

Denise Brammer Competing In Jr. Miss Pageant At Moscow This Week

Denise Brammer is representing the Kendrick community in the annual Idaho Junior Miss competition held through out this week at Moscow.

Miss Brammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Brammer, was selected as Kendrick Junior Miss of 1971, in a local pageant held last spring in conjunction with the annual Locust Blossom celebration.

The earlier part of the week will be spent getting acquainted with the many other candidates from throughout Idaho and preparing for performances to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the Moscow Junior High Field House.

Saturday, January 15, the search for Idaho's ideal high school senior will be culminated with the crowning of Idaho's Junior Miss for 1972.

While attending the pageant, Denise is a guest in the Robert Van Wagoner home.

High Winds Battered Region Blocking Highways and Forcing School Closures

Lashing winds, reaching velocities in excess of fifty and sixty miles per hour raked the region this week, causing property damage to roofs, patios, trees, etc. and whipping the snow into blizzard proportions that drifted across highways and closed schools in almost all districts of North Idaho.

Most local residents, even the "old timers" were almost in complete agreement that they had never seen such strong winds as have swept across the area this week. The winds began picking up speed Saturday morning and snow was being whipped along by the gusty wind. A warming trend developed over night and the fact that much of the snow got too wet to drift helped keep the roads open.

After a fairly clear Sunday, the skies clouded and snow pushed by the wind, starting falling. The snow did not become too deep, but it really wasn't necessary as the powerful winds piled the snow into drifts exceeding three feet in some areas. The swirling snow was also a hazard in that while the winds were gusting visibility was limited to a matter of a few feet.

Drifted snow on the country roads forced schools to close in both Genesee and the Kendrick area. The winds continued to batter at the area and schools could still not resume Tuesday. There was little or no snow Tuesday, but the wind reached its peak on that day with the Lewiston airport reporting that the wind down there reached speeds of 72 miles per hour.

Trees were uprooted in Genesee and in the higher elevations, signs were torn down, window broken, roofs damaged and other havoc reported in the wake of the storm.

Radio Stations Will Tell If Schools Are Closed

We would like once more to encourage all parents to please listen to their radios in the mornings when they have any doubts as to whether there will be school or not. This includes the parents that live in the valley, as it can be a very nice day here and the winds will have closed off the roads on top of the ridges. We are in hopes that the weather will settle down and another school cancellation will not be necessary.

Freshman Basketball

The KHS freshman basketball team will travel to Prairie tonight, Wednesday, January 12, weather permitting.

The Freshman team is now 1-1 on the season after losing by a score of 46-24 to Genesee last week. Mike Silflow topped the team's scoring effort with a 10-point performance.

The kids deserve a lot of praise for their determined effort and not giving up when everything seemed to just not quite work out no matter how hard they tried. Win, lose or draw these boys are good sports and real gentlemen.

Genesee has a well-disciplined and a well coached team. They played a very good game. We are determined to give them a much better game in the return match.

It is my policy as Freshman coach that there will be no practice or games played when school is closed due to weather conditions.

Dough Nut League Action

The best game of the day was played between the Purple Panthers and the Red Devils. There was never over 3 points difference during the contest which was won in the last 15 seconds on a basket by Bret Gertje. Both teams had well balanced scoring with Bret Gertje, Chip Farrell and David Heppner all scoring four points each. The Red Devils were led by high scoring Darren Clemenhagen who poured in six points on a variety of shot. He was followed closely in the scoring column by Donald Brown and Tom Perkins who scored four and 3 points respectively.

The Orange Orangutans continued their winning ways by defeating the Green Gobblins 27-17. The Gobblins were led by a 9-point effort from Doug Parks. He received help from Ricky Glenn who scored 6 points and did a fine job on defense and rebounding. The Orangutangs high scorer was Scott Lohman with 8 points. Duane Howerton chipped in 6 points in their behalf.

The Golden Globetrotters had a well balanced attack with Terry Hudson, Tony Snyder and Scott Manfull hitting 6 points each while Rex Snyder hit for 4 points and Jimmy Brocke and Daren Manfull helped control the boards. Ted Powers and Grady Shawar also turned in a fine floor performance on defense. This led the Globetrotters to a 26-12 win over the scrapping White Knights team that never gives up. Steve Gustafson and Clifford Helmgartner hit for 4 points each as Jeffery Parker got 2 points. David Williams and Bobby Bain chipped in 1 point apiece for their total of 12. The team played a determined floor game but had trouble hitting the basket.

