Bulldogs Defeat Tigers 52-0 Friday

Both Kendrick and Genesee finished the 1969 football season last Friday on the Kendrick field as the Bulldogs ground out a 52-0 win over the Tigers in a rough, penalty-filled contest.

Fred Morscheck pulled the first Genesee TD across early in the game after Genesee had blocked a Tiger punt on the 9 1/2-yard line. Morscheck went over from the one-yard line and LeRoy Zenger booted the conversion. Morscheck passed to quarterback Bruce Scharnhorst for the next Genesee score in a play covering 28 yards. Zenger added the extra point.

In the second quarter Morscheck scored again from one-yard out after Dick Green had brought the ball to that position. Zenger kicked the extra point. After having one touchdown called back, Doug Tyler scored one that finally counted. The same thing happened minutes later to Bob Schwenne and then Bob went ten yards for the touchdown. Genesee led 33-0 at the half.

Coach Kanikkeberg used his bench strength throughout much of the second half and in the third quarter the only score came when Mark Denier pounced on a Kendrick fumble and ran seven yards for a touchdown.

Fred Morscheck, playing his last game for the Bulldogs, came back in during the final period to score on a 52-yard run and then passed to Bruce Scharnhorst for a 65-yard scoring play.

City Will Ask Bids On Rice Bldg.

Genesee — All members of the Genesee City Council were present at the City Hall Monday night for the regular monthly meeting presided over by Mayor D. F. Scharnhorst. After hearing reports on the cost of re-roofing, repairing or tearing down the Rice Building, it was decided to begin legal paper work necessary to sell the structure to the highest bidder. Because of laws regulating the sale of public property, this will be a time-consuming operation.

In other action, Joyce Flerchinger appeared before the council to ask about placing daily newspaper boxes near the roads so delivery could be made by car rather than on foot. Because of the problems snow removal crews, firemen, etc., might face if individual paper containers were placed around town near the roads, the council felt the newspapers involved should seek other solutions to their delivery problems.

Ray Johann came before the council to see if some rocks, which were turned up by graders along side the alley near his home could be removed. He said a neighbor of his had requested he ask the council for this to be done. Mayor Scharnhorst instructed Mr. Dyer and Mr. Grieser to solve the problem to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Earl Broemeling, NezPerce Tractor Co. salesman, was present to see if the council was interested in the purchase of a grader the city had been test-using for some time. The price was $2,600 and the old city grader. The council decided not to purchase the grader.

The council agreed to place street lights near the Leachman, Holfelz and Jutte residences.

City Clerk C. D. Manfred informed the council that he would resign his position next June 1, having been in the job 15 years. Mayor Scharnhorst expressed the council regrets at the thought of losing Mr. Manfred. He said the city will now be considering a new clerk and those interested may apply to either the Mayor or city clerk.

Many Trick-or-Treaters Out On Hallowe'en Night

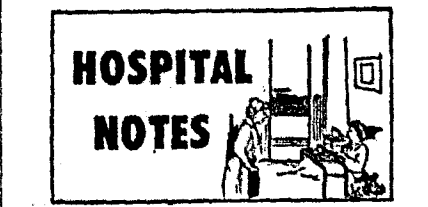

Hallowe'en evening was a beautiful one, and as a result "trick or treaters" were out in force, most of them in gay costumes, and carrying sacks of all sizes — in general, the bigger the better.

On the whole, things were quiet in the vandalism department, with only one case of damage — the use of black spray paint being reported. Marshal Nye reports sending a few youngsters home under the curfew law, but most were at home or in bed when their time was up.

Fifty-One-Year Old Paper Tells of Armistice

Next Tuesday, November 11, the nation observes Veteran's Day. It is a day to remember our soldiers from all America's wars, but it really belongs to the veterans of World War I, who on that date in 1918 helped force the capitulation of Germany. This week, Gil Erlwine, a WWI veteran, brought in a copy of the Seattle Star, dated Nov. 11, 1918. It was an "Extra" printed in red and black, and told in screaming headlines that "Peace Arrives!"

