General Election Tuesday, Nov. 3

Idaho voters will go to the polls next Tuesday, November 3, in an election held to pick a governor, Congressional Representatives, plus a number of other state and county officials. This is an "off-year" election, plus the fact that a number of local level offices are uncontested, have contributed to a low-level and low interest campaign.

Republican James A. McClure will be seeking re-election as congressional representative from Idaho's First District, against Wm. J. "Bill" Brauner.

Governor Don Samuelson is opposed in his bid for another term by Cecil D. Andrus, a democrat.

On the county level Democrat John Mix is unopposed seeking re-election as State Senator.

For State Representative from District 5 in Latah County, Geo. F. Brocke, Sr., a Democrat, and Harold Snow, a Republican, are seeking re-election. Michael "Mike" Mann is also running on the Democratic ticket and Art Hebling on the Republican side of the ballot.

In other contested offices, incumbent Herb Zimmerman is being opposed for the office of county commissioner from the First District by Moscow businessman C. L. Cheley.

The only other contest is for the County Treasurer, where Republican Norma Slade is opposing Adeline Howard.

Also to be voted on Tuesday will be five initiatives and referendums. H. J. R. 3 would make the term of the County Assessor four years instead of two. The Legislative Pay Initiative would rescind the pay raise for legislators. S. J. R. 121 would make the office of County Treasurer a four-year term instead of two. S. J. R. 122 asks approval or rejection of a revision in the State Constitution. The County High Measure will either leave the county highway districts as they presently exist or require the Latah County Commissioners to divide the county into not less than two, nor more than six highway districts.

Geneese voters will cast their ballots at the Fire Hall; Juliaetta voters at the City Hall; Kendrick will vote at the Fire Hall; Liden at the Gold Hill Hall, and Bear Creek at the Community Hall.

GHS, KHS Gridders Meet Friday in Season's Final Football Contest

Both Geneese and Kendrick High schools end their football season for another year this Friday evening, Oct. 30, as Kendrick hosts the Bulldogs on the KHS field. Both teams will be trying to end their seasons on a successful note.

Geneese and Kendrick started their seasons in different directions and also finished differently. Geneese opened the grid war by trampling all opposition, while Kendrick took some hard knocks early in the year. As the season progressed, the Tigers slowly improved and gained confidence until in their last game they upset a highly favored Highland team. Geneese, after an early season rush, dropped two of their last three games to Lapwai, and then were upset by Potlatch 14-6 last Friday night.

The Loggers sloshed to a 14-8 victory over Geneese last Friday night on the Potlatch field under miserable conditions with rains and heavy wind slowing the attack of both teams. Dan Tyler put Geneese ahead 6-0 on a 65-yard run in the first quarter. John Mills tied the game up in the first, and then scored again to make it 14-6 in the third quarter.

Game time for the Geneese-Kendrick match is 7:00.

There will also be a discussion of whether to continue the policy of naming outstanding players of the week for the coming basketball team.

If time permits a look at Kendrick's prospects for the coming basketball season will be reviewed.

When driving in dense fog at night, keep your headlights on low beam. That is the recommendation of safety experts at Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, based on extensive tests. They explained that high beams illuminate the fog so brightly that the white screen can hamper your ability to see the tailights of a car ahead. Brightness of daytime fog varies so much that no fixed rules apply, but you can experiment with your headlights to see whether they improve your ability to see ahead.

Motorists and parents alike must assume responsibilities to help protect children from traffic accident involvement, says the Idaho State Police. Motorists must use extra caution when driving in school areas and parents must teach their children the dangers involved and how to survive in today's traffic.

Things T'aint What They Used To Be

BOISE — "STOP — LOOK — LISTEN." They are not writing signs like that anymore. And judging from the way things are going, with symbols replacing words on highways throughout the world, this little gem may go down in history as one of the last of the great American road signs according to the Idaho Department of Highways. A classic in brevity, "Stop-Look-Listen" was devised back in 1912 by one Howard R. Upton, a safety lecturer for the Puget Sound Power Company of Seattle. Almost overnight, it appeared at railroad crossings across the country, replacing the older "Look Out for the Engine" in New England and "Look Out for the Locomotive" in the Midwest. For decades, the Sage of Seattle must have been just about the most attentively read writer in America, as successive generations of motorists stopped, looked and listened for trains at grade crossings from Maine to California before putting the family jalopy in gear and proceeding on their way. And now they're saying that a plain old symbol, perhaps a choo-choo train in a red triangle, can do the job better than Upton's immortal prose. Could be. But no symbol will ever capture the drama, the suspense of "Stop—Look—Listen"—words that practically started a Roadside Renaissance in American letters.