Fifth Grade Topics—

In a free throw shooting contest with treats for the winners the 5th Grade girls defeated the 5th grade boys 20-17. The girl's treats will be purchased with money from the Juliaetta account earned from magazine and auction sales. The 4th and 6th grade girls also defeated the boys in their respective classes by scores of 27-17 and 30-22.

We have been studying states and capitals in social studies. In English we are memorizing the 8 parts of speech and their definitions along with types of sentences, parts of sentences and sentence patterns.

Sixth Grade Items—

The Sixth Grade class is studying in language on all the different parts of speech—they are going to have a test on it.

In P. E. we are shooting free throws and lay-ins. Last Friday the sixth grade girls beat the sixth grade boys 22-30 in shooting free throws.

Later we are going to have a contest shooting lay-in shot.

Art for the sixth grade was drawing a picture of something unknown not discovered or made.

School Trustees To Meet January 17

Members of the Board of Trustees of Joint School District No. 283 will hold their meeting Tuesday afternoon, January 17, instead of at the regular time of January 13 because of the weather and also because Supt. Don Blakely has been called to Boise to discuss legislative and financial matters pertaining to Idaho schools.

Grange Meet Cancelled

The regular Grange meeting scheduled for Tuesday, January 4, was cancelled because of bad weather and extremely slick roads.

Kendrick Town Team Tops Troy Squad Sunday

The K-J Merchants played their first game of the season Sunday evening defeating Bendels Meats of Troy by a score of 116-74. Max Clemenhagen came out of retirement to coach and spark the team to their win by his floor play, defense and three for 5 shooting performance. This provided the inspiration for the other team members as Wayne Dusted led all scorers with 34 points followed by Darrell Manfull's 32 points and Bob Heppner's 23 points. Gail Vallem, Steve Branting and Dale Silflow are the other members of the team that not only contributed to the score but rebounded and made many assists to enable others to score.

The team will continue to play on Sunday evenings and will have posters announcing the games put up around town. If anyone knows of a team wishing to schedule a game please contact Darrell Manfull at school 276-3422 or at home 276-3201.

"His Land" To Be Presented January 14 At Juliaetta Church

The feature color film "His Land" produced by the Billy Graham organization World Wide Pictures will be presented at the Juliaetta Church of the Nazarene, Friday, January 14, at 7:30 p. m.

"His Land" takes you the length and breadth of Israel in the company of Cliff Richard and Cliff Barrows. Bibles in hand they relate today's events to the prophecies of scripture. Through the authentic sights and sounds of this one-hour feature film, we see that history is moving toward the climactic events that will end this age.

Cliff Richards, England's popular star will sing six Ralph Carmichael songs during the film.

Samuel Ediger, Northwest representative for World Wide Pictures, will be on hand with his professional equipment to show the film. No admission charge will be made. A free-will offering will be taken to cover the expenses. The public is invited to share this special treat.

News Items From Genesee Schools

Genesee—At its regular meeting January 10, the Genesee school board acted upon the following business. Hired Superintendent Diehl and Principal Davis for the coming school year. Decided if at all possible to start a driver education class this spring. This will depend a lot on how the legislature funds the program for the coming year. If the state will support at least 60 per cent of the cost the district will probably have the class. The board decided to call for bids on a new school bus for the coming year at its next regular meeting.

The board heard a report from Supt. Diehl on the State Superintendent's meeting held in December. The board also reviewed H. B. 249 as to the results it would have upon the district.

December bills were paid and the board adjourned.

Communication Important To Husband and Wife Relationship

A relationship between husband and wife depends, in part, on the quality of the communication between them points out Ruth Spidahl, extension home economics leader, U. of I. Poor communication may be a sign of marital problems and attempts to improve it may improve the marriage.

One of the blocks to good communication is assuming too much. Each person assumes that things will be done their way or each assumes he knows the other better than he really does.

A second block to good communication is failure to see how things look to the other person. "We have our expectations in a marriage, but we must recognize that the other person does, too. It's important to try and see how things look to the other," says Mrs. Spidahl.

You can improve communication by talking things over, which brings differences into the open. Then you can zero in on these differences and iron out your problems.

