EMMA WRIGHT DIES OF CANCER SAT. AT LEWISTON

Mrs. Emma Marie Wright, 84, wife of Louis Wright, died Saturday at 6:00 a. m. at the St. Joseph's Hospital in Lewiston, where she had been a patient since Wednesday. Death was attributed to cancer. She had been in ill health since October.

Mrs. Wright was born in Czechoslovakia, April 18, 1905. At an early age she came to America, making her home at Cleveland, Ohio. In 1944 she was united in marriage to Louis Wright. While at Cleveland they operated a bakery.

In 1947 they moved to Kendrick, after visiting in the area in 1945. After coming to Kendrick, the couple opened and operated a bakery in what is now the Kendrick Fire Hall. They later moved the bakery to the Blewett Building and remained there until 1964.

In June, 1964, they sold the bakery equipment and purchased a home in the west part of Kendrick, retiring.

Survivors, besides her husband, include a daughter, Margaret at home, by a former marriage; a step-son, Donald Wright of Genesee; four grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday at the Kendrick First Assembly of God Church with Rev. Samuel Stedman officiating.

Mrs. Harold Olderness accompanied Roy Ramey and Eugene Taylor as they sang "How Great Thou Art" and "In The Garden."

Active pallbearers were Arnold Zimmerman, Deary, Robert Clemmings, Wilbur Corkill, Wm. Riley Everett Fey and Roy Glenn. Honorary bearers were Roy and Don Riley of Spokane; R. L. Blewett, Harold Olderness, Arthur Johns, Frank Abrams, Virgil Dygert and Fred Stedman.

Burial was in the Kendrick Cemetery under the direction of Vassar-Rawls Funeral Home.

Mrs. Wright was loved by all who knew her, especially the young. With her friendly smile and generous deeds she made deep and loyal friendships, not only in Kendrick, but throughout the entire area.

She will be greatly missed in our valley.

LIONS, V. F. W. HOLD PLANNING SESSION WED. EVENING

The Kendrick Community Lions Club and the Kendrick V. F. W. held a joint meeting Wednesday evening of last week, with the time devoted to discussion and planning for the coming Locust Blossom Festival on May 31st.

Following a delicious barbecued spare ribs and trimming dinner served by the School Foods Service Ass'n. the business of the evening got under way.

Joe Forest of the V. F. W. announced committees as follows: Parade, Clem Lyons and Harry Newman; Barbecue, Rex Taber, Don Millard and Herb Millard; Dance, Gerald Halseh, Joe Forest, Walter Wolf; Kids Races, Kenneth Brown and Eugene Brocke; Old Timers, John Darby; Button Sales, Rex Taber and Onal Cope.

These committees will work with the corresponding committees of the Lions Club, which were previously announced.

Grand Marshall for the day will be A. O. Kanikkeberg.

Theme of this year's Festival is "Medley of Memories," and it is hoped that this wide field will encourage parade entries.

There was a round-table discussion of the Queen Pageant, which will be held May 24th at the K. H. S. gymnasium. It will be put on by the Senior Class of K. H. S., and their school supervisors. It was announced that an admission charge will be made this year for the first time, but it will be an easy one — 50c for all from the 7th grade up. The charge was decided on to cover steadily mounting costs, which the button sales will no longer cover. A button will not be a requisite for admission.

Ted Reccehl of the Lewiston Lions Club, and a district representative of the Lewis-Clark Council, Boy Scouts of America was present. He presented the Troop 149 Scout Charter to Rev. Marvin Maddux and Richard Benjamin, as Troop Committee members. He also complimented the local organization for its sponsorship of the Scouts, but warned that sponsorship alone was not enough — help must be given the Troop Committee in every way. Cards were also passed out for financial sponsors.

The two organizations will hold another joint session, one of "work" in Festival preparation at the call of the secretaries.

Wealth, in itself, is not wrong. But there are great differences of opinion about how far a man can go in acquiring it.