Green Thumb For Highways

BOISE—"Beautification, as it relates to highways in Idaho, is a 'growing' program intended to improve the aesthetic qualities of the state's roadway corridors," LeRoy Brady, Chief Landscape Architect for the Idaho Department of Highways said today.

The program is in its fifth year since enactment by the Idaho Legislature of the Highway Beautification Act in 1965 provides for scenic enhancement and the expenditure of funds for needed improvements.

A large part of the Idaho Department of Highways beautification effort thus far, according to Brady, has been centered on the Interstate Highway System. Median strips and interchanges have been beautified with selected plantings. The straight line design of the roadway and bridge structures are blended with the soft features of the landscape material to create a harmonious effect.

New planting projects are periodically initiated. Concurrently, the full value of many of the plants put out in the infancy of the beautification program are just now being realized as they grow to full flower. In addition to the ornamental value of properly planned highway plantings, they also meet a practical and utilitarian need. They can serve as sound barriers, headlight glare screens, vehicle crash barriers, erosion control devices and they also help drivers overcome the monotony of traveling over long stretches of uninterrupted highway.

Highway beautification is not limited to plantings and landscaping alone, Brady noted—any effort to enhance the appearance of highways or highway facilities is classified as such. Embellishment of the roadway scene is also achieved by rest areas, scenic improvement and effective maintenance work.

Much has been done in Idaho to enhance the grounds of safety rest areas. Motorists are in closer contact with the highway environment in these areas than anywhere else; therefore each detail is carefully worked out to achieve a more personal touch. Existing vegetation, grasses and additional plantings are considered in relation to the buildings, placement of picnic tables and parking for maximum convenience and comfort. The pleasing atmosphere makes for a more enjoyable break from driving.

Conservation of existing vegetation and natural land features also plays a big role in Highway Department planning. This is generally done when a highway is still under construction or when native plant life along roadides is thinned or altered to improve the roadside.

Aesthetically, highway beautification carries its own weight but it also functions to serve other needs.

Licenses Suspended

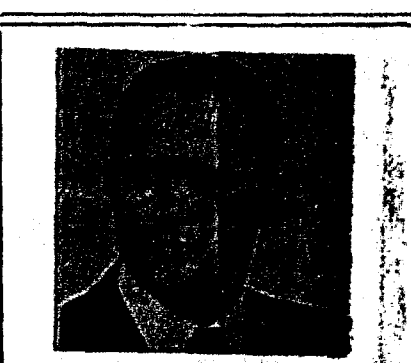

BOISE—The Driver Services Section of the Department of Law Enforcement said 508 motorists were ordered suspended from driving in September as result of traffic accidents or failure to comply and maintain proof of compliance with the Safety Responsibility Act.

Weaver Bickle, Boise, section supervisor said the actions included 164 Idahoans and 41 non-residents who failed to comply with the act, 59 for failure to report accidents and 244 for failure to maintain act requirements.

In the same period, Bickle said, 480 persons who previously had their driving privileges suspended or revoked were reinstated.

The psychological effect and the pleasure and satisfaction of traveling an attractive highway is immeasurable.

"With no increase in state taxes" is Governor Samuelson's pet phrase. But for the past 3 years, property taxes have been rising faster than ever before... $8.3 million statewide from 1966 to 1969...and they'll go up 25% or more this year in many counties...why?

An Idaho Statesman editorial told why... "They have gone up because Idaho lacked a Governor who recognized the purpose of the Sales Tax... If the Governor had provided sufficient state tax money to the schools, property taxes would not have risen so much."

Hunt Progress Good

Comparative figures taken from the hunter report cards to date indicate that both elk and deer kills throughout the state are slightly better than last year. Cards received and tabulated in Boise office through October 21 report 3,198 deer kills, 3,179 last year on October 22; 1,392 elk kills, 1,356 last year; 28 moose, 25 last year; 37 bighorn sheep, 26 last year; 62 mountain goat, 57 in 1969; and 780 antelope, 675 in 1969 at this same date.

ed kills to date—not total harvest. It is noteworthy, also, that most deer kills during this early season are incidental to elk. It also is important that more males than females have been killed to date. In both elk and deer hunting, figures taken from hunter report cards show that 819 bulls have been reported to date (573 cows) and 1705 bucks (1493 does) during the 1969 hunting season on approximately the same date.