Mr. Erlwine said the newspaper, which is in remarkably good condition, was found in an old house in Juliaetta by Harold Abrams over 20 years ago, and given to him by Mr. Abrams.

The paper is a four-page issue and devoted entirely to news of the war, the armistice, and the fate of the Kaiser.

We thank Mr. Erlwine for sharing this valuable souvenir with us at this time of year. The paper and the day has a special meaning for the Juliaetta man. He was in uniform at this time in history.

GENESEE—E. J. Leitch, Huntington Park, Calif. and his son-in-law, Sam J. Aspas, Long Beach, called at The News office Friday. The Californians were enroute home following a visit in Wenatchee with relatives. Mr. Leitch, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leitch, early day Genesee residents, was born here, but left Genesee at an early age. His memories of his home town are those related to him by his parents, but said he had always had a desire to return to the place of his birth before "he got too old to travel." Mr. Leitch is a nephew of two early day editors, Hopp and Power. We enjoyed our visit with these gentlemen and hope they will kind enough to pay us a return visit next year.

Election Results

Kendrick Council Picture Still Not Clear; Watts Holds the Key

Five men received write-in votes for mayor of Kendrick and thirteen received write-in votes for councilmen at the election Tuesday in Kendrick. Wednesday morning early, when this story is being written, only one fact can be stated with certainty, and that is that Darrell Brocke was elected to the city council. Due to a filing time mix-up only Brocke's name appeared on the ballot.

The voting for mayor was as follows:

Bob Watts—29; Jim Hoogland—16; Bill White—16; Brown (not known whether Jerry or Kenny)—9; Bud Eichner—8.

Councilmen: Darrell Brocke, 72; Bob Watts, 27; Jim Hoogland, 18; Bill White, 12; Bud Eichner, 6; Roger Courtwright, 5; Kenny Brown, 6; Bill Johnson, 4; Jerry Brown, 5; Lester Wallace, 1; D. Brown, 1; Alene Johnson, 1; Chas. Deobald, 1; E. A. Deobald, 1.

As the situation now stands Bob Watts may pick his position. If he chooses to become mayor, Brocke and Hoogland will be the two councilmen for four year terms. If Watts decides to remain as councilman, then Jim Hoogland and Bill White will be tied for mayor with 16 votes each. Just how this tie will be decided is not clear but possibly it could be broken on the flip of a coin or drawing straws.

Under state law all write-in candidates have five days to make their decision as to accepting or refusing office. The new council will be seated at the first session in January.

R. Groncose, Sherman And Brown Picked By Juliaetta Voters

Richard E. Groncose and Bruce Sherman were elected to four-year terms on the Juliaetta city council Tuesday, November 4. John F. Brown was also elected for a two-year term on the council. A total of 89 ballots were cast by the 112 persons who had registered.

Three men were seeking the council seats for four-year terms. The results were:

Lewis C. Groncose—42
Richard E. Groncose—51
Bruce V. Sherman—50

There were three write-in names who received a total of 7 votes. For the two-year term John F. Brown received 78 votes. He was unopposed.

Lease Law Retained
On an advisory ballot concerning the city's leash law for dogs, 66 persons voted for retaining the current leash law which requires dogs to be restrained from roaming at large between March 1 and October 15. Twenty-two voters were in favor of repealing or not enforcing the ordinance.

Scharnhorst Re-elected; Green and Phar Chosen By Genesee Voters

Genesee—D. F. Scharnhorst was elected to his fourth term as mayor of Genesee Tuesday receiving 46 of 131 votes cast. Two write-in candidates, John Myers and Walter Menden, polled 41 votes and 35 votes, respectively.

In the contest for council seats, Wm. J. Phar received 94 votes, Chet Green, 82, and Marvin Moser 67. Write-in Joe Schooler received 8 votes. Phar and Green will become the two councilmen, replacing Ed Jutte and Bill Roth, whose terms expire Dec. 31.

The newly elected members of the council will be given the oath of office at the first regular meeting of the council in January.

Of 144 registered, 131 voters went to the polls in one of the largest turn outs in recent history.

