WEATHER HAS ITS UPS AND DOWNS

The weather over the past week has certainly had its ups and downs — in temperature and moisture.

Tuesday of last week was really a sizzler, with the thermometer giving us a reading of 95 degrees.

Wednesday was a bit cooler, with a reading of 92 degrees under somewhat cloudy skies.

Thursday morning about 2:10, rain began to fall, a rain that was torrential, but could hardly be classed as a cloudburst. Gutters ran full, gravel washed on roads, but no hail or cloudburst damage was reported, the dry ground literally soaking up the downpour.

Thursday afternoon there was a shower or two, but skies began to clear.

Friday and Saturday readings were in the middle 80's.

Sunday the "official" reading was 92 degrees.

Most farmers welcomed the rain of Wednesday night and Thursday, describing it as "that million dollar rain," for it assured wheat crops, gave barley and peas a boost, and cooled the air that was threatening to damage black peas.

Some farmers had hay down, and to them the rain did some damage.

Timothy Duane Cook, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Cook, Jr., Juliaetta, was killed at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in a tractor accident two miles north of Juliaetta.

The tractor rolled backwards 200 yards down a hillside, jumped a 12-foot bank, hit the edge of a county road and went down the hill another 50 feet before throwing the 11-year-old boy off.

FIRST FIRE CALL OF THE SEASON

The Kendrick Forest Protective District was called out on its first fire of the season last Friday around 2:00 p. m., when a small fire was reported burning between the railroad track and the highway, opposite the Doc Little ranch.

It was apparently started by a burning cigarette thrown from a car, and was burning in the "green" grass near the road.

The district firemen are concerned because of these early fire season danger signs — and the very dense grass and brush growth.

KEEP IDAHO GREEN CAMPAIGN IS ON

Boise — A red truck with a wink light on top of its cab stops alongside Highway 95 and a white-overalled young man jumps out from under the canvas top. After he is sure the highway is clear, he places a bright yellow caution sign in the middle of the lane and stands along side it while the truck moves forward several hundred feet. Three more white-clad forms appear and begin hauling the materials of their trade from the truck.

The white-clad team is the "Keep Idaho Green" paint crew. To travelers of over 7,500 miles of Idaho's highways and byways the above routine will be repeated about 450 times throughout the state in the next couple of months.

According to Barney Wozniak, the Keep Idaho Green director, Idaho is unique among the 50 states in the highway sign aspect of "Keep Green." The highway traveler, Barney says, must constantly be reminded to be careful — not only of falling rocks, and dangerous S-curves, but of the ever present threat of that initial spark of fire!

NEWER MODEL

The sweet young thing was upset when the boy friend didn't help her into his car. "Where," she asked, "is your chivalry?"

Replied the young man, "Hadn't you noticed? I traded it in for a Buick."

KNOW A HERO?

Gov. Don Samuelson is looking for young Idaho heroes as part of the state's participation in the annual awards of Young American Medals for Bravery and Service program sponsored by the U. S. Attorney General's office and the Department of Justice.

The governor this week requested Idaho citizens to submit names and documentation of young Idahoans under 19 who performed outstanding acts of courage or service in 1966.

Nominations are made by the governors of all states, territories and possessions of the United States. Each state may submit any number of nominations.

The Young American Medals Committee, of which J. Edgar Hoover is chairman, selects final winners with approval by the U. S. Attorney General.

Gov. Samuelson stressed that each such nomination must include full documentation for outstanding acts of courage or service. Entries should be addressed to: Governor's Office, Young American Medals, State House, Boise. They must be received by Aug. 25th.

DO YOU SNORE?

New York — About one of every eight Americans snore, so there's a good chance that there's a snorer in your family, reports the American Medical Association. For the most part, snoring is generated during sleep by the action of air passage past several structures in the nose and throat. The sounds are due to vibrations in the soft palate and other soft structures in the throat in response to inflowing and outflowing air. The frequency of the vibrations depends on the size, density and elasticity of the affected tissues and the force of the air flow.

"Play Ball"

When it's "Rotter Up" in Little League baseball games, there's often one of Reddy Kilowatt's men umpiring behind the plate and another on the bench coaching the little men to play ball in a big way.

Sure, it takes time and effort to work with the kids, but WWP folks like it. While our coaches are busy on many baseball diamonds, other WWP folks are working with Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Junior Achievement groups, and assisting and advising many other youth groups in this area.

Of all the important community jobs that our people do in the Inland Empire area, nothing is more worthwhile than assisting energetic and ambitious kids. At WWP it's a labor of love. There is satisfaction in knowing that we are contributing — if even in a small way — to our future citizens.