Some Frequently Asked Questions Concerning Gun Control Act of 1968

Since the Gun Control Act of 1968 went into effect, sportsmen have been confused about the requirements for transporting and buying firearms out-of-state, purchasing ammunition and shipping guns. To help explain and clarify the act, the Chief, Enforcement Branch of the Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms Division of the Internal Revenue Service, Western Region, answers these questions most often asked by the sportsmen.

Q. Can sportsmen on an out-of-state hunting trip carry his rifles and shotguns with him?

A. The hunter will not encounter any problem in transporting his firearms across State lines. However, the Gun Control Act of 1968 prohibits convicted felons, fugitives from justice, persons under indictment for felony, mental incompetents, and unlawful users of narcotics from possessing or transporting firearms across State lines.

Q. May a hunter who is not licensed under the Gun Control Act of 1968 purchase ammunition while on an out-of-state hunting trip?

A. Yes, such a person may purchase ammunition provided this person is not a felon, fugitive from justice, unlawful user of drugs, mentally incompetent, and under 18 years of age in the case of a rifle or shotgun ammunition.

Q. Is a hunter or sportsman who loads ammunition for his personal use required to have a Federal Firearms license?

A. No, as long as it is for himself and he does not sell it.

Q. Can a hunter or sportsman ship his personal firearms to a licensed dealer, importer, or manufacturer for the purpose of repairing or customizing them?

A. Yes, he can, provided he is not one of the prohibited persons which are convicted felons, fugitives from justice, mental incompetents, persons under indictment for felonies, and unlawful users of drugs.

Q. Are gun clubs required to have a Federal Firearms license?

A. If a gun club does not sell firearms and only furnishes ammunition solely for use on club premises for the purposes of trap shooting, gun handling class, etc., the club is not required to have a Federal Firearms license.

Q. If a hunter or sportsman is an out of state hunting trip or attending an organized rifle or shotgun match or contest, can he obtain another rifle or shotgun if his is stolen, lost or becomes inoperative?

A. Yes, the hunter or sportsman on an out-of-state hunting trip or shooting contest can obtain another rifle or shotgun by presenting to a licensed dealer a sworn statement, in duplicate (1) stating that his rifle or shotgun was lost or stolen or become inoperative while engaged in hunting in the state in which the licensed dealer's business premises are located (2) setting forth the name and address of the organized rifle or shotgun match or contest, or the nature and location of the hunting, and the circumstances surrounding the firearm's loss or theft or the reason why the firearm has become inoperative, and (3) identifying the chief law enforcement officer (sheriff, chief of police, or police precinct captain) of the locality in which the sportsman or hunter resides.

Q. What are the limitations placed on the number of firearms and the amount of ammunition a person may take out of the United States for hunting purposes?

A. A person may not take more than 3 nonautomatic firearms and not more than 1,000 cartridges out of the United States for hunting purposes without obtaining a State Department license.

Q. Are gun clubs considered to be engaged in the business of selling ammunition?

A. A gun club which provides facilities for trap shooting, target shooting, gun handling classes, etc., and furnishes ammunition for use on the club premises is not regarded as being "engaged in the business of selling ammunition at wholesale or retail." The club would be permitted to provide ammunition to persons under the age of eighteen (18) who are shooting at the club and which is for consumption on the premises, and the club would not be required to keep records of the disposition of their ammunition. However, the club would not be able to acquire their ammunition from out of state because they would not be licensed. Such clubs may be issued a license as a dealer in ammunition if they desire to be licensed, permitting them to buy ammunition from out of state. However, licensed clubs must follow the record keeping provisions of the law.

Q. Are nonresidents of the United States able to bring firearms into this country for legitimate hunting or lawful sporting purposes?

A. Yes, nonresidents are able to bring firearms into the country for legitimate hunting or lawful sporting purposes without a permit from the Director, Alcohol, Tobacco or Firearms. However, these firearms are to be taken out of the territorial limits of the United States by such persons upon conclusion of their activities.

