Kendrick Grange Met

February First At Temple

Kendrick Grange No. 413 met at the Fraternal Temple, Tuesday, Feb. 14, for the Booster Night meeting. The meeting began with a 8:30 potluck supper served by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fey, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farrington, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Olderness and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson. There were 42 members and 17 guests present.

The balance of the evening was spent listening to music furnished by the Latah County Old Time Fiddlers, which was enjoyed immensely by all. It was wonderful of them to come and entertain us. Many of them came quite a distance on cold, snowy roads.

The next meeting will be held at the Fraternal Temple, Tuesday, Feb. 15th at 8:00 p. m. The program will be a panel discussion on "How the laws protect the wrong deer and what we can do about it."

The chairman of Community Progress Committee has requested each member to contribute, on paper, a suggestion for a community progress project for this year, so the committee may consider all suggestions and choose a project that will be most beneficial to our community.

The following evening, Feb. 16th, Kendrick Grange will travel to Moscow for visitation with Moscow Grange. The meeting begins with a 8:30 supper. All members and officers are urged to attend.

Rep. Geo. Brocke, Jr., Reports From Boise

Of interest to our area will be a hearing tonight (Feb. 10), on the school reorganization bill. I have notified the superintendents of schools in Latah County in the event they want to have representation here.

The two cents gas tax was voted down last Friday even in spite of arguments that this money is needed to improve the north and south Idaho highways, as most of the state matching funds have been used in the past for southern Idaho freeways. Attention was called to the deplorable condition of Highway 95 from the Oregon border to the Canadian border, with the exception of a few sections that have been improved in recent years.

Variety of Topics Talked At School Trustee Meet

Trustees of J. School District No. 283 met Tuesday afternoon rather than on the regular scheduled meeting date Thursday February 9th, so trustees could attend a special legislative meeting in Boise dealing with school reorganization.

The main order of business consisted of employment of all continuing contract teachers for the 1972-73 season. These are: Gale Vallem, social sciences; Ronald McCartney, sciences; Sharon Hoogland, home economics; Wayne Dust, coach and P. E.; Doyle Whittig, vo-ag; and Al Lammana, 7th grade. All other teachers will be discussed on March 9th, by the superintendent and principals. Considerable time was spent developing bus specifications for a 36-passenger bus for the Gold Hill route and bids will be opened at 8:30 p. m., March 9th.

School District Insurance for the 1972-73 terms was discussed with agents Dale McGahan and Robert Magnuson. Plans now are to award the bid at a special meeting on or before Feb. 17th.

Supt. Don Blakely reported that kindergarten $25.00 pledges have been allowed in being paid and that bills would be a real problem within 30 days.

Ronald McCartney, science instructor discussed professional negotiations with board members and the trustees. A meeting of the trustees and Kendrick Teachers association is scheduled sometime between Feb. 14 and 18 for the purpose of drawing up an agreement on negotiable items.

Bills totaled $4,205.96 and were approved for payment. Some of the larger ones are: $812.00 to Honeywell, Inc., for electric heating system maintenance; Washington Water Power, $904.03, for heat and lights. Marrel Instrument Repair $140.00 for band instrument repair; Abrams Hardware Co., $184.59 for maintenance and supplies; Robert Heppner, $100 for driver training instructor.

Do-Nut League Hoop Action This Week

Last week's games were very well played and evenly matched although most teams were reduced by the flu.

The Blue Jays outgunned a scrappy Green Goblin team 28-16. Doug Parks led the Gobblins with 9 points as James Sillflow hit for 4 and Rick Glen for 3. Tim Elchner controlled both backboards and poured in 12 points for the Blue Jays while Lytle Deobald chipped in with 10 points and substitute Darren Clemenhagen came through with 6 points.

The Orange Orangutans came out on top of a 19-16 score for a victory on top of a 1916 score for a victory over a very good White Knights team. Clifford Helmgartner scored 6 points while Jeff Parker and Steve Gustafson accounted for 4 points each and David Williams flipped in 2 points. For the Orange Orangutans Mikal Courtright led the scoring with seven points. The Lohman brothers, Jeff and Scott, hit for 4 points each while Duane Howerton and Mike Hutton scored 2 points each. Jeff Lohman contributed much to the game with his cool head, rebounding, passing and defense and extremely fine attitude as did Gary Brammer. Attitude and teamwork were exemplified by these two boys' performances.

