New Mail Delivery Service Offered

March 1 — Postmaster Magnusson said today that a new order from Postmaster General Winton M. Blount will mean substantial improvements in mail delivery services. Postmaster General Blount has advised the local Postmaster of provisions of a new order making home delivery services available for the first time to four million Americans.

The service improvement applies to persons served out of 18,700 first, second and third class post offices over the country that do not now have city delivery services. Affected are those postal customers living more than a quarter mile away from these offices and less than half a mile away. Persons living less than half a mile away previously had not been provided this service.

Discussing the local area effects master Magnusson explained: "City of Mr. Blount's new order, Post-residents West of approximately Brown Street or E. M. White residence, would be eligible for this delivery service, as would those East of Approximately Addison Street or the Loyd Ware residence. Those on the "school house hill" above "A" Street or the Lester Crocker residence would also comply with distance from post office requirements.

To get the new service it is only necessary that those living in the eligible areas ask their postmaster to provide it, with a majority wanting the home service.

Esser Purchases Rice Building

Geneesee — Lloyd Esser of Esser Construction Co. was the only bidder at the public auction held Monday evening, March 2, by the Geneesee City Council for the purpose of selling the old Rice's Market building on Main Street. Appraised at $300.00, Esser took the bid with an offer of $320.00.

The building was donated to the City several years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Eli Rice after they had constructed a new grocery on the corner of Walnut and Pine. The city was unable to find any reasonable use for the structure and it was rapidly deteriorating, and was badly in need of repair.

In other action the council, after thorough discussion and study, voted to increase the salary of the City Clerk to $130 per month and of the treasurer to $100 per month. This is the first pay raise for either since 1964. The increases are retroactive to Feb. 1st.

The council also plans on the installation of booster stations in the water system near Esser's apartment house and near the Doloria Schluter residence to provide more water pressure for residences in those areas of town.

The purchase of a better road grader for city use was also discussed and the council will be looking for this type of equipment. An engineer from the University of Idaho will be in town next Thursday to discuss costs of paving all the streets in Geneesee.

Winter's Back—or Did It Just Finally Arrive?

It was a question of whether winter returned to the region, or did it just finally get here this week. Which ever it was, one thing is for certain; there has been snow, wind and colder temperatures for the past several days.

Scattering snow fell in the higher elevations Wednesday and Thursday nights, but would disappear before morning. Saturday night the temperature dropped again and snow fell in enough quantity to cover the ground. The snow continued intermittently Sunday and throughout most of Sunday night. By Monday morning there were several inches of covering on the ground. Monday night and Tuesday morning the snow fell again, giving the area its heaviest snowfall of the season. There was up to five inches of snow on the ground Tuesday morning.

Charles Bower, who maintains rainfall figures on Big Bear Ridge, reported that the February moisture totals were 2.07 inches according to his gauge.

Richard Bensecoter, who maintains a rainfall gauge on American Ridge, reported a total of 1.89 inches during February in his area.

Geneesee Paces A-3 Hoop Tournament With Two Wins; Kendrick Ousted

After the first week-end of play in the District 2, A-3 basketball tournament at Lewiston, four teams survive to enter the final rounds of play beginning Wednesday, March 4. St. Gertrude's of Cottonwood; Highland of Craigmont; Lapwal and Geneesee will be battling for the championship. Geneesee, living up to its top seeding, came through the first round undefeated. Kendrick was eliminated from competition Friday night following a defeat by Lapwal. Also going home for good were Clearwater Valley and Kamiah.

Tigers Lose to St. Gertrude's

Kendrick opened the tournament play last Wednesday afternoon, meeting the strong Panthers of St. Gertrude's Academy. The Tigers fought the Cottonwood team to a standstill in the first half, which ended with KHS holding a 24-23 lead. But in the second half the academy team poured in 44 points, while holding Kendrick to just 20.

Kendrick moved out to an early lead in the first quarter 4-0 and 6-3 before the Panthers came back to go ahead 7-6 and were still in the lead 15-10 at the quarter's end. The Tigers came out strong in the second quarter and outscored St. Gertrude's 14-8 behind the sharpshooting of Nels Sneve and Dave Klatt. Kendrick extended their 24-23 halftime lead to 26-23 early in the second half before St. Gertrude's went ahead to stay. Kendrick rallied sharply in the final minutes of play with six straight points, but it was too little and too late for the Tigers, who lost 67-44.

