Club Meets

The Friendship Club met with Mrs. Gertrude Heimgartner on Thursday, Nov. 16 for an all-day session of quilting, and enjoyed a lovely "ham and yam" dinner.

Eleven members and three guests, Mrs. Don Hoisington and infant daughter Teresa, and little Robyn Steigers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Steigers were present. The Steigers had motored to Pierce for the day with Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Himple.

The next Club meeting will be with Mrs. Cletis Hoisington on Thursday, Dec. 7th.

Is Improving

We are happy to report the continued improvement in the convalescence of Mrs. Newt. Heath.

Among Thursday callers were Emma Weichmann, Verney Storey, Helena Brown, Mrs. Alvin Steigers and granddaughter Robyn and Mrs. Ernest Steigers. Mrs. Kenneth Rugg and daughter Lisa of Lewiston have come daily to assist her mother.

Other News

Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 14, Mrs. Harry Sampson and daughter Norma of Arrow, visited with Mrs. Newt. Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Daniels and two sons have moved into the David Daniel home at Fir Bluff, for the winter. Mrs. Effie Wright has been established in her mobile home there for the past several weeks.

Mrs. Edward Ranta, visiting with Mrs. Ernest Steigers Wednesday morning, Nov. 15, reported the Ranta's new color TV reception as "excellent." Mr. and Mrs. Steigers returned the call on Wednesday evening.

Thursday evening, Nov. 16, the banquet honoring football players was held in the Lewiston Y. W. C. A. Those attending from our vicinity were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kerby and son Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Heimgartner, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner and son Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heimgartner and sons Lee and Dale. Ryan, Allen and Lee are members of the Lapwai team.

Week-end guests in the Newt Heath home were their daughter and family, the Bill Ingrahams of Richland, Wn. Sunday afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Space, Lenore, enroute home from the annual dinner of the Timber Association, held this year at Elk River, P. T. P. A.

Helena Brown accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steigers to the Willing Workers' bazaar and ham dinner held at the Lenore school on Saturday evening, Nov. 18, where the ladies assisted on "K. P. duty!"

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Kerby and the Kenneth Steigers family attended the final meeting of the Young Married Couples, held at the Lonnie Summers' home Saturday evening, ("2-Fours"), sponsored by the Cottonwood Creek Community Church.

Bags Big Lynx
Sam Weaver shot a 65 to 70-pound Canadian Lynx cat in their yard Wednesday evening of last week. The family's attention was first drawn to the big cat by their little dog (weight about 8 pounds) which was barking and "attacking" the cat. The dog was clawed a bit, but escaped serious injury.

Residents Move
Mr. and Mrs. Dick Parsley have moved into their newly purchased and remodeled home in the west part of Kendrick. We are sorry to lose these good neighbors — but they aren't far away from us.

Tonsillectomy
LuAnn Brammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brammer, underwent a tonsillectomy at the Troy Clinic on Friday of last week. She is recovering nicely.

Return From Contest
Mrs. Alva Craig and daughter Lynn returned Tuesday morning from the "Make It With Wool" contest at Boise. Lynn was awarded a make-up kit and a Boye Knitting Needle set. Polly Thompson, Moscow, was Idaho State winner and receives a trip in January to Dallas, Texas, to compete in the national contest. This is the first time in many years that a northern Idaho girl has won.

The 10 Commandments of Safety

- 1 Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the first rule of safety.
- 2 Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded, and taken down or have actions open; guns always should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
- 3 Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions, and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Remove oil and grease from chamber before firing.
- 4 Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble; keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.
- 5 Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.
- 6 Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while handling a gun.
- 7 Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored separately beyond reach of children and careless adults.
- 8 Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
- 9 Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water; when at target practice be sure your backstop is adequate.
- 10 Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

FEDERAL FUNDS ARE APPORTIONED

Seattle — Apportionment of $3,948,169 from the Land and Water Conservation Fund to the five Pacific Northwest states for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967, has been announced by Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the Interior.

The fund is administered by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, Department of the Interior. Total apportionment to the 55 states and territories for the 1968 fiscal year is $61,750,000. This represents 95 percent of the $65 million appropriated by Congress from the fund. Apportionments are contingent upon revenues accruing in the fund, said Fred J. Overly, regional director, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, Seattle.