1971 Fish Regulations

New fishing seasons, bag limits and other regulations and details for the 1971 calendar year were established recently at the Lewiston meeting of the Idaho Fish and Game Commission. One of the provisions is for the 1971 commercial fishing season for Kokanee and Whitefish on Lake Pend Oreille in Kootenai and Bonner Counties, and Pend Oreille and Clarkfork rivers from January 1 through May 31, 1971 with a daily bag limit of 200 fish of either species or in the aggregate of both species. Commercial fishing also was provided in a new regulation covering suckers and minnows throughout the calendar year of 1971. This includes chubs, squawfish, shiners, carp, gold fish, and tench.

Lights Needed More Now

Clocks were turned back an hour on Sunday, reminds the Idaho State Police, which means we will have an extra hour of sunlight in the morning but the loss of 60 minutes of sunlight in the afternoon.

The State Police points out safe driving depends on good vision and that good vision is greatly reduced when artificial light must be used to illuminate the highway.

Vehicle headlights should be turned on as soon as they are needed, often before sunset or sunrise reminds the State Police.

Parking lamps are no substitute for headlights and should not be used for driving. Lighted headlights enable a driver to see the road ahead better and to be seen by other drivers.

Slow down in the periods before the sun rises or sets, advises the Idaho State Police and substitute horsepower for horsepower.

You wouldn't ignore the poison label on a bottle, says the Idaho State Police, and ignoring traffic signs as you drive can be just as tragic. Highway signs are signs of life—heed them and live.

The ocellot gets its name from the Latin "ocellus," meaning a small eye. This refers to the animal's being marked with small spots or "eyes."

Home Cookin'

Mrs. Jim (Judy) Archibald is our cook for this week, and with so much holiday baking to be done, these recipes will be more than helpful and welcome.

Judy is another one of these busy housewives and mothers, who still finds time to take an active part in the community church and Lily Chapter, O. E. S. and in other community activities.

It takes a lot of baking and time to keep the cookie jar filled at the Archibald home, and Judy does that chore quite well. Jeannie, Jimmie, and Jason are especially fond of cookies, and I'll bet Dad Jim gets his share, too.

This weeks recipes sound real tasty, especially the Maple Nutters, which Judy says freeze well, if you want to do any holiday baking ahead of time. She adds they will also keep for some time in a tightly closed container.

CONGRESSMAN JIM MCCLURE

HAS BROUGHT PRESTIGE AND ACTION TO IDAHO'S FIRST DISTRICT . . .

Congressman Jim McClure meets his responsibilities in a manner all Idahoans can respect.

Jim McClure has the advantage of friendship in Washington. He has earned the confidence of his fellow legislators. They elected him secretary, then president of the 90th Club, an organization of 1/3 of the entire Republican membership of the House of Representatives.

Jim McClure has the respect of our country's leaders. His is a strong voice against inflation diminishing your paycheck. His work to prevent unnecessary government spending has resulted in the businessmen of America having twice given him the Watchdog of the Treasury Award. His work on behalf of a sound currency has made him one of the monetary experts in the House of Representatives and resulted in his appointment to the Commission on the Coinage.

While exhibiting strength as a national legislator, Congressman Jim McClure has never forgotten that his primary duty is to represent Idaho's First District in Washington. And he has represented Idaho well. Water, land, forests, small businesses, farmers and industry, all have been helped and protected by the effective action of Jim McClure. But most of all, Jim McClure has made his office one of unmatched service to ALL of the people of the First District.

Congressman Jim McClure speaks with a strong voice for Idaho and backs his words with work.

WHAT OTHERS SAY ABOUT CONGRESSMAN JIM MCCLURE

"The people of the First District are fortunate to have Jim McClure in Washington, and - if I may sound a personal note - I need him here to help carry forward our programs for a better America."

—Richard Nixon, President United States of America

"Jim McClure was pegged from the beginning as one of the really bright young men in the House. Jim possesses all of those qualities which mark a man on his way up."

—Gerald M. Ford (R-Michigan), Minority Leader U.S. House of Representatives

"As one who has worked with Jim both in his role as a legislator and as a member of the Coinage Commission, I can testify first hand to the effectiveness with which he represents his constituents. On coinage matters in particular, he has made an impact that is unmatched by any other young congressman in the House of Representatives."

