Brocke Files Candidacy Petition For State Representative

George F. Brocke, Sr., filed declaration of candidacy petitions today for the office of State Representative for District 5, Latah county.

Brocke will be seeking his 8th term in the Idaho State Legislature. He is the ranking Democrat on the Education Committee. He is also a member of the Resources and Conservation Committee, and the Agricultural Affairs committee.

Mr. Brocke is a member of the Legislative Council and serves on two interim committees. One is the State Lands Study committee, which deals with state lands, and will be working on surface mining legislation this year, and the other committee is the Fire Study committee that works with the Land Board in the area of Forestry. This committee has had the task of settling the federal government fire claims against the state, and has been successful in reducing the amount of the claims from $5 1/2 million to $ 1/2 million.

Brocke states that much remains to be done in the field of Education. Some of the problems are: A workable school formula; a sound teachers' negotiation act; the protection of the land grant of the University, so that the idea that some part of the state has, to move the law school, or other schools, from the University cannot happen. Also improvements must be made in our public land laws, our property tax laws. Pollution, both water and air, must become more of a responsibility of the legislature.

Brocke is a native born citizen of Latah County. He and his wife Emma reside in Kendrick. He is in the seed business with their three sons, George Jr., Eugene and Darrell.

Kendrick School Mill Levy Vote Is Tuesday May 12

This coming Tuesday, May 12th, the people in Kendrick School District No. 283 will be asked to approve a one mill above the 30 mills allowed, by law, for maintenance and operation of the schools for the 1970-71 school year. If approved the mill would only be assessed for one year. The one mill levy will raise approximately $2,881.00. This amount, along with the present 2 mills plant facilities, will enable the District to purchase a 60-passenger school bus and to maintain their Educational Program.

It should be noted that with the 1-mill levy that all taxes in the three counties will be equalized at 31 mills for maintenance and operation of the assessed valuation.

The election law has been changed this year so that you do not have to be a property owner to vote. You must be a United States citizen, a resident of the State of Idaho for six months, and a resident of the District for at least 30 days, and be 21 years of age. In Nez Perce these are also the qualifications for Trustee election.

The voting places will be: The lobby of Kendrick High School; the front hall-way of the Juliaetta Elementary School, and the basement of the Cameron Lutheran Church. The voting hours will be from 2:00 p. m. to 7:00 p. m., DST.

Three K. H. S. girls were injured in a Volkswagen car accident on Sunday afternoon at Juliaetta. The driver of the car, Cindy Fey, and passengers Terry Allen and Colleen Candler were shaken up and bruised in the mishap. Cindy was taken by J-K ambulance to the Gritman Hospital at Moscow by Frank Abrams and Floyd Heimgartner, where she is under treatment for a light concussion.

Cindy misjudged the intentions of a driver from a side road and swerved to avoid a feared collision. As a result she left the road, going up a slight incline, hitting the cement wall at the Ray Hudson home. The car received an estimated $150.00 damage.

She expects to be released from the hospital later this week.

In the second event the Scouts competed in Scout Crafts and Skills, and came out in first place, with individual awards of a blue ribbon patch going to each.

Lions, V. F. W. Hold Joint Session To Discuss Plans for Blossom Festival

Members of the Kendrick Community Lions Club and the Kendrick V. F. W. held a joint meeting Wednesday evening, April 29, at the Kendrick Fire Hall, for the purpose of formulating plans for the annual Locust Blossom Festival — a joint effort of the two organizations — which this year will be held on Saturday, May 23rd.

Committee chairmen from the two groups gave reports, and plans were formulated for the joint committee.

There was a long and serious discussion on the costs of the annual event, particularly that of the barbecue. It was felt that with the continuously rising costs the price of the "Daily Events" button would have to be raised to $1.25. But, feeling that the Festival is not a money-making event, but rather one of good will, the price should be left at $1.00 for the barbecue and all the other day-time events. This, of course, does not cover the dance — which is a separate event.

Parade and race plans, music and other events were discussed and minor changes made where needed.

The meeting then turned to that of selecting a Grand Marshal for the day — and R. L. Blewett was chosen. He, with Mrs. Blewett, will occupy the place of honor for that day.

