Retired Teachers Honored By Masons At Open House

Mrs. Darwin Tarry, Mrs. Cecil Gruell and Ben P. Cook, retired teachers of Kendrick Joint School District No. 283, were honored at a reception given for them Friday night, November 6, by the Masons of Kendrick Lodge No. 26.

A clever program, planned and presented by Mr. and Mrs. George Merrick, also retired teachers of the district, featured the honored guests and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Meake, former students; Darrell Manfull, Juliaetta Elementary School Principal, and Eugene Foster, Master of the Kendrick Masonic Lodge, as students, and George Merrick as the teacher, in a classroom setting, complete with school desks.

Following the skit the entire group joined in the Pledge to the Flag and sang "School Days." Interesting stories were told about their experiences as school teachers. Slides of school plays presented by Mrs. Tarry's former students were shown by Mrs. Aaron Wells, and a song he had sung as a pupil of Mrs. Tarry was sung by Duane Meake.

Eugene Foster gave a brief talk entitled "The Educator," and presented "Our Society," and Mr. Cook with Certificates of Appreciation issued by the Grand Master of Masons in Idaho, in recognition of dedicated service to the school children of Idaho.

Duane Meake sang "Memories," to conclude the program.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sproul, Worthy Master of Canyon Chapter of O. E. S., and Junior Warden of Kendrick Masonic Lodge No. 26.

Many pictures, certificates and mementoes of the teachers' careers were also on display.

Mrs. Bette Deobald Returns From VFW Meeting In Pocatello

The National President of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Mrs. Mary C. Cottone of Olean, New York, made her official visit to Idaho at two places this year, in the North at Priest River and in the South at Pocatello.

Mrs. Charles (Bette) Deobald, the National Councilmember for Idaho, Montana and Washington, joined other members from this area and drove to Pocatello for the visit and council meeting of the Department of Idaho Auxiliary. While there she was taken on a tour of the Idaho State University Life Sciences Building and presented a check to Dr. Khare from the Department of Idaho, V. F. W. Auxiliary, to help out in his cancer research work. He says, "The University cannot fully support this research and anything he receives in donations is certainly appreciated." The group was also taken on a tour of the new "Mini-Dome" sports arena. It is the only indoor football stadium ever to be built by a college or university.

Later in the week the group joined other members from Idaho and toured to Helena, Mont. for the National President's official visit to Montana Banquet and the Western Conference Meetings. There were 33 VFW and Auxiliary members from Idaho at this conference. Idaho will host the Western Conference in Boise in 1972.

In October, Mrs. Deobald also attended the National President's Homecoming and National Council Meeting in Olean, New York.

Sudden Attack Claims Life Of Agnes Grieser

GENESEE—Mrs. Agnes T. Grieser, 58, a native of Genesee, died at her home Saturday, November 7 at 9:20 a. m. of a heart attack.

She was born March 20, 1912, at Genesee, and married Andrew Grieser, a farmer, at Genesee October 22, 1934. He survives at the family home.

Mrs. Grieser was a communicant of St. Mary's Catholic Church at Genesee and a member of St. Mary's Altar Society.

Survivors include three sons, Donald Grieser, Genesee; Darrel Grieser, Genesee; and Raymond Grieser, Coeur d'Alene; two daughters, Mrs. Frank (Carol) Scarcello, Brookings, Oregon; and Mrs. Kent (Mardell) Broemeling, Genesee; four brothers, Virgil and Walter Klemm, both of Genesee; Frank Klemm, Clarkston; and Arthur Klemm, Great Falls, Montana; and five grandchildren.

Rosary was recited at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Genesee at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Requiem mass was celebrated Tuesday at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's Church. Celebrant was the Rev. Fr. Thomas Lahey.

Palbearers were Alfred Hasfurther, Edwin Hasfurther, Maurice Bruegeman, John Klaus, Walter Moden and Peter Dan Lorange.

Honorary palbearers: Ed Weber, John Tobin, Harold Kluss, Frank Kambsch, Wm. Borgen, Wilson Esser, John Stout, Martin Stout, Lawrence Hasfurther, Martin Grieser, Joseph Theissen, William Roth, Robert Broemeling, Gene Grieser, Eugene Woodruff.

Altar boys were Bill Schlueter, Jim Grieser, Terry Green.

Mrs. Wilson Esser, organist, accompanied Mrs. Martin Stout who sang "Sunshine and Rain," "Jesus My Lord, My God, My All," and "Heaven, My Home."

Burial was at St. Mary's cemetery, with Short's Moscow, in charge.