JOB MARKET SHOWS SNOW MOLD IS IMPROVEMENT SHOWING IN WHEAT

Moscow — The job market improved considerably during the past week as spring weather set in in Latah county, according to a report by Frank J. Harstein, Moscow office manager of the Idaho Department of Employment. Demand for tractor operators for spring work on area farms heads the list of 45 new job openings received last week.

Twenty-seven individuals were placed on jobs leaving a total of 65 jobs open. This compares to 59 the previous week and 68 jobs open last year at this time. Harstein listed the following openings for area men and women: Deliveryman, TV repair man, janitor, salesman, several mechanics and machinery set-up men, bricklayers, carpenter apprentices, egg gatherer, L. P. N., several good secretarial openings, bank teller, motel maid, cooks, waitresses, dishwashers, live-in housekeepers and a critical need for farm tractor and cat operators.

The unemployment insurance rolls fell from 247 at the end of last week to a total of 226 at the end of the current week. This compares with 208 persons receiving jobless pay at the same time in 1968. Harstein said that only 9 persons filed new claims during the week, so the trend is "back to work." Although most area woods workers are still off. At the end of the week there were 51 Moscow area residents filing claims; a week ago 53, and a year ago 64. One Genesee resident was seeking unemployment insurance; a week ago 4, and a year ago 6. The Deary-Bovill area had 111 persons filing for jobless pay compared with 119 last week, and 85 last year.

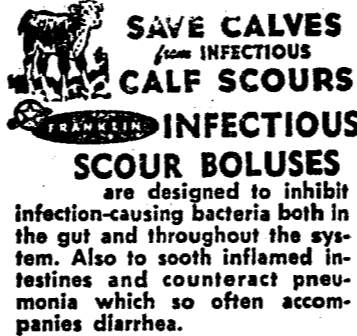

Five persons from the Kendrick area were receiving unemployment pay; 8 a week ago, and 4 a year ago. Twenty-seven persons from Elk River are currently seeking benefits, the same as a week ago, but 15 more than a year ago. Harstein said the number of claimants would probably decline as good weather holds and then drop considerably when the area loggers get back to work.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my friends at Genesee who have sent me cards, letters or visited me while I was in the hospital. Your kindness is much appreciated.

BUTTERMILK

Originally, buttermilk was strictly a farm product, with possibly some exceptions where farm folks had city relatives or friends. Buttermilk got its name from the fact that it was the remaining fluid in the churn after the butter had formed and had been removed.

Buttermilk as we know it is somewhat different today. On the market, it is usually a cultured product made from whole milk or skim milk, mostly the latter. In either case it is Grade A milk, or it can be made from concentrated fluid milk (whole or skim) or reconstituted nonfat dry milk. A bacterial culture is added to create the fermentation which gives buttermilk its distinctive taste. The heavy, smooth consistency is due to the bacterial culture and to pasteurization at higher temperature than is used with whole or skimmed "sweet" milk. Buttermilk from the churn had golden flecks of butter in it. Today's buttermilk has them, too, but they are added afterward, by a gentle stirring process.

Today's Is Superior While old-timers might have a preference for the product to which they have been accustomed, the modern, controlled buttermilk is actually superior. It is less variable in composition, always pasteurized, and often improved in flavor by adding salt or citric acid (limited in quantity by federally established standards). The food value of buttermilk is the same as that of the milk from which it was made — varying from whole milk to skim milk in composition. Its particular value lies in its contribution of calcium, riboflavin, protein, and niacin equivalents. An eight-ounce glass of buttermilk made from skim milk supplies approximately 90 calories, compared with almost 160 for whole fluid milk and 90 for skim milk in like amounts. If butter granules are added to the buttermilk, the calorie count is higher.

Useful in Cooking

Buttermilk, because of its unique tangy flavor, is excellent for baking cakes, pancakes and biscuits. It helps to tenderize meat, when used as an ingredient in the sauce for beef stroganoff and similar dishes. Buttermilk is a useful liquid ingredient for gelatin desserts, flavored with orange or lemon and garnished with fresh fruit in season, or with canned or dried fruit. With pineapple juice and sugar (or non-carbohydrate sweetener), or other fruit juice, it makes a cooling drink.