Sec. Udall has set aside $3,250,000 in the contingency reserve to meet unforeseen or emergency needs of the states, or to assist projects of outstanding significance, said Overly.

The fund provides financial assistance to the states and through them to their political subdivisions for acquiring and developing outdoor recreation areas and facilities. All funds must be matched on a 50-50 basis. Under the act states have initial responsibility to determine the projects that will be financed by fund money.

The Land and Water Conservation Fund derives revenues from the sale of the $7.00 Golden Eagle Passport and other Federal outdoor recreation fees; proceeds from the sale of federal surplus real property, and the federal motorboat fuels tax.

Basis of apportionment of the states' share of the fund is: Forty percent of the appropriation is divided equally among the states; five percent is reserved for contingencies, and the remainder is divided among the states and territories on the basis of population, federal programs, and out-of-state visitor use.

Following are the apportionments to the Pacific Northwest states for the fiscal year 1968: Alaska $583,440; Idaho, $647,700; Montana, $737,402; Oregon, $951,740; Washington, $1,017,887.

STOCK DIVIDEND

San Francisco — The Board of Directors of Potlatch Forests, Inc., has authorized a 10 percent stock dividend to be issued on Dec. 27, 1967, to the stockholders of record at the close of business on Dec. 1st, 1967.

Meeting in San Francisco Nov. 10, the Board also authorized payment of the usual quarterly cash dividend of 27½¢ per share on Dec. 14, to stockholders of record at the close of business Dec. 1st.

Potlatch declared dividends of $1.10 per share in 1966, but has not previously issued any stock dividends.

POLLUTION, WASTE RESOURCE DANGER

Chicago — Something must be done soon to preserve the nation's natural resources or by the 21st century American living conditions will be worse than in over-crowded and polluted regions of the Orient. Outdoor recreation as enjoyed today by millions of families will be a thing of the past.

Pollution of air and water already is a reality. Rivers and lakes are dying prematurely, taking along fish, wildlife and other life dependent on water. Lake Erie, one of the five Great Lakes, is the latest casualty. Lake Michigan and Lake Ontario also are headed for extinction, experts warn. Forests and land are being needlessly destroyed or misused.

These are the predictions made by conservationists concerned about the 300 million Americans, who in the year 2000 will be living on the same 3.4 million square miles inhabited by 200 million persons today.

To insure that these 300 million men, women and children will enjoy smog-free air, unpolluted water and wide open spaces, a constructive conservation and resource policy is necessary. So believes Orville W. Freeman, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Federal and state conservation agencies already assist the Cooperative Extension Service in the national 4-H Conservation of Natural Resources program. This particular 4-H program serves many needs in both rural and urban areas.

Conservation education has spurred enrollment to an all-time high of nearly 270,000 youth, according to the Extension Service. The aim of the program is to teach life, and how it depends on proper management of natural resources.

Among the project categories are: Soil science, conservation of water, trees and forests, fish and wildlife, grasses, shrubs and plants. This broad field of conservation provides almost limitless activities of special interest to boys and girls from nine to 19, says 4-H Club leaders.

GETS NATIONAL SCIENCE GRANT

U. of I., Moscow — The College of Mines, University of Idaho, has been named the recipient of a $5,000 National Science Foundation matching grant. Dr. Roland R. Reid, dean of the College of Mines, announced this week.

The National Science Foundation makes these grants on a matching basis to institutions offering undergraduate training in geology.

According to Dr. George Williams, chairman of the Department of Geology and Geography, the $5,000 addition to the department's regular budget will greatly increase undergraduate teaching capacity and give greater opportunities for education to young people in Idaho.

NEW REGULATION

Boise — A new regulation adopted by the State Plumbing Board requires that all applications for plumbing permits be sent to area inspectors instead of to the Boise state office.

Clarence Wilde, Jr., Rigby, newly elected board chairman, said the new regulation was desired so applications would be made prior to work starts, to get the applications in the hands of area inspectors sooner and to reduce the time and expense of inspectors seeking out new plumbing jobs.

The Board also voted to obtain an opinion from the attorney general on the legality of assessing a "late charge" on permits which are not applied for before work is started.

Board members approved a proposal that municipalities be advised of the dangers of improper plumbing practices and to inform officials of the need for plumbing permits and inspections.