Steelhead Run Average At Ice Harbor Barrier

By Jim Humbird, Idaho Fish & Game Department

Ocean-going steelhead trout, praised by thousands of hardy anglers for courage, strength, agility and resourcefulness, are back in Idaho waters with average or better fall runs in the Snake River below the Hells Canyon Dam, and in the Clearwater and Salmon river drainages. Fishermen, who bring one of these great fish to creel are "hooked" from that day forward. Even though the "steelhead weather" is the kind that is good for ducks, they never miss a chance to try again for steelies, the species with intelligence, bravery and prowess.

Anadromous steelhead are early springtime spawners in fresh water. Three-fourths of them leave the ocean and reach Idaho waters by the end of October, and lay over in deep holes. That is the reason a "fish year" extends from July 1-June 30, the same as a fiscal year. In other words, the count of steelhead at Ice Harbor Dam on the lower Snake River from July 1-October 22, 1969, was 48,353 steelies. This compares with counts of 69,237 fish last year on the same date, and 38,705 steelhead on October 22, 1967.

Past records show that the Ice Harbor tally of steelhead from November 1 through the following June averages 10,000. If that many additional steelhead cross over Ice Harbor Dam between now and the end of the fish year, the total count at that point may be in excess of 60,000 steelhead. Sixty-five thousand fish is about average for a fish year at that point. Last year the total count reached 85,237 steelhead, the second best ever recorded at Ice Harbor Dam, and for the 1967-68 fish year, the total was 47,508.

Fishing for steelhead is legal in the Snake River below Hells Canyon Dam at all times these anadromous trout are present. Except for its headwaters from the mouth of Redfish Lake Creek upstream, there also is a year-round fishing season for steelies in the main Salmon River. The big salt water trout do not enter the Salmon River spawning tributaries until early spring, usually about March. (The 1970 chinook salmon fishing season in the main Salmon River from its mouth upstream to the mouth of Redfish Lake Creek runs from January 1-July 31). From the mouth of Redfish Lake Creek upstream, the steelhead fishing season is from May 30 to December 31.

The Clearwater River from its mouth upstream to the South Fork (which is closed to steelhead fishing), opened this year on September 15 and runs through April 15, along with the North Fork and the Middle Fork. Not many steelies are beached by sports fishermen in any of these waters, despite liberal regulations, until the leaves start coloring and the waters start cooling, usually about mid-October. Anglers stay with the sport until icing conditions stop them in the late fall, then start fishing again as early as spring weather and water conditions allow. Springtime fishing continues until high, roily snow run-off waters bring down the curtain.

Idaho steelhead bag limits are two fish per day or in possession. Beginning January 1, 1970, and running through the next calendar year the possession limit on steelhead will be increased to four, for fish in excess of 20 inches in length that are caught in the Snake River below Hells Canyon Dam, and in the Clearwater and Salmon River drainages. However, no more than four steelhead may be taken in these waters in seven consecutive days. The season limit will continue to be 20 steelhead over 20 inches. Rainbows under 20 inches in length from these waters are classed as trout.

Steelhead have been recognized as game fish for years in the states of Washington and Idaho, but not in Oregon. But earlier this year, the Oregon State Legislature reversed itself by declaring steelhead to be a game fish, rather than a food fish. Such a basic change in legal philosophy marked the turning point in a long, uphill battle sportsmen have waged to stop commercial gillnetters from harvesting steelhead to be sold to canneries and quick-freeze markets.

John R. Woodworth, director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department says that the new Oregon law still allows "incidental catches" of steelhead without defining what is allowable. However, there are ways of minimizing incidental steelhead catches. One is a delay in the early fall commercial fishing season on the lower Columbia River, since a large percentage of the harvest during the first eight days is made up of steelies when it starts on July 30th.

Of course, the lower Columbia River late fall season, set primarily for fall chinook and coho salmon, goes on through late September and October, after the bulk of the steelhead already have passed the commercial fishing area. The average annual catch of steelhead at the outset of the fall chinook seasons between 1960-65 was 35,000. Delayed commercial fishing season openings in the past few years reduced the catch to about 16,000 steelhead.

