

Flo Holt Becomes Bride of Clem Lyons Sept. 10

September 10th, at 7:30 p. m., in the United Methodist Church at Kendrick, Flo Holt and Clem Lyons were married in the presence of immediate family, with Rev. Theo Meske officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a street length dress of beige double knit crepe, with amber jewelry accessories. She carried a cascade of green orchids. Her son, Howard Holt, escorted her to the altar where wedding vows were exchanged.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Dale Stuart, was her mother's only attendant. She wore a moss green knit dress and carried a nosegay of bronze and yellow mums.

Candle lighters were Lisa Stuart and Dorothy Lyons. Organ music was furnished by Lisa Lyons. She also sang "Always" and "Till the End of Time", accompanied by Mrs. George Lyons on the piano.

George Lyons was his brother's best man. Mitchell Stuart served as ring bearer. Ushers were Dale Stuart and Danny Fey.

Carmen Stuart presided at the guest book.

At the reception, held in the church parlor, the bride and groom cut the traditional first piece of cake. The beautifully decorated three-tiered cake was then served by Mrs. Geo. Lyons, who had baked and decorated it. Mrs. Kathryn Morey assisted. Mrs. Howard Holt and Mrs. Dan Lyons poured punch and coffee. Mrs. Dan Fey presided at the gift table.

After the bride and groom had opened and displayed the beautiful gifts, the newlyweds were showered with rice and good wishes as they left on a wedding trip through parts of Montana.

Both Clem and Flo are life-long residents of the area and active in several community organizations. He is engaged in farming and stock raising with his brother.

In a setting of lovely roses, a gift from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ferryman of Cedar Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Allen greeted their many friends of whom ninety-four signed the guest book.

A delicious wedding cake decorated in the traditional white and silver by their granddaughter, Mrs. Clarence Alexander, was served to the guests.

Present for the occasion were all six of Mrs. Allen's children; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Garner, Elk City; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Garner, Salt Lake City; Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Garner, Grangeville; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer (Theima) Cuddy, Mr. and Mrs. Marion (Eileen) Souder, both of Southwick and Mr. and Mrs. Art (Maxine) Foster.

Genesee Union Has New Variety of Barley

Genesee-Genesee Union Warehouse revealed this week they have seed for the new feed barley "Kamalak", recently developed at U. S. Experimental Stations in Washington. This is a 6-row winter barley which was developed to replace Hudson barley, particularly in areas where winter hardiness is needed, said Dr. Neilson of the WSU Agricultural Center.

Hudson is now the most winter hardy barley, but does not yield as well as Luther. Tests have shown that Kamalak will yield about 10 percent higher than Hudson and should perform well with less lodging in areas of lower rain fall. Dr. Neilson said tests show no disease in the new variety which has a slightly larger kernel with a shorter, stiffer straw.

Foundation seed is available to growers in Northern Idaho through the North Idaho Foundation Seed Association.

Genesee Council Hears Variety of Topics

A variety of topics were discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Genesee City Council held Monday evening, October 4, in the city room of the Fire Hall. All members of the council were present at the meeting presided over by Mayor Dick Scharnhorst.

Jay Nelson, a member of the Latah County Planning Commission, was present and introduced Richard Rice and James Armitage of Moscow. Armitage is the director of the Latah County Planning Commission. All discussed the problems relating to Genesee, the county and the solid waste disposal situation which has become a matter of concern, and debate, for the past several months in the county.

LeRoy Harris and Duane Roach were present and recommended the burning of weeds and grass on Cow Creek near the bridge. The council concurred in this matter.

Officials for the forthcoming municipal election were appointed by the council. They are: Judge, Miriam Vandenburg; clerks, Amy Brown, Cleo Edwards, Janet Wishard and Hazel Schouler; constable, David G. Kuehl.

A building permit was granted to John Nail for an addition to his house.

Bids were open for tires for the city tractor. There were two bids: Genesee Service Station, $210.90 and Terry's Service Center, $237.50. The bid of Genesee Service Station was accepted by the council.

Certification of the tax levy for the year 1972 was approved at 47 6213 mills. The levy for the previous year was 46.8738.