—David M. Kennedy, Secretary of the Treasury

"... On August 10, 1970 I enjoyed the privilege of observing the debate and vote on the equal rights amendment from the gallery of the House of Representatives. The National Federation thanks you for your participation in this great cause. We expect that the women of your District will note and long remember this day when you stood by them and cast a "yea" vote on the Equal Rights Amendment."

—Mrs. Ruth Moss Easterling, President National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Reasons For Seal Coating Given

BOISE—The question is frequently raised "why does the Idaho Department of Highways seal coat a bituminous paved surface?" The purpose of the seal coat is similar to the roof on a house or half-soiling a pair of shoes according to State Maintenance Engineer Roy W. Jump. Bituminous surfaces often crack and ravel—they oxidize and are permeable to water. The purpose of the seal coat is to seal the surface against air and moisture intrusion, rejuvenate the dry oxidized surfaces, bond raveling aggregate in place, and stop further deterioration which also adds to the non-skid properties of the surface. It improves luminosity, skid resistance, delineates traffic lanes and also provides a wearing course. The sealing of our bituminous highways is usually done within a year after the initial construction and is repeated every 5 to 10 years. Sealing should be done early while cracks are small and raveling and oxidation minor.

The Idaho Department of Highways uses two types of seal coat—one is what is called a "chip seal coat" using crushed slag or rock about three-eighths inch in diameter or smaller. These chips are spread over a layer of hot bituminous asphalt. The other type of seal coat used primarily in urban and high density traffic areas is a "hot plant mix seal." This material is a mineral aggregate that is dried and heated and then blended with a penetration or asphaltic concrete material and then placed on the road three-fourths inch in thickness by a lay-down machine.

The cost comparison of the two methods shows chip seal costs about 13 cents a square yard and the plant mix seal about 53 cents a square yard. In that plant mix seal costs approximately four times as much as chip seal, justification for plant mix seal is limited to urban streets and high traffic density arterials.

The U. S. share of world passenger car registrations has slipped below the 50 percent mark. Last year found the U. S. with 48.8 percent of the 169.6 million world automobile registrations. The U. S. had over 60 percent of the world's total ten years ago.

Marker Returns Needed For Sage Grouse Study

Sage grouse hunters in Owyhee Co. are urged to return identification markers they retrieve from birds they bagged during the season, it was announced today by the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

A total of 600 markers of various types have been placed on sage grouse the past 2 summers in Owyhee Co., and 4 grouse have been outfitted with tiny radio transmitters.

This year some 40 cocks have been outfitted with back markers and some of them may have been shot in the Tri-angle region by hunters this season. Hunters returned 35 markers from retrieved sage grouse last fall, and 80 from the 1968 season. All birds have leg bands, plus paunchos, if hens.

Paunchos are plastic-cloth-like material that fits over the head and partly covers the back. Cocks have wing or back markers. Most of this work will be completed this year, particularly if hunters continue returning markers on birds they bag.

Checking Station Rules

Two citations and six warnings were issued recently to hunters who did not stop at the checking station at Mores Creek. A "back-up" check station intended to stop all vehicular traffic was operated recently at the Barber Flat weighing station east of Boise. Big game checking stations are located at strategic points throughout the state and operated either on a full-time or part-time basis, as needed. It is a legal requirement for all hunters and fishermen to stop, whether or not they have game or fish in their possession, if the station is on their route of travel.

Slips of paper were issued all hunters who did not stop at the Mores Creek checking station, and these were presented at Barber Flat to show that they had made the required stop earlier. The eight offenders did not have such slips of paper and did admit they had not stopped.

Normally, the Mores Creek checking station closes at about 10:00 a. m. On the night of the double check, it was reopened again and operated from 11 p. m. until 1 a. m. to learn how many people came down after the usual closing hours. Only one warning issued during this period.

One way to succeed without trying. Wait for tomorrow.

University of Idaho Graduate Student Plans Three-Year Bobcat Study

Somewhere east of Arco, in the vast expanse of broken lava flows and high buttes where two Idaho rivers sink into the desert without a trace, is an adult female bobcat who can be heard but not seen. She has two kittens with her.

Monitoring her movements on a 500-square mile study area inside the National Reactor Testing Station is not unlike the tracking of earth-bound satellites. The bobcat wears a 12-ounce radio transmitter which broadcasts a beeping signal that resembles sounds from orbiting satellites. Additional bobcats will be fitted with radio transmitters later this year.