The Purple Panthers who played with only 6 players and had one of those foul out, took a run at the Golden Globetrotter's win streak. The run fell short by just one point as the Panthers were defeated 14-13. The game was well played by all the boys and could have been won at any time by either ball club right up to the final buzzer. The last two quarters were cut to 4 minutes each, as agreed to by the two coaches when the game was tied at 6-5 and was seen the players were getting so tired. The Globe Trotters had only 5 men. The Globe Trotters led all the way up to one minute to go when the Panthers went ahead by one point, 13-12 on a basket by Chip Farrell. The Globe Trotters came back with Daren Manfull hitting a free throw to knot the score at 13-13. A few seconds later, Daren was fouled while shooting, he missed his first shot but hit the second one to go one up. The Panthers had one more try at the basket before the Globetrotters controlled for the remaining seconds.

Panther Scoring—K. Farrell, 6; C. Farrell, 5; Bret Gerlye, 2. Globetrotters—Daren Manfull, 11; Jimmy Brocke, 3.

Mike Brocke played his first game of the year Saturday for the Globetrotters and turned in a fine defensive floor game which contributed much to the Globetrotter's win.

Sillflows Chosen County's Conservationist of Year

Dale and Marvin Sillflow, a Cameron father and son farming team, were named Nez Perce County conservationists of the year at a soil and water district annual meeting last Friday night at the Red Shield Restaurant in Clarkston.

The two have been active with the conservation district and have constructed six sod waterways, one farm pond and more than two miles of tile drains on their farms.

The father and son operate nearby farms, sharing equipment. Both are supervisors of the conservation district.

They rotate crops on a three year plan, alternating peas, clover and grain crops and returning residues to the soil for all humus and erosion.

Marvin Sillflow has been farming since 1947, and he joined the conservation district in 1948. Dale joined the operation in 1964.

Fourth Grade News

We are glad that most everyone has recovered and is back in school. Only one was absent from our room. The children are hearing and reading stories about the many famous people born in February. Our bulletin board has pictures of Washington, Lincoln, Thomas Edison, Henry W. Longfellow, James Russell Lowell and Charles Lindbergh. They have learned of the great accomplishments of the talented people and how these things are still influencing the lives of people today.

Our social studies have taken us to the interesting continent of Africa. Many of the children enjoyed "Animal World" on TV last Sunday which showed scenes and animals in Zambia. This is the country where Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffith are living. Mrs. Griffith taught school in Juliaetta for two years. This semester Mrs. Griffith is teaching in the government high school there. Her husband is employed by the Zambian government as research fish biologist.

The high scorer was Polly Taylor with 3 points and Cathy Christensen came up with two points.

Our class has been planning a party for Valentine Day. Many nice decorations have been going up, too. Because of the flu, many 6th graders weren't here last week, but this week almost all the 6th graders are here.

In P. E., the 6th grade boys played the 5th grade boys. The game was only for the fun of playing. The 6th grade won with a total score of 25 points. The 5th grade totaled 15 points.

The tests this week will be in spelling, social studies and science.

KHS Frosh Team Has Busy Schedule

The Freshman basketball team has been one that has shown itself to have a lot of talent but has not as yet been able to win many games. The main reason being that they still do not have enough confidence in their own shooting ability. When they do shoot they have been shooting a good percentage. So far they have to realize you have to shoot the ball before it will go in.

We have three games left—all of them away. Feb. 9 at Prairie; Feb. 16 at Pottlatch and a game at Troy yet to be rescheduled.

Frosh Vs Prairie

Mike Sillflow acted as the sparkplug for the team as he scored 13 points in a loss to Prairie 36-49. Jeff Czmowski hit for 8 points and Don Benjamin got 6 points. Larry Mundell and Mark Mustoe did a good job on the boards. Prairie's high scorer was Dale Rener with 14 points.

Frosh Against Troy

Troy outscored us 26 points to 42 points from the floor while we scored 14 to their 6 points from the free throw line. Mike Sillflow and Jeff Czmowski scored 9 points each as Kendall Jackson and M. Czmowski gave support with 10 points each. Vernon Hill and Rick Wilson topped Troy with 14 points each.