Listening to each other is important, Mrs. Spidahl emphasizes. Listening includes paying attention to words, feelings, tone of voice and body gestures. When you pay this total attention, you can grasp what the speaker is really trying to communicate.

FIRE CALL

Fifteen Genesee firemen braved icy roads and strong winds about 11:30 Saturday night to answer a call at the Carl Strom home southeast of town. Three trucks were dispatched to the scene. When firemen arrived at the Strom home they discovered sparks coming from wires rubbing together. No damage was reported.

Water Pipe Line Ditch Cave-In Claims Life of Marion Stevens Jan. 10

A stunned and saddened community is still shocked at the sudden, untimely death of Marion M. Stevens, 58, well-known and respected farmer who was killed at 11:30 a. m. Monday following the cave-in of 10-foot deep ditch in which he was piling rock around a water pipe in the bottom of the excavation.

The ditch was being dug four miles west of the Cherrylanes bridge.

His son, Lloyd Stevens, 25, and a neighbor, Lee Heath, dug away two feet of soil and mud to reach Stevens' head about 15 minutes after the cave-in occurred. They continued to dig down to Stevens' waist and administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, but their efforts failed, according to Deputy Sheriff Walt Heitmann.

The trio had been laying a water pipe from a spring to a reservoir on the Stevens farm two miles west of the Cherrylanes grade.

Heath and Lloyd Stevens had been handing rock down to Marion Stevens in the ditch when the slide occurred. Heath went to the Stevens farm home, a quarter of a mile away after the two had dug down to Stevens' waist. Neighbors aided in digging the body out of the ditch and the J-K ambulance from Kendrick took Stevens to St. Joseph's Hospital where he was pronounced dead by Nez Perce County Coroner Wilfred J. Duclose.

Wet December In This Area

January will go down in the record books as the month of big winds, but December will be remembered as one of the wettest periods in a number of years.

Chas. Bower, who maintains rainfall figures for the Soil Conservation Service up on Big Bear Ridge, reported that the December moisture total was 5.24 inches with 30 inches of solid snow in his area. This is a tremendous increase from the 1.86 inches in the same period in 1970.

The high December figure brings the 1971 total of 31.72 inches for the 12-month period. The fourteen year average on Big Bear Ridge is 23.65 inches. Bower said. Chas. also added that the record moisture for December came in 1968 with 5.48 inches of moisture recorded.

Dick Benscoter, who keeps the rainfall figures up on American Ridge, reported he recorded 4.03 inches of moisture in that area for December which brings the yearly total to 21.93 inches, two inches less than the 23.57 for 1970.

The funeral will be at 1 p. m. Thursday at Malcom's Brower-Wann Memorial Chapel with the Rev. Douglas Field, pastor of the Cottonwood Creek Community Church officiating. Burial will be at Normal Hill Cemetery.

The family suggests memorial to either the memorial fund at the Cottonwood Creek Community Church or the J-K Ambulance Fund in Kendrick.

Other survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Flger, Moscow, and Mrs. Kent (Fern) Anlnsey, Benicia, Calif., another son, Virgil Stevens, Seattle; and a brother, Lloyd Stevens, Los Angeles, and four granddaughters.

FIELD CARE OF MEAT DETERMINES QUALITY

By Martel Morache

Conservation Education Supervisor
How often someone will say "I enjoy venison, but my wife won't touch it—let alone cook it." A combination of factors may have precipitated such a comment. To begin with, meat improperly cared for in the field could have certainly initiated the problem.

Meat that has not been cooled until body heat is gone can degrade when it is carried around on packboards, horses, dragged on the ground or in vehicles. Flesh that is still warm is subject much more readily to bacterial action.

The point is, chill the meat as soon as practical. This means hang it so the air can circulate freely around the carcass. Better yet, remove the hide as soon as it is feasible. Quarter the animal and let the meat cool before transporting.

The next most important activity after getting the animal home is the removal of fat. Oftentimes commercial meat plants do not have the time to remove the fat. It is a time consuming operation. If you can possibly do it yourself it would be well worth it. The odor of game tallow or fat during the cooking process is what many women object to, and venison packaged with fat attached tends to become rancid after a few months in the freezer.

Relative to the actual cooking of venison, too many people tend to overcook it—either as steaks or roasts. Too much cooking will dry it out.

