WAYNE DUST IS NEW KHS COACH

Wayne Dust, a native of Post Falls, Idaho, has been named head coach at Kendrick High School for the coming year. It was announced this week by Superintendent of School James V. Muscat. Dust will replace Terry Taylor, who resigned to accept a similar position at the Clearwater Valley High School in Kootenai.

The new coach attended high school at Post Falls, Idaho, and attended North Idaho Junior College at Coeur d'Alene for two years before transferring to Huron State College, Huron South, Dakota, where he received his degree. For the past three years he has been coaching at Cambridge High School, Cambridge, Idaho.

Supt. Muscat, who said Dust comes to Kendrick with excellent qualifications and recommendations, said Dust will coach football, basketball and one spring sport. He will teach physical education in Junior High School and High School, and will also instruct seventh grade Science, Muscat added.

Dust is married and has one daughter. The family is planning to move into the district in the early part of the summer.

VANDALS BREAK SCHOOL WINDOWS

Last Thursday night vandals caused an estimated $800 damage to Kendrick as they broke 44 windows on the south side of Kendrick High School, tore sign posts down in various parts of the city, and damaged a telephone booth on Main Street.

Local and county law enforcement officers have been unable to identify any of the troublemakers. Superintendent of School James V. Muscat said Saturday morning that the damage to the school apparently was done between 2:00 and 4:00 a. m. Friday morning. He said the windows were presumably broken with a large rock. Immediate replacement of the damaged school property was necessary, Muscat said, and added that Twin City Glass of Lewiston was the lowest of three bidders with a bid of $316.00.

Windows were also broken at the V. F. W. Hall in north Kendrick in addition to those at the school. A small utility trailer belonging to Ben P. Cook, and parked near the V. F. W. hall was also damaged. It was also reported that road signs were damaged on the Kendrick-Troy Highway (SH99), apparently by the same vandals.

LITTLE LEAGUE CONTEST SATURDAY

A Little League Baseball game will be another feature of Kendrick's annual Locust Blossom Festival Saturday, May 31, as Kenny Brown announced that a contest will be held at the Kendrick Park beginning at 5:30 p. m. The two teams will be composed of players from the regular three teams in the Kendrick-Juliaetta league.

There will be no admission charge for the game, Brown said. Helping to stage this contest will be Brown, Roger Courtwright, Darrell Manfull, James Muscat and Donnie Parks.

PANEL DISCUSSES GENESEE BUSINESS

GENESEE—Some 46 interested citizens attended the Genesee Civic Assn. meeting last Thursday evening at Carter's Charcoal Broiler. The business meeting was conducted by Leonard Singhose, president of the organization.

Several committee reports were given. Mrs. Wayne Roach reported that Community Day plans were proceeding on schedule. Adrian Nelson reported that over $1900 was collected for CROP.

R. E. Nordby resigned as treasurer of the Association and David Kuehl was selected to take his place. Mr. Kuehl reported on membership, and urged people to join the group. Dues are just $5 a family.

The program consisted of a panel discussion on the topic of keeping businesses in Genesee and encouraging other businesses to locate here.

The panel was composed of Mayor Dick Scharnhorst, Wayne Roach, and Jon Cantanessa, local businessmen, and William Phar, manager of Genesee's First Security Bank. Adrian Nelson, area farmer, and member of the Genesee Rimrock Highway district was moderator.

Residents were urged to support the businesses in Genesee, even if it costs a little more, for if they do not get support, they cannot survive.

Genesee has lost in the past few years, its farm machinery store, hardware, clothing store, one grocery store Ford garage and car dealership, restaurant, doctor, and pharmacist. Very unfortunate circumstances have occurred in several cases, but a lack of support of some of the businesses was felt to be a large part of the reason for their decline. Genesee is in a unique position, between larger shopping centers where people go to buy large items, and buy smaller items locally.

It was brought out by members of the panel that the situation is a result of a lack of support of individuals to the community as a whole—if residents were really dedicated to saving this community, it can be done. What people do not realize is that, as was pointed out by a member of the school board, as businesses leave the community, the taxes they pay are lost. Since the school is supported by business taxes as well as residence and farm land, the prospect of losing our school by consolidation looms ever closer as we neglect to support our Genesee businesses and community affairs.