The parade — floats, cars, group entries, etc., were discussed, and it was the consensus of opinion that the parade committee was doing a good job. However, all business firms, organizations, riding groups, churches and individuals were urged to have an entry in the parade! The "more the merrier!"

The program of the day will be much the same as that of preceding years, beginning with the Parade at 10:00 o'clock sharp. This will be followed by the Sports program at the City Park — then comes the big Barbecue Meal, with a special reserve section for pioneers.

There will be a short jull, to let everyone's "dinner settle" and then the events of the afternoon, or rather the day, really begin. Take your choice of an Art and Crafts Show, a Flower Show, a Gymkhana, a Motorcycle Race or the Old Time Fiddling Contest — there's something for everyone of every age.

Then, in the evening, there's the Dance for the "young at heart."

The only item in doubt was whether or not there would be a Carnival — as that committee had been unable to get in contact with anyone owning such equipment. However, there will be a number of different booths to provide fun for young and old — including a couple from the local F. F. A. organization.

LeAnn Rogers Chosen Kendrick Jr. Miss

Six Junior Class girls were contestants for Kendrick Junior Miss at the annual pageant last Saturday evening at the High School gymnasium.

Chosen to represent Kendrick High School as Junior Miss for the Locust Blossom Festival, May 23rd, and to serve for the following year as Kendrick Junior Miss was LeAnn Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rogers of Kendrick. She succeeds Miss Joy Davis.

First runner-up was Debra Weyen and second runner-up Cynthia Osburn. Others competing were Lorraine Franklin, Debra Furdum and Loanne Meyer.

The girls were judged by out-of-town judges in four divisions: Youth Fitness, Poise and Appearance, Scholastic Achievement and Talent.

Jack Gregory, Lapwai music instructor was Master of Ceremonies. Last year's Locust Blossom Festival royalty, Joy Davis, Ann Meske and Sarah King took complete responsibility for putting on the pageant, though given financial help by the Lions Club.

The girls are to be complimented on a big job, well done.

Genesee Softball League To Operate Again; Meet Set

GENESEE—Genesee softball players are beginning to stir again as Don Griesser, braced by Geritol, vitamins and Heaven only knows what else, announced that an organizational meeting will be held at 8:00 p. m., Friday, May 22, with the idea of having the league begin May 25.

The old timers team will stay as they were last year (which was pretty pathetic) and it is hoped to have three other teams to complete the league. All interested softball players are asked to be at the May 22 meeting.

What is now proved was once only imagined.—William Blake

The Way I See It . . .

The following is a reprint of an article read on KRLLC "Opinion Please" broadcast of April 22, 1970.

And there are those who claim that ours is a "sick society". That our country is sick, our government is sick, and we are sick.

Well, maybe they're right. I submit that maybe I am sick . . . and maybe you too.

I am sick of being told that religion is the opiate of the people . . . but marijuana should be legalized.

I am sick of being told that pornography is the right of a free press . . . but freedom of the press does not include being able to read a Bible on school grounds.

I am sick of commentators and columnists canonizing anarchists, revolutionists and criminal rapists

Waterfowl "Recycling"

More brood stock for migratory waterfowl nesting areas this spring should be on hand. Mid-winter waterfowl inventories in the Pacific Flyway found total numbers of ducks and geese after fall hunting was up 41 percent over the previous year and 10 percent higher than the 10-year average for western states, Idaho counts totalled 661,000 waterfowl of all species, which is 28 percent higher than the figure for 1969, and 21 percent for the long-term average.

Flintails outrank mallards in total numbers in the Pacific Flyway and 2.5 million pintails, as of last January. Total waterfowl numbers were 8.6 million.

Next in the continental waterfowl management program will be the inventory of breeding pairs in the Canadian Prairie Provinces in July to learn the success of brood production, and how much reduction, if any, there was in the number of potholes that filled with water in the area.

but condemning law enforcement if it brings such criminals to justice.

I am sick of paying more and more taxes to build schools while I see some faculty members encouraging students to tear them down.

I am sick of Supreme Court decisions which turn criminals loose on society . . . while other decisions try to take the means of protecting my home and family away.