Finally, do not overlook the possibilities of converting part of your venison to pepperoni, salami, smoked meat or jerky. You can't beat it. Since recipes for jerky are somewhat scarce, here is a popular one from South Dakota Department of Game, Fish and Parks. Here's how you do it:

"First, select the venison cuts to be used as jerky. Use the same ones you would ordinarily use for sausage or hamburger and carefully remove all fat and gristle. It is very important to get all the waste trimmed from the meat. Next, cut the meat in strips of about 5 to 6 inches in length and about one-quarter inch thickness. Place the meat in a bowl or dish that can be covered. After you've put in the first layer of meat, sprinkle it liberally with hickory smoked salt and, if you like, add a touch of onion or garlic salt for seasoning. Then the second layer of meat goes over the first, salt and season, repeat until you have used all the meat you want made into jerky.

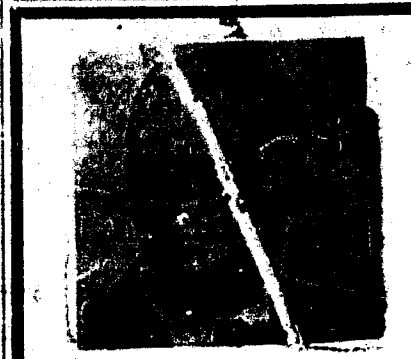

"The next step is to cover the dish and place it in your refrigerator for at least eight hours. This gives the salt and seasoning time to permeate and flavor the meat. Then place the strips of seasoned meat on a cookie sheet and pop them into the oven at a very low heat—175 to 200 degrees—for four to five hours. The slow heat only dehydrates the meat, removing the moisture. The meat then shrivels and shrinks as it's supposed to and will be almost coal black in color. After it cools, it is ready to eat.

"Store your jerky in a tightly covered jar and it will keep for a long time." Fish also should be killed as soon as caught and cleaned immediately. The entrails and gills should be removed and the kidney along the backbone should be scraped out. Fish need washing only just prior to cooking or smoking. After cleaning, wipe the body cavity dry with a cloth or paper towel.

Since the primary objectives are to keep the fish dry, do not place in water or among green leaves (as they heat up). If wearing a creel, line it with grass and place the fish so that they do not touch one another.

Many different brine mixtures are used in preparing smoked fish. A number of curing times are suggested. A few are listed here, but basically it takes some trial, error and experimenting before the individual arrives at what pleases his taste.

Formulas call for different mixtures for different kinds of fish and game. One of these is listed below:
Salmon, steelhead or sturgeon. Cut fish into chunks about two inches square or in strips. Soak in a mixture of one-half gallon water and 20 ounces of salt for about two hours. Dry fish for several hours. Smoke lightly for 8 to 14 hours at temperatures around 80

Home Cookin' . .

The recipes for this week's column come from the files of a faithful reader and subscriber, Mrs. R. J. Fredrickson, of 328 North 2nd Street, Medford, Wis. Mrs. Fredrickson says she particularly enjoys the recipes, and enclosed several of her own to share with our readers. Thank you, Mrs. F. We hope some of our other readers will follow your example.

KOLACHY RECIPE

2 cups flour
1/2 pound butter or margarine
2 3-oz. pkg. Philadelphia cream cheese
2 egg yolks
2 teasps. baking powder
2 teasps. sugar (granulated)
Mix with fork. Pat out and cut with small cookie cutter. Place small amount of prune filling or apricot filling in center of each and bake to a light brown at 350d. Sprinkle with powdered sugar
CHOCOLATE CHERRY CAKE
Combine one regular size chocolate cake mix with:
1/4 teasps. soda
1 No. 303 can cherry pie filling
2 eggs
1/3 cup boiling water
Beat with mixer for 2 minutes. Grease two 9" pans or one 13x9x2 pan. Bake 350d, 35-40 minutes. Frost with your favorite frosting. This cake improves with age.

BUYING COOKWARE

When you're in the market for new pots and pans, look for features that help cut down kitchen frustrations, advises Wilma Shryack, University of Idaho extension home furnishings specialist.

Check for easy care features inside the pot, especially where the bottom meets the sides. This should be gently rounded so food can't stick in corners.

Good cookware has heat-resistant handles. Cool handles make top-of-the-range cooking safer. Miss Shryack points out. However some heat-resistant handles may be damaged if put into the oven.