A Sudden Sorrow

The Genesee community is still shocked and saddened at the sudden and unexpected passing of this good woman. There were three very important things in the life of Agnes Grieser—her family, her church and her home—she had interests in other subjects; but none of these interfered with those three great loves, and she was never far from the joy and satisfaction they gave her.

When you first came to know her, you might have thought she was an excitable, nervous person as she fussed, hustled and scurried about her daily life. But then, as you had the privilege to know her better, you could sense the strength and inner beauty that comes to a wife and mother only when she is happy and secure in the love of her family... and she had that above all else.

One of the last times I ever talked to Mrs. Grieser, she had just come from working in the lawn and was standing in her kitchen preparing a meal... I'll always remember her that way... I think she would like that.

A good wife, a devoted mother, a fine Christian lady—God will surely love Agnes Grieser—everyone else did. BR

Grange Hears Of FFA Convention

Kendrick Grange, No. 413, met Oct. 6, at 8:00 p.m. at the Fraternal Temple with 29 members and two guests present.

The meeting opened with Doug Pratt, a member of the Kendrick FFA, speaking to us on his recent trip to Kansas City, Missouri to the National FFA Convention. He told of the business and activities performed by members and delegates at the convention; also about their trip and the country they saw coming and going and that FFA members were treated quite royally there. He also stated that police men were very helpful—that prices as a rule there, were about the same as here and there were no hippies there. Also no demonstrators as police took care of large groups before they got to that stage.

Doug also showed pictures and talked on FFA activities at the Latah County Fair.

A report on the State Grange Convention at Lewiston was given by Grace Ingie and Nell Heimgartner. It was reported that Mabel Glenn received a blue ribbon and gift at the State Grange on Women's Activities. She also received a gift at subordinate level at the Kendrick Grange for first place winner in the black and white photo contest in the Lecturers contests. This same picture received a red ribbon in the State contest.

Because many Pomona members will be attending National Grange at Boise, the November Pomona meeting has been cancelled.

The next meeting will be held Tues., Nov. 17th, 8:00 p.m., at the Fraternal Temple. There will be a "Thanksgiving Special."

State Moves To Decrease Traffic Accidents

BOISE—As a means to reduce the number of traffic accidents in Idaho, the Idaho Traffic Safety Commission has recommended an aerial surveillance program be instituted as soon as possible in a definite high-accident area.

The commission also approved submission of an application for a statewide alcohol countermeasures program, fully funded by the federal government, after receiving two such applications from Boise City and Idaho Falls for Eastern Idaho.

Richard Hughes, Boise, commission chairman, said commission members felt the program would be more effective on a statewide basis from the money available rather than operate it in selected local jurisdictions.

He said the statewide program would incorporate proposals contained in the Boise and Idaho Falls applications, such as availability of driving records for courts for presentence investigations, stepped up enforcement, identification of drinking and problem drivers and rehabilitation.

Mark Gibson, commission director, pointed out several states have decided to attack the problem on a statewide rather than local area in order to reach a greater number of drinking drivers.

The use of aircraft recommendation came after Maj. Gen. George Bennett, Boise, Idaho's adjutant general and a commission member, said, "We have to take some drastic steps to show our people we are attempting to bring about traffic safety in Idaho."

Agencies associated with an aircraft patrol are to meet and formulate program, including how it can be funded.

Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grandview, and Rep. John Sessions, R-Driggs, chairmen of their respective Transportation and Defense committees, and also commission members, indicated they were in favor of such a program and that the state should consider funding it until such a time as federal money might become available.

The commission decided to look into a proposal from an Idaho Medical Society committee for evaluating standards to determine driver license qualifications of applications referred to a medical evaluation board.

Also approved was a suggestion that strengthening school bus inspections be investigated.

The commission, Gibson said, plans to institute other countermeasure traffic safety programs in the areas of selective law enforcement and multi-disciplinary accident investigation teams if Congress acts favorably on appropriations.

Crime Information Center

BOISE—Idaho's terminal at State Police headquarters in Boise for the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) operated by the FBI in Washington, D. C. has handled nearly 100,000 transmissions since the Gem State joined the 49-state hookup in March, 1969.

Apprehensions and recoveries by Idaho law enforcement officers have included about everything but murder suspects and fugitives listed on the FBI's Top Ten, according to Lt. Richard Burns, Boise, communications supervisor.

Between Jan. 1 and late September of this year, Idaho law enforcement departments entered 916 items or wanted persons into the center, which resulted in Idaho officers making 152 "hits" on in-and-out-of-state entries and 130 "hits" being made in other states on Idaho entries, Burns said.