Sneve scored 18 points and Klatt added 13 more.

In other action that evening Lapwal defeated Kamiah 71-62, and Highland rolled over Clearwater 72-37.

Geneesee Squeaks Out Win

Tied 63-63 with just seconds left in the game Nick Eglund missed his first free throw and then dropped his second through without touching the rim as Geneesee won from St. Gertrude's 64-63 in the tournament's most exciting contest Thursday evening.

In a fast, rugged and sometimes ragged contest Geneesee went into a quick lead and were ahead 17-12 at the end of the first quarter, as St. Gertrude's had trouble getting their offense moving. In the second quarter the prairie team slowly caught up with the Bulldogs and went ahead 25-23 with three minutes left. Nick Eglund tied the score at 25-all and Bruce Scharnhorst put the GHS team ahead 27-25. Geneesee led 30-29 at the half. Paced by Lindy Hinkelman the Panthers outscored Geneesee 23-18 in the third quarter and were ahead 52-48 going into the final period. Geneesee took command of the game again in the final period before St. Gertrude's tied the score at 63-63 with 20 seconds left.

In a furious exchange under the Geneesee basket, Nick Eglund was fouled in his attempt to shoot and was given two free throws. With three seconds on the clock Nick's first shot bounced off the rim. St. Gertrude's called time out and when Nick returned to the line he dropped in a one-pointer with apparent cool ease.

Hinkelman's 35 points led all scorers. Nick Eglund had 27 for Geneesee and his brother Mike scored 16. In the final game Thursday Highland dropped Lapwal into the loser's bracket 59-49.

Lapwal Eliminates Kendrick

Friday night the Kendrick Tigers were eliminated from the tournament by the Lapwal Wildcats 66-55 win in a contest that was close and exciting until the final minute of play.

Lapwal abandoned their full-court press to start the Kendrick game and the Tigers, moving with cool precision went to a 13-9 first quarter lead. Sneve scored the first points of the game with a set shot from the side. The Wildcats came back for a 3-2 lead before Doug Pratt's basket made it 4-3 and Sneve's tally put KHS at 6-3. A beautiful shot from out near the 10-second line by Sneve gave Kendrick their 13-9 first quarter advantage. In the second quarter Lapwal tied it at 12-all and then went ahead 15-13 on two free throws. From that point on through the quarter the score was tied at 17, 19, 21, 27, 29 and 31 before Doug Pratt hit on a side shot with 25 seconds left in the half to make it 33-31, and Dave Klatt sank two free throws to give KHS a 35-31 halftime advantage.

Kendrick came out strong in the third period and ran the score to 38-33 before the scoring pace slowed way down with both teams fouling and suffering many turnovers. With two minutes remaining in the third quarter Lapwal threw a full-court press on the Tigers and in the ensuing confusion, tied the score at 40-all at the quarter's end. Lapwal, still pressing hard, was out in front 44-40 early in the final period before Sneve's two free throws closed it to 44-42. Boyd Candler's two-pointer from in under the basket tied the score again at 46-46, but Lapwal scored twice more. A long shot by Pratt moved the Tigers to within two points 50-48. In the final minute the Wildcats poured on the pressure and scored 8 points to seal their win.

Sneve paced Kendrick with 19 points. Ron Dammarell had 10 and Doug Pratt 11 for the Tigers.

In the night's opener Kamiah eliminated Clearwater Valley of Kootenai 79-62.

Geneesee Raps Highland

The long-awaited and much discussed "clash" between Geneesee and Highland proved to be less of a clash and more of a tinkle as the Bulldogs took quick command and were never in serious trouble defeating Highland of Craigmont 64-51 on Saturday night. Highland and Geneesee, although both in the same league had never met on the court in regular play. Traveling distance and scheduling conflicts forced them to each concede a loss to the other. Each had been defeated once by St. Gertrude's and their over-all season records were separated by only one game difference. With this background, Booth Hall was packed Saturday night when the two teams were paired out of the winner's bracket.