Select the lid when you buy the pot so you'll have one that fits. The edge should be rolled over smoothly so there are no sharp edges. A smooth edge will also make the lid easier to clean.

And unless polishing and scrubbing are pastimes you enjoy, look for easy-clean materials, that don't require special cleaners, says Miss Shryack.

Peace is not absence of war, it is a virtue, a state of mind, a disposition for benevolence, confidence, justice.—Spinoza.

There can be no greater service to mankind, and no nobler mission than devotion to world peace.—Harry S. Truman.

degrees. When a good film has formed on the surface of the fish, increase the temperature to around 180 degrees for two hours with heavy smoke.

Small fish: Smoke whole, leaving the head intact. These are usually suspended on hooks. One method calls for 1 1/2 cups of salt to one gallon of water, leaving the fish in the brine for 24 hours. With temperature around 150 degrees, most fish will cook for 6 hours. When fish start to feel firm to the touch it only take another hour to complete the cooking.

New Years Eve Parties: An enjoyable watch party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Buckalew. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Custer, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Spray, Mr. and Mrs. McNutt, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gruell, Mrs. Clark, Mr. Hanson, Clayton Hanson, and Mr. and Mrs. Buckalew.
 Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn entertained in honor of their wedding anniversary. This has been a usual gathering for several years. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nye and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Millard, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McClinton, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hutchison and family, Mrs. Yuel McKinley and son, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Custer and niece, Mrs. Amanda Alexander and Alfred Giese.

January 1, 1932
 Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn entertained all their children except grandson, Buster Houck, who is now serving in the Navy. Those present for the bounteous Christmas dinner were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Houck of Clarkston, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Glenn, Betty, Dorothy, and Bernadine, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Glenn and Joanne, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cox, Tommy and Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glenn and Eldon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glenn, Mary Ann and Arlene, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Carlson, Barbara and Patricia, Harold Glenn, Paul Richardson and Lester Slead.

January 8, 1932
 Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer are the proud parents of an 11 lb. daughter, born to them Tuesday.
 No word has been received from any source as to what may be the fate of Lester Hill of Clarkston, a former Kendrick resident and Jay Fowler, of Juliaetta who were employed as carpenters on Wake Island, when that tiny outpost was finally taken by the Japanese.

GENESEE NEWS THIRTY YEARS AGO
 Miss Barbara Huffman, daughter of Mrs. Kate Huffman, was married on Saturday morning to Mr. Roy Gormeau of Moscow by Justice McQuade at his residence.
 Coyote hunting is the principal sport nowadays with the coyotes so far being the winner. Ray Wedin, Lloyd Abraham, Joe Scholer and John Theissen were out Sunday and saw several tracks.
 Gilmore Iverson and Harry Martin are taking a wedding course at the L and driving back and forth.
 Miss Shirley Raymond entertained some of her school friends at a watch party New Years Eve when games and Mrs. Roger Brompfield in operation at the Grutman hospital in Moscow Monday morning. Her family reports she is recuperating satisfactorily.

 Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wager are the parents of a daughter born Dec. 28. The baby has been named Valerie Lynn.
50 YEARS AGO
 Miss Emma Christensen and Fred Shirrod were Spokane passengers Wednesday morning where Dame Rumor says they were united in marriage. The News will no doubt be able to secure the particulars for next week's paper. The town's supply of rice and old shoes are being collected to give them the proper reception upon their return.
 Announcements are sent out for the wedding of Miss Bertha Lorang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lorang of Genesee to Raymond Kennedy of Moscow, at our Lady of Lourdes Cathedral in Spokane on Wednesday, Jan. 11.
 A wedding of unusual interest in this community, but so quietly celebrated that the news did not reach this office until this week was that of Miss Clara Butzien to Leo W. H. Miller. The nuptials took place at the Methodist parsonage in Moscow, Tuesday, Dec. 5.