Public Meeting Due

The city clerk was directed to publish notices of the public meeting to be held Monday, Nov. 8 concerning the proposed ordinance establishing regulations on mobile homes and trailer parks within the city. The final draft of this ordinance was approved by the council for submission to the city's attorney who is reviewing it for legality, wording, clarity and compliance with certain standards set forth by the state. It has not been adopted into the city code. This cannot be done, and has not been done by the council, until a public hearing is held to give all interested citizens an opportunity to hear the ordinance explained and voice their opinions on any or all parts of the proposed regulation. This meeting will give the public a chance to express opinions and also give the council an opportunity to hear objections, should there be any, so changes might be considered.

The council moved to charge the school and the Food Center Thrift Store a flat rate of $10 per month for garbage disposal.

The application of Bill Robinson and Ben Wight for the Genesee Community Firemen, Inc., was approved.

KHS Tigers Bomb Troy Trojans 40-0

Heading for their best football season in several years the Kendrick Tigers spoiled part of the Troy High School Homecoming festivities last Friday night as they swamped the Trojans 40-0 with a display of strong offense and rugged, unyielding defense. The win moved the Tigers into third place in the White Pine Football League with a 3-1 record. The Tigers are 4-1 for the season to date.

The Tigers built up a 24-0 half-time lead and then scored another touchdown in each of the two remaining quarters of play.

Eddie Osborn, quarterback for the Tigers scored three touchdowns and passed for another as he paced the offensive effort of the home team. Eddie scored on runs of three yards and one of eight for his three TD's and then passed to Dave Wilken in a pass play covering 26 yards for the final score of the game.

Strong Dave Hutcheson scored on a 13-yard run in the second quarter. Dale Taylor made four two-point conversions and Hutcheson got the other. Hutcheson was the leading ground gainer for the Tigers with 155 yards; Taylor had 104 and Osborn hit for 92. Kendrick compiled a total of 420 yards rushing and passing.

The determination of the Kendrick defense could be seen by the fact that Troy was able to penetrate the Kendrick 30-yard line only once as the home team dominated the game, running 74 plays to 33 for the Troy squad.

Coach Dust had high praise for the defensive work of Kim Trout, Bob Land, Roger Candler and Ken Roaden.

Julietta School Auction Sale Is November 12

Please keep in mind the Juliaetta Elementary School Auction Sale on November 12 and save those items you don't use that someone else will be interested in buying.

Second Grade Topics—

Friday we enjoyed the movie in the gymnasium.

Monday we visited our local post office. Mr. Helmgartner explained it to us. This week will draw to a close our unit of study about our community, Juliaetta. We made a map of Juliaetta on a table using milk cartons for the buildings.

We were sorry to see Doris Cleveland move away.

Monday Mitch Cuddy treated the class to candy bars in honor of his eighth birthday anniversary.

Third Grade News Slow—

The Third grade instructor and the First grade instructor state they have not been doing anything worth mentioning this week and will try to be more constructive this coming week.

We were all sorry to have Tie Rossett leave the third grade class. She will be entering school at Fairfield, Washington where her parents have purchased a new business. We all wish her and her family the best of luck.

Fourth Grade Gleanings

We were sorry to lose one of our classmates, Joe Cleveland, who has moved.

We enjoyed the Tyrolenne music and dancing at the National Assembly. Three young men from Austria were the able performers.

In art the class made paper mosaic pictures of fall flowers.

The class is looking forward to two days vacation while the teachers are at the Teacher's Conferences in either Boise or Coeur d'Alene.

Fifth Grade Topics—

Two students in the Fifth Grade have recently moved. They are Tony Rossetti and Larry Cleveland.

The student officers of the Fifth grade chosen for the first term are: President, Mike Courtwright; vice president, Douglas Parks; Secretary, Jeff Lohman and Librarian, Cindy Bennett.

Especially exciting to the class is a paper mache pig the students are making in art. Some of the students were less enthusiastic about mid-term reports sent home last Friday. However they are now anxiously awaiting the long four-day weekend coming up.

Sixth Grade Happenings—

There was lots of activity and excitement last Friday as Gary Brammer broke his leg while playing soccer. The ambulance was called from Kendrick and Daren Manfull accompanied Gary in the ambulance to Troy. Gary's folks met the ambulance at Troy. Dr. Drury, at Troy, sent Gary then to a bone specialist in Lewiston to make sure the leg was set properly. Gary spent the night in the hospital. We were glad to see him back in school Tuesday afternoon for a trial run.