He said stolen vehicles and property, including guns, head the list of entries and recoveries in Idaho.

Recovery of a stolen vehicle often results in a subsequent "hit", Burns said, when a check of the driver or occupants of the car discloses they are wanted on other charges.

All of the states but Alaska are tied into the NCIC, which has resulted in Idaho officers locating property or persons listed by other states.

"In turn," Burns said, "NCIC operations have resulted in Idaho entries being found in states throughout the country."

Participating law enforcement agencies in the various states make entries into the computer-memory bank in Washington via teletype and when a request is received on a person or property, files are searched electronically and negative or positive responses are sent to the originating terminal in seconds.

This year's "hits" in Idaho, Burns said, besides on vehicles and weapons, have included other stolen property and license plates and apprehension of persons wanted for kidnapping, robbery, armed robbery, burglary, non-support, desertion from the armed services, parole and probation violators, unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, forgery, auto theft, grand larceny, fraud, possessing and dispensing narcotics and violation of the Selective Service Act.

The NCIC in Washington is in operation 24 hours a day as is the Boise terminal. The service is available to all law enforcement personnel in the state.

"Speed in transmission of information is the nucleus of the successful operation," Burns said.

"It's only a matter of seconds after a request is entered that an answer is returned," he said.

The system is invaluable to the officer on patrol who can check out a suspicious vehicle or its occupants by use of his radio and thus be forewarned of a possible dangerous situation before acting, the lieutenant pointed out.

"All entries or requests don't result in 'hits'," Burns said, "but the system has proven it's worth as a crime fighter a thousand times over."

Certain Types of Vehicle Stickers Expire Dec. 31

BOISE—Nineteen types of vehicles not registered under the staggered-plate system will find their license plate validation stickers expiring at midnight, Dec. 31, the Department of Law Enforcement announced.

Jack F. Farley, Boise, director, Motor Vehicle Division, said vehicles licensed under the annual plan, January 1 to December 31, must register prior to the deadline to remain legal.

Included under the annual system of licensing are the following types of vehicles:

Farm trucks and trailers, commercial trucks and trailers, motorcycles, house, utility and rental trailers, city cabs and buses, hearses, ambulances, wreckers, radio amateur, National and Air Guard, disabled veterans, dealers and repossession.

New stickers for 1971 are available now at county assessor's offices and may be applied to present plates anytime before the Dec. 31 deadline Farley said.

Staggered-system validation stickers expire in November or December, Farley noted, thus allowing assessors two months in which to validate

Julietta Seeks Help For Sewer Project

Mayor Gilbert Sprowl of Julieta has announced that the City of Julieta applied this week to the Farmer's Home Administration for financial assistance to construct a new sewer system. The community has no public sewer facilities now and last winter the Julieta School was closed because of sewer problems.

The Farmer's Home Administration could grant 50 per cent of the money needed for the Julieta project and could make a low interest, 40 year loan for the balance through a program designed to assist rural communities. The application and supporting documentation has been developed by the Julieta City Council with assistance from a committee of concerned citizens, and Clearwater Economic Development Association.

Trout Season Closes Nov. 30

General statewide trout season ends November 30, but many waters in all sections of the state stay open for fishing for some or all species, sometimes on a year-round basis, the Idaho Fish and Game Department reminded anglers today.

New regulations were established recently for the 1971 calendar year. Current regulations do not expire until midnight, December 31. Waters remaining open year-round, or for special seasons, are listed by name and area in the 1970 regulations.

Steelhead trout and whitefish fishing are growing wintertime sports. A special dipnet fishing season for cisco at Bear Lake runs from Jan. 1 through Feb. 15, 1971, with a limit of 50 cisco a day for all license or permit holders. Non-license holders under 14 years of age are allowed 25 fish per day.

Thousands of hunter report cards from all game management units point up good elk and deer harvests on most ranges. Data are based on report cards returned voluntarily by hunters and do not represent complete kill figures. Besides, much of the best hunting still lies ahead for both elk and deer.

Following are comparative kill figures reported through November 3: Deer 7,564 (1969 - 7,230); elk 2,203 (1969 - 2,123). More bucks than does and cows have been reported by hunters. Reported kills for trophy antelope, moose, bighorn sheep and mountain goats so far this season all are ahead of the same date last year.

Wheat Pool Divided

The Latah County share of the 4.2 million dollar inverse subsidy wheat pool is a little over 12 thousand dollars, according to Elvin Lindsay, executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Each wheat producer who earned a 1968 domestic wheat certificate has also earned a small export certificate of 58 cents for each 100 dollars of domestic certificate.