IDAHO SAGE GROUSE GET NATIONAL TV PUBLICITY

Millions of Americans soon will know that some of the nation's best remaining sage grouse habitat is located in a part of the Owyhee County in the southwestern corner of Idaho.
 They will be viewing the Idaho sage grouse segment of The American Sportsman television show Sunday, January 30, 2:30 to 3:30 p. m. (Mountain Standard Time) over the ABC network (Channel 7 in the Boise viewing area).
 It all started when a representative of the American Sportsman telephoned Steve Herrett, hand gun stock manufacturer in Twin Falls, Idaho, and asked him to host the television show. ABC wanted a film on the native sage grouse. Herrett checked with Robert Autenrieth, Jerom, game biologist for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, who advised that parts of Owyhee County should be a suitable location. There were good bird numbers, prime habitat and filming logistics was not a serious problem. Autenrieth and Martel Morache, Boise, conservation education supervisor, made a pre-filming on-the-ground investigation and located a suitable population.
 Morache says that the Idaho sage grouse film should give millions of viewers an idea of conditions needed to maintain a wildlife species.

There are no eyes so sharp as the eyes of hatred.—Geo. Stillman Hillard.

ECOLOGY RUBBING OFF ON TEXTILES

The push on ecology that has been focused on organic foods and natural cosmetics is beginning to rub off on fibers, reports Janice Buckner, U. of Idaho extension clothing specialist.

Textile men involved with natural fibers such as camel hair, cotton, cashmere, cotton, silk, linen, wool and mohair see this trend as sparking a revival of fashion interest in the natural fibers. Improved wear and care features such as washable wools, and durable press wools help make natural fibers as desirable as easy-care man-mades.

Even the man-made fiber industry is pushing blended yarns that combine man-made fibers with the natural. Wool has been added to polyester double knit mens slacks. Wool not only improves the fabrics hand but also makes the porous knits warmer to wear when chill winds blow.

CLEARWATER ELK WINTERING WELL

Big game populations, especially elk are wintering well along the North Fork of the Clearwater, including the pool area of Dworshak Dam near Orofino. Elk are ranging throughout the drainage, some as high as 4,000 feet and scattered. More snow was found by surveyors representing the department and the River Basin Studies, U. S. Sports Fish and Wildlife, in the middle reaches of the river than at either end. A chinook thaw compacted the snow pack in the Big Island-Larson's Bar Area, while on upstream crusted snow brought elk down to the canyon floor. About 100 elk were observed between Quartz Creek and Bungalow and an additional 125 elk from Bungalow to Kelly Fork. The animals were high and spread out on the winter range between Kelly and Cayuse creeks.

White-tailed deer breaking through the ice around the shoreline of Dworshak Dam were suffering an undetermined amount of mortality, where at least 100 animals have been lost. Water behind the new dam has backed up approximately 25 miles to the Reed Creek Big Island area. There are two kinds of deer movement on the reservoir. Some deer migrate straight across from one side to the other, while others move up and down the reservoir.

Deer fatalities are being monitored over the problem area, which lies between Dent bridge and Big Island. Above that point the river is free flowing most places and is producing fish at present. In narrow, confined canyons the ice is more solid and numerous deer cross the river without loss, their trails indicate.

Monitoring will be continued, although no practical solution for preventing deer from breaking through the ice has been devised.

New Cougar Status

The mountain lion was made a game animal by the State Legislature during the 1971 session, effective April 1, 1972. Fish and Game Department personnel are considering what recommendations to make to the Fish and Game Commission regarding a management program for the big cats—hunting season length, if any, and bag limits. The new law does not prevent ranchers from protecting livestock from attacks by individual cougars. Resident hunters will not need a tag to hunt cougars when the new law becomes effective, but nonresidents must have the $135 combination license plus a $10 tag. The nonresident combination license is limited to a license sales quota of 9,532 in 1972, the same quota as in 1971.

Fish Eradication Program

Economic feasibility at the time of lowest water drawdown at the end of the irrigation season will determine whether some Idaho reservoirs will be chemically treated this year to eradicate nongame fish as part of rehabilitation programs and restocking. Costs of chemical treatment programs run from about $1.50 to $4.50 an acre foot of water, depending on the type of chemical used, the alkalinity of the water, and how much water drawdown there has been to reduce the volume of surface water to be treated.

Last year Hell Roaring Lake in the Sawtooth Primitive Area was treated, and Little Payette Lake, Dog Creek Reservoir and the North Fork of the Clearwater River were treated to rid the waters of nongame fish species.

Scheduled for this year are partial control programs which carry over from year to year, such as squawfish control projects on the St. Joe River and tributaries of Cascade Reservoir, and shoreline spawning areas for squawfish at Anderson Ranch Reservoir. Others include Chesterfield, Mormon (depending on water drawdown) and Cove Arm reservoirs. A low water year could mean others.