School Trustees, Parents, Church Approve Kindergarten; Classes To Begin October 18

Joint School District Trustees, 30 interested parents and members of the Kendrick Methodist Church Board met at the Kendrick High School and Methodist Church on Monday evening to resolve a number of problems confronting the establishing of a kindergarten for the current school year.

More than 22 parents of prospective five year olds, eligible for the first grade next September, voted unanimously for kindergarten services under the State of Idaho Public Employment Program and State Dept. of Education Guidelines.

While parents were meeting with the Trustees and Superintendent, members of the Kendrick Methodist Church Board convened and also voted 100 percent in favor of the kindergarten being held in the church. They set up committees to work with the superintendent and trustees regarding usage of the building.

Following the meetings of parents and church board members, the trustees met in a special session and voted to establish a kindergarten for the 1971-72 school year.

Connie Lee Benson of Moscow was offered a contract as teacher and has indicated she will accept.

Mrs. Benson's credentials reveal that she received a B. S. degree from the University of Idaho in 1970. Her major field is in elementary education. She did her student teaching at McSorley Elementary School in Lewiston and has experience as a first and second grade teacher. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, International Order of Rainbow Girls, made the Deans list in 1967-69. She has had experience and can direct school newspaper and annual publications, square and folk dancing plus music oriented programs.

The kindergarten classes will begin Monday, October 18. In the meantime considerable planning and organization must be done by both the teacher and superintendent.

Parents will be advised of detailed information regarding class schedules, physicals, registration, etc., by letter next week.

The superintendent pointed out that another meeting of all parents may be necessary before the 18th. He also stated that the complete teacher's salary is paid by the Federal government and that the whole program operates outside the Foundation program and the 1971-72 district budget. Parents will be called upon to aid in matters of supplies and equipment on a voluntary basis. The district budget is too meager to supplement any additional programs.

City Elections Nov. 2; Petitions Are Filed

Residents of Genesee, Kendrick and Juliaetta will go to the polls Tuesday, November 2 to elect city officials for their councils. Petitions of candidacy have already been filed in all three cities as citizens seek positions on the ballot for the elections.

In Kendrick, both incumbent councilmen are seeking re-election. John Deobald and Wayne Harris, now on the council, have filed petitions indicating their intentions to stand for re-election to another four-year term. Mayor Robert Watts said Tuesday morning that these are the only petitions now out in Kendrick.

In Genesee, three petitions are currently out for persons seeking the two council seats which will be voted on November 2. The terms of Jack Magee and John Myers will expire December 31. Magee will not be a candidate again, but Myers has indicated he will seek another four-year term. Petitions have also been filed by Larry Sorensen, a retired Soil Conservation Technician and Leonard Singhose, manager of the Asgrow Seed Company's Genesee Branch.

Julietta voters will be asked to elect a mayor and two councilmen. Incumbent mayor Gilbert Sproul has declined to seek another term and filing for his office are Dick Groseclose, presently on the council; Harold Freeman, and Mike Rishling.

Councilmen Jack Brown and Ted Groseclose will have their terms expire at the end of this year. Brown will not seek re-election but Groseclose have filed his nominating petition. Other petitions out are those of Fred Clemenhagen and Douglas Johns.

Residents have until Saturday evening, October 30 to register with their respective registrars, to be eligible to vote in the Nov. 2 election, if they did not vote in the previous city election.

Genesee Rimrock, Good Roads, Kendrick Hgwy Districts Are One Unit

Under the terms of a re-organization of Highway Districts in Latah County, Genesee-Rimrock Highway District, Kendrick Highway District and Good Roads District No. 3 have been approved for consolidation into one unit—the South Latah District. It was announced by the County Commissioners this week.

The remaining six districts, Moscow, Troy, District No. 3, District No. 4, Potlatch and Princeton-Harvard—have been combined into the North Latah Highway District.

However, before the redistricting takes effect, Nez Perce County Commissioners must approve the plans since part of the Genesee-Rimrock district extends into Nez Perce County.