At the organizational meeting Robert Zinn of Lewiston was elected vice chairman.

MORE VOCATIONAL ED. IS NEEDED

Boise — Idaho school administrators and trustees heard warnings and hopes expressed for the future of vocational education at their annual conference held recently in Sun Valley.

Sam Glenn state director of vocational education and conference keynote Ernest Kramer, Washington director of vocational education, both emphasized the need for more and better vocational programs in the state's secondary schools. Both warned that neglect of courses for the student not headed for a college-trained career might result in a separate federal training program at the expense of state education systems.

Some 200 educators attended the department of education sponsored meeting. They heard business and industry representatives call for improvements in training for the skilled trades to keep up with the rapid changes going on in modern technology.

Advocates of the state vocational education must serve every student — not just the 10 or 15 percent who will go on to one of the professions requiring higher education degrees.

Educators in Idaho's 117 school districts were urged to use the services of the state vocational education staff in adding new vocational programs and bringing existing ones up to date.

Area vocational school directors also told of post-high school vocational training available for all qualified Idahoans at the five institutions at Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston, Boise, Twin Falls and Pocatello.

A final point made to the group was that vocational education courses are a part of general education and can contribute to training for the full range of occupations in today's — and tomorrow's — society.

100TH ANNIVERSARY

Boise — The Grand Lodge of Idaho, A. F. & A. M., celebrates the 100th anniversary of its founding when it meets at the Masonic Temple in Boise, Sept. 10-21, with Most Worshipful Grand Master Arthur L. Dingle of Coeur d'Alene presiding.

It was in December of 1867 that representatives of lodges in Boise City, Idaho City, Pioneerville, Placerville and Silver City met in Idaho City to form the grand lodge. George H. Coe of Idaho City was elected as the first grand master.

Grand masters, grand secretaries and their wives from all other grand jurisdictions throughout the nation have been invited to attend Idaho's centennial observance according to Dingle.

CATTLE THIEVES GET OFF TOO EASY

Moscow — According to Leonard Burns, secretary of North Idaho Cattlemen's Ass'n, 42 representatives of the ten North Idaho Cattlemen's Ass'ns went on record as approving a resolution to censure the courts for their relaxed handling of convicted cattle thieves. A case tried recently was reduced to a misdemeanor, with one of the three men receiving five days in jail and the others very short probation periods.

The Nez Perce county association will draft a resolution to the effect to be presented at the Idaho State Cattlemen's Convention to be held in Coeur d'Alene Dec. 3, 4 and 5. Other resolutions to be brought before the state membership will include those involving the funding of monies by the Idaho State Beef Commission for beef promotion and industry research.

The meeting, chaired by Clem Lyons, Southwick, outgoing president of the North Idaho Cattlemen's Ass'n, was held in the Student Union building on the U. of I campus, on Wednesday, Nov. 8.

Elected as president for 1968 was John Thiessen of Lewiston. Serving with Thiessen will be vice president Cliff Anderson of Clearwater county and secretary Loren Kamhitch, Nez Perce County agent, Lewiston.

Dr. Larry O'Keefe, Extension Entomologist with the University of Idaho reviewed the face fly control research that was conducted through Idaho this year.

Dr. Floyd Frank, head of the Veterinary Science department outlined tentative research plans set up within his department.

NATIONAL FOREST
REFORESTATION

Missoula — Forest service reforestation and timber stand improvement work in fiscal 1967 was accomplished on 98,657 acres of National Forest land in the Northern Region. This represents an 8 percent increase over the 89,867 acres of last year.

"Effective intensive timber management is required if the National Forests are to maintain the annual sustained yield timber harvest," Neal M. Rahm, Regional Forester, explained. "Last year 1,435,558,820 board feet of timber was harvested in the 16 National Forests of the Northern Region. This is about double the timber harvest of 1958."

"What we do today in reforesting non-stocked areas and managing the young stands will determine how well we meet the northwest's and the nation's timber needs in the next century. This is our resource management responsibility to the generations yet unborn."

Last year Forest Service nurseries at Haugan, Mont., and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, produced 9,821,000 trees for reforestation and processed 7,645 pounds of tree seeds for the Northern Region seed bank. As of July 1, 1967, the Forest Service had 33,306 pounds of tree seeds at the two nurseries.