Buttermilk can be used in place of sour milk, measure for measure; it works just as well. This reminds me of my grandmother's treat for us when we were children — sour milk, sugar and cinnamon, with thin slices of buttered pumpernickel. M.M.M.M! encouraged to improve the quality and marketing of his wool.

The payment rate for wool is based on the difference between the incentive price of 67 cents and the national average price of 40.5 cents received by the growers.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announcement on payment rates estimated that national payments this year will total a little less than $70 million. Each grower's wool payment is determined by multiply his dollar return from sale of wool (less the marketing charges) by the payment rate of 65.4 percent. For each $100 in sales return, the grower receives an incentive payment of $65.40. The grower who gets the best possible market price for his wool also gets a high incentive payment and is thus wool relative to the value of shorn wool.

LIQUID CHLORINE BLEACH PURIFIES DRINKING WATER

Liquid chlorine bleach such as Clorox can be used to purify flood contaminated water, according to Civil Defense authorities.

The bleach information service recommends the following quantities to purify suspicious water:

Add 1 tsp. liquid chlorine bleach to 5 gallons.

Add 16 drops liquid chlorine bleach to one gallon.

Add 4 drops liquid chlorine bleach to one quart.

Mix well and let stand at least five minutes before drinking.

Do not use the water unless you can detect a residual chlorine taste or smell. A slight taste of chlorine is desirable, for that proves the water has been treated and is safe for use.

In using household bleach for water purification, make sure the label states the bleach contains sodium hypochlorite, a chlorine compound as its only active ingredient.

Once purified, water can be stored safely for weeks or months in tightly capped empty plastic bleach bottles.

Flood waters generally leave behind considerably mold, mildew and germ contamination. To effectively remove mold and mildew and destroy harmful germs the Clorox Information Service recommends a scrub-down of household surfaces with three-fourths cup of liquid chlorine bleach per gallon of hot sudsy water.

CONTROLLED USE HELPS RANGELAND VEGETATION

Controlled grazing at the proper time of year with the right kind of livestock can be useful in big game management as a tractor, planter or hunting and fishing regulations.

But, the wrong kind of livestock grazing on big game ranges can be very harmful, according to Gene deReus, land management supervisor of the Idaho Fish and Game Department. He listed four types of livestock grazing that are beneficial to game animals, upland game birds and migratory waterfowl. These are:

1. Irrigated goose pastures— animal must keep all vegetation down to make irrigated pastures attractive for geese and other migrator waterfowl.

2. Clean-up grazing— animals remove what is left of old crops and fertilize the soil for next years farming on waterfowl and upland game hunting areas. Livestock are permitted after hunting season and before nesting activity begins.

3. Land use trades—allows livestock grazing on portions of wildlife management areas that are not critical in exchange for no livestock use or deferred livestock use on private lands that are critical for elk and deer.

4. Rest rotation—livestock grazing at the right time of the year and of the right intensity improves bitterbrush and sagebrush ranges.

deReus said that the department has received fees ranging from $2 to $5.50 per animal unit month on its land. Lands grazed vary from dry range through sub-irrigated pastures to croplands. Grazing permits are usually issued to the highest bidder after advertising.

Mr. and Mrs. David Straw and son were Thursday and Friday over-night guests of the Heimgartners, who "baby sat" little Benny on Friday, while his parents were in Lewiston. Sunday the Heimgartners visited and assisted with cattle branding at Clearwater.

Miss Linda Stevens and fiance Steve Bakke, students at Seattle Pacific College, spent the week-end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stevens.

Sunday dinner guests in the Cleitis Holsington home included Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heimgartner, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Heimgartner, Clarkston, and Mr. and Mrs. Del Wilson, Baker, Ore. Sunday afternoon callers were the Don Holsington family.