We are proud of these Water Power people who are making this important contribution.

DRIVE WITH CARE

Boise — The Idaho State Police are urging all motorists to drive with extra care now that all schools have been dismissed for the summer — and playgrounds taken their place.

Warner C. Mills, commissioner of the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement warned every driver to be prepared to avoid running down a child who may materialize in front of his vehicle at any time.

Traffic accidents, Mills warned, kill more children in the one-to-fourteen age group each year than die from disease. Drivers always must expect the unexpected where children are concerned. Children are unpredictable and motorists must think for them.

Said Mills: "Drivers should be particularly alert near parks and playgrounds — in fact, near any place where children may be expected to gather. All of us have a moral responsibility to protect children, and traffic is so potent a danger to the youngsters that it will take all of us to do the job!"

PLANS MADE FOR BEETLE ATTACK

Lewiston — Scientists using new methods will attack the white pine beetle problem again this summer in the forests of Idaho's Clearwater drainage, announced Royce G. Cox, P. F. I.'s managing forester.

Speaking as chairman of the White Pine committee of the Montana-Northern Idaho Forest Pest Action Councils, Cox said that area private forest owners, with the State of Idaho cooperating, have a research contract with the Boyce Thompson Institute for Plant Research.

Entomologists from the Institute's forest research laboratory at Grass Valley, Calif., are now on the job. They are in the Headquarters area establishing attraction plots and starting other studies of the beetles behavior.

Included are studies of the habits of the mountain pine beetle to find out what attracts swarms of beetles to certain white pines.

So far the scientists have discovered that the female beetle creates a scent that draws hordes of both male and female beetles to the tree into which she is boring. The scent or odor acts somewhat like a dinner bell that signals a mass attack upon that certain tree.

SEWING MADE EASY THROUGH 4-H STUDY

Special — An accelerated course on "Your Sewing Machine" prepared exclusively for volunteer adult and Junior 4-H leaders covers with the handling and sewing of the various man-made fibers and the natural fibers as well.

In the 12 years that the course has been offered, in excess of 75,000 women have learned about correct use and care of the sewing machine. They in turn have instructed nearly half a million 4-H girls engaged in clothing, home improvement, child care and other projects where the sewing machine is involved.

The course is supervised by Extension Clothing Specialists and personnel from a large sewing machine company, sponsors of the program.

Value of the course is demonstrated in the need for being able to sew on some 20 man-made fibers, plus innumerable blends, found in yard goods counters today. New methods and sewing equipment have been developed to work with modern materials. Care of the sewing machine is also taught.

For example, stretch fabrics, filmy sheers, knits, tricot and crepes need to be guided both in front and behind the machine pressure foot. For stretch fabrics, firm tension is applied, but for sheers, knits and tricot, gentle tension is needed. Old standbys such as napped wool, corduroy, velveteen and velvet must be stitched in the direction of the pile or nap.

Knowing the right needle and thread and tension to use can make the difference between sewing smooth seams and puckered or broken thread seams.

For information about the course, contact the County Extension office.