Frosh Vs Genesee

After losing to Genesee by 22 points in our first meeting the team lost this time by a score of 51-61. Genesee has a fine ball club and was led in scoring by Myers and Leachman who scored 16 and 17 points, respectively. Kendrick Frosh hit for 17 of 29 from the free throw line while Genesee was connecting on 17 of 35. Bobby Parks hit for 11 points and Dan Steigers scored 10.

Hugh Parks' To Observe Fiftieth Anniversary Sunday, February 13

By Millie Corkill

"Retirement was not to rest but to continue to keep busy and alert," was the reply of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Parks of Lewiston as they prepare to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, February 13, 1972, at the Orchards Methodist Church in Lewiston. The reception will be held between 2 and 4 p. m. with their four children and their spouses and families as hosts for the special occasion. The couple requests no gifts, please.

During their 50 years of marriage Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Parks have led a full and rewarding life thru their years of farming and participation in local and civic affairs. Parks plans to retire this year as State-Grange Legislative Representative, a capacity in which he has served since 1955.

Mrs. Parks, born September 11, 1903 in Saginaw County, Michigan, has been a resident of Idaho since 1909, coming to the Teakam area with her parents William and Jennie Hund who through the years farmed in the Welker, Fairview and Leland communities. Mrs. Parks received her education at Leland.

Parks, an Idaho pioneer and a continuous resident of Nezperce County was born at Peck on April 23, 1901, moving that year to a farm at Cameron with his parents Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Parks. In 1907 the family moved to a farm at Leland where they resided permanently. He took his grade school and two years of high school at Leland and took his last two years of high school at Kendrick graduating from there in 1920. It was at Leland he met his future bride. After graduation he continued to work on his father's farm until his marriage.

Being school day chums, it later turned into a romance, and after a three-year courtship, Katherine Hund and Hugh Parks were united in marriage February 12, 1922 at the home of the bride's mother, with the Rev. J. A. Hall, pastor of the Methodist Church South at Leland officiating at the marriage ceremony, Elizabeth Hund, sister of the bride and Homer Parks, brother of the groom were the attendants.

With over two feet of snow on the ground and low temperatures the newlyweds left Leland in the "Honey-moon Sleigh" for Mohler, Idaho with the trip taking two days. "We had footwarmers which were heated bricks wrapped in little blankets to keep our feet warm, quite different from the modern day honeymoon. "But I'm sure we were just as happy," Mrs. Parks said. They drove to Peck crossing the Clearwater River on the Ferry and then spending the night with his Uncle and Aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Parks at Peck. The bricks were again heated in the oven overnight, the horses had a chance to rest and the happy couple left the next morning to complete their trip to Mohler to visit for a week with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parks and Parks' grandmother, Mrs. Ella Parks, and acquaintances with his new bride.

On their return home they settled on a farm in the Fairview area west of Leland. "In 1927 we made our first major purchase, which was a Model T Ford, they were the going flier in those days," Parks chuckled.

In 1932 the Parks moved to a farm at Welker, east of Leland living there for about four years before moving to the Stonypoint area where they lived for some 31 years before making their permanent home in Lewiston to enjoy retirement. "In the depression years of the 30's we raised livestock and grew produce for most of our living the same as other farmers had to do," Parks continued, "also trucked wheat to Pataha to have our winter's flour made."

While living near Leland, Mr. and Mrs. Parks were active members in the Leland Methodist Church for over 40 years. She was church organist and pianist. She was a member of the Women's Society of Christian Service during that time as well as serving at various times as president, secretary and treasurer. She also taught Sunday School for a number of years. Parks served as a member on the Church Board of Trustees for several years.

Four children completed the family circle and received their education in the Juliaetta and Lapwal school systems. Their two daughters are Mrs. Eddie (June) Cedars, Pullman and Mrs. D. (Fero) Oliver, Yakima. Wn. Their sons are Earle R., a seedman at Oakesdale, Wn., and Byard W. of Oakley, who farms there and also the family farm at Stonypoint which he purchased. Both sons served in the Armed forces during World War II. During the war years Mr. and Mrs. Parks took an active part in community affairs with Mrs. Parks serving as president of home extension clubs and he as director of Civil Defense in Nezperce County for several years after the close of the war.