Fred Morscheck tried a field goal seconds after the opening tip and failed, and Highland took the ball back down the court and scored on a long field goal, to go out in front 2-0. Bruce Scharnhorst popped in a 12-foot jump shot seconds later to tie the score and Mike Eglund's free throw put Geneesee ahead for good. Twice during the first period the Huskies pulled within two points of Geneesee, once at 8-6 and again at 10-8 before the Bulldogs pushed out to a 16-10 first quarter lead. Nick Eglund was forced to leave the game with 1 1/2 minutes left in the first quarter with a leg injury, but Dale Hickman came in to provide strong backboard work. Mike Eglund hit two straight field goals to give Geneesee a 22-16 lead in the second quarter, and a long jump shot by LeRoy Zenger, who was in to give Tim Magee a rest, put the Bulldogs ahead 30-20. Mike Eglund took a quick pass from Ron Hopkins in the last second of the first half and scored on a hook shot to give the Bulldogs a 34-20 halftime lead.

Highland outscored Geneesee 15 to 12 in the third quarter, as Coach Ozzie Kanikkeberg used his bench strength freely throughout the second half. Geneesee still managed to keep a 10 to 2 point lead throughout the period but neither team gained too much advantage. In the final three minutes of the third period Geneesee scored only two points while Highland scored none. Highland went into a full court press late in the third quarter and maintained it the rest of the game, but it wasn't effective, as the Bulldogs were forced into very few turnovers and had little trouble getting the ball down into their own territory and scoring 18 points. Fred Morscheck tallied 18 points for Geneesee, with Mike Eglund getting 18.

Play Resumes Wednesday
Tournament play gets underway again Wednesday night as the Lapwal Wildcats meet the St. Gertrude's Panthers at 8:00 p. m. The winner of that game will play Highland on Thursday night. The winner of that game will meet Geneesee Friday night. Should Geneesee lose another game would be necessary Saturday night to see who is Number One team. At any rate, the win over Highland Saturday night guaranteed the Bulldogs a place in the State Tournament, which will also be held in Lewiston.

Big Crowd
Attendance at the Lewiston tournament has been excellent. Tournament officials estimated the Saturday night crowd at 1,820, bringing the total attendance for the first four days to approximately 5,000.

Members of Kendrick's Booster Club have been serving as doorkeepers and ticket takers for this tournament. Proceeds from this service by volunteers will be used for Booster projects.

NEED TREES FOR WINDBREAKS GENERATION SYSTEM

Need trees for windbreaks? Orders for seedlings will be accepted until March 10 by the county agent of the University of Idaho extension service. He reminded rural people today that the little trees can be obtained for windbreaks, wood lots, Christmas tree plantations or reforestation projects. Lists of species available and their prices are on hand in the agents' office. The trees will be delivered in the spring by the forest nursery at the university.

You can order as few as 100 trees of one species, but the total request for one or more kinds must be at least 100, according to Vernon Burlison, extension forester. He pointed out that the trees must be planted outside city limits and cannot be planted as ornamentals. The price for the minimum order of 100 trees is $4.21, with a sliding scale for larger quantities to $21 for 1000 trees.

Young trees need cultivation the same as other crops, Burlison reminded. He said many farmers grow their trees successfully by first planting evergreens in their own nursery. They plant them 15 inches apart in a garden and grow them there for two years. Then they transplant to a windbreak where they big enough to be seen easily from a tractor while cultivating.

Several hundred seedlings are sold annually by the university nursery for various purposes in Idaho.

IDAHO WHEAT COMMISSION

Research results supporting the idea that wheat has a beneficial value in altering blood and liver cholesterol concentrations were released today by Stanford Research Institute and the Idaho Wheat Commission.

Stanford Research, Menlo Park, California received a $59,000 grant from the Wheat Commission last year to study nutritive qualities of wheat. Today's report summarized the findings of the study's first phase.

The experiment involved feeding 80 young adult male rats diets in which protein was derived solely from either wheat or from casein, an animal-derived protein. Diets were supplemented with cholesteric acid, SRI researchers said.

According to the Stanford Research report, the wheat-based diet produced a significant decrease in cholesterol as compared to the casein-based animals. Changes observed in the liver were especially striking.

Wheat commission officials said the SRI studies would continue, with the next phase involving combinations of wheat and animal-derived proteins to resemble typical human diets.

THE IDAHO BEEF COUNCIL

Much has been said about consumers and their relations with members of industry in the U. S. Relations with consumers nationwide is much the concern of the Cattle Industry across the country, and especially in Idaho, according to John A. McBoyle, chairman of the Idaho Beef Council. Perhaps of greatest concern to cattlemen is the tendency of government agencies and personnel to restrict the use of modern health aids used by cattlemen, as well as to attempt to restrict the use of so called animal fats in the diet of Americans.