Gillnet mesh restrictions limiting the minimum size of the openings to 7½ inches this year during the early fall commercial fishing season reduced the "incidental steelhead" catch" to 50 percent of the total harvest during the first eight days. Until this year, the "incidental steelhead catch" has been averaging about 70 percent of the total catch during the first eight days of the season. Upgrading steelhead to the status of game fish in Oregon, along with adequate protection within this legal framework, should boost the number of Idaho-bound steelies for sport fishing and escapement to the spawning gravel in headwater streams. Giant steelhead hatcheries such as the recently dedicated Dvorshak on the North Fork of the Clearwater and Niagara Springs on the Middle Snake River are supplementing natural production for this species.

Meanwhile, Idaho steelheaders on the banks of the Snake, Clearwater and Salmon rivers build small fires — driftwood being wet of course — watch their rods and lines and boil some coffee to go with their sandwiches. Hope seems to be strong in their nature. Whatever the count shows at Ice Harbor, it is said of steelheaders that they are as confident on the last cast — the absolute last cast of all, as they reel in — as they were when the first cast was made.

No matter the luck or how chill and overcast the day may be, steelheaders wait for their line to sway and grow taut, for the hissing of nylon through the river, for the battle with the hooked, wild, vigorous shadow that will soon break out of the depth in a vibrant, silvery leap against a background of rocks and willows.

Such moments have been described in terms of eternity. In all truth, time does stand still and won't start

As he approached the haberdashery counter of a large department store, a well-dressed gentleman was greeted by a shapely clerk. "Good afternoon," she murmured softly, "and what is your desire?" "My desire," he said, after giving her a long, appreciative look, "is to sweep you into my arms, rush you out of this store and up to my apartment, mix a pitcher of martinis, put on some soft music, and make mad, passionate love to you. But what I need is a pair of socks."

its measured stride once more until all that strength and beauty has been dragged out on the sand and rocks, shorn of all its mystery, like a fish in the market place.

LARGEST FARM ORGANIZATION CONVENTION IN IDAHO

Paul, Idaho — The largest farm organization convention in Idaho's history is predicted for next week by George F. Brandon of Paul, Idaho, past state president of the National Farmers Organization. Mr. Brandon and Joe Taylor of Rupert, Idaho, chairman of the Minidoka County National Farmers Organization agreed that over 2,000 members are expected to attend the convention to be held on Saturday, November 8, at the Ponderosa Inn at Burley, Idaho. The two National Farmers Organization leaders said more and more farmers and ranchers are realizing the need for bargaining power and are calling on the N. F. O. for help.

One of the main attractions of this year's state convention will be Oren Lee Staley, National President of the N. F. O. from Corning, Iowa. Staley will address the group on Saturday. Representatives from nearly all of Idaho's 44 counties and some from neighboring states have indicated that they will attend the convention, according to the N. F. O. officials in charge of the registration.

MRS. ERNEST STEIGERS

The entire family of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Stevens were happily together for Sunday dinner! Their son Virgil, arrived on Friday evening from his college work in New York for an indefinite period. After a month's rest and vacation he plans to seek employment in some educational field. Miss Fern Stevens and niece, little Miss Leah Filger of Moscow, arrived with him Friday evening, and Leah and aunt Fern went "Trick or Treating" around the hilltop. Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Filger and infant daughter of Moscow and Miss Gwen Smith, Clarkston, were among the Sunday dinner guests.

On Saturday afternoon the Misses Nancy and Kathy Heath, L. C. N. S. students, visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Newt Heath. Mrs. Don Johnston, Lenore, was a Saturday afternoon caller, and later Mr. and Mrs. Cletis Holsington spent Saturday evening visiting in the Heath's home.

The Heath family recently attended the third funeral in the Martha Rodgers family, this time at Orofino, that of the only remaining one, the son, Raymond Rodgers, all within 21 days. This seems very sad and unusual.

Roberta Heath, Jullaetta, her father, Eugene Heath, and Mrs. Lee Heath were Sunday dinner guests in the Newt Heath home. Lee Heath has been on a hunting trip, returning Sunday evening and reporting a wonderful time — but no game personally. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Heath and daughter Ruth Ann, and a friend from Nezperce, were Sunday supper guests of the Lee Heaths.