Medicare Is Working, Thanks To Cooperation

by John S. Jennings
Field Representative

When Congress passed the Medicare law in 1965, a storm of controversy broke out a midst the medical community. Some doctors favored the program as a logical means to provide an acceptable level of health care to the elderly. Others opposed it—fearing possible abuses, overuse and the spectre of socialized medicine.

One physician, in particular, was an outspoken opponent of Medicare, and I read, with some interest, his comments to the newspaper. Needless to say, when that very man walked through my office door to file for Medicare himself I was surprised and apprehensive. I braced myself for what I was sure would be a difficult interview.

Sure enough, he started right in on me and Medicare and I began to feel uncomfortable. But before I could think of a broad grin, "Don't worry," John, you know I'm not in favor of Medicare. But now it's the law of the land and we're going to make it work."

And they have made it work—the doctors, hospitals, nursing homes, and private insurance companies who serve as intermediaries for the Medicare Program. Medicare does work. It's not perfect, and Congress has some changes in mind but has done essentially what it was designed to do. It has provided the elderly good health care at a relatively low cost.

Even though Medicare is five years old, there is still a great deal of misunderstanding about the program. It was not intended to allow the elderly to have medical care when needed without being ruined by the high cost of a serious illness.

A basic concept of insurance of all kinds is to assume the small risk and hedge against the large one. Medicare like most other health insurance plans, has been designed with this concept in mind. The idea is that most retired persons today could handle medical bills of $300 but might be ruined if they were

Stony Point

Mrs. Ernest Steigers

The chinook-like winds over the weekend melted river ice and snow until the lower area, at least could remember what Spring should be like, even tho it's still winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Heimgartner of Clarkston, accompanied by their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Del Wilson, Oregon, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heimgartner on Friday.

Albert and wife both at home again, as of Sunday, many friends and relatives "do drop in".

Ernest Heimgartner was again admitted to the hospital, due to a clot. All of his friends wish him a speedy recovery!

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ranta, with their four children, motored to Jerome, Idaho, for a New Year's visit with her mother, who resides there.

Emma Weichman and Herman Beyer were dinner guests of Helena Brown one day last week.

Mrs. Eva Daniels, Juliaetta, and brother, Lloyd Slater, Clarkston were callers of Mrs. Brown and at Eva's River Ranch on Saturday, where her granddaughter and family have been residing recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Brown and children and Mrs. Wm. Cooper, all of Lewiston were Sunday dinner guests of their mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Cowger and family of Lewiston were Saturday guests of his mother, Mrs. Betty Cowger.

Another Great Grandchild

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Heath are the proud great grand parents of an 8 lb., 1 oz. girl, Julie Suzanne Crauch, granddaughter of Mrs. Fay Scoggins, born in California on Sunday, January 9th. She joins sister Angie.

Mrs. Newt Heath, ably assisted by Delta, Roberta and Janie Heath, prepared dinner for 14 on Sunday, when the menfolk branded cattle. Gordon Heath and 5 sons and Gene Heath and his 4 children were present.

Dean Weyen, Debby Cole and the Ted Weyens were New Year's guests in the Don Holsington home.

The Fiddlers Jam Session, an annual event held at the Clarkston Moose Hall on Saturday, January 8, was a great success and enjoyed by a large and appreciative crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steigers were there from the opening at 1:30 p. m. until 11:30 p. m. and enjoyed it all!

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Steigers enjoyed the music for a time during the afternoon session.

Mrs. Darrel Kerby and daughter Elaine were callers at the Ernest Steigers home recently, as were Ed Ranta's.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blair and daughters braved the winds to spend the day on Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cletis Holsington.

Mrs. Glen Stevens was sorry she forgot to mention the names of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Ankney and Virgil Stevens as visiting her home while on their Christmas vacation. She was assured that all of last week's news somewhere went astray between the reporter's mail box and the Gazette office. Just maybe we will all be surprised to read those items in the "20 Year Ago Column"! Or perhaps it will have arrived during the past week and only be "delayed". Letters do arrive bearing cancelled postmarks from far and wide!

Little Lea Heimgartner, granddaughter of the Roy Heimgartners, who was taken to Moscow by her mother and grandmother, was reported as recovering now, but had been there to be near her physician during her illness.

Wind and more wind, over the weekend was the order of the day, with some new snow and drifting reported from the hilltop.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT COLDS?