I am sick of being told policemen are mad dogs who should not have guns . . . but that criminals who use guns to rob, maim and murder should be understood and helped back into society.

I am sick of being told it is wrong to use napalm to end a war overseas . . . but if it's a bomb or molotov cocktail at home, I must understand the provocations.

I am sick of not being able to take my family to a movie unless I want them exposed to nudity, homosexuality and the glorification of narcotics.

I am sick of pot-smoking entertainers deluging me with their condemnation of my moral standards on late-night television.

I am sick of riots, marches, protests, demonstrations, confrontations and the other mob temper tantrums of people intellectually incapable of working within the system.

I am sick of hearing the same phrases, the same sick slogans, the "pat patois" of people who must chant the same thing like zombies because they haven't the capacity for verbalizing thought.

I am sick of reading so-called modern literature with its kinship to what I used to read on the walls of public toilets.

I am sick of those who say I owe them this or that because of the sins of my forefathers . . . when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

I am sick of cynical attitudes toward patriotism. I am sick of politicians with no backbones.

I am sick of permissiveness.

I am sick of the dirty, the foul-mouthed, the unwashed.

I am sick of the decline in personal honesty, personal integrity and human sincerity.

And, most of all, I am sick of being told I'm sick. And I'm sick of being told my country is sick . . . when we have the greatest nation man has ever brought forth on the face of the earth. And fully 50 percent of the people on the face of this earth would willingly trade places with the most deprived, the most underprivileged among us.

Yes, I may be sick. But if I'm only sick, I can get well. And I can help my society get well. And I can help my country get well.

Take note, you in high places. You will not find me under a placard. You will not see me take to the streets. You will not find me throwing a rock or a bomb. You will not find me ranting to wild-eyed mobs.

But you will find me at work within my community. You will find me expressing my anger and indignation in letters to your political office.

You will find me cancelling my subscription to your periodical the next time it condones criminal acts or advertises filth.

You will find me speaking out in support of those people and those institutions which contribute to the elevation of society and not its destruction. You will find me contributing my time and my personal influence to helping churches, hospitals, charities and those other volunteer backbones of America which have shown the true spirit of this country's determination to ease pain, eliminate hunger and generate true brotherhood.

But, most of all, you'll find me at the polling place. There you'll hear the thunder of the common man. There, you'll see us cast our vote . . . for an America where people can walk the streets without fear . . . for an America where our children will be educated and not indoctrinated . . . for an America of brotherhood and understanding . . . for an America no longer embarrassed to speak its motto "In God We Trust."

Sage Grouse Migration Routes

Hunter cooperation in western Owyhee County is helping a seven-year study of sage grouse migration game birds banded and marked during the past two years, hunters have routes in Owyhee County. Of a total of 600 of these large native upland retrieved leg bands, panchoes and wing markers from 35 sage grouse shot last fall, and 80 during the 1968 hunting season. The work will probably be finished in western Owyhee County this year. It will begin in the eastern part of the county next year.

Owyhee County has one of the state's largest sage grouse populations. Workers have counted 3,600 cocks on 80 strutting grounds. Altogether, counting hens and yearling males which rarely are seen on strutting grounds, there may be as many as 10,000 birds in western Owyhee County.

Residues of Mercury Found in Pheasants

A joint statement released today by the Idaho Fish and Game Department and the State Public Health Department disclosed that some Idaho pheasants, shot by hunters last fall, contain residues of mercury apparently picked up from grain seed treated with methyl mercury fungicides.

Preliminary tests made in laboratories of the State Department of Health on Idaho pheasants found measurable levels of mercury in pheasants.

The joint statement said that "So far we have tested only a few birds and are planning on checking more specimens. When these data are available, we can make a judgement of the hazards of eating pheasants."

According to W. W. (Woody) Benson, project director of the pesticide research study for the State Department of Health, some Idaho pheasants from food lockers have been tested because of public concern over the cancellation of the hunting season for ringnecks and Hungarian partridge in Alberta, Canada, last fall due to heavy metal residues found in these bird species. Similar findings in California and Montana launched investigations in those states.

According to State Public Health authorities, sufficient knowledge of mercury toxicity is not available to know what levels of mercury intake from eating birds containing this metal are necessary to produce adverse symptoms in man.