Spooks and goblins, and other unusual creatures roamed our neighborhood on Halloween eve. "Trick or Treaters" were surprised by a rather terrifying ghost in a black poke and sunbonnet, who greeted them with "treats" at the E. A. Steigers home. A group of five little ones gave "Lenore" as their residence and "Weber" as their family name! She (the ghost) was rather lonely and appreciated all those who came!

The Steigers menfolks have been hauling cattle and firewood from Weippe, and Beckalyn Steigers came down for a two-nights visit with Grandpa and Grandma, returning to Weippe on Halloween eve in time to accompany her baby brother, "Tiger Brant" on his first "trick or treat" trip, among the Weippe neighbors.

A week ago Mr. and Mrs. Cletis Holsington spent several days with their son Phil and family in Springfield, Oregon, and reporting a good time, but encountering Oregon rain. This Sunday night son Frank and family were supper guests. Thursday son Jim and family of Lapwai visited briefly at their parents home. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lindor of Orofino spent the week-end in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Roy Heimgartner. Tom Webb of Lapwai was a week-end guest of their son Dale Heimgartner. Sunday afternoon Mrs. Roy Heimgartner and son Dale and Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner attended the Recital given at the Lapwai High Auditorium by the wonderful young soloist, Miss Becky Wittman. The hall was full. Others from our area attending were Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Kerby and family. We predict Miss Wittman will go far in her field, being both talented, lovely, and having a charming personality!

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Heimgartner visited with their son Gerald and family in Lewiston, Sunday afternoon.

A special luncheon given by the Cottonwood Community Missionary Society at the church, honoring the guest speaker Miss Susan Seifering, a missionary to South America, was attended by ladies of the surrounding area, on Monday, Oct. 27, and greatly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Glen Stevens and Mrs. Marion Stevens attended the funeral services held at Orofino on Monday, Oct. 27, for Raymond (Buck) Rodgers.

Sunday dinner guests in the Leslie Heimgartner home included Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lyons, enroute to their new home at Coeur d'Alene, where Larry will take a course in Forestry; Mrs. Betty Cowger and daughter Becky and Walter Zumhofs. On Saturday Mrs. Leslie Heimgartner and Mrs. Betty Cowger and Becky visited near Siltles with "Grandma" Straw and Mrs. George Hardin. They stopped at the former home of the Lyons for articles to be stored and later at Orofino, where they visited the Dennis Straw home and saw the new baby. Dennis is a nephew of Mrs. Heimgartner.

With much activity on the Island, where two huge dirt moving machine, two bulldozers and other equipment have built a large dike and re-cemented up the Mineral Spring located at the lower tip, things have not been exactly dull. Our curiosity is whetted! Many years ago this mineral spring water was bottled and used for medicinal purposes at the Jullaetta Sanatorium operated by the late Dr. Foster. Remains of a narrow track used to transport the water could be seen before the river eroded away that portion of the island. This is the second attempt to conserve the spring made in the last few years. High water and log jams had torn out the previous casing.

Steelhead fishermen are numerous and our telephone lines are also undergoing changes to correct the loads. Time marches on!

Mrs. Helena Brown accompanied Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Steigers to Lewiston on Tuesday, where they attended the funeral services for a long-time friend and neighbor, Arthur L. Anderson of Lenore, along with many other members of the "river" community.

The Steigers returned on Monday after a six-day visit with the Keith Steigers family of Huson, Mont., accompanying them via pickup camper and trailer house to beyond Lewistown, Mont. There the three grand-

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Davis of the U. of I. were Thursday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Benschoter.

Paymer Havens and Steve Carter, both of Lewiston, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Havens. Evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ira H. Havens of Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts of Moscow were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Benschoter.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Cox spent Monday in Spokane.

Mrs. Frankie Benschoter visited Friday in Lewiston with her sister, Mrs. Ruth Odem at the Orchard Nursing Home, and with her brother, Dr. Dan Guy.