Because of the deluge of news releases and stories emanating from Washington, the cattlemen have been placed on the defensive, a rather lonely place to be. It is not really necessary to defend the way beef is raised, nor is it necessary to defend the nutritional value of beef.

Really, the ultimate effect of restrictions on health aids, could prove very costly to the consumer. Should these aids, which have proven their worth in helping cattlemen raise a healthy animal be denied, the loss of animals due to disease would be greater, thus reducing the numbers available for beef. When the supply of good beef drops and the demand stays up, then the price goes up, and the consumer is the ultimate loser.

Of course the cattlemen is also a loser, and the impact of the loss of dollars to the cattlemen filters down to every business in every community and especially in areas where cattle are raised. When this process starts, everyone suffers from a recession in the revenues of beef, which in Idaho produces the largest dollar return for all of agriculture and agriculture is the life blood of Idaho.

To mention the use of fats, the AMA, and the American Heart Association have cautioned the use of excess fats in the diet. The word excess is stressed which is good advice. Nothing should be used in excess, even the poly-unsaturated fats, but a certain amount of fat is necessary in a good diet.

Cattlemen have their research thru the Universities of the nation, and thru nationwide network of animal health and feed companies, and the facts they come up with have shown that beef is a proven necessity in a balanced diet. Also cattlemen and their bankers show that cattle are necessary to the health of the economy of any area where people wish to prosper.

Certification of all small grain and field bean seed will be under the generation system of increase in Idaho beginning with the 1971 planting season. Harold E. Finnell, manager of the Idaho Crop Improvement Association, announced today. He said recent changes in the federal seed act require the development. All states certifying the crops will be under the same regulation.

The generation system is familiar to growers of alfalfa, clover and grass seed, he said. Requirements are new to grain and beans. All crops will be increased by the step system. First step is breeder seed. The next is from breeder to foundation. Then the steps are foundation to registered, and registered to certify. The certified class, blue-tag seed is the final step. This seed cannot be planted back for recertification.

"The grower who expects to certify a seed crop must plant foundation or registered seed," Finnell said. "The farmer who wants good quality seed for commercial use should use Idaho blue-tag certified."

Idaho has been under a rejuvenating increase plan in small grain and field bean certification for many yrs. he said, but in the new era stricter enforcement for regulations for qualification of a field will be followed.

The University of Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station will maintain the important varieties of breeder and foundation levels. Through allocation, certain varieties will be available annually for seed increase. Finnell said it is advisable that growers interested in planting stock, eligible to recertify contact supplier so that seed varieties of required classes may be obtained for planting in 1971.

"THAT'S GOLD in them low-grade ores," says the U.S. Bureau of Mines. It has developed a method for recovering 60-95 per cent of the gold in deposits that are either too small or too low in grade for conventional techniques. Such ores are piled in heaps and leached with a cyanide solution that is then processed to Rhonox: It's a simple matter of dollars and cents.

Rhonox is more expensive, but it costs you less.

Unlike most other herbicides, Rhonox kills the weeds and leaves your wheat alone.

So, when it comes time to sell your wheat, you have a lot more wheat to sell.

Rhonox or 2, 4-D?

Rhonox and 2, 4-D are both selective herbicides.

When it comes to killing weeds both of them kill off most broadleaf weeds that plague wheat farmers.

But, Rhonox, in addition, kills off some tough ones, that 2, 4-D can't touch.

Another thing in Rhonox's favor is that it can be sprayed on your wheat as early as the 3-Leaf stage. While with 2, 4-D you can't spray until the crop is fully tillered.

Now, price.

2, 4-D costs less than Rhonox.

But that's only the beginning.

Because 2, 4-D can be damaging to your wheat.

Rhonox lets it grow.

In fact, Rhonox gives you a much higher bushel yield per acre than 2, 4-D. So you're sure of making a higher profit with Rhonox. The extra bushels more than offset the extra cost.

As for 2, 4-D, we don't mean it doesn't have its uses.

We make it too. For use as a herbicide where crop tolerance is not as critical.

Rhonox is Proven.

It is actually being used effectively by hundreds of your neighboring farmers who are enjoying higher yields than ever before.

If there's one thing they've learned about Rhonox it's just this: Pay a little more money in the beginning and end up with a lot more at the end.