Some felt that if we could acquire a doctor and a pharmacist, the situation would be more easily remedied. A committee from the Medical-Dental Board has been working very hard, writing letters and trying to secure a doctor, but as was pointed out, when they do come to Genesee, see the empty stores on main street, the lack of housing, etc., it is difficult to interest them.

We need to think positive, talk up our advantages, such as our excellent school, parks, good water and air and show that this community can work together for the good of all.

Suggestions were made that a welcoming committee be formed to greet new people and leave them information concerning our town.—It's school, churches, organizations, etc., a directory be prepared and that areas of the town be cleaned up.

Mayor Scharnhorst announced that the city will have a free pick-up of trash during the week of June 2-6, and urged residents to conduct a real Clean-Up Week.

Mr. Singhose urged any interested person with ideas of ways to help keep Genesee a prosperous and growing community to please contact him. A follow-up meeting was suggested following Community Day to help formulate action on suggestions made.

ORGAN GROUP

The local Organ Society group met Monday evening, May 26th, at the Phil Johns home in Juliaetta. Eight members and one guest were present. Mrs. Johns had two electric organs and a piano, so a variety of music selections were enjoyed for the program.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening, with several husbands joining the group at that time.

Locust Blossom Festival Is Set For Saturday, May 31

Whether the blossoms are on the trees or on the ground, Kendrick's 9th Annual Locust Blossom Festival will be held Saturday, May 31, and promises a day packed full of fun and activity for everyone in the area.

Workers, who have put in many hours and days of preparation are keeping a hopeful eye upward as rain and cloudy conditions have been prevalent for most of this week. The beautiful, fragrant locust blossoms have already passed their peak of glory and are starting to fall, but the enthusiasm of the community is high and there are predictions that this will be the best celebration yet.

The Festival will begin with the parade down Main Street, beginning at 10:00 a. m. Many entries have been received for the parade, both locally and from nearby communities. This year's Grand Marshal will be A. O. Kanikkeberg, retired Kendrick banker. The title of "Grand Marshal" of the parade is awarded each year to an outstanding community leader in recognition of effort and achievement for the area.

Following the parade there will be races in the park for both boys and girls, with awards for the winners. Advance registration is not required for these races.

Also opening immediately following the parade will be the Art Show in the basement of the Community Church, and the Flower Show and display at the Kendrick Rochdale Co. This year there will be a carnival in town for the amusement of both young and old. This will be located on the side street between the Country Kitchen and the Red Cross Pharmacy.

At 11:30 a. m. the serving of the barbecue beef dinner will begin at the Kendrick Park. On the menu this year will be barbecued beef sandwiches, baked beans, cole slaw, pickles, coffee and soft drinks. Admission to the "chow" line will be by your Locust Blossom Festival Button. Serving should be over by 1:00 p. m.

The afternoon events will get under way about 1:00 p. m., with a motorcycle race at the Jim Travis ranch one mile north of Kendrick on the Kendrick-Troy Highway (SH99). The Grand Entry of the big Festival Gymkhana will also begin down at the Trail Riders Club grounds at 1:00 p. m.

At 1:30 the Old Time Fiddlers contest will begin at the Kendrick Park. There will be three prizes awarded for this event, plus a prize for the oldest fiddler.

At 5:30 there will be a Little League baseball game between two local teams at the K. H. S. ball park. The Festival will conclude in the evening with a dance at the V. F. W. Hall beginning at 9:30 p. m., with music for the occasion being furnished by Pat, Herb and Henry.

IT'S TIME TO SPRAY

U. of I. Moscow — An early spray catches the worm. It's essential to an apple crop whether you have one tree in the back yard, or a whole orchard. An apple without a worm is the only apple you want to eat. The spray is to get rid of the codling moth. Several applications may be necessary, suggests Homer Fitter, county agricultural agent. The first should be put on about 18 days after full bloom, the next should be two weeks later, and the third two weeks after that. Repetition is necessary because there are several broods of codling moths. If one of them is left alone, it will do considerable damage. An effective chemical is Diazion. There are two methods of application. One calls for the use of 50-percent wettable powder at the rate of two teaspoons to a gallon of water. The other is a 25-percent emulsified concentrate of Diazion at the rate of three-fourth tablespoon per gallon of water. The spray should be put on all portions of apple tree foliage.