Mrs. Daisy Anderson of Moscow spent Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. George Havens. She had been visiting in Clarkston with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Havens.

(Delayed) — Mr. and Mrs. Solly Miller, Mohler, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bahr flew to Hayward, Calif., to visit Mrs. Pauline Bahr, who is seriously ill in a hospital there.

(This Week) — The Friendly Neighbor Club meeting is postponed till Nov. 12, and it will then be an all-day meeting.

Gary Ball, Craigmont, is visiting this week in the Elmer Cuddy home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Weaver and family and Kenneth Dennler, all of Lewiston, were week-end guests in the Sam Weaver home.

Bob Walter, Sacramento, Calif., visited the past week in the Roland Browning home. He is a son of Mrs. Browning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Perryman visited an aunt in Yekima, last week. From there they drove to Leavenworth and viewed the "Barvarian Village," going on to the Brewster Flat Comsat Earth Station. This is where they communicate with the astronauts in outer space. They then went on through the Okanogan Valley to Omak, and returned home via Grand Coulee. They said the Okanogan Valley was very beautiful at this season, due to the brilliant hues of the foliage and trees.

sons, Terry, Tom and Tim Steigers each bagged their own deer on the opening morning of the season, but Keith unfortunately was quite ill in bed in the trailer, with a serious throat infection and unable to join the hunt — which made him feel sicker yet! The youngest boy, Tim, also got his own antelope, the only one, the day before. Despite the very snowy weather and sickness it was a very enjoyable trip for most of the eight.

I wish to thank Mrs. Eldon Heimgartner for writing last week's news column for me. — Mrs. Ernest A. Steigers.

FROM OUR FILES

30 YEARS AGO
Mrs. M. C. Hobben announces the marriage of her son, Marion, to Miss Dorothy Ballard of Mt. Vernon, Mo., and that the young couple arrive in Genesee Thursday.

Donna Lee Cook and Clarice Hove entertained members of their class, the 6th grade, at a Hallowe'en party Tuesday evening in the Cook home. At the close of an evening of games, Mrs. Hove and Mrs. Cook served refreshments.

Mrs. Howard Callahan was pleasantly surprised Sunday when a group of friends gathered to help her celebrate her birthday.

LICENSE PLATE VALIDATION STICKERS PURCHASED NOW

Unless Idaho motor vehicle owners take advantage of the opportunity to purchase license plate validation stickers in the near future there'll be the usual jam-up at assessors offices at the end of the year, says the Motor Vehicle Division.

A random check of counties which have large vehicle registrations by the division director, Jack F. Farley, showed only about 10 per cent of the 1970-71 stickers had been purchased. Farley said this small amount was purchased in October and predicted "If no more than that are sold in November there'll be long lines at the assessors offices in December."

He pointed out that under the staggered system of issuing plates and stickers, owners of passenger car and pickups of 8,000 pounds combined weight have been able to obtain them since October 1, but that only about 10 per cent had been sold. Farley reminded vehicle owners there would be no grace period for obtaining new stickers in 1970 and that all licenses expire as of midnight, December 31, 1960.

INDIAN SUMMER DAYS

I'll walk the little woodland path today,
Where golden leaves are swirling on the blast;
And in that turbulence and disarray
Recall a tender memory of the past.

Recall a day in that dear long ago
The one in which my memory often strays;
The day you told me how you loved me so,
And kissed me in those—
INDIAN SUMMER DAYS.

KID'S VIEW OF DENTISTS INFLUENCED BY PARENTS

PARENTS who, albeit in jest, talk about the trauma of dental treatment in front of their children, can unwittingly affect the child's lifetime approach to dental care. A study conducted by a dental student at Harvard University has shown that positive attitudes, minimized apprehension and knowledge of dental care were developed after an early (pre-school) first visit to a dentist. These may favorably influence the child's approach to dental care for the rest of his life.

OLD FLAME CUTTING MACHINES never burn out, they just become outmoded. But they can have a distinguished career, like the one-time innovative machine winding up a long career at a Chicago manufacturing plant. The machine, second of its type built, has been in continuous operation since it was installed in 1940. It was considered a pacesetter in its day and brought National Cylinder Gas, its developer, several patents.

