WHO SAID THAT SUMMER WAS OVER?

Some folk thought summer was over when the rain of a couple of weeks ago fell — but that certainly has not been the case — in fact, a new heat record was set Thursday for this time of the year.

Wednesday, Sept. 20, the "official thermometer" recorded a reading of 90 degrees.

Thursday, when, according to the government weather stations at Lewiston and Spokane — new heat records for that date were set, and that was probably true of Kendrick where the reading was 97 degrees — and it remained hot almost all night, the minimum being 67 degrees.

Friday it was considerably more comfortable, the reading being 83 degrees.

Saturday we had a reading of 82 degrees. Sunday "Old Sol" did a bit better, the thermometer recording 88 degrees.

Monday, 84 degrees were recorded. Tuesday was just a bit warmer with 85 degrees.

The Potlatch river is so "dried up" that it's the merest of mere trickles, and one wonders that any water gets to the Clearwater—but it does.

Cedar creek and Bear creek all but disappear among the rocks at their mouths — but there's still water!

CLARENCE H. FRY, AREA PIONEER, DIES SAT., SEPT. 23RD

PLANT SHRIMP

Boise — Freshwater shrimp planted in Payette Lakes by Tom Welsh, McCall, regional biologist, are part of shipment totaling about one million recently trapped in British Columbia waters and released in Priest and Pend Oreille lakes; Anderson Ranch Reservoir on the South Fork of the Boise river; and the Sawtooth Mountain lakes of Stanley, Alturas, Redfish and Pettit.

This is the third year in a row that the Idaho Fish and Game Department has brought many thousands of the small crustaceans for introduction into state waters. They are called "opossum shrimp" because they carry their young in pouches or folds of skin in the same way marsupials do.

4-H'ERS LEARN TO CAN AT HOME

Chicago — The hundreds of "convenience" foods available today put more and better food on the table than "grandmother ever made." They require little time to cook and serve, provide treats that would not be made from scratch, and supply complete meals to be stored in freezers or on cupboard shelves ready in minutes for unexpected guests.

But not all convenience foods need to be purchased. Girls in 4-H Clubs make their own when there is an abundance of produce, either home-grown or at the market. They say there is no substitute for the wonderful aroma and taste of home-made relishes, jams, sauces, preserves and fruits.

Home canning remains a cherished culinary art, and was the first project offered 4-H girls. That was in 1910 when young farm girls were shown how to grow tomatoes and can them. The program "caught on" and soon became nation-wide. The first and only awards sponsor is Kerr Glass Mfg. Corp. of Sand Springs, Okla.

A few years ago the canning process was broadened to include freezing. The name was changed to the 4-H Food Preservation program. Consequently 4-H members have expanded their knowledge of preserving more kinds of foods, dishes and entire meals. More than 122,000 are enrolled, reports the Cooperative Extension Service, which supervises the program.

About 50 members annually win trips to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, as state champions in the food preservation project. Six national $500 scholarships are also presented at the Congress. In the 39 years since Kerr has supported the program, thousands of 4-H girls from every county have won recognition for their sparkling array of preserved foods. Many have demonstrated step-by-step methods.

An easy to make recipe for an old-time favorite is:
 Apple Butter (Spiced)
 Use 16 cups thick apple pulp; 1 cup vinegar; 8 cups sugar; 4 teaspoons cinnamon.

Core and slice apples, but do not peel. Add only enough water to cook apples until soft. Press through fine sieve and measure. Combine all ingredients. Cook until mixture remains in a smooth mass when a little is cooled (about 1 1/2 hours boiling). During cooking stir frequently to prevent scorching. Pour into sterilized jars and seal while hot.

You can't picnic without food. You will find every item at Blewett's in Kendrick. adv

4-H Auto Clubs help put the Lid on Accidents!

Half the population, 102 million persons, drive cars, trucks, motorcycles, buses, taxis. Deaths and injuries involving 24.3 million drivers cost $10 billion, according to the National Safety Council. Four of every 10 drivers under 20 years of age were involved in accidents last year, nearly twice as many as all other age groups.