Benson said that "any amount of mercurial compounds makes food theoretically dangerous for humans, although we don't know how much is necessary for an individual to become ill from that cause. We are broadening our investigation and withholding judgement until definite conclusions can be reached."

A spokesman commented that the pheasants examined were birds shot during the regular hunting season last year and the hunters observed no symptoms of distress when birds were flushed. The potential for chronic toxicity in humans will depend on the level of mercury in pheasants, and on the frequency with which they are eaten.

The joint statement continued: "The public health hazard from eating pheasants, which previously have eaten mercury treated seeds, is insignificant compared to the hazard of these seeds themselves finding their way into channels of human consumption. Mercury treated seeds are required by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to be dyed red. Despite this warning color, there is an almost yearly episode in the United States and Mexico of some family using these seeds for food. Such episodes can result in severe illness and death."

The interagency testing program and public notice regarding potential health hazards puts Idaho in the vanguard with states such as California and Montana, which are confronted with the same problem. In Alberta, Canada, last fall the hunting season on pheasants and Hungarian partridge was cancelled because of preliminary assessment of the levels of

Fish Distribution Program

Idaho's 14 state hatcheries and four salmon-steelhead stations produced 1,501,802 pounds of fish during the 1969 fish year, including all species. Of these, 443,000 pounds were produced at Hagerman hatchery, the bulk of which were shipped to redistribution points at Eagle, McCall, Kamiah ponds and Mullan, although some were released directly into lowland lakes and reservoirs of the Clearwater and Panhandle regions, and elsewhere. Diesel tanker truck and trailer fish transports, with a combined capacity of about 5,000 pounds of fish, are used. Redistribution stations use smaller tanker trucks because they can travel over rougher terrain.

A 70-ton water chiller at Hagerman drops the temperature of the tanker water to 40 degrees prior to loading of the fish. This unit can supply 6,000 gallons per hour. Insulation qualities of the tankers control temperatures so that no more than one-half degree an hour is added en route to distribution stations, even on hot days. Hence water temperatures gain only about 6-8 degrees in the 12 hour trip from Hagerman to Mullan. In many cases, tanker water temperatures at the end of a long trip approximate the temperature of the water into which the fish will be released.

mercury residues found in these upland game bird species.

A wider program of sampling in Idaho is underway according to John R. Woodworth, Director of the Fish and Game Department. The points that must be considered are public health first; and secondly, the well-being of the bird populations themselves.

Flemings Enjoying Canadian Living

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Wally Fleming, from Southbank, B. C., Canada, as follows:

Our new adventure into Canada has already proven very eventful. We left Julietta April 11th (Saturday) and arrived at our new home the following Friday. Mrs. John Cuddy came with us to help us get settled and for company, which we are very grateful for — and anyone knowing Olean knows there was never a dull moment.

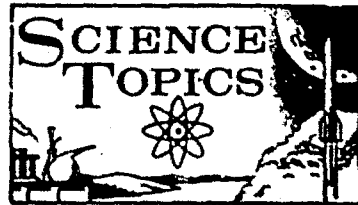

Our old Ford took us to the border at Osoyoos and then gave up. Clearing customs was easy and they were very nice. We then limped on into Oliver, which is about 12 miles into Canada, where we set up house-keeping in a motel for three days while "Ford" was being repaired. The rest of the trip went fine. We stocked up on groceries at Prince George and came on home in the afternoon. Olean had her first ferry ride and was "scared stiff."

Starts The Bucket Brigade — We were glad the lake is in the front yard. Wally kept busy about three days getting the water into the house. The line may have had ice or air in it. Everything else runs fine and after cleaning and unpacking, and getting our decorations put up we have settled down to enjoying our lovely, comfortable home.

Wally caught a char 22 inches long next to the ice, and Olean and I had it cleaned and in the skillet before it quit flopping. M-m-m-m, was it ever good.

We took Olean on a sight seeing trip to our "Jot-um-down Store" to get the mail. We saw two black tail deer and some grouse. Our young pioneers beyond us fared very well through the winter and the wife is expecting her second baby in October. A friend of theirs had moved into our cabin, but is leaving very soon. "an artist." We hear there will be several more "friends" up from California this summer. "Oh, happy day!"