Sunday afternoon she, with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Heimgartner, were guests in the Roy Heimgartner home. Wednesday afternoon the Leslie Heimgartners and Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner visited Mrs. Wm. Harri in Clarkston.

The Ernest Steigers proudly report the winning of an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D. C. by jet plane from Great Falls, Mont., by grandson Terry Steigers of Hulsdon, Mont. The award was one of many granted by Electric Co-ops over the U. S. A. for prize winning essays. Terry and the winning group will tour Washington, D. C. by bus, and meet the President.

Grandson Bill Steigers, Jr., won a "Superior" rating on his clarinet solo, also on other group entries, from Sacajawea Jr. High, Lewiston, at the recent Music Festival. (These bragging grandmas!)

Mrs. Marion Stevens attended the Song Festival held for mothers at the U. of I. on Saturday. Delta Delta, Delta, attended by their daughter Fern, was the winner of a $100 prize and a large trophy for entering the winning turtle in the turtle race! We wonder if Fern's athletic abilities were a factor, she being a leader during her Lapwai High school days! All joking aside, she was the pride of our entire community!

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames McCrea and Lutz, with dainty little Miss Elizabeth Carlson helping to pass the napkins. Those present were Messrs and Mesdames Mossers, Bryne, Lutz, Dunkle, Knepper, G. Porter, McCrea and Newton.

Great effort was being made at this time to get the road built between Juliaetta and Kendrick, the Powell and Hamil hills seeming to be the worst problem. At a meeting held that week, it was agreed by those present that the expense of grading the Hamil hill should be shared equally by the two towns and the committee in charge had the power to include the grading of this hill in the contract with that of grading the Powell hill, if they saw fit to do so.

Juliaetta News: A merry gathering of 20 young people was held at the residence of Mrs. C. Hoff, Thursday evening. The party was rightly called a "costume party," for many varied and beautiful costumes were in evidence, showing originality and skill on the part of the participants.

SYSTEM DETECTS OFFSHORE LEAKS

A PHOTOGRAPHIC METHOD FOR monitoring oil leaks from offshore drilling operations has been developed at the University of Michigan. An 18-channel multi-spectral sensing automatic data-interpretation system for forming images was used to trace the oil slick from a leaking drilling operation off Santa Barbara, Calif. It can detect thin slicks that would elude normal photographic techniques and can be used to trace their paths by day or night. The oil, being cooler than the surrounding water, shows darker than the surrounding areas.

STAR DUST is made of sand—plain ordinary silicate sand, reports a University of Minnesota astrophysicist. He says that just as snow forms in the earth's atmosphere, silicates, the substances that make up most of our earth, may be expected to form solid particles in the atmospheres of "cool" stars. They have surface temperatures of more than 3000 degrees F.

WHILE LOUISVILLE SLEPT early one recent Sunday morning, a caravan carrying six giant components for nuclear power stations moved through its downtown area. Three of the components, called seal bellows, are 36-ft in diameter and three are 25 ft, making them the largest elements of their type ever manufactured. Their size made it necessary to move them between 3 a. m. and 8 a. m. on Sunday so that minimum traffic conditions would be encountered. The piping components manufactured by Tube Turns will be used to TVA nuclear power plants in Alabama. The accordion-like fittings absorb movement between reactors and containment vessels.

THE SAN FRANCISCO EARTHQUAKE of 1906 was one of the most destructive in the recorded history of North America—the quake and fires that followed killed nearly 700 people and left the city in ruins. But the Alaskan earthquake of 1964 was of greater magnitude, reports the U. S. Department of Interior. It released perhaps twice as much energy and was felt over an area of almost 500,000 square miles. Lost of life (114 persons) and property would have been far greater had Alaska been more densely populated.

TREMORS from the "birthquake" have only begun to shake the world, says a University of Wisconsin ecologist. This quake, set arumble by the population explosion, is already putting severe stress on the world's environment. He said that it may bring Home Cookin' ...