Theodore N. (Ted) Bailey, Arco, is working on a three-year field research project leading to a Ph. D. Degree, under Maurice G. Hornocker, leader of the Idaho Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit at the University of Idaho.

(1) The objective of the study is to determine how numbers are regulated in a bobcat population.

(2) Habitat, food supply and social behavior of bobcats are being studied.

(3) Bailey's study, in addition to obtaining information on bobcat population dynamics, is expected to provide some basic information that may be applicable to other wild feline populations. Bobcats were chosen for the study because they are easily trapped and handled, and have a small home range.

The information obtained from this study can be helpful or detrimental to the bobcat, depending on whether man regards the bobcat as a destructive predator or a valuable asset to his environment.

Bailey says that the Atomic Energy Commission's National Reactor Testing Station is being used as his research area for several reasons. Public hunting and trapping is prohibited, thus eliminating "outside" interference. Also, good background information is available on the small mammal populations from the study area which are important prey for bobcats.

Data is being obtained by live-trapping and marking bobcats on the area, by periodic sampling of principal prey species and by collecting and analyzing digestive and reproductive tracts from bobcats taken by trappers near the study area. Animals on the study area are captured in small steel traps, tranquilized, ear-tagged and tattooed.

Bailey says information on bobcat social behavior is being gathered in several ways, including live-trapping, snow tracking, interpretation of bobcat sign, and radio tracking.

Live-trapping provides information on population age structure, movements, turnover rate; and the size, overlapping and stability of home ranges. Snow tracking supplements live-trapping data. Interpretation of bobcat sign reveals use of toilet areas used in marking territories. Radio tracking refines and clarifies this data and provides information on mutual avoidance between bobcats, spatial distribution of bobcats in time, and use of territories or home ranges in relation to sex, age and season.

The study area runs about 40 miles east toward Idaho Falls. There are places where there are miles of country without any sign of bobcats. In good areas, the average number of bobcats, excluding kittens, is about one bobcat per three square miles. Most of them are recaptured within one or two miles of the site of the first trapping.

The longest distance was 18 miles from the original trapping site to the second. Bailey obtained about 160 bobcat carcasses from trappers working on areas adjacent to his research site. He used these carcasses to determine bobcat reproductive rates and the percentage of breeding females in bobcat populations through examination and reproductive organs. Ages are determined by examining skulls and teeth, and food habits by stomach or intestine contents. There is an average of about two and one-half kittens per female littering for the first time. Older females average about 3/4 kittens each, but the number may vary anywhere from one to five per female. The highest number of kittens per female observed on the site so far was four.

Bailey says dependent kittens may be with the female at any time of the year and that her destruction through hunting or other means probably spells death for the kittens as well. It appears that kittens may be born any month of the year but most are born in the spring. Last spring, one litter was born in an abandoned reactor cooling tower, but most are born in rock piles or caves.

Alternate dens are established in other caves or suitable places when the kittens are old enough to travel. Leaving the kittens in or near the dens, females hunt and return with small mammals such as rabbits, chipmunks, and mice for their young ones to eat. They rotate from one den to another periodically. Later, the kittens will follow the female on these hunting trips. Male bobcats do not help in raising the bobcat family.

Several organizations are cooperating in the study. The University contributes by supporting and housing the Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit, as well as administering Bailey's National Defense Education Act fellowship. Other cooperators include the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Division of Wildlife Services), Idaho Fish and Game Department, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the National Wildlife Federation which awarded a fellowship to the project last year.

Unemployment Claims Continue To Rise In Latah County

The Moscow office of the Department of Employment reported a continuing rise in the number of persons claiming unemployment insurance benefits. Area residents receiving benefits totaled 109 during the week compared with 101 last week and only 75 a year ago. Nineteen new claims were filed during the week. Construction workers composed 53 per cent of those filing new claims. 21 per cent are woodworkers, 10 per cent returning servicemen, and 16 per cent are employed in other occupations. Of the 109 persons receiving benefits, 59 live in the Moscow area, four in Genesee, 26 in the Troy-Deary-Hovill area, two in the Kenarick area, 11 in the Potlatch area and one in the Elk River area.