For more information on how Rhonox can help you, please see your supplier or your Rhodia/Chipman representative.

He reminded rural people today that the little trees can be obtained for windbreaks, wood lots, Christmas tree plantations or reforestation projects. Lists of species available and their prices are on hand in the agents' office. The trees will be delivered in the spring by the forest nursery at the university.

You can order as few as 100 trees of one species, but the total request for one or more kinds must be at least 100, according to Vernon Burlison, extension forester. He pointed out that the trees must be planted outside city limits and cannot be planted as ornamentals. The price for the minimum order of 100 trees is $4.21, with a sliding scale for larger quantities to $21 for 1000 trees.

Young trees need cultivation the same as other crops, Burlison reminded. He said many farmers grow their trees successfully by first planting evergreens in their own nursery. They plant them 15 inches apart in a garden and grow them there for two years. Then they transplant to a windbreak where they big enough to be seen easily from a tractor while cultivating.

Several hundred seedlings are sold annually by the university nursery for various purposes in Idaho.

IDAHO WHEAT COMMISSION

Research results supporting the idea that wheat has a beneficial value in altering blood and liver cholesterol concentrations were released today by Stanford Research Institute and the Idaho Wheat Commission. Stanford Research, Menlo Park, California received a $39,000 grant from the Wheat Commission last year to study nutritive qualities of wheat. Today's report summarized the findings of the study's first phase.

The experiment involved feeding 80 young adult male rats diets in which protein was derived solely from either wheat or from casein, an animal-derived protein. Diets were supplemented with cholesterol cholic acid. SRI researchers said.

According to the Stanford Research report, the wheat-based diets produced a significant decrease in cholesterol as compared to the casein-fed animals. Changes observed in the liver were especially striking.

Wheat commission officials said the SRI studies would continue, with the next phase involving combinations of wheat and animal-derived proteins to resemble typical human diets.

THE IDAHO BEEF COUNCIL

Much has been said about consumers and their relations with members of industry in the U. S. Relations with consumers nationwide is much the concern of the Cattle Industry across the country, and especially in Idaho, according to John A. McBoyle, chairman of the Idaho Beef Council.

Perhaps of greatest concern to cattlemen is the tendency of government agencies and personnel to restrict the use of modern health aids used by cattlemen, as well as to attempt to restrict the use of so called animal fats in the diet of Americans.

Because of the deluge of news releases and stories emanating from Washington, the cattlemen have been placed on the defensive, a rather lonely place to be. It is not really necessary to defend the way beef is raised, nor is it necessary to defend the nutritional value of beef.

Really, the ultimate effect of restrictions on health aids, could prove very costly to the consumer. Should these aids, which have proven their worth in helping cattlemen raise a healthy animal be denied, the loss of animals due to disease would be greater, thus reducing the numbers available for beef. When the supply of good beef drops and the demand stays up, then the price goes up, and the consumer is the ultimate loser.

Of course the cattlemen is also a loser, and the impact of the loss of dollars to the cattlemen filters down to every business in every community and especially in areas where cattle are raised. When this process starts, everyone suffers from a recession in the revenues of beef, which in Idaho produces the largest dollar return for all of agriculture and agriculture is the life blood of Idaho.

To mention the use of fats, the A.M.A. and the American Heart Association have cautioned the use of excess fats in the diet. The word excess is stressed which is good advice. Nothing should be used in excess, even the polyunsaturated fats, but a certain amount of fat is necessary in a good diet.

Cattlemen have their research thru the Universities of the nation, and thru nationwide network of animal health and feed companies, and the facts they come up with have shown that beef is a proven necessity in a balanced diet. Also cattlemen and their bankers show that cattle are necessary to the health of the economy of any area where people wish to prosper.

Certification of all small grain and field bean seed will be under the generation system of increase in Idaho beginning with the 1971 planting system. Harold E. Finnell, manager of the Idaho Crop Improvement Association, announced today. He said recent changes in the federal seed act require the development. All states certifying the crops will be under the same regulation.

The generation system is familiar to growers of alfalfa, clover and grass seed, he said. Requirements are new to grain and beans. All crops will be increased by the step system. First step is breeder seed. The next is from breeder to foundation. Then the steps are foundation to registered, and registered to certify. The certified class, blue-tag seed is the final step. This seed cannot be planted back for recertification.