These overwhelming figures have spurred the Cooperative Extension Service to activate the national 4-H Automotive program for boys and girls 14 to 18 years old. An estimated 25,000 youngsters are enrolled this year.

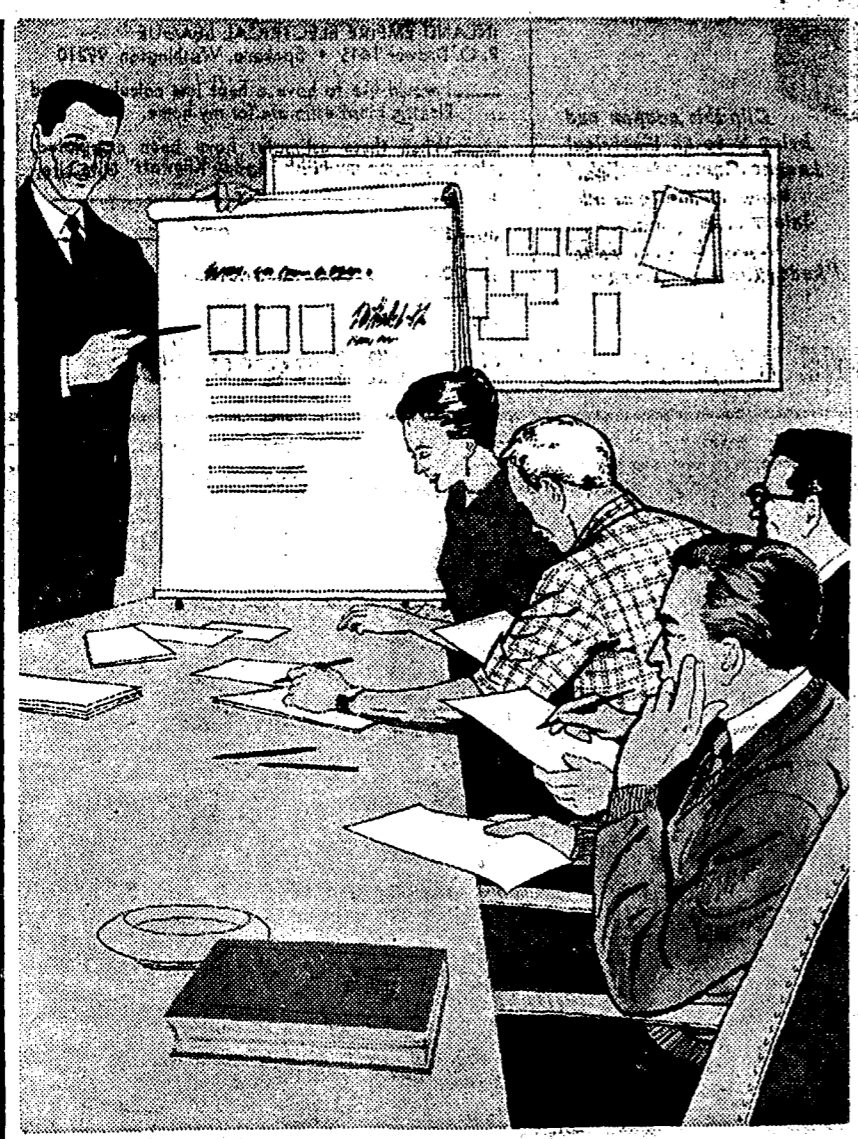

The 4-H program is not a driver training program. It is designed to supplement school driver training courses by teaching driver responsibility, traffic laws, safety and desirable driver attitudes. Simple mechanics and car care also are covered.

The 4-H program has been recognized for preparing new drivers for learners' permits and for its community action projects.

The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company sponsors the automotive program and provides annual incentive awards including six $500 scholarships. Carl R. Miller, director of Youth Activity Programs for Firestone, suggests that parents can help put more safe drivers on the road by urging their teenage youngsters to join a 4-H Automotive club.

A call to the County Extension office will supply the necessary 4-H enrollment information.