We will always be glad to have letters from our friends and neighbors, and you all come. — Wally and Mary Fleming, Southbank, B. C., Canada.

REPLACEMENT TRANSFUSION using a blood substitute in a quantity up to 80 per cent of total blood volume have enabled scientists at the Harvard School of Public Health to maintain laboratory rats in a state of general well-being with no subsequent adverse reactions or tissue changes. The artificial blood substitute is composed of emulsified fluorocarbons and high-molecular-weight polyols.

TEMPERATURES nearly five times as hot as the surface of the sun are produced in a new NGC high-speed plasma cutting system. To achieve temperatures as high as 50,000 degrees F. an electric arc is established through a gaseous column between an electrode in each of the machine's torches and the metal plate being cut, ionizing molecules in the gas stream. The ionized gas is called plasma. A jet of water constricts and accelerates it as it leaves a torch, focusing it on a small area of the plate. Molten particles are continuously removed by the plasma jet as metal plate is cut.

THE DRY, AIRLESS MOON may once have possessed an atmosphere and enough water or other fluid of its own to cause extensive erosion of the lunar surface, a Stanford University geologist has concluded after careful study of close-up photographs taken by lunar orbiters. He suggests that this lunar erosion must have taken place early in the moon's history. Later on, much of the roughness of lower areas was covered by material of the lunar "maria," while the evidence of dissection of the higher areas was progressively obscured by meteorite bombardment, landslides and soil creep. If this is so, he adds, debris carried by the moon's ancient streams must lie buried under the volcanic maria material.

NEW EVIDENCE that DDT may sabotage vital defense and reproductive mechanisms in both humans and animals has been uncovered by a team of biochemists at the University of Utah. Other scientists have shown that DDT can create a shortage of steroid hormones by accelerating their destruction in the liver, but the Utah researchers are the first to document production deficiencies in the adrenal gland. Timely Reminders From County Assessor's Office

Operators of vehicles bearing passenger plates need to be reminded that license plate numbers ending in four bearing a red and white 1970 sticker have expired and should be renewed immediately. Passenger plate numbers ending in five having red and white stickers with the year 1970 will expire May 31. Owners are urged to make their renewals early in the month to avoid waiting in line or being turned away at closing time.

Personal property report forms have been in the hands of county taxpayers since February and are past due. This report is the responsibility of the individual and the assessor is empowered to make an arbitrary assessment.

Applications by widows and veterans for exemption from taxes should be made this month. To be eligible besides status as widow or veteran income must not exceed $3,600.00 including all income whether taxable or not. Total value of all assets including the full cash value of the property in which the individual lives and requests exemption cannot exceed $15,000.00. Assessment roll-back for retired persons over age 65 which was amended as enacted by the 1970 legislative application blanks will be available until May 15. Changes were made as enacted in 1969 requiring reporting of total income of both husband and wife which cannot exceed $4,800.00. Market value of the dwelling only cannot exceed $15,000.00. Inquiry should be made in the office of the assessor about either of the above tax reductions.

Die Hard Death Old Superstitions

Old superstitions, unlike old soldiers, don't always fade away, and new ones are constantly springing up.

Many people are not satisfied to let thirst guide the amount of water they drink. Instead they adhere slavishly to rules about drinking six or eight glasses a day, depending on whose theories they are following at the time. It is possible to do harm by taking too much water, as well as too little. Ordinarily thirst is a good guide unless it becomes excessive, in which case medical advice should be sought.

Other misconceptions include the following:

Bad breath means disease. This is not so.

Eating between meals is always harmful. This is also incorrect.

A laxative is good for abdominal pain. It is actually dangerous.

Pimples and boils indicate bad blood. They are caused by outside infections.

Eoric acid strengthens the eyes. It does not.

A cold can be broken up. It lasts a week no matter what is done.

You feed a cold and starve a fever. No.

Eye muscle exercises will eliminate the need for glasses. This is a dangerous fallacy.

Superstitions regarding health plentiful than those having to do matters abound, and none are more the Idaho Medical Association.

The following are a few misconceptions from a list of hundreds:

It is not true that beets build blood; that warm bread can cause a stroke.