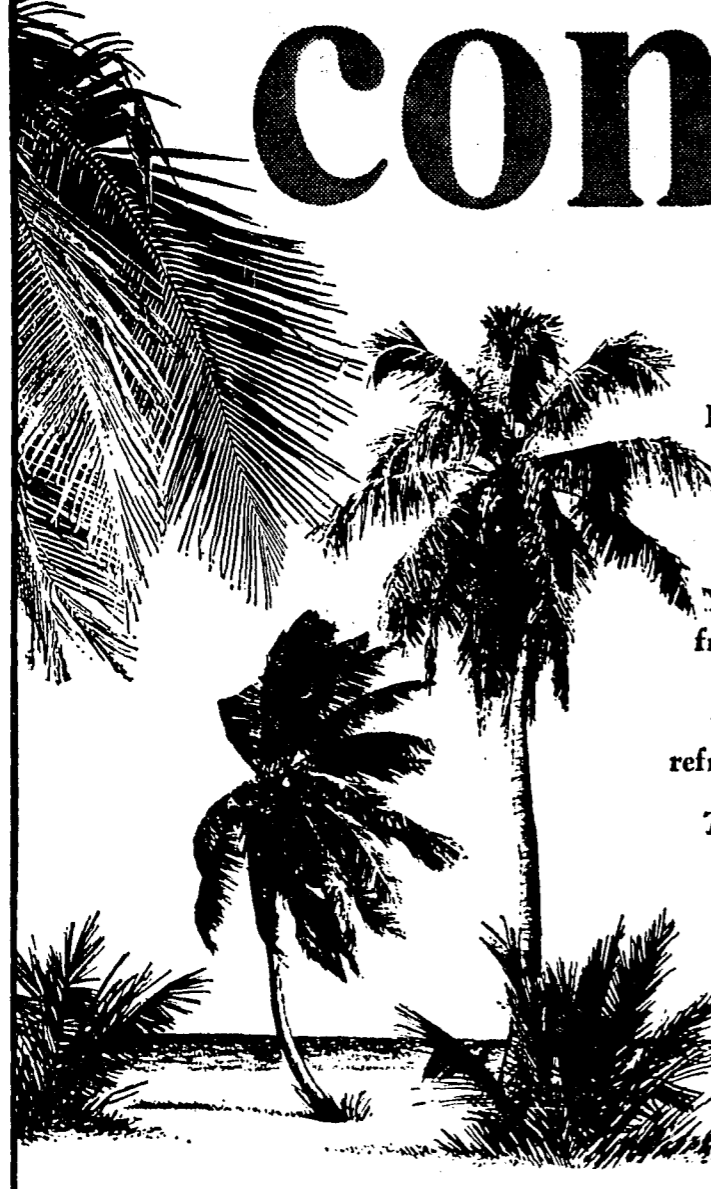

USEFUL GAS

Chicago — Carbon Dioxide — the gas we exhale — is an efficient fire fighter that does its job and then disappears. It fills a vital roll in fire fighting because it instantly extinguishes flames without causing additional damage or leaving a residue.

This makes CO₂ fire systems especially valuable for protecting missile sites, aircraft hangars, files and record storage, electronic instruments and mechanical installations.

SALADS AS MAIN COURSES
 More and more, salads are coming out of the "side-dish" or secondary course place, and constituting the principal dish in the meal.
 Salads make particularly good meals for luncheon, especially for business men and women who have to return to a desk and do an afternoon's work. They are, I believe, less likely to cause that sleepy feeling, than a heavy luncheon.
 Almost any restaurant menu now offers salads of cottage cheese, fruit, shrimp, crab, lobster or tossed vegetables, with a choice of dressings, and strippings of cheese, ham, chicken, turkey or corned beef, or with hard-cooked egg wedges, and anchovies to give that extra fillip to the taste.

An Array of Nutrients
 When one stops to think about it, such a salad isn't a bad description of a balanced array of nutrients from the four basic food groups — and a lot more tempting than some listings of these dietary essentials.
 Add a glass of milk and some whole grain or enriched bread, rolls or wafers, and you can return to your desk with your dietary conscience at rest, knowing that you have done well by your nutrition, and probably have avoided the calorie excess which some other food selection might have involved.
 There are many interesting variations of the salad menu, originating in various parts parts of the world. In France one meets a salad which contains an almost incredible variety of foodstuffs—boiled potatoes, tuna fish, black seasoned garlic, chickory, pepper and wine vinegar, and decorated with hard-cooked eggs.

Molded aspic or gelatin with mixed vegetables, or fruits in gelatin molds, also make excellent salads, and ingenious things can be done with chicken or duck or turkey in gelatin. Large ripe tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese or a variety of fish, meat or poultry combinations also make tasty light luncheons or snacks.

Regular Salads, Too
 Speaking of salads generally, there's a lot to be said for the simple mixed vegetable salad, with or without fancy additions, and with dressings of oil and vinegar, French, thousand island or garlic, or with Roquefort or bleu cheese either in luscious lumps or smoothly blended.
 Rice, macaroni and other pasta forms may also be added to salad. The Cantonese vegetable dishes, which are in effect cooked salads, offer another tempting variation.
 For dessert, it's hard to beat a good plate of fresh or canned fruit, or balls of cream cheese rolled in chopped nuts, or a sherbet salad.
 Anywhere you put it in the joyment while ensuring better nutrition.

BEAN VIRUS STUDY BY UNIVERSITY
 U. of I., Moscow — A year-old nationwide research project is busy stretching research dollars and research time of scientists working on bacterial diseases of beans. Dr. R. D. Ensign, associate director of the Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station, reported Monday.
 Scientists at 13 land-grant colleges and the U. S. Department of Agriculture are coordinating their efforts to eliminate or control bean diseases. Idaho, where the bean industry lost more than $500,000 to bacterial diseases the past two years, is taking a leading role in the project. Ensign serves as advisor to the project committee, and Dr. James W. Guthrie, associate plant pathologist with the university, is 1967-68 chairman.
 "Such an organization of scientists from many states affords an excellent opportunity to compare research findings and plan future research around a set of common objectives," Ensign said.