"The grower who expects to certify a seed crop must plant foundation or registered seed," Finnell said. "The farmer who wants good quality seed for commercial use should use Idaho blue-tag certified."

Idaho has been under a rejuvenating increase plan in small grain and field bean certification for many yrs. he said, but in the new era stricter enforcement for regulations for qualification of a field will be followed.

The University of Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station will maintain the important varieties of breeder and foundation levels. Through allocation, certain varieties will be available annually for seed increase.

Finnell said it is advisable that growers interested in planting stock, eligible to recertify contact supplier so that seed varieties of required classes may be obtained for planting in 1971.

"THAT'S GOLD in them low-grade ores," says the U.S. Bureau of Mines. It has developed a method for recovering 65-85 per cent of the gold in deposits that are either too small or too low in grade for conventional techniques. Such ores are piled in heaps and leached with a cyanide solution that is then processed to excess fats in the diet. The word excess is stressed which is good advice. Nothing should be used in excess, even the polyunsaturated fats, but a certain amount of fat is necessary in a good diet.

Rhonox: It's a simple matter of dollars and cents.

Rhonox is more expensive, but it costs you less.

Unlike most other herbicides, Rhonox kills the weeds and leaves your wheat alone.

So, when it comes time to sell your wheat, you have a lot more wheat to sell.

Rhonox or 2, 4-D?

Rhonox and 2, 4-D are both selective herbicides.

When it comes to killing weeds both of them kill off most broadleaf weeds that plague wheat farmers.

But, Rhonox, in addition, kills off some tough ones, that 2, 4-D can't touch.

Another thing in Rhonox's favor is that it can be sprayed on your wheat as early as the 3-Leaf stage. While with 2, 4-D you can't spray until the crop is fully tillered.

Now, price.

2, 4-D costs less than Rhonox.

But that's only the beginning.

Because 2, 4-D can be damaging to your wheat.

Rhonox lets it grow.

In fact, Rhonox gives you a much higher bushel yield per acre than 2, 4-D. So you're sure of making a higher profit with Rhonox. The extra bushels more than offset the extra cost.

As for 2, 4-D, we don't mean it doesn't have its uses.

We make it too. For use as a herbicide where crop tolerance is not as critical.

Rhonox is Proven.

It is actually being used effectively by hundreds of your neighboring farmers who are enjoying higher yields than ever before.

If there's one thing they've learned about Rhonox it's just this: Pay a little more money in the beginning and end up with a lot more at the end.

For more information on how Rhonox can help you, please see your supplier or your Rhodia/Chipman representative.

LENTILS SENT TO NFO AT CORNING, IOWA

Latah and Spokane counties put a block of Lentils together, which was sent into the National Farmers Organization (N. F. O.) Special Commodity Office, at Corning, Iowa.

Through their bargaining efforts, along with the Pea and Lentils committees of the two counties, we were able to sell the block of Lentils to a buyer in the San Francisco area for 35c a hundredweight above the going market price, at the time of the sale.

This sale shows the bargaining power the farmer has in blocking together and selling together. We buy and use many different tools in our farming business, but one we have never used is the Bargaining Tool. We have this bargaining power nation wide through N. F. O. Experienced, dedicated men who know their profession are waiting to help you. Used, it is the cheapest tool we can buy today with the greatest return for the money invested.

I love you MARCH, when tempests rage and roar,
When winter folds her tents to say GOODBYE;

But with a mitigating smile you always bring;
A tenderness akin to melting snow,
To comfort me, and MARCH ME ON TO SPRING.

Home Cookin'...

Chocolate chip cookies make a big hit with most families, but how about a Chocolate Chip cake—one just filled with delicious little chocolate tidbits? A friend of ours remarked the other morning she was planning to bake a chocolate chip cake so we coaxed the recipe from her. Granted, it's loaded with calories, but all of us eat more than we should anyway.

Then if you've been wondering how to use those old winter potatoes that have started to sprout in the basement, why not prepare a few potato puffs for dinner tonight. Sound real tasty, don't they?

We still need recipes.

CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE

- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 2 cups flour
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 12-oz. pkg. chocolate chips

Cream margarine and sugar. Add all other ingredients except chocolate chips. Beat for a few minutes. Add three-fourths of chips and mix. Pour into greased and floured tube pan. Sprinkle remaining chips over top. Bakes 250 d. for 45 minutes.