FOREST SERVICE TO DISTRIBUTE CASH

Missoula — Idaho, South Dakota, Montana and Washington counties in the Forest Service Northern Region are to receive $2,758,718.84 from national forest receipts for the year ending June 30, Neal M. Rahm, Regional Forester, has announced.

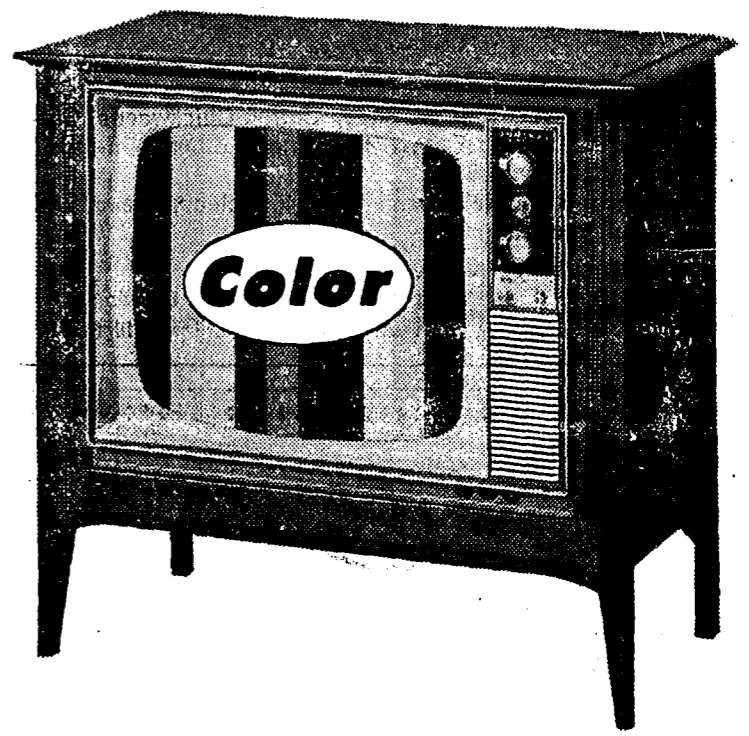

This is the highest forest service payment to northern region counties since 1960, Rahm said. Payments to state treasurers represent 25 percent of the gross national forest receipts from timber, grazing, land use, recreation, power, permits and mineral leases. Approximately 93 percent of the national forest receipts in this region are from timber sales. Forest service payments to counties of the region are up $446,396 over last year's payment.

Forest service funds are distributed by the state treasurers to counties with National Forest acreage. Federal law requires that counties use the funds for local schools and roads.

In Idaho: Benewah, $13,041.87; Bonner, $107,201.55; Boundary, $102,865.06; Clearwater, $129,500.45; Latah, $222,358.71; Kootenai, $56,980.81; Latah, $26,308.51; Shoshone, $337,202.66.

VOLCANO SOON?

Snow-capped Mt. Rainier, which dominates western Washington with its 14,410-foot summit, may only be dormant and not a dead volcano, re-use, recreation, power, permits and mineral leases. Approximately 93 percent of the national forest receipts in this region are from timber sales. Forest service payments to counties of the region are up $446,396 over last year's payment.

DISTRIBUTION AND FOOD SUPPLIES

Moscow — The major world food problem of this century may be the effective distribution of total supplies, and not a lack of productive capacity. This view, says W. L. Hargis, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, is based on a study just completed by the Economic Research Service of the U. S. D. A.

The study, ordered by Secretary Orville L. Freeman, builds on earlier food supply-demand studies and indicates that while the world as a whole will have ample capacity to produce its principal food — grain — in the years ahead, there will be the continuing problem of distribution.

The new study, "Prospects for World Grain Consumption, Production and Trade," has in it these implications:

(1) Developed countries may face surpluses of grain at least until 1980. Pressure of such surpluses could lead to renewed protectionism. Special united efforts must be intensified to open further the channels of international trade so that commercial grain can move freely.

(2) Less developed countries that are chronically short of food, need to increase their self-help efforts and greatly improve their abilities to produce more food and to buy more food.