SALMON OUTLOOK BETTER
 Counts of spring run chinook salmon over Ice Harbor and Lower Monumental dams now are more favorable than they were a week or ten days ago. This run of fish appears to have been delayed because of heavy water flows and other adverse conditions in the lower Columbia River. This could affect arrival times at various places on the Salmon River and

Small Game Harvest

Hunter questionnaire figures show tremendous increases—and some decreases—in the 1968 harvest of small game species. For example, hunters killed more chukar partridge than ever before, an increase of 153 per cent over the long term and 44 per cent above 1967 figures. The total was 177,000 chukars statewide. Pheasant its tributaries. For example, the earliest spring chinook ever reported at the mouth of the Lemhi River near Salmon City was the third week in May. Salmon are caught at Sunbeam Dam between June 5-10, and below Dagger Falls on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River about mid-June. They generally appear at the mouth of Pistol Creek and Marble Creek early in June.

hunters reported a 20 per cent better harvest south of the Salmon River than in 1967, though about the same for the long-term average. Quail shooters reported 37 per cent better harvest than the previous year, 149% better than the 1968-63 average. Cottontail rabbit hunters found success 144% better than the five-year average. Nearly 155,000 cottontails were bagged. Waterfowl hunting, including Canada geese, was below the 1967 harvest figures. Ducks dropped 23 per cent below the previous year, and 19 per cent below the long-term average. This showed the effects of a number of dry years.

WWP ELECTRIC RATE CUT AGAIN!

Third Reduction in Two Years...

New, lower electric rates have just gone into effect. They will save Washington Water Power customers $430,000 a year.

This is the third reduction in two years. We call it a rate modernization program and the total annual saving to our customers is now $1,365,000.

At a time when nearly every other cost of living is going up this will be especially good news to our customers whose use is in the higher bracket.

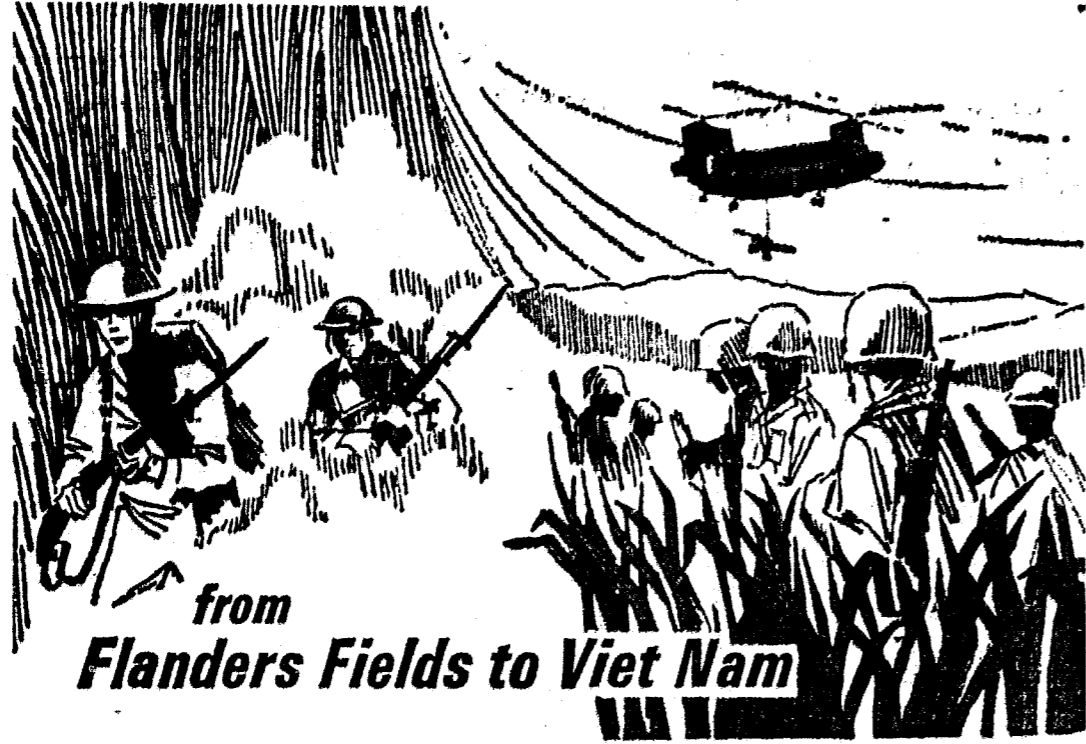

Actually, that's the main reason we are able to make these reductions. Our customers' average use has increased steadily in recent months. They use nearly twice the national average and are proving the old slogan, "The more you use the cheaper it gets."