The reorganization calls for three highway commissioners to be named from each of the two new districts. Boundaries have been set within each district, and one commissioner is to be selected from each of these sub-districts.

Until election time, appointments to the new highway districts will be made by the governor.

Golden Rule Items

Alma Betts

Mr. and Mrs. George Finke were Orofino and Lewiston visitors on Monday. They were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Wilson. Agatha Ferkins came home from the hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery. Cella Ferkins of Seattle left on Tuesday for her home, after a visit here with the Albert Lawrence family. Those helping Alma Betts celebrate her birthday anniversary on Wednesday were Mrs. Don Christensen, her daughter, and Mrs. Roy Lacey and two daughters of Pierce; Mrs. Ray King, Mrs. Claud King, Georgia Reece, the Albert Lawrence family; Mr. and Mrs. George Finke, Altha Rathbone, Daisy Stage, Martha Wilken, Ida Wendt, Mrs. Kenneth Wilken, all Kendrick; Mrs. Emil Beyer, Mrs. Bud Adamson and daughter Mrs. Tom Marek of Lewiston. Thanks to all you good people.

Sandi Nelson of Kallispell, Mont., visited her grandmother, Daisy Stage, Tuesday.

Mrs. George Finke and Mrs. Elmer Souder are spending most of their spare time with their mother, Mrs. Chas. Baack, who is not too well.

We hear the report that James Kohnke had the good fortune to get a good well — but had to drill a bit deeper than expected.

Mrs. Bud Adamson was a Lewiston visitor on Saturday. Their

WILDLIFE HABITAT CONTINUES DOWNWARD TREND

Wildlife continues to struggle for life on a man-polluted earth, reported the National Wildlife Federation recently, pointing out that habitat loss is the number one threat, followed closely by the chemical pollution of air, water, and land.

Across the nation last year, another million acres of land was eliminated from wildlife habitat and another million will be bulldozed in 1971.

The federation reported that the list of endangered species now stands at 101. New York has put its official state bird, the bluebird, on the "most rare" list. Louisiana's state bird, the brown pelican, has had to be restocked.

Birds of prey are in most serious trouble. Hawks, eagles and ospreys are declining at rates as high as 20 percent a year. Researchers say that DDT is destroying egg quality. Indiscriminate poisoning by untrained persons kills coyotes and other predatory animals plus many nonpredators, since poisons are not selective. Needed controls should be carried out by trained persons in scientific programs.

As milestones the federation listed action by the U. S. to save the world's whales by ordering an end to commercial whaling; uncovering a mercury disaster in fish with the U. S. government filing suits against major mercury producers, and pointing to the population of whooping cranes at a new high of 57. The low was 15 several years ago.

RESOURCES OVER ONE BILLION DOLLARS

$3.01 an acre buys you more wheat.

You spend a lot of time and money to work the soil, plant and fertilize the wheat, and maintain your equipment. You get a good year with near perfect weather for good growth. In fact, everything is right.

Except your herbicide.

So your fields end up looking like our picture: filled with too many weeds and not enough wheat. When all along you could be using a more effective, more selective, more profitable herbicide.

Like Buctril.

Buctril is more effective because it kills a broader range of broadleaf weeds. Including the six specific weeds that are the biggest problem for wheat farmers here in the Northwest. Which means you kill Tarweed and Gromwell and Henbit and Dogfennel and Crowfoot. What's more, you don't leave Purple Mustard or any of the mustard family around to rob your wheat of moisture and nutrients like one leading herbicide does.

Buctril is more selective because it doesn't get rid of the wheat while it's getting rid of the weeds. It won't damage the crops or carry over in the soil like another leading herbicide.

Which is what makes Buctril more profitable. Because it brings you a higher yield. A better grade. And more money. It's as simple as that.

All you do is apply Buctril post-emergence. The earlier the better after your crop has reached the 3-leaf stage. Then sit back and watch the wheat grow. Nice and healthy. Weed free.

What it adds up to is this: You only pay $3.01 an acre for Buctril. To get rid of all the broadleaf weeds. To be kind to all the wheat. To bring in a better grade. And to get up to 12 to 20 bushels more per acre. Which is a pretty good investment for the right herbicide.