Its driving unit features two interchangeable tracing heads that guide the torches along their varied cutting paths through steel plate up to 16 inches thick. One head latches onto a steel pattern and follows it. The other is a toothed wheel that traces the pattern cut as a narrow track in ordinary hardboard. This toothed wheel tracer also can be used to trace drawings.

WHEN does a mild-mannered monkey suddenly become aggressive and challenge the leader of his group? After his brain has been stimulated electrically, according to scientists at Emory University. In a series of experiments with small groups of rhesus monkeys they used a technique called telestimulation. Electrodes were implanted surgically in pre-selected brain sites involved in agonistic behavior. The monkey was encouraged to interact socially with other animals in his group. While he was thus unrestrained an electrical current was introduced into his brain from a radio transmitter. During stimulation the usually timid animal attacked the dominant monkey and permanently changed the social relationship of the two. These changes appear to be long-lasting and no further stimulations are required.

A SIMPLE and inexpensive way to make silicon diodes that may have far-reaching effects in the communications field and in computer technology has been devised by a Cornell University Engineer. Diodes are devices that conduct electricity more easily in one direction than another. When an electric current is passed through them, the diodes emit microwaves. The new method of making the silicon diodes should make them readily available at low cost, so that they can replace the use of thousands of transistors used in computers. The use of microwave-generating diodes will cut manufacturing costs of computers in about half and speed up the computing process more than 10 times, he said.

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Jane:
As we entered Genesee one evening recently, we met a woman walking along the road—alone. I was inspired and couldn't help thinking how few places one could do this.
How Wonderful
Down a dark and lonely road
A woman walked last night.
I thought to myself, what a wonderful thing
To live where there's always light.
With no fears of being beaten down
As soon as the dusk appears,
We really should cherish this country of ours
And pray for the future years.
Will our children be able to walk the road
As the years go passing on.
We say a prayer that it will be
A peaceful world, with all fears gone.

INCREASED SPEED AFTER SNOW TIRES ARE INSTALLED

Motorists were advised by the Idaho State Police today to allow for increased speeds after snow tires are installed.

"Oversize tires, such as snow tires, increase vehicle speeds which do not register accurately on speedometers, says ISP Supt. L. Clark Hand.

He points out the faster a vehicle equipped with snow tires travels the greater is the discrepancy in the speedometer reading.

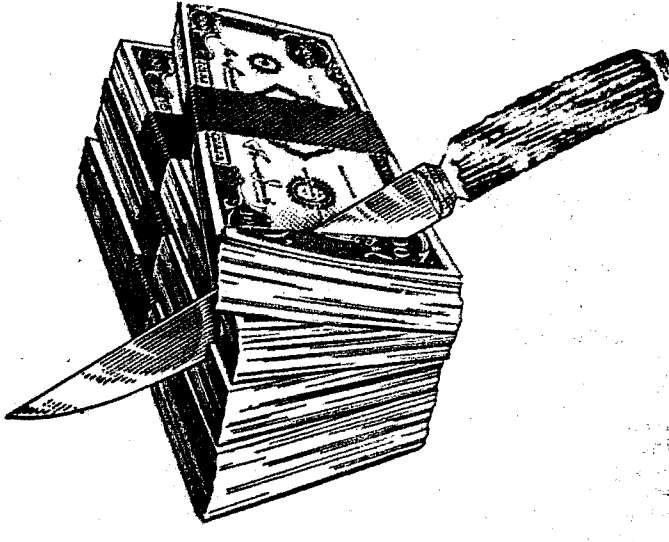

"You may think you are traveling at the legal speed, when you may well be 10 to 15 miles over the limit, he concluded.

When fishing low, clear streams, fishermen usually are seen by the fish before they fly even hits the water. Anglers must stay low, avoid large hats and bright, light-catching colors and stand or kneel as far from the bank as possible.

FHA District Convention
Saturday morning at 8:00 a. m. November 1, twenty-four girls gave up their only morning to sleep in and went to the FHA district convention. Bronate: It's a simple matter of life and death.