A teaspoon of whiskey in which arborvitae has been soaked, taken before eating, will not cure cancer.

It is untrue that raw vegetable juice contains life-giving properties, but that cooked foods are "dead"; Whit bread is not poisonous, and warm bread will not cause a stroke.

Beaver Damage Great

Wildlife depredation complaints for the 1968 calendar year were down 18 per cent from 1968. Of a total of 433 complaints (531 in 1968), 138 were caused by beaver; pheasants 16 percent; deer 12 percent; bear 9 percent; ducks and geese 7 percent each; elk 5 percent; other waterfowl

4 percent; other furbearers 3 percent; and other nongame birds 2 percent; and other mammals, other upland game birds, bobcat and other predatory mammals, less than 1 percent each. Costs for servicing complaints were down from the previous year by about 6 percent—$16,877.31 compared with $16,585.05.

Salmon River Boaters See Wildlife Closeup

By Stu Murrell, Lewiston Regional Conservation Educator. Grazing elk, mule deer, and bighorn sheep combined with soaring golden eagles and talking chukars make a float trip down the main Salmon River an eventful trip. Larry Kirkland, a Wild Rivers Study Team member from the University of Idaho, and I saw all of these on a float trip down the main Salmon River from Corn Creek Bar to the end of the road upstream from Riggins. The trip was made in late March, an ideal time to observe wildlife because the big game animals are down low grazing on the newly sprouted grass. The purpose of the trip was twofold—one, to develop a slide series to give programs to various groups; and the other, to allow Larry Kirkland to obtain information for his Wild Rivers study.

We observed 232 deer, 38 bighorn sheep, 22 elk and 13 golden eagles during the trip. This area is a photographer's paradise and I really got lucky when we were able to row up within 20 yards of four large bighorn rams bedded down on a sandbar. Before I got through, I had burned up 52 pictures through 3 cameras while photographing these majestic animals. I got a bad case of "buck fever" trying to get those pictures. Another interesting sight was two ewe bighorn sheep, standing inside an old mine shed during a pouring rain.

Deer were scattered in two main areas along the river and watched us drift silently by without showing any fear. The elk were higher up at the time we went through and we only saw 22 animals. However, Sam McNeill and Dale Tanner, our regional game personnel, counted by helicopter a total of 1,064 and 1,302 deer in big game units 19 and 20 along the north side of the Salmon River during this same period. This compares with 2,278 elk and 914 deer counted in a winter census in 1964. These counts are by no means the actual number of animals in the population but only indicate the trends over the years.

Dave Neider, regional game manager at McCall, counted the south side of the river and came up with a total of 1,747 deer and 1,105 elk in Unit 19A and part of 20A. This compares with 511 deer and 877 elk censused in 1964 in these same areas. Altogether, it appears the elk population has remained relatively stable and the deer have increased significantly in this portion of the Salmon River since 1964.

A total of 128 bighorn sheep were censused in 1970, in comparison with 149 in 1964 in units 19, 19A 20 and 20A, units located adjacent to the Salmon River. They are an extremely difficult animal to see with their protective coloration and tendency to hide in the rocks while a helicopter is overhead. Several of these were legal rams of 3/4 curl or better. Miscellaneous big game observed during the counts included 48 mountain goats, 5 black bears, and 2 cougars.

Larry and I observed 13 golden eagles, which is a real thrill since they are becoming rare in the United States. In fact, they are listed as an endangered species. We saw a pair of eagles in flight, when a third eagle dived on them from above. One of the big birds rolled over on his back and reached up with his talons. Two of the eagles fell, tumbling together for a short drop, then recovered and flew off down river. Since the time was late March, these Salmon River eagles followed traditional rites of spring for their species. This all took place about 50 yards above our heads.

I used a 16-foot McKenzie River drift boat to float this 80-mile stretch, and we observed outfitters' jet boats regularly with steelhead fishermen. However, it is not a river for the novice rafter or boater. We had trouble at two areas, almost capsizing in Big Mallard Rapids after running into a large rock, and Dry Meat Rapids which we ran on the wrong side and nearly capsized. There are 30 major rapids and probably as many minor ones in this stretch. They have picturesque names such as Growler, Devils Teeth, enough Dolly Varden trout of 1/2 to of white water gets in a person's blood, and the contrast between a roaring, whitewater rapid and the silence of the still pool below is quite a sensation.