Just as our Bronate is the perfect herbicide for winter and spring, Buctril is the perfect one for fall. Because there is no herbicide for fall use that is so effective and selective yet so inexpensive.

Buctril.
We want to help you sell more wheat.

Dr. A. J. (Jim) Ofstad, arrived Friday from Seattle to visit his grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Burr and left Sunday afternoon enroute to Billings, Montana where he has accepted a position with the Indian Service, and will be traveling over the northern part of Montana in his work. Dr. Ofstad graduated last May from the School of Optometry at Forest Grove, Oregon.

Roger Broemeling, Sr. of Clarkston, former Genesee resident, had major surgery Monday at St. Joseph's hospital. His son, Lawrence visited him Monday evening and reported he was improving satisfactorily. In the same room with Mr. Broemeling was Ed Carlson, another former Genesee resident, who had undergone major surgery last week and was improving satisfactorily. He will be discharged from the hospital this week. Quite a coincidence for two of Genesee's ex-mail carriers to share the same hospital room.

Mrs. Elsie Grieser returned Wednesday from Gritman hospital following the birth of her son, Steven Joel on Sept. 28. It was necessary to keep the baby in an incubator for a few days. Pastor Oswald reported Tuesday morning that his son was responding to treatment and showing improvement.

A MORNING PRAYER

Help us to find a cross, Dear God Here at this re-born day; On which to nail the things of life That we should throw away.

Teach us that apple-blossom-lands Will burgeon with the spring; There will be sunshine on old fields Keep us remembering.

Help us to take the road He took, The road that leads away; To better, brighter, bigger things That we will know some day.

Bring buds of promise back to bloom To prove with every spring, How faith that found an empty tomb Can conquer anything.

Two workmen sat down to eat their lunches. One began to unwrap a package that was about 18 inches long. "What's that?" asked the other. "My wife's away," he replied, "so I baked myself a pie."

"A bit long, isn't it?" asked the friend. "Long? Sure it's long. It's rhubarb pie!"

The customer, returning a monthly payment card with his check, was scrupulously careful about following the admonition not to fold, staple or mutilate the card.

Because the card contained the misspelling of his name, he included the following note:

"Dear Computer: Once again you have misspelled my name. Please make a correction at once. If this matter is not taken care of, I shall have no choice but to bend your card."

Hunting Has Saved Idaho Game Says Fish and Game Dept.

By E. Kliest Brown

One of the finest things that can happen to a wild animal or bird is to have it classified as game. Seemingly contradictory, this statement can be supported with facts and figures of almost endless variety, and it should be. It is about time that the American hunter be given the credit for the simple fact that most of our game would not even be present in the wild state without him. Let us look at the record.

In about 50 years, hunters in the nation have put up 2.2 billion dollars for game development and conservation, according to Daniel A. Poole, president of the Wildlife Management Institute. This breaks down to 1.6 billion from state hunting licenses, 439 million from the Federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and 117 million from Federal Duck Stamps. That is a lot of dough earmarked for one specific purpose—the restoration, protection and management of all wildlife resources in the United States. It is doubtful if all the newcomers in the ecology field put together will contribute as much in the next 100 years.

We need to look at the record a little closer. Just what have these billions of dollars done to perpetuate our game? What about the results of some $100,000,000 contributed by Idaho sportsmen since the turn of the century?

Take elk. Idaho is famous for its population of this fine game animal, and leads the other states about three out of every four years in hunter harvest. In 1926, the biennial report of the fish and game department listed a kill of 35 elk. That same year the estimate on deer harvest was 5,000. Last year the calculated harvests from the Idaho hunter harvest survey were 14,533 elk and 83,125 deer.

This same kind of success story could be recited for many other species of games. Hunters' dollars bought the protection and management for the antelope, moose, bighorn sheep and mountain goats, which for years were at such a low level that they could not even be hunted. Today they are enjoyed by many and the end is nowhere in sight. Sure, market hunting and other unrestricted harvest of game was a factor in the early days. Not so big as was the loss of the habitat, the environment but nonetheless, an important cause for game declines then and more so now.

More important was the fact that hunters themselves reversed the whole trend and literally saved America's wild life. They saw to it that laws were passed for the protection of wildlife, they asked for got license fees set up by state legislatures earmarked for the restoration and management of game, and finally they voted in a commission form of fish and game government to lend stability to wildlife conservation programs.