Wheat should live. Weeds should die.

And that's the way it would be if most companies didn't have such a difficult time making a weed killer that leaves the wheat alone.

A New Kind of Weedkiller.

The first thing we did was start out with a whole new concept.

Instead of worrying so much about killing the weeds (that would come, we knew) we worried about the wheat.

Always the wheat.

After years of experimenting and hundreds of tests we finally were satisfied that we had a general weed killer for which wheat had an unusually high tolerance. A herbicide that also took care of the important broadleaf weeds that keep popping up with your wheat.

But that wasn't where we stopped.

Because then we took special aim at the 6 specific weeds that drive wheat farmers here in the Northwest crazy.

First, we took care of Tarweed. Then Gromwell and Purple Mustard. Then—always making sure that high crop tolerance was there—we conquered Henbit and Dogfennel, and even Crowfoot.

Then, and only then, were we satisfied. Because after years of working we finally had a weed killer that not only kills the broadest range of weeds, but also gives you a much higher bushel yield per acre than you've ever had before.

Used in Real Life.

Bronate is way beyond the test stage. Bronate has been on the market now for four years. It is actually being used by hundreds of your neighboring farmers with great success.

Because with Bronate the wheat lives. And the weeds die. And that's the way it was meant to be.

For more information on how Bronate can help you, please see your supplier or your Rhodia/Chipman representative.

WHITEFISH FISHING TAKES SLACK OUT OF WINTERTIME

Sportsmen who plan ahead are anticipating some whitefish fishing to take some of the slack out of wintertime, when most outdoor activities come to a standstill. The limit is 50 whitefish a day in most waters and there is no possession limit, according to the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Whitefish fishing is fun for people who know how. These foot-long fish weigh a pound or more each on the average, and are characterized by small mouths, large scales, no spots and a short dorsal fin. They are found in clear, cold streams and lakes and spawn in late fall and early winter.

Hard-bitten fishermen say that in some respects whitefish are harder to catch than trout. Ordinarily, the guy who does not know how won't catch many of them. Bait and tackle must be rigged just right and used properly, even when cast in the midst of a school of whitefish. Of course, finding a school of fish is the first problem. They do not stay in all the deep holes.

Because of their small mouths, whitefish take small hooks (size 10-12). Sinkers heavy enough to take the line down fast, and bobbers to keep baits off the bottom, complete such outfits.

Various baits are used. Small grubs or larvae are good natural food. Whitefish seem to prefer stone flies, sometimes called "hellgrammites" or "hickies." Another good bait is the mousy or rat-tailed maggot, the larvae stage of the hover fly.

Most anglers find their own bait in the stream where they fish. It is the Caddis fly larvae, which builds stone or bark casings for its grub-like body and clings to rocks.

Whitefish are native to nearly every section of the state—and the best time to catch them is in the winter months. They run in schools and the cold water produces fish that are of good size and firm flesh.

IDAHO DEPT. OF EMPLOYMENT

Job finding activities of the Moscow office of the Idaho Department of Employment resulted in 12 persons being assisted in locating employment during the past week. Frank J. Hartstein, Moscow Office Manager, reported that this figure was down somewhat from the previous week's 18 placements. The total for the corresponding week a year ago was also 18. Only 18 new jobs are listed with his office, Hartstein said, compared with 27 during the previous week and 29 during the same week in 1968. At the end of the week there were 37 jobs still available. Among the jobs still open were those for a general office clerk, a TV repairman, an office machine repairman, salesman, full time box boys and a grocery store delivery man. Cooks, waitresses and babysitters were also needed.

Hartstein's report also indicated that the number of persons continuing to claim unemployment insurance benefits declined again for the third week in a row. Although 10 persons filed new claims during the week, the total dropped from 69 last week to the current 63. A year ago the total was 62. Most of those who discontinued their claims returned to work in the area's forests. The decline was most noticeable in the Troy-Deary-Bovill area, where the number of idled workers dropped from 24 to 18 during the week. Other areas of the county remained about the same. Weather conditions during the next few weeks will be the controlling factor in the level of unemployment in the area.