Apart from this Mrs. Parks was superintendent of the agricultural exhibit sections for 11 years at the Nezperce County Fair. Mr. Parks has been a member of the fair board for 15 years.

Mrs. Parks has been secretary of the Lapwal Valley Grange for 20 years, Chaplain of the Nez Perce Pomona Grange for 16 years, a past Idaho State Grange officer serving the Women's Activities Committee for three years and Ceres for two years. She also won first place in the State Grange bread baking contest in 1961.

Parks was Master of the Lapwal Valley Grange for 12 years, past Pomona Master and past member of the Idaho State Grange executive committee. He is presently serving as Idaho State Grange Legislative representative at the Idaho sessions of the Legislature as a lobbyist, an office he has held for many years.

Mrs. Parks has always been a plant and flower enthusiast—this being very obvious in the profusion of various types of house plants she cares for and her outdoor flower varieties she grows during the summer months. Apart from this a great deal of her time is spent working in her greenhouse with plants and seedlings, "which," she says, "Hugh helps me with as well as helping in our flower and vegetable garden." Also Parks spends his spare time working at the B & F Nursery in the orchards.

They both like to camp and fish and one of their scheduled trips in the summer time is to Mallard Creek, a trip they have taken each year for the past 18 years. Last year they branched out a little farther and went to Jackson Hole, Wyoming on a sight seeing trip.

Apart from gardening and fishing Mrs. Parks finds recreation in piecing quilts, doing fanciwork and sewing. "In my spare time I do some baby-sitting," she says.

As Mr. and Mrs. Parks approach their special day, they said that "Co-operation and working together accounts for our fifty years of a happy and memorable marriage."

They have 12 grandchildren, 4 of whom are in the Air Force and the Navy, and seven great grandchildren. No gifts please.

Tuesday Fire

Fire which started Tuesday evening, caused extensive damage to a house belonging to Gordon Peters in Juliaetta. The place had recently been occupied by the Chas. Baxley family, but was vacant at the time of the fire. The flames were first noticed by Mrs. Bill Fry as she drove by the house. Members of the Juliaetta fire department soon had the blaze under control.

The monthly pot-luck dinner that was scheduled for Monday, Feb. 14, has been postponed until further notice due to illness in the community and the unpredictable weather. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brammer and Roy Ramey brought dinner to their home Sunday to help them celebrate their 61st wedding anniversary.

A group of friends gathered in the home of Mrs. Phil Johns Tuesday afternoon where Mrs. Ernel Woody was honored on her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Nora Walker, Mrs. Zella Walker and Nell Walker, all of Clarkston brought dinner to the Ernel Woody home on Sunday and helped Mrs. Woody celebrate her birthday anniversary a couple of days early.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Flegg and son David of Lewiston were Sunday afternoon callers in the Ray Polunsky home. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phlatt and son Kerry of Lewiston, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Phlatt and Robert Polunsky of Clarkston were visitors.

Word has been received by your correspondent that a man who lived in Juliaetta years ago and was thought to be deceased is very much alive and very lonely. His name is John Parker and he was 96 years young on January 28. He lives at 1242-11th st., Clarkston Rest Haven, Clarkston, Wn 99403. He would love to hear from some of his old friends and maybe make some new ones.

FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION

Recent changes in eligibility requirements have been made in the Farmers Home Administrations rural housing program making the program available to a greatly increased number of Idaho residents. Donald L. Winder State FHA Director, said today. Major changes noted to Winder include raising the maximum adjusted income of applicants from $8500 to $9000 annually and authority to make housing loans in cities of 10,000 or less population and the rural open areas.

"A year ago FHA could finance housing construction only in cities of 5,500 population or less and the open rural areas of the state," Winder said. "Now we can finance cities up to 10,000 population which means that residents of every community in Idaho with the exception of 9 major population centers, may be eligible for FHA housing loans." He said that residents of these 9 areas may still qualify if they choose to locate their homes in cities of 10,000 or less and the rural open areas regardless of whether their employment is rural or urban, or mixed.

Winder explained that gross family income is adjusted according to standard deductions allowable by the Internal Revenue Service and Farmers Home Administration to arrive at the eligibility figure of $9000. "With the upward adjustment of this income figure alone," he said, "at least an additional 4,500 families in Idaho might be able to qualify for FHA assistance in financing the building or purchase of adequate housing."