One of our most popular meat is ground beef. First, it is economical, second, there are so many different ways to prepare it, and of course, the main reason, it is delicious, just any way you prepare it. So, our anonymous cook this week says her family enjoys this cheese-stuffed hamburger roll. She prepares it quite often, and it is one the family never seems to tire of. Her other recipe is for meat, mushrooms, and rice. They both sound delicious and worth trying. And remember, ladies, I am out of recipes. A gentle hint?

By the way, the compliments have been coming in for Mrs. Linehan's recipe of last week. We plan to try it Sunday.

Cheese-Stuffed Hamburger Roll

¾ cup chopped onion
3 cups toasted bread crumbs
1½ lbs. ground beef
1 egg
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. sage
1½ cups grated sharp process cheese
Simmer onion in one-third cup boiling water 5 minutes; pour over bread. Combine meat, egg, seasonings; pat out in 14-8-inch rectangle on waxed paper. Spread bread mixture over; sprinkle 1 cup cheese atop. Roll. Place in 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for 70 minutes. Sprinkle remaining cheese over; bake 2 minutes longer.

Makes about 6 servings.

Meat, Mushroom and Rice Casserole

½ lb. lean beef, diced
½ lb. lean pork, diced
½ lb. lean veal, diced
If you prefer just one kind of meat may be used.
2 green onions, tops and bottoms, chopped
¼ cup butter
½ lb. fresh or 1-8-oz. pkg. frozen mushrooms, sliced
1 cup uncooked rice
3 cups bouillon
Salt and pepper
Saute meats and onion briefly in butter in a skillet; then saute mushrooms.

Place washed, uncooked rice in the bottom of a deep buttered casserole. Add other ingredients. Cover lightly and bake in 350 degree oven for 45 minutes or 1 hour.

URGES VACCINATION FOR CATTLE

Moscow — Two widespread animal disease which cause considerable dollar loss to Idaho cattlemen need to be treated and vaccinated for right now, according to Dr. Richard Hall, Extension veterinarian.

"Cow herds with vibriosis or rednose (IBR) should be vaccinated this spring," Hall reported. "If your herd has a history of too many open cows, vibriosis may be the problem. Rednose can cause breeding problems and abortions in cattle."

Regarding vibriosis, Hall stated that it is difficult to diagnose the disease in the laboratory and to determine how extensive it may be in a herd. Consequently, the cattlemen must also take the herd history into account.

Cows should be vaccinated against vibriosis from 30 to 60 days before breeding for good protection. Although vaccinations don't work for bulls, the bulls can be treated with the antibiotic dihydrostreptomycin to rid them of the infection, Hall said.

To protect against rednose, cows and replacement heifers should be vaccinated at least 30 days before breeding. A single vaccination results in a lifetime immunity against this disease, Hall explained. However, he cautioned not to vaccinate pregnant animals because the vaccination material used can result in an abortion.

Unlike vibriosis, rednose can be diagnosed readily in the laboratory, he said.

"The cattlemen should consult with his local veterinarian about how to treat his bulls and how best to vaccinate his cows and replacement heifers," Hall stated.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

"Social Security serves youth." This statement was made today by D. Gene Shaw, Social Security District manager at Lewiston, in explaining the various features of the program. "Social Security is more than older people, retirement, and Medicare, Mr. Shaw said. "It is monthly cash payments to disabled workers and their families. It is monthly checks to widowed mothers and their children."

A disabled person under age 21 may qualify for benefits if he has worked at least 1 1/2 years of the last 3 years before his disability began.

Every worker under Social Security, no matter how young, is purchasing disability and survivors protection for himself and family in addition to earning cash payments for his eventual retirement.

Full information about benefits for young workers can be obtained at the Social Security Office at 726 21st St., Lewiston, Idaho. A free booklet, "Social Security Information for Young Families," can be obtained by writing or phoning the Lewiston Social Security office. The mailing address is P. O. Box 857; the phone number is 743-9456.