The total comfort of electric living is now a greater bargain than ever. It's an ideal time to think about electric heat and air conditioning for your home. Please call us for details.

NOW enjoy TOTAL COMFORT FOR EVEN LESS!

WICKS HONORED IN NAMING OF BASEBALL FIELD

The University of Idaho's new baseball field had a name today—Guy P. Wicks Field.

The name became official Friday at ceremonies attended by Wicks' widow Mrs. Grace Wicks of Moscow.

A scroll presented to Mrs. Wicks and signed by Dr. Ernest W. Hartung, president of the university, stated that the field was:

"Dedicated in appreciation of one who loved and served well the University of Idaho and its people. Coach, counselor and friend to many generations of Idaho students, Guy Wicks will ever live in memory as the epitome of sportsmanship, fair play, and courage in adversity. In naming this field to honor Guy Wicks, the Regents of the University hope that his life and his ideals will be a motivating example to all who use it."

Wicks, who died January 16, 1968 after retiring as associate dean of students two years earlier, was one of the university's most ardent baseball fans. He coached the Vandals in baseball in the forties, and, although his responsibilities at the university changed, he remained a loyal fan, rarely missing a home game.

Wicks pioneered in two programs at the university. In 1949, he was named the institution's first Field Agent, traveling annually to about 150 high schools in the state. In that same period, he helped found Vandal Boosters, becoming the organization's first secretary-treasurer.

A native of Eustis, Nebraska, Wicks grew up in Moscow. Following graduation from the University of Idaho, he coached two years at Genesee high school, three years at Moscow high school, and one year in North Central high school in Spokane. Then, for the next 10 years, he was athletic director and football coach at Idaho State University.

In 1941, Wicks came to the University of Idaho campus as head basketball and baseball coach. During the War, he served as a lieutenant in the Navy, returning to the university in 1946. In 1954, he was appointed Associate Director of Student Affairs. Two years later he was named Associate Dean of Students.

Home Cookin' . . .

With so many busy days ahead, meal planning and housekeeping must be kept on a tight schedule. No one wants to neglect the family, especially at meal time, so right now quick and easily prepared meals are more than welcome. Mrs. Ben (Ada) Westendahl has a chicken and dressing casserole that sounds delicious, and easy to prepare.

Then while you have your oven going—why not stir up a batch of Date Bars? Mrs. Dennis (Margaret) Racicot offers a real good one. Chicken casserole, date bars, and a cup of coffee or glass of iced tea and there is a quick, delicious meal.

Of course—the above recipes are all from Kendrick cooks. Thanks again ladies.

In the May 15 recipes, one reader wrote in and ask what size pan to use for the rhubarb upside-down cake. We were told that a smaller than the ordinary size would be nicely. A Genesee reader told me she used a 9x9 pan.

Uncooked, instead of cooked noodles are used in the Tullareene recipe.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

GENESEE—June 2-7 has been designated as Clean-Up Week for the City of Genesee. The city will gather, free of charge, all trash, cans, and other refuse that is placed in alleys near homes.

Community Day has been set for June 14th and we want to be proud of the appearance of our town. Now is the time to dig out the old junk that has accumulated over the past year, and have it hauled away.

NEW, LOWER RATES TO WWP CO. CUSTOMERS

New, lower rates to residential electric customers of The Washington Water Power Company will become effective with all meter readings beginning Monday, May 26.

John Murray, Palouse, division manager for WWP, said the new rate has been approved by both the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission and the Idaho Public Utilities Commission.

"The new rate schedule will mean an annual savings of approximately $430,000 a year for our residential customers," he said.

WWP reduced its electric rates by $25,000 a year in 1967 and in 1968 announced another reduction totalling $410,000 a year. The newest reduction brings the total savings to its electric customers to $1,365,000 a year.

With annual power use averaging 10,143 kilowatt hours, WWP's residential customers use almost twice as much electrical energy as an "average" U. S. utility customer. Even before this latest rate reduction, the rate they paid per kilowatt hour was only 60 per cent of the national average.

The WWP spokesman said that his company expects power use by its customers to continue to climb.

"Significant increases in use of electricity for heating and the growing popularity of home air conditioners are major factors in this growth," he said. "The new rate schedule, with its low "end-step" of only nine mills per kilowatt hour, will almost certainly accelerate this trend."

WWP anticipates that its average residential customer will soon be using 15,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy annually.