Although FHA does not finance construction of substandard housing, Winder said that families of adjusted annual incomes below $7000 might qualify for lower interest rates on their housing loans. The current rate is 7 1/2 percent with interest credit adjustable to as low as 1 percent for applicants of very low income.

"Two years ago we approved financing of approximately 400 housing loans in Idaho at a cost of about $6 million," he said. "In fiscal 1971 that figure increased to about 1400 loans and cost a $21 million. Under our new authority and eligibility requirements we expect to top 2000 housing loans in fiscal 1972 at a cost of approximately $30 million."

Lacking adequate credit from commercial financial sources, Winder said, more than 2/3 of Idaho's families possibly could meet the eligibility requirements for FHA housing loans. These requirements include a good credit rating, ability to repay and the inability to secure adequate financing from commercial sources at rates and terms the applicants reasonably could be expected to repay. FHA housing loans normally are made to applicants whose financial assets are insufficient to qualify for commercial loans.

This expanded program is in line with the determination of Congress and the Nixon Administration to reverse the migration of rural people into the cities and to improve living conditions in rural America.

DOGS HARASSING DEER

Wintering conditions still are critical for big game in some parts of the state and emergency feeding operations already have started in a number of places as needed. One problem is dogs dogs harassing and sometimes killing deer. Owners are given misdemeanor citations when dogs are caught and identified. Aerial census work is underway in the Clearwater Region. The first count from the Little North Fork upstream to Bungalow found 1,300 elk, though some animals undoubtedly were missed because of the timber canopy.

On the South Fork of the Boise River above Featherville, problems are developing and elk feeding in connection with trapping has started. In both the Big and Little Wood river areas winter-

Why should anyone be thinking about central air conditioning NOW?

Remember last summer? One hundred degrees and getting hotter. If you didn't have Air Conditioning, you wanted it, and if you were one of those who tried to get it at the last minute, you were disappointed because you found the installers were working overtime and supplies were depleted.

That's why it's logical to act now in the off-season while contractors are not flooded with demands, and there's a broad choice of equipment available.

With CENTRAL AIR CONDITIONING, you will not only be ready for the long, hot summer to come, but will have complete control of the climate in your home every season of the year. You'll live in TOTAL COMFORT with whole-house CENTRAL AIR CONDITIONING.

ing conditions have been relatively moderate with about two feet of snow. There is more snow in the Ketchum area and a good chance that emergency feeding operations will start soon. Some deer have migrated into Utah near Interstate Highway 80. Some losses have been noted.

Wintering conditions for big game animals still are severe in Bear Lake and Caribou counties and deer are being fed near Soda Springs. Aerial census work has started, from Malad to Preston and Montpelier. In the Salmon region some settling of snow has occurred and south slopes are starting to show brush, especially between Salmon and Challis and upriver to Clayton. No extreme concentration of animals, no severe crusting of snow observed and animals are moving freely.

PREDATOR CALLING UP AS WINTER SPORT

With numerous types of predator calls on the market, a growing number of Idaho hunters are learning the sport of using them during the winter season, the Fish and Game Department noted this week.

Coyotes, bobcats and foxes can be ured within shooting range of a blind or calling stand with sounds that simulate the scream of a rabbit in distress or other small animal. Predator calls are made of hard rubber or plastic or wood, and can be held between the teeth leaving both hands free to handle a gun or bow. Sound control ranges from a long, agonizing squeal to a series of short screams and muted cries, filled with terror and quaver.

BIRD MYSTERIES SOLVED THROUGH BANDING STUDIES

Many of the fascinating mysteries of bird migrations are being solved through banding and other studies.

But it will be a sorry day if these twice a year marvels become so commonplace that man no longer lifts his face to the skies and thrills to the sights and sounds of winged creatures wanting to go where the wild goose goes.

Game Bird Supervisor Dick Norell, who is planning extensive bird banding analysis work this year, says it now is known that birds do not winter on the moon, as once was believed. Neither are they transformed into fishes until spring.

He adds, however, that some of the stories told by bands retrieved from the flights of migratory birds are more remarkable than these erroneous ideas of antiquity.