(3) Developed countries need to work together, much more than in the past, to share the responsibility for food aid and to maintain programs that effectively move supplies from surplus to deficit areas. A good start has been made in this direction through the World Food Program; the India Aid Consortium, and the food aid provisions now being worked out in connection with the pending international grain arrangement.

DEVICE PREDICTS WATER RUN-OFF

U. of I., Moscow — A University of Idaho mechanical engineer has developed new equipment that can measure water content inside snow packs by remote control, and thus obtain information to forecast the magnitude of floods and the amount of water available for future use.

Vance E. Penton, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, says his "pressure pillow" is more reliable than the old snow gauge, and he hopes it will be universally accepted once the cost factor is reduced.

Remote control is the future of this system. Experiments are being conducted to see how we can overcome unexplained diurnal fluctuations in snow packs through the use of transducers. If we can get rid of these small errors, can you imagine the benefits and safety features of this equipment?" Penton questioned.

The pressure pillow was first experimented with in the winter of 1960-61, and six years of testing has been carried on by Prof. Penton. Most of the research has been supported by the Agricultural Research Service and by other state and federal agencies.

Three 12-foot flat rubber pillows, containing water-alcohol, and connected by a vertical tube, have been laid on the ground during the summer months on Moscow Mountain. When snow finally falls, the water in the combination of water and alcohol will rise in the tubing and will measure the amount of water content in the snow.

BORDER PATROL SEEKS YOUNG MEN

Wash., D. C. — The U. S. Border Patrol of the Immigration and Naturalization Service has urgent need for a large number of physically fit young men desiring a career in federal law enforcement work. This is a career opportunity for those who like action and outdoor work.

The entrance salary of an Immigration Patrol Inspector is $6,451 a year. After satisfactorily completing a year of intensive training, a new officer's salary is raised to $7,303. Further advancement can be achieved through regular within-service promotion.

Applications should be submitted to the Interagency Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners for Washington, D. C., 1900 "E" Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20415.

ALCOHOLIC HELP

Austin, Texas — Obeying the rule of good nutrition will help prevent alcoholism from developing, says a University of Texas biochemist. During the years when alcoholism is slowly creeping up on an individual, he or she is consistently violating the rules of good nutrition.

Prolonged consumption of alcohol damages the appetite center in the brain, resulting in a craving for alcohol and a revulsion to food. The scientists say that this damage would not occur if drinkers were careful in maintaining a good diet.

DON'T ITCH

Chicago — Does summer make you "itch" to participate in outdoor activities? Watch out for poison ivy or oak so you don't come back scratching. You may have handled poison oak or ivy last year and escaped without an itch — but don't push your luck, cautions the American Medical Ass'n. No one is permanently immune to poison ivy, oak or sumac. If you have been exposed, remove your clothes and very thoroughly wash all affected areas with warm water and soap. Then sponge with a 50 to 70 per cent alcohol solution. Clean your clothes in an oil solvent and soapy water.

DON'T BURN YOUR STUBBLE SAYS S. C. S.

Killing wild oat of cheatgrass seed by burning stubble in the fall has proven very successful. This is especially true after a hot, dry summer season like this year. All plants matured early and dropped their seeds or were harvested and spread. A fire passing through dry stubble will move too fast to produce sufficient heat on the ground surface to reduce the seed population. Even if all the weed seeds were killed on the surface by the burn, which is hardly possible, there is a larger number below the soil surface that will produce a heavy weed population on any given year.

Wild oats are normally not a problem in winter wheat. On years when mild winters occur it would be advisable for the farmer to keep a close check on the wild oat population in the fields. If it is heavy enough, the chemical "Carbyne" can be used quite successfully to control the wild oats with little apparent damage to the wheat. The County Agent's office has more information concerning this control method. See your local county agent.

Cheatgrass is only a problem in fall seeded crops and is a tough one to control. Delayed fall seeding and hoped-for conditions to germinate the cheatgrass, then cultivate, has been used successfully in dryland farming areas of south Idaho. There is no effective chemical yet that will control cheatgrass in winter wheat.