An inverse subsidy occurs when the world wheat price is higher than the U. S. price, and exporters must pay into an export certificate pool.

All 1968 wheat producers who earned $3.00 or over were mailed letters informing them of their option to request their share of the pool. They may request a check by December 25, 1970, or they may leave the money in a research and promotion fund for wheat. Wheat producers who earned an export certificate of less than $3.00 will not be notified, but may request payment and a check will be issued. All unclaimed drafts will be returned to the Data Processing Center, Kansas City on December 11, 1970.

The newly formed National Wheat Institute was founded by the National Association of Wheat Growers, The National Grange, The National Farmers Organization, The National Farmers Union, and The U. S. Durum Growers Association and approved by Congress in September, 1970. The law gives wheat growers the option of receiving the export certificate, or leaving it in the pool to be used for promotion and research. Funds not claimed by December 25, 1970, will automatically go to the National Wheat Institute for programs designed to expand domestic and foreign markets and increase utilization of U. S. wheat. One of the wheat industry's major problems is the declining per capita consumption which has been steadily downward for the last 30 years.

Wool Producers Must Have Sales Documents

Wool producers must have sales documents for shorn wool and unshorn lambs in order to earn incentive payments for 1970 marketings, according to Roy R. Glenn, Vice Chairman of the Latah Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

Sales of both wool and unshorn lambs may be included in a single application for incentive earnings.

Mr. Glenn emphasized that purchases of all unshorn lambs must be reported when application is filed for wool incentive payment. Lambs purchased in ewe-lamb pairs must be included.

An important eligibility requirement is 30-day ownership. Producers must own for at least 30 days unshorn lambs on which they apply for payment.

Mr. Glenn said lamb feeders and others who trade in sheep or lambs should keep records which clearly establish compliance with the 30-day ownership requirement if they plan to apply for payments under the wool program.

Application for wool incentive payments may be made by producers at their County ASCS Office as soon as their sales are completed. Wool delivery expenses, as well as any other marketing expenses, not shown in the Sales documents should be reported at the time application is made for incentive payments.

Applications covering 1970 marketings have been filed by 18 Latah producers to date. The ASCS Committee Vice Chairman estimated an additional 22 producers will file by the time 1970 marketings are completed.

Under the National Wool Act all producers who market wool and mohair in 1970 are eligible for incentive payments. Shorn wool payments to a producer are equal to a percentage of his returns from sales. The percentage is that required to raise the national average price received for shorn wool by all producers up to 72 cents a pound. Mohair payments are determined in a similar manner, with the national incentive price set at 80.2 cents a pound.

Applications covering 1970 marketings have been filed by 18 Latah producers to date. The ASCS Committee Vice Chairman estimated an additional 22 producers will file by the time 1970 marketings are completed.

Cattle Sale Outlook Is Brighter

The world market for U. S. beef cattle took a large step toward the brighter side for this week with the announcement of the sale of 2,300 head of Polled Hereford cattle to be shipped by air to the Magallanes Province on the southern tip of Chile.

The announcement came from Orville Sweet, executive secretary of the American Polled Hereford Association in Kansas City.

The purchase amounting to more than a million dollars, was made by the Chilean Ministry of Agriculture, and the cattle will be a part of a continuing program for the development of a beef cattle industry in the south of Chile that is being directed by "Corfo" "Corporacion de Fomento de la Produccion" an industrial development department of the Chilean Government. Under the same program, more than 10,000 U. S. Polled Herefords have been sold to Chile in the past three years.

The American Polled Hereford Association has been named to handle procurement of the cattle, and representatives of the APHA are now traveling in several states with "Corfo" officials locating and purchasing commercial Polled Hereford heifers.

Target date for the first shipment of cattle is November 20, and the port of embarkation is, again this year, scheduled to be Shephard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls, Texas. Livestock World Airlift, a division of Trans International Airlines has been named as the carrier, and the mode of transportation will be a Super DC-8 Stretchedjet as it was on last year's shipments of more than 3,000 head. Shephard AFB was named as the point of departure because of its 13,500 foot runways, the longest in the south.

Home Cookin'

Our recipes for this week were sent in by Mrs. Lowell (Nancy) Messley, former Genesee resident now living in Clarkston. Nancy gave us recipes once before and they received many compliments, so we know these will too. These are the last of our recipes. Remember it's your contributions that keep the column going.

TURKEY CASSEROLE
 2 cups cooked rice
 1 tsp. chopped pimiento
 1 green pepper, chopped
 1 large onion, thinly sliced
 2 cups cooked turkey or chicken
 2 cans mushroom soup
 1 cup water
 ¼ cup slivered almonds
 Spread rice evenly over bottom of greased casserole. Toss together, pimiento, green pepper, and onion. Sprinkle turkey over vegetables. Mix soup with water and pour over all. Top with almonds. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Serves 8.