POTATO PUFFS

- 1/2 cup sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups unseasoned mashed potatoes
- 2 teaspoons minced onion
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1/4 cup shortening

Blend flour, baking powder and salt in bowl, add mashed potatoes, onion and eggs. Mix well. Heat shortening in large skillet. Drop mixture by tablespoonfuls into the hot fat and fry, turning to brown evenly. Makes 6 servings.

CARBON MONOXIDE GAS

Carbon monoxide gas usually brings the automobile to mind, however it is a potential hazard in the home, cautions the Idaho Medical Association. Carbon monoxide is a deadly, colorless, odorless, tasteless gas produced whenever a carbon-containing material burns.

It is difficult to detect, except by its symptoms—drowsiness, headache, tightness across the forehead, confusion, nausea and muscular weakness. If this victim cannot reach fresh air, it will be fatal.

Home heating systems should be checked annually for operating efficiency. All vents, pipes, flues and chimneys should be tight. All heating devices designed for venting should be checked for proper venting to the outside.

Charcoal grills and hibachis used indoors are dangerous unless you provide additional fresh air.

Fireplace dampers should always remain open until you are certain the fire is out.

STEELHEAD TROUT MOVING
Steelhead trout are on the move again on the lower Salmon and the Clearwater rivers. Soon they will start their runs up tributary streams where they spawn prior to the spring runoff. Unlike chinook salmon, steelhead do not spawn and die in a few days. Physiological changes occur in salmon, making death inevitable as soon as spawning activity completes their life cycle.

When steelhead trout will make their spawning run up the South Fork of the Clearwater, and the Middle Fork, is unpredictable, especially this year of early spring-like weather. But when roads from McCall and Cascade are plowed and open for traffic, and when the mighty steelies are in the South Fork a public announcement will be made.

The roadless wilderness area of the Middle Fork of the Salmon River is open for year-round fishing for steelhead (except the closure at Danger Falls). But steelhead have not reached that point in their migration, and all fly-in parties should check weather and landing strip conditions.

Garden Club Hears Of Bird and Life Problems

"Happiness Is — For The Birds!" Conservation of our song and game birds means providing shelter, food and water. The Hill and Valley Garden Club and their guests were presented some sobering facts through slides and lecture at its regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the Kendrick Fire Hall.

Stuart Murrell of Lewiston, Regional Conservation Educator, warned that pesticides and weed killers in the area are taking their toll of our game and song birds. He suggested we plant larger areas with grass and shrub shelter near waterways to maintain a good bird supply.

Mrs. Marvin Long gave a most enjoyable report on her bird watching and research, with many helpful tips to attract small birds to your premises. She has some fine reference material on birds, their habits, and housing needs, so, if you need information on the subject, contact her.

Roll call was answered by naming an unusual bird and describing it. Mrs. Robert Watts reported extra Year Books on hand, and anyone needing one contact her.

Mrs. Wayne Yenni, chairman of the finance committee, made recommendations for fund raising in the club.

Mrs. D. A. Christensen reported on the Therapy program, given last week at the State Hospital North, Orofino.

Mrs. Stanley Hepler gave a progress report on the district flower show, to be held in Kamiah on the 12th of May.

The Club is sponsoring another civic development on the Oscar Medalen property between the Table Supply grocery and the Olderness store.

Line arrangements were displayed by a few members but the lack of material made it impossible for all to participate, so this will be continued to the March meeting. Next will be an all-day workshop to make bases for arrangements and items for the spring sale. Remember to bring pot-luck and wear work clothes.

Hostesses Mrs. Cecil Gruell, Mrs. Gilbert Sprout and Mrs. Anna Long served dainty and delicious dessert to 21 members and four guests.

CATARACTS

A cataract is not a growth, tumor or cancer, notes the Idaho Medical Association. It merely means that a cloudy lens is blocking vision. One of the earliest signs of cataract is the dimming of eyesight. Lights may appear double or reduplicated many times. The patient may feel as if he is looking at things through a spotty windowpane. Excessive tearing in sunlight is another frequent complaint. As the cataract extends and blocks off the pupil of the eye, sight becomes more and more reduced. When these symptoms are noted, an ophthalmologist, a physician specializing in treatment of the eye, should be consulted. When vision is markedly impaired, the physician may remove the cloudy lens. A cataract operation is usually performed under local anesthesia and requires only a short stay in the hospital usually with excellent results. Eyeglasses are later prescribed to act as a substitute lens.