What can you do about colds? Out-growth them may be part of the answer, suggests the Idaho Medical Assn.

Records of 116 boys and 111 girls followed from birth were analyzed in a study at the U. of Colorado to determine the number of mild and more severe respiratory infections contracted. A "more severe" infection was defined as any illness with a fever higher than 100 degrees combined with curtailed activity. Any other was termed "mild."

The study revealed that: Most colds occurred between October and May; the fewest in June, July and August.

The preschool child had the greatest number of colds.

More severe infections decreased gradually after age 2 in boys and age 5 in girls, reaching the low level in early adult life.

Mild infections peaked in preschool and early school years, slowly declined until mid-adolescence, then dropped abruptly.

So Medicare allows the beneficiary to assume the first $50 of hospital expenses but pays the $600 or $800 that might be rung up for a 60-day hospital stay. Medicare doesn't pay all the doctor's bill either. It won't pay for the first $50 incurred during the year. But it will pay 80 percent of a $2000 charge for heart surgery.

Medicare pays about $1.5 million per year for health services provided the elderly in Challam and Jefferson counties. Program abuse and overuse have been virtually non-existent.

In the next few weeks we'll talk some more about Medicare. What to expect from it and what not to expect.

JANUARY IS FOR GOOD RESOLUTIONS

January is for good resolutions, and taking a hitch in the budget after your holiday spending, says Joanne Anderson Extension Home Economist for Latah County.

One resolution than can be made, easily kept and turned into sizeable savings is to use baking soda for most of your household cleaning. Concern for the safety of products, as they affect the family and the environment, has made the old reliable staple relevant to today's needs—today's life styles.

A pure, natural product, phosphate free and packaged in a recycled cardboard box, baking soda is ecologically safe. Since its a standard baking ingredient, it's reassuringly people-safe which gives it special value as a cleaner for areas that come in touch with food and babies. And its versatility lets you cut down on these specialized products most of which come in non-recycled containers. With baking soda, therefore, you reduce your contribution to the mounting waste problems, the kitchen cupboard clutter and your outlay of cash for cleaners.

Much of its versatility rests with its two methods of use, in solution or dry. A solution of soda, about 3 tablespoons per quart of water, makes a good cleaner for large surfaces such as woodwork, tile, porcelain, enamel or plastic. You just sponge it on and rinse. It's also the traditional cleaning solution for the refrigerator, and all its trappings, the coffee pot and teapot, cut glass and crystal.

Soda applied dry to a damp sponge or cloth makes a first rate scourer for everything from sinks, countertops and chopping boards to small appliances, such as the toaster, that need a good shine.

For speedy sprinkling, transfer some baking soda from package to a plastic refrigerator container. Punch holes in the screw-on lid and station your scouring shaker sink-side.

Using baking soda for much of your cleaning offers one more sizeable advantage. Odorless itself, which puts it right in tune with today's return to unscented products, baking soda ousts unwanted smells by absorbing them and neutralizing rather than masking them with a synthetic fragrance. Just try storing an open package of baking soda in the refrigerator. It catches those escaping food smells like a magnet, keeping your unit fresher between clean-

Girls had more mild infections than boys prior to adolescence, then showed an earlier and more marked drop in incidence than did boys.

There was no evidence that frequent infections in early life enhance resistance to similar infections later.

The passage of time has not influenced the incidence of respiratory tract infections since 1930. There was evidence that antibiotic therapy has altered the number of respiratory tract infections.

The removal of tonsils and adenoids did not appear to influence the incidence of minor infections, but did appear to produce fewer "more severe" infections.

SNOW AND WIND—

Weather? We have really been having it this past week with wind being the worst that anyone can recall.

The wind started blowing Saturday and has blown up a gale ever since except for brief interludes then we get more snow. Just how much snow we have is hard to say as the wind has shifted it around.

In the upper country there are drifts 15 to 20 feet high. Saturday night the snow rolled up in snowballs and rolled around. Temp is up to around 40 degrees this morning. (Tuesday), with wind still blowing. However the snow is wet until it isn't drifting. The road crew is out working long and hard hours trying to get roads open. In some places they will try hooking two patrols together hoping to get through the drifts in the Southwick area. The road crews deserve a big thanks for their efforts to keep traffic moving—working out in the snow, wind and blizzards like they have had to do this past few weeks.