Access during the summer can be gained by two roads at Mackay Bar and the Whitewater Ranch. There is an excellent system of trails and we talked with five backpackers on our way through.

Steelhead fishermen were concentrated in the Corn Creek Bar area and downstream near Mackay Bar. They are having fair luck but usually the steelhead fishing is excellent in the early spring. We caught enough Dolly Varden trout of 1/4 to 2 pounds for a few meals of fish, and Larry caught two nice steelhead of 8 1/2 to 10 1/2 pounds. All of these were taken on a two-inch red and white wobbling spoon.

There are several conservation issues which will be coming up in the next year or two that involve this section of the Salmon. The first is the report of the Wild Rivers Study Team at the University of Idaho. The main Salmon River was placed in the study category by the Wild Rivers Act and this team will make recommendations as to whether or not it should be placed in the Wild Rivers system or be developed with a system of dams.

The second issue involves a reclassification of the Salmon River Breaks and Idaho Primitive areas by the U. S. Forest Service. This reclassification is required by the Wilderness Act. It will set the more or less permanent boundaries on these areas. The Forest Service will be holding hearings soon to obtain the public's opinions on the boundaries, uses to be allowed in the area and any additions which could be made. All these decisions will be vitally important to the future of Idaho.

Community Day Plans Progressing Smoothly

GENESEE—The General Committee of Genesee's Community Day June 6, reports that although volunteer help is still needed for almost all of the committees, overall the picture looks good.

Several minor changes have been made in the events scheduled for the Big Day, but the main events will be the same as usual.

Dick Scharnhorst will be in charge of the breakfast again this year and no change of menu is contemplated. As in years past a children's parade will be held on Main Street just prior to the Grand Parade which starts at 10:00 a. m. Vernon Peterson, Chairman, reports his committee hard at work contacting entries.

A new look will be given to Exhibit Hall, in the former Genesee Motors building. The antiques of the past years will give away to a flower show, a display of artists work, and a hobby and craft exhibit. LeRoy and Florence Harris are in charge of the hobby and craft section, the Garden Club with Mrs. Kay Zenger and Mrs. Anna Connick will handle the flowers and Mrs. Wm. Phar and Mrs. Phil Hermann will be in charge of the art. These folks would appreciate a call from you telling of the works you wish to display and this will give them an idea of the amount of space to reserve for each section.

An added attraction will be a demonstration of Sky Diving. The Palouse Sky Divers have been secured for this event and are expected to put on a very interesting show. Wind and weather permitting the landing target will be the Ball Park, the time to be announced later.

Panhandle Lake Season

Idaho's early trout season for lakes—but not streams—opened May 2 in Area 1, the drainages of the Kootenai, Pend Oreille and Spokane rivers of the Panhandle region. This special season runs through November 30. Stream fishing, unless otherwise specified in the regulations, does not open in the Panhandle until May 30, the start of the statewide trout season. The main reason for the early lake season for trout in Area 1 is that big muskies and Kamloops trout and Dolly Varden are more accessible to fishermen early in May and November. These fish forage on kokanee, a small blueback salmon that runs in the millions in Priest, Pend Oreille and Coeur d'Alene lakes.

Field Dog Training

Numerous telephone callers want to know about the rule for training hunting dogs in the field at this time of year. The word does not seem to have reached everybody that the regulation was changed a few years ago. It now requires that the owner restrain his dog from molesting birds or nests. Formerly there was an outright prohibition against training dogs in the field from April 15-August 15. This was rescinded but dogs must be kept under tight control at all times. Harassing waterfowl with boats is just as illegal as harassing game birds with dogs. Boaters are migratory waterfowl with rafts of urged to keep a sharp eye out for ducklings or goslings in tow.

Another thing. What's considered extra on many a car is standard on Monte Carlo. For instance, you get a big 350-cubic inch V-8, power disc brakes, electric clock and full wheel covers. Also, Astro Ventilation in a magnificently appointed Body by Fisher (complete with side-guard beam protection).