Examples of what hunters have provided are all around us in Idaho. Their dollars put elk back onto Idaho ranges following the dangerously low point of the 1920's. They underwrote the restoration of bighorn sheep to their former ranges in the Owyhee mountains and on Mount Borah, and hunters' dollars re-established mountain goats in the Seven Devils mountains. There are many more examples of this type.

Another group of pluses for hunters and their dollars centers around the actual purchase of specific segments of wildlife habitat, setting it aside for all time so that particular species of game can be protected, managed and enjoyed. Take Market Lake wildlife management area. Here was the ancestral home for migratory waterfowl and several other kinds of wildlife, rapidly disappearing because of the drainage of marshes and cultivation of land. Now it will harbor and raise mallards, pintails, antelope, Canada geese, song birds, rabbits and many others, all because of hunters who are not afraid to put their money where their mouth is.

The wildlife management area list goes on, such as the Boundary County management area enclosing MacArthur Lake, a prime piece of wildlife habitat; Killarney Lake near Coeur d'Alene, harboring many species of geese, ducks and other birds; the Fort Boise wildlife management area; the Boise Front Winter Range for deer and the sprawling Sand Creek wildlife range near St. Anthony, the home of hundreds of elk, moose, antelope, deer, birds and small species of wildlife.

What about our highly valued exotics such as pheasants, chukars, Hungarian partridges and, more recently, the wild turkey? Don't we take them for granted? They, too, were put there by the hunters and sportsmen of Idaho directly or indirectly through their state fish and game department.

Ecology handwagon riders and preservationist groups are to be commended for focusing attention on the need to protect our environment, our living quarters, if you will, but let us not sit back and allow our sportsmen hunters to be blamed for the extermination of wild life. The facts are a direct opposite, and if it had not been for the 17 million American hunters who "stuck by their guns" for the cause of wildlife conservation over the past years, many species of wildlife would long since have disappeared. It's even more than a case of having your cake and eating it too, it really is eating it or not having it at all.

While we're giving the credit to the American and Idaho hunter, let's not forget the sportsmen's organizations that have helped maintain the threads on continuity over the years. Kudos and due the Idaho Wildlife Federation and its parent group, the National Wildlife Federation, organizations like the Idaho Outdoor Association and individual sportsman clubs. Really, these old-line organized sportsmen's clubs, with the support of hunters everywhere, have done much more to save our wildlife than all the Johnnie-come-lately groups combined.

Associate editor Ken Warner, of the American Rifleman magazine, points out that 200 million people are now using 3 million square miles of America, a virgin wilderness 300 years ago, and devouring its resources in large gulps. He says that a lot of these people are hunters who can still find game, because sport hunting is an adjustable harvesting tool that can be manipulated by the game management professional to insure the future of wildlife.

CHILDREN, ADULTS AND WARTS

Infection in warts is not common, according to the Idaho Medical Association at Boise. When infection does occur, it is usually the result of the patient "picking" at the wart or accidentally injuring it. Most warts in children will disappear spontaneously as the virus that causes them gradually is eliminated, unless they live in areas where they are constantly irritated. In such situations they are usually large, hard, and unsightly, and it is justifiable to remove them. Most dermatologists, physicians specializing in the treatment of skin disorders prefer some types of electric coagulation, as the destruction of the wart tissues can be controlled more effectively than with methods employing chemicals, such as acids.

WATCH THOSE SPRAYS

Boise — Some nasal decongestant sprays or drops may perpetuate the condition they are used to help, according to the Idaho Medical Association.

Studies have indicated that the use of such medication immediately corrects nasal congestion. However, this is followed by dilation and swelling greater than before the decongestant was used.

The sufferer then resorts to the drops or sprays again. With each cycle the congestion increases. In other, than very short term use, the sufferer would be wise to consult his family physician.

OCTOBER

October's Indian-Summer Days are singing; Tramping knee-deep in autumn's wasted gold; Into my lonely life again there bringing, A fortitude to stem impending cold

Caught in the maelstrom of autumnal-madness; The cause of which I do not understand; My heart goes singing on through gates of gladness; As this month marches in to take command. —Bert Gamble