During the week 21 new jobs were received by the Department of Employment. Eleven workers were placed on jobs and at the end of the week 33 jobs were available. Jobs listed with the Moscow office include openings for an egg farmer, farm mechanic, farm couple, grauer, salesperson, appliance repairman, TV repairman, van driver, out man, and cabinet maker. Also listed are openings for housekeepers, babysitters, day workers, kitchen helpers, waitresses, cooks, parttime maids, nurse aid and LPN.

Fish and Wildlife Service (Division of Wildlife Services), Idaho Fish and Game Department, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the National Wildlife Federation which awarded a fellowship to the project last year.

Celebrate 45th Anniversary

The five children, their spouses, and all but three of the 16 grandchildren gathered at the Ernest Steigers' home at Cherrylane on Saturday evening for a beautiful potluck (surprise?) supper. The Steigers' 45th wedding anniversary fell on Oct. 21st, but was most convenient for all to come at the latter date.

The children all "chipped-in" and presented a lovely "agitator type" naugahyde recliner to "the bride." The couple "surprised" Ernest with his chair last Christmas, themselves!

Nellie leaps forward in "agitated" surprise and shock each time she accidentally touches the control, when turning on the comforting heater element!

Mrs. Loren (Kathleen) Ratliff and daughters Karen and Kay drove here from Bothell, Wn., arriving Thursday. Mr. Ratliff flew in from Seattle late Friday evening. The family returned home by car on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Steigers and three of their four children, Tommy, Christine and Timmy arrived from Montana on Thursday evening, visiting her mother in Lewiston during the interval. Son Terry, a University of Montana student, could not attend.

Mr. and Mrs. David Steigers and son Dan came Saturday evening. Rick was on a Scout camp-out at Lake Waha.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Steigers and sons John, Jim and Mike of Lewiston and daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sauer of Moscow and Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Ahelo, Coeur d'Alene were present. Son Bill was unable to attend due to band playing at the football game.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Steigers and children, Bekalyn and Kent and also Mr. and Mrs. Duane Space of Lenore and Mrs. Helena Brown were others present for the happy occasion.

Birthday Anniversary Honored
The birthdays of Ivan Johnson and his sister Mrs. Ag. (Joy) Swan, which fall on the same day, Oct. 23rd, were honored by a family gathering held at the Wayne Hoskins home on Cottonwood Creek on Sunday, Oct. 25th.

Those present besides the host and hostess and daughter Wanetta Hoskins were Mr. and Mrs. Ag. Swan and son John; Miss Becky Bear, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hoskins and son and Mrs. Gloria Cook, all of Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wolfe, Troy, Idaho; and the Ivan Johnson family.

A niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Art Pochardt of Lewiston were Saturday afternoon and evening callers in the Hoskins' home.

Now Permanent Residents
Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner happily announces the arrival from California of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Slem, who are moving into the former home of Mrs. Wayne (Carol) Maynard, at Lapwai. The children have enrolled in the Lapwai schools. The Slems spent several days in the Heimgartner home during the "moving-in" period.

An aunt, Miss Charlotte Bourgeois of Glendale Calif., also is spending a two-week visit in the Heimgartner home.

Other News
Mrs. Forrest Gibbs, Spokane, visited over the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Newt Heath. Son Edgar Heath was a Saturday supper guest.

Mrs. David Straw and son Danny were Sunday dinner guests in the Leslie Heimgartner home. David Straw, enroute to their home at Lewiston from a mountain hunting trip, "collected" his family later in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Heimgartner were Monday evening, Oct. 19th visitors in the home of son Gerald and family at Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Custer of Clarkston were Sunday dinner guests of the Eldon Heimgartners.

On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harri of Clarkston, and their daughter, Mrs. Dan Ryncarson and baby Heidi, were luncheon guests of the Wayne Heimgartners. Saturday evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. Austin Goodson of Parma, Ida., son Melvin Goodson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heimgartner and Allen Heimgartner, students from the U. of I., Moscow.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Holsinger and daughters were Thursday supper guests in the home of her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Weyen, Friday evening guests of the Holsingers were Mr. and Mrs. Danny Peters and little Traci.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Heimgartner spent Sunday evening in the Marlon Stevens home.

The "Hill Toppers" are "mustling" cattle home from the summer mountain ranges. The "River" ranchers have been, or soon will be, bringing home their cattle, also.

Little Jeff Schneider, small grandson, is visiting with Grandmother Natalia (Mrs. Lee Heath) from his home in Chicago this week. He flew out from Chicago with his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fairley of Lewiston. He will return home next week.