He cited that case of a pintail duck banded in eastern Idaho, which later was recovered in Siberia. Hummingbirds have enough flight power to cross the Gulf of Mexico, a distance of about 500 miles. Arctic terns fly about 25,000 miles every year, almost pole to pole.

How do they do it?

Until recently authorities explained simply that young birds learn to navigate long distances from their elders.

Present-day ornithologists say it isn't so.

At least not for all migratory bird species. Young mourning doves are exceptions. They do not wait for the parent birds to finish nesting chores before pushing off for warmer climates in the fall. They head south at the age of five or six weeks and the parent birds follow when green turns to red and gold.

Field observations indicate that many birds begin their migrations to the south in response to a change in the period of daylight rather than in response to a decrease in food supply. But how do young birds, born in the north, know which route to take south without the help of their parents? Some species of sandpipers travel from Canada to Argentina on flights lasting several weeks, and join their parents on wintering grounds they have never seen before.

The authors of a chapter in a definitive anthology are of the opinion that waterfowl tradition causes the 48 species of ducks, geese and swans that live on the North American continent to fly thousands of miles each spring to the same northern breeding grounds and then fly southward in the fall to winter at the same marshes.

Called "Adventuresome Waterfowl", a chapter on migration appears in the book Waterfowl Tomorrow, compiled by Joseph B. Induska and Arnold L. Nelson for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Department of Interior.

Holding with the theory that waterfowl migrations are prompted merely by tradition rather than instinct, or habit, or the effect of an unknown mechanism in their brains, the authoritative writers of the chapter are Howard Mendall and Harvey Nelson.

They claim that birds, like people, sometimes break with tradition. Non-conformist pintails, for example, now breed in the anadimian Atlantic provinces where they never have been known to nest before.

Pioneering black ducks now press westward into mallard range and mallards are invading the domain of the eastern black duck. Canada geese have

CHECK STEELHEAD REGULATIONS

Steelhead fishermen are urged to check the 1972 regulations for new season cutoff dates and limit restrictions. Most of the Salmon River from its mouth upstream to the Pahsimeroi River will be closed for steelhead fishing March 15, and reopens again October 1. The season last year on these sections of the main Salmon River was year-round. The main Clearwater River steelhead season closes February 29, although the Middle Fork of the Clearwater River between Kooskia and Lowell, and the main Lochsa and Selway rivers, runs through March 15.

The Middle Fork of the Salmon River and Big Creek also have changes in closing dates. The 1972 fishing regulations should be consulted prior to fishing these streams.

The restricted steelhead bag limit is two fish per day, two fish in possession in a seven-day period, and ten fish per calendar year. This compares with the 1971 steelhead bag limit of two fish per day, four fish in possession in a seven day period and 20 fish per calendar year.

Established nesting colonies in many places where they have not bred for scores of years, if ever.

It's wayward tendency may offer managers of waterfowl a means to help build their numbers, according to these writers.

More specifically, Idaho band returns show that habitat patterns or traditions or resident geese have changed since the coming of the white man and extensive grain farming.

dar year. The South Fork of the Clearwater River will be closed all year for steelhead fishermen.

Other steelhead closing dates this spring are the Salmon River from the Pahsimeroi River to the East Fork, March 31; and the river from the East Fork to Redfish Lake Creek, April 10. The Salmon River above Redfish Lake Creek is closed to steelhead fishing the entire year because this is a spawning area.

The shortened seasons and restricted bag limits are designed to return adequate numbers of steelhead to the Pahsimeroi hatchery and depleted "wild" spawning populations.

The Snake River from the state line mouth of the Salmon River closes for steelhead fishing February 29 and reopens again October 1. The Snake River above the mouth of the Salmon River to Halls Canyon Dam is open for fishing the entire year. The reasons for this continued liberal season are (1) the lack of steelhead spawning tributary streams; (2) the difficulty in trapping steelhead at Halls Canyon Dam facilities; and (3) the relative inaccessibility of this area to fishermen.

Final steelhead counts at the last dam will end up five to ten percent above average, with the increase provided by good returns of hatchery fish. Last fall's fishing was excellent, but an extremely high percentage of fish were hatchery steelhead. Records show that 61 percent of fish checked at North Fork, and 35 percent of fish checked at Riggins bore hatchery marks.

All steelhead waters open again next October 1.