KNOW YOUR S. S.
AND ITS LAWS

Lewiston — People who rely solely on information from friends and neighbors about social security are apt to be short-changed, because they are paying for more reliable information, D. Gene Shaw, district manager of Social Security at Lewiston notes.

The doors of the Social Security office swing wide and the people in the office are ready to assist all who walk in. No one should hesitate to ask for information about his rights and responsibilities. Many people understand one part of the law; but do not understand some other part which may be just as important to them.

For example: Most people come to the Social Security office to com-sing, Idaho. They were obtained on Johnson Creek, a tributary of the upper North Fork of the Boise River by Everett Larson, also of Marsing. This success story is repeated many times each fall by southern Idaho hunters.

plete their applications for benefits when they are about to retire, but many are not aware that a telephone call ahead of time asking what to bring with them may save an extra trip.

Most people know that if they are permanently and totally disabled they may qualify for disability benefits, but many do not know that a disabled person may now qualify for disability benefits if his disability is expected to last 12 months.

For these and any other help or information needed the Social Security office is located at 726 21st Street, Lewiston, and is open from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Monday through Thursday, and from 8:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. on Fridays.

GRANDPA NEVER HAD IT SO GOOD

If you ever thought that rowing down the Clearwater River in a wooden boat was fun and exciting, you should try it now. Potlatch Forests, Inc. in Lewiston, utilizes three jet-powered boats for their log drive to the mill and for breaking up jams that take place enroute.

In the old days, when grandpa's strong arms were power for the job, boats could only hold six men, four of whom had to row, while the other two maintained the bow and stern. This proved to be not only exciting, but extremely dangerous, and often the men were lost in the jams. Nowadays, however, the story is quite a different one, and it's a far cry from the oar-powered bateau of yesteryear.

The jet boats are equipped with twin, 190-horsepower motors, and three, the Ponderosa, the Tamarack and the Spruce will join the next drive down the North Fork of the Clearwater to work 40,000,000 board feet of logs the 90 miles to Lewiston.

When the engines are firing at full throttle, the boat is propelled at a speed of 45 miles per hour with the turbines in each pump revolving at 4,000 times per minute. Power, not speed, however, is the most important factor, says the logging manager of the drive. The boats can navigate in about 4 inches of water, turn on a dime, and have no props to scrape on the bottom or rocks. They will carry up to 20 men with pike poles through high water, and can be used to tow logs free in a jam.

L. I. F. E. Program

There will be a pot-luck dinner immediately after church, Sunday, November 26. After dinner the film "Before the Cock Crows" will be shown. Pledges for the Lutheran Ingathering for Education will be made at that time. Plan now to attend.

Among The Injured

We are all wishing a very speedy recovery to Scott Lohman and Mrs. Elmer Lohman.

Mrs. Lohman returned from the hospital at Moscow last Wednesday. Her right leg is in a cast to the hip, and she is confined to a wheel chair. It is possible that next week the cast will be reduced to a smaller one so that she can get about on crutches. She is getting along nicely, however.

Scott Lohman, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lohman returned to his home Sunday afternoon following a serious accident Thursday in which he broke both arms and a collarbone. He is in a cast from his hips to the shoulders, and of course both arms are in casts. He is feeling quite well despite the inconvenience and discomfort of the casts. Hurry and mend those bones, Scotty!

Leland-Cameron Club

The Homemakers from the Leland Club joined the Cameron Club members at the home of Mrs. Emil Silflow last Tuesday. The two clubs are merging into one, and will be known as the Leland-Cameron Club.

The main order of business was the election of officers. Mrs. James Whittinger was elected president; Mrs. Gordon Peters, vice president; Mrs. Ted Fey, secretary, and Helen Mielke, treasurer.

Mrs. Silflow served a delicious lunch at the conclusion of the meeting.

Other News

Mrs. Thelma Meyer, Miss Hermina Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schmidt returned last Tuesday from an extended trip into Illinois, Ohio, and adjoining areas. They visited relatives and friends along the way and report the roads in excellent condition all the way. Miss Meyer left again on Saturday for a Sunday speaking engagement in Davenport, Wash.