RECORD SEEN FOR SUMMER ENROLLMENT

"Preliminary indications are that Summer School 1969 at the University of Idaho will break records," Paul Kaus, Summer School Director, noted today. "We have had an unusually large number of requests for copies of the Summer Bulletin."

Kaus said that during the last three weeks, his office had mailed out over 8,000 Summer School Bulletins.

"It is difficult to know if persons who request copies of the Summer Bulletin are serious about coming to Summer School or if they are just 'shopping'," Kaus noted. "Last year, 1,720 students enrolled on campus for credit courses. This was an increase of more than 300 over the preceding year. I would guess that some thing over 1,900 will enroll for Summer School 1969 for credit programs. We will also serve during the summer more than 1,500 students in non-credit programs such as the Public Utilities Executives Course, and music and journalism camps."

PRIEST LAKE FISHING DERBY

The Priest Lake Fishing Derby, now in progress, is attracting fishermen from a wider area. The largest Makinaw caught in Idaho waters was at Priest Lake, weighing 84 pounds and 5 ounces. Anglers are trying to best this record before the derby's closing date of May 31.

FISHERMAN'S BREAKFAST

With the opening of the fishing season just ahead, the community of St. Anthony is busy making plans for its "Fishermen's Breakfast," to be held on May 30. Last year more than 10,000 anglers were served during the day, free of charge. This annual event is a highlight of opening day for fishermen in southeastern Idaho.

WAISTLINES BACK IN FASHION

Waistlines are back in fashion, Joanne Anderson, county home economics agent, commented this week in suggesting construction or purchase of women's clothing. The change in style indicates very little ease, if any, is needed in the waist. The garment can fit closely to the body. The waistline seam is generally hidden under the belt.

A woman with very erect posture may find that the back waist length is too long, fashion designers say. The result is either a horizontal fold above the belt or a waistline seam that drops below the belt. In a ready-to-wear dress, excess length can be removed either at the shoulder seams or the waistline seam. When working from a pattern, the excess can be removed by taking a tuck across the pattern. The fold may be made in the armseye area or the underarm area, depending on the individual build.

Round shoulders present another fitting problem. The back waist length is likely to be too short. In this case, it may be possible to let out the shoulder seams to give more length. Extra length may be added by using a set-in-belt. For prominent shoulders, the bodice back may need more length to cover a larger curve and more fullness under the shoulder blades. If fullness is not provided the cloth is pulled toward the side seams at the waist, causing wrinkles. Two or more darts may be needed on each side of the center back. Gathers, pleats or tucks may be more flattering than darts.

The choice depends on individual form and taste.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

The Lewiston Social Security office is issuing a special invitation to people who will be age 65 by the end of this year to come in for a pre-retirement interview, according to D. Gene Shaw district manager.

A person nearing 65 will have an opportunity to learn about what to expect from retirement benefits and what should be done to have Medicare protection start on time. In addition, all the necessary papers, including documents needed to establish a person's date of birth, can be reviewed.

"Whether you plan to retire or not, come in early and let us plan together for your 65th birthday," Shaw advised.

The Lewiston District Office is located at 726 21st Street in Lewiston, Idaho. The telephone number is 743-9456. Office hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday.

If a man says he is boss at home—watch him, he will lie about other things too.

Two ministers, who passed on into the great beyond, arrived at the pearly gates at the same time. Their knock was answered by St. Peter who listened to their identification and their stories of their work on earth. After careful thought he advised them that at the present time they were loaded with good men of this caliber and would have no room for them for perhaps 3 months or more and the only thing possible for them to do was to spend this time with Lucifer in Hell. Upon arriving in Hell, they immediately started working—rummage sales, bingo games, suppers and drives of every sort. Finally they were called in by Lucifer who said, "I have watched your endeavors with great interest and of late with some concern. I feel that your presence can no longer be tolerated here because if you earn another $300, you will have enough to purchase air conditioning and you will upset my whole operations."
