher. This article originated in the Cowlitz County Advocate, Castle Rock, Wn., May 20, 1915, and was later reprinted in the Phillips County News.

"Consider the editor. He weareth purple and fine linen. His abode is among the mansions of the rich. His wife hath her limosine and their first-born sporteth a racing car that can hit her up in 30 flat.

"Lo, all of the people breaketh their necks to hand him money.

"A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in the bazaar. The physician getteth ten gold plunks. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. Yeh, he lieth even as a centurion. And the proud father giveth him a Crema.

"Behold, the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth in his paper a swell notice. Yeah, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman, and of her exceeding comeliness. Like the roses of Sharon is she and her gown is played up to beat the band. And the dressmaker getteth two score and four iron men. And the editor getteth a note of thanks.

"The daughter goeth on a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the story of the farewell party. It runneth a column, solid. And the fair one remembereth him froa-afar off with a picture postal car that costeth six for a jitney.

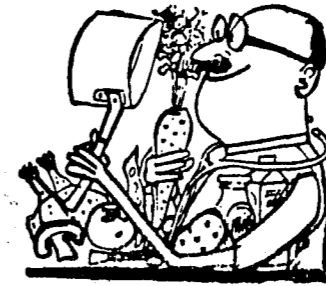

"Behold, she returneth and the youth of the city fall down and worship. She picketh one, and Lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our most promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto him a bid to the wedding feast and behold, the bids were fashioned by Muntgummery Hawbuck in a far city.

Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor rinteth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom standeth the editor off for a twelve month subscription.

All flesh is grass and in time is the wife gathered into the silo. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head and the darn thing cometh out 'Gone to Her Last Roasting Place.'

"And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pulleth out their ads and cancelleth their subscriptions and they swing the hammer unto the third and fourth generation.

"Can'st thou beat it?"

Mrs. Foster is going to use that balloon to illustrate the principles of heat energy. Tomorrow she'll whack a piece of wood to force home a geology lesson.

These are two of the many experiments outlined in the teaching kits that Standard Oil provides free to schools in the West. Each semester thousands of teachers use them to create an exciting and effective atmosphere for learning.

Why our interest in education? We're specialists when it comes to natural resources and we recognize that youth is the greatest natural resource America has. The more they learn now, the better equipped they will be to contribute to our country in the future.

Teaching kits, films, charts, maps, scholarships and fellowships are some of the ways our Company makes known its continuing interest in today's young men and women.

Standard Oil is trying to help young people discover more about themselves . . . and the world they live in.

Drives Tractor the Hard Way

An obstacle course to test tractor driving skills is part of the annual 4-H Tractor Operators contest held in conjunction with the national 4-H Tractor program supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service. Here a contestant backs a tricycle-type tractor and a two-wheel trailer in the narrow lane marked by white posts. A top the posts are golf balls. If he touches the posts with any part of the tractor or trailer, the balls fall off, costing him penalty points.

RIGHT now hundreds of 4-H Club members are practicing to compete in two major tractor events: The Eastern Tractor Operators contest scheduled for Richmond, Va., Sept. 24-26, and the Western contest at Lincoln, Nebr., Oct. 8-10. Highest scoring individuals will participate. The contest is one phase of the national 4-H Tractor program that has enrolled more than a million boys and girls over the past two decades. The annual contests encompass driving skills, safe practices, written and practical examinations covering maintenance, inspection of air cleaners, cooling and fueling systems, lubrication, ignition and tires. The 4-H Tractor program is probably one of the most vital to farm youth since it teaches them safely and sound economics. It has enabled them to upgrade production on the farm, save money in use and repair of farm machinery, and be alert to accident prevention. Sponsor of the program in this and 39 other states is the American Oil Foundation, Chicago. Nationally, four sponsors provide 12 annual scholarships of $500 each; an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress for the state winner, and some 3,700 honor medals for county blue award groups. The nationwide tractor program is a joint undertaking of the Cooperative Extension Service, the National 4-H Service Committee and the sponsors.

IDAHO FARMERS USE TONS OF FERTILIZER

U. of I., Moscow — Idaho farmers used 25 percent more commercial fertilizer in 1966 than the year before, Charles Painter, soils specialist of the University of Idaho agricultural extension service, reported this week on the basis of figures compiled by the state department of agriculture. The report said 305,276 tons were registered for use, compared with 243,503 tons in 1965. About 74 percent was dry material. Twenty-one percent was liquid carriers of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, and five percent was secondary, micro-nutrient and miscellaneous materials. There was a slight increase in proportion of liquid carriers compared with dry material. Tonnage of nitrogen was up 18 percent. There was little change in the amount of phosphorus. Potassium increased about 80 percent — 2,700 tons compared with 1500 tons in 1965. Painter said Idaho farmers invested about $27 million in the three main fertilizing elements. Nearly 70 percent was for nitrogen. The rest was mostly for phosphorus, with about one percent for potassium. Fertilizer use continues to rise year after year, Painter said. This means greater necessity for soil and plant analysis to determine nutrients needed for efficient crop production.

GLASS AND MAN

U. of I., Moscow — "Glass and Man," a traveling exhibition illustrating the relationship of one specific material — glass — to man's achievements through the centuries, is now on display and will be seen at the University of Idaho Museum through July 12. Divided into three separate parts, the exhibit will show "The Ancient World," "The Middle Ages" and "The Renaissance." It is sponsored by the Corning Museum of Glass in New York. "The Ancient World" will show the history of glass, particularly in the 18th Dynasty (1580-1350 B. C.) at which time the first objects were entirely of man-made glass fashioned by Egyptian craftsmen. "The Medieval World" will be devoted to Europe in the Middle Ages, and the Islamic of Near Eastern world of the same period. The era explains the glass industry's decline during those troubled times. "The Renaissance" will feature the developments in glassmaking in Venice, describing the Italian Renaissance. Glassware from Germany, France and the Netherlands will be exhibited.