The same reasoning holds true for "root rot" organism which lives in the soil. The small number of fungi killed by burning on the surface will not reduce the population in the soil. The best way to reduce the soil population of the organism is by use of a legume plowed down for green manure.

Plow the stubble down, don't burn it. The straw is worth more to you as a soil builder and in dollars and cents in the form of nitrogen, phosphorus and sulfur than the small number of weed seeds and root rot organisms you might kill. Don't let your neighbor catch you burning!

P. F. I. TO CONTROL WATER EFFLUENT

Lewiston — Construction details for a $1,550,000 facility to control water effluent from Potlatch Forests' Lewiston operations were announced last week by William G. Gray, Vice President of P. F. I.'s paperboard and packaging division.

The announcement stated that construction of the facility will begin during October and will require more than one year to complete.

The water treatment facility will consist of a 230-foot diameter water clarifier and two filtration units that will remove at least 95 percent of the settleable suspended solids that are carried in the process water of P. F. I.'s Lewiston mills. These solids include wood fibers, bark particles, clays, starches and other process waste.

"We are building this water clarification plant in anticipation of the slack water that will be created by the Snake River dams," said Gray. "Potlatch is working closely with the State of Idaho to maintain and satisfy all water quality standards set forth by various state and federal agencies. This new waste treatment facility will permit us to maintain high sanitation standards when slack water arrives."

FLUORIDES AND BONE DENSITY

In this technical age an obscure scientific term can flash suddenly into the headlines in terms of controversy which makes it overnight a fighting word. Such a term is fluoridation, as applied to the treatment of water supplies for the amelioration of dental decay, especially in children.

Fluoridation is based on observations initiated by the desire to know why children's teeth in certain areas of the country showed an unsightly mottling. This effect was identified as a result of excessive amounts of fluorides in the public water supplies, usually derived from ground waters. Accompanying the mottling, however, a marked resistance to decay was also noted. In areas with low fluoride levels, mottling did not occur. Dental decay was much more prevalent.

Decay Prevented
After intensive comparative studies and experimental work, a method was arrived at for adding minute quantities of fluorides to public water supplies. Remarkable improvement in dental decay followed where this measure was adopted.

Fluoridation provoked opposition. This has been the history of preventive measures from smallpox vaccination to measles eradication. There have always been the "agin'-its." Some of these were sincerely concerned about possible dangers; some were just afraid of the unknown; some saw a chance to stir up a row and profit from it in terms of publicity or whatever motivates the constitutional obstruc-tionist. It was the latter who introduced the diabolically clever claim that fluoridation of water supplies was feeding rat poison to children. There are still good, honest, misinformed people who believe this preposterous canard.

There were also physicians who feared that fluoride ingestion would tend to have unfavorable influences on bone growth in future years.

Fears Unfounded
These fears have not proved correct. Indeed, there is evidence now coming to light which indicates that elderly persons living in areas where natural waters contain fluorides, fare better than those from localities where fluorides are absent or low in amount.

Specifically, a bone disease called osteoporosis has been found more prevalent in fluoride-poor regions than in fluoride-rich locations.

Osteoporosis is a rarefaction of bone through loss of calcium which results in deformities, spontaneous fractures such as hip fractures and collapsed vertebrae. At the same time, calcium deposits in the aorta were higher in the low-fluoride areas. The arterial calcifications are significant by their relationship to heart and blood vessel diseases. The consumption of milk and cheese (principal sources of calcium) did not appear to differ significantly between the areas compared.

Editorially, the Journal of the American Medical Association says: "Fluoride is another mineral element that has been found useful in human nutrition . . ."

tem will be located in a storage area west of the general office parking lot.
Construction contractors will be Kenaston and Huntley of Lewiston. The EIMCO Corporation of Salt Lake City will manufacture the clarifier and filtration equipment.

Narrow Escape
Dale Silflow had the misfortune of losing control of his car while descending the American Ridge grade Sunday night. The deep, loose gravel on the edge of the road made it impossible to get the car back onto the road. He went over the embankment just above the last turn. The car was totally demolished but Dale was not seriously injured. Miracles still happen — even today.