WAFFLE COOKIES
 ½ cup butter or margarine and 2 squares chocolate. Melt and save. Beat together well:
 2 eggs
 ¾ cup sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Add 1 cup flour and the chocolate. Add nuts if desired. Drop by Tbsp. on each section of waffle iron. Bake 1 minute. Frost with powdered sugar icing while warm. (Use medium heat for baking). Yield: 2½ dozen.

Steelhead Count Up
 Steelhead counts over Lower Monumental Dam show that more ocean-going rainbow trout are in Idaho waters this year than last. The comparative figures, as of Nov. 2, are 51,988 steelies counted since July 1, the beginning of the current fish year; 50,887 last year. Better passage conditions this year brought more fish to Idaho, even though the 1970 Bonneville Dam steelhead count in the lower Columbia is currently 113,356 fish, compared with 140,271 last year.

Another indication that more steelhead are in Idaho waters is that fall fishing has been exceptionally good. For example, the best fishing in the lower Salmon River between Riggin and Whitebird averaged 5-5 1/2 hours per steelhead. Since October 17, 388 steelhead anglers were checked with 150 fish. Fishing also has been good in the main Salmon River below North Fork, and in the Snake and Clearwater rivers.

University Receives Grant To Study Steelhead
MOSCOW—A $42,000 research grant has been awarded to the Idaho Cooperative Fishery Unit at the University of Idaho by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries and Wildlife to study the effects of low and high temperatures on the physiological behavior of juvenile steelhead trout in the Snake and Columbia river systems.
According to Dr. Donald W. Chapman, leader of the Idaho Cooperative Fishery Unit, temperature changes in the rivers increase each year due to thermal power plants and high dams. The coming use of nuclear power plants will raise the temperature of the waters even more than at present.
A portion of the research will examine the effects of temperature fluctuation on steelhead hibernation. Chapman said that if nitrogen supersaturation continues to be a problem in the Snake River during spring floods, resource managers may encourage an early end to fish hibernation by releasing warmer water from Hells Canyon and Dworshak dams, enabling fish to move into collection facilities now being installed in turbine entrances on Snake River dams.
The steelhead would then be transported to the lower Columbia River, preventing high mortality rates at downriver sites, he said.

Julietta School Invites Public To Join In Observing Veterans Day

We the students, faculty and staff of the Julietta Elementary School would like to invite all of you to join us as we salute those who served in war to keep our country free.

Wednesday, November 11 is Veteran's Day across the land, when we, the people, pause to honor the living who served in uniform and bow in prayer for those who gave their all for our country.

As true Americans take part in the tribute we at the elementary school are paying to the defenders of our homes and families. This is a sober and sacred day when the honor we pay expresses a feeling deep in our hearts... a day on which we dedicate ourselves to "Peace With Honor."

Humbly yours,
Students, Faculty,
and Staff
Julietta Elem. School

Poems From Grade Students

The following are three poems written by students at Julietta Elementary School. We are pleased the school shared them with us so that we may, in turn, share them with our readers.

My Definition of Thanksgiving

By Amelia Ware
The reason for Thanksgiving, is to give thanks to God that we're living.
We also thank God for our food.
On that day everyone is in a happy mood.
The pie pans are made out of tin.
On that day we pray to God to forgive our sins.
On Thanksgiving the wind is usually blowing,
Or else it is white and snowing.
The men wear ties,
The women wear hair bows,
Also the women bake pies
While Grandmother sews.
There is turkey and dressing,
The children play a game called guessing.
There are cranberries
And bamberries.
For all this we should give thanks
To God and also for being free.
That's what Thanksgiving means
To me.

SECOND GRADE POEMS

When school is out,
Here comes the bus.
We climb aboard,
All of us.
—Darren Clemenhagen

I had a cat
His name was Pat.
Its fur was black and white,
And it never did bite.
—Gina Whittinger

Sessions Recommended

Boise — Rep. John Sessions, R., Driggs, Idaho, has been recommended by the Idaho Traffic Safety Commission for consideration of appointment to the National Highway Safety Advisory Committee to the Department of Transportation. The commission recommended that Gov. Don Samuelson submit Sessions name to Idaho Sen. Len E. Jordan for appointment consideration.

Sessions is chairman of the House Transportation and Defense committee and a member of the traffic safety commission.

It was pointed out there are no advisory committee members from the Northwest.