Edward Ranta has been under a doctor's care recently. "Hiccups" have been added to his troubles! We hope a successful diagnosis of his problems can soon be reached. Their daughter, Miss Judy Ranta, spent the week-end at home from her school at Lewis-Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hanley, Missoula, Mont., arrived at the E. Steigers home Sunday, a couple of hours after Mrs. Keith Steigers and children had departed for home expecting Mrs. Hanley (Isura) to ride back home with Mrs. Steigers! A hasty phone call to Springing Inn located the Steigers at lunch there. Keith Steigers accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hanley and the two ladies were successfully reunited! The men-folk returned for an over-night stay with the E. Steigers and on to the Don Cook home at Colton on Monday morning, enroute home via the "Kollogg" route. Mrs. Larry Lyons, daughter of Mrs. Leslie Heimgartner was employed at the Springing Inn, so Carol should have enjoyed the long wait there!

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hanley, Missoula, Mont., arrived at the E. Steigers home Sunday, a couple of hours after Mrs. Keith Steigers and children had departed for home expecting Mrs. Hanley (Isura) to ride back home with Mrs. Steigers! A hasty phone call to Springing Inn located the Steigers at lunch there. Keith Steigers accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hanley and the two ladies were successfully reunited! The men-folk returned for an over-night stay with the E. Steigers and on to the Don Cook home at Colton on Monday morning, enroute home via the "Kollogg" route. Mrs. Larry Lyons, daughter of Mrs. Leslie Heimgartner was employed at the Springing Inn, so Carol should have enjoyed the long wait there!

Leonard Wolffs Return From Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wolff have recently returned from a trip into the mid-west and Canada. They submit the following report of the trip: "Leaving Sept. 28 Meridian, Ida., by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schultz of Lewiston. Here we left the Schultzes and were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wolff. Going by Idaho City, Lowman, the Stanley Basin and the Little Grand Canyon of Idaho was a very scenic drive at this time of year. The brightly colored trees were beautiful.

Entering Montana on Highway 43 to 90, the fields of hay and cattle, both white-face and black, seemed their main industry. The formations of rock were outstanding and added to the scenery along the way to Jamestown, where we turned north to Devils Lake and on to Langdon, 17 miles this side of the Canadian border. Here we spent ten days with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wolff and Susan.

From here we went fishing at Rock Lake in Canada; toured the Peace Gardens, visited Winnipeg. Highlight of the trip was enjoying a smorgasbord dinner in the old Hudson Bay Trading Post.

Leaving Langdon, Oct. 12, we drove through North and South Dakota to Mitchell to see the Corn Palace. While admiring it and taking pictures of the outside, they locked the doors for the night. We are still wondering if all the beauty was on the outside!

Pierce, Neb., was our next stop to visit the farm where Herbert and Leonard were born. We were house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fleming while getting acquainted with many cousins the men had never met. The country is quite level there with cattle, hay and corn farmers main interest. Some irrigated corn made 150 bushels to the acre. There the way of share crop division was so many rows to the center and so many to the landlord. One field would be stripped several times to be sure no one got the best corn.

We also visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dailey at Lodge Pole, Neb. Mrs. Dailey is a niece of Mrs. Leonard Wolff.

We returned through southern Idaho, stopping at Blackfoot to visit the Parkers and then home by way of Craters of the Moon. We saw lots of level land and beautiful fields but the hills and water of Idaho are the best.

In all the 5000 miles we traveled the highways were cleaner than we have here. No cans, bottles and litter. Lets put litter where it belongs, not beside the road!"

Opposes Smut

Kendrick—Representative James A. McClure, R-Idaho, said today that we are living in an age of permissiveness symbolized by the spread of pornography.

McClure laid the blame on the doorstep of the Supreme Court "for confusing smut with the right of free speech." He said, "their rulings have overturned most of our laws on pornography and tied the hands of law enforcement personnel."

McClure told supporters, on a campaign stop, that he reserved his sharpest criticism for the report of President Johnson's Commission on Obsenity and Pornography. "It is incredible to me, that this supposedly prestigious body spent years studying the problem and then came to the conclusion that there was really no problem at all. It is equally appalling to learn the Commission recommended that prurient literature be made available to everyone, regardless of age."

Missionary Council
