Do-Nut League Play Finishes Up Saturday

This Saturday will be the final Saturday for Do-Nut League play. At this point, there will not be a tournament since the season has been an extra long one. This Saturday's schedule runs as follows: Orange Orangutangs vs Red Devils at 9:00 a. m. Green Gobblins vs Purple Panthers at 10:00 a. m. Blue Jays vs White Knights at 11:00 a. m. Last week's results were as follows: The Green Gobblins received scoring from seven players as Larry Gillispie hit for 6 points followed by Doug Parks 5, Rick Glenn 4, Johnny Siltow and James Siltow 3 each, Monte Gillispie 2 and Jerry Gillispie 1. This accounted for their total of 24 points. This was not quite enough to offset the Golden Globetrotters record setting 34 points with 8 men scoring. Tony Snyder led the way with 10 points, Rex Snyder and Ted Powers had 5 each, Mike Brocke and Terry Hudson 4 each, Daren Mansull 3, Jim Brocke 2 and Gilbert Hibbard 1. This was the Globetrotters last game of the season and leaves their record at an unblemished 6-0-0. The Purple Panthers showed a lot of desire and aggressiveness as they downed the White Knights by a 13-7 score. The game was won by the defense in holding a usually high scoring White Knights team to only 2 points in the entire second half. The Panthers were led in scoring by Chip Farrell's 6 points and Kevin Farrell's 5 points, while Bret Gertje contributed 2 points. Steve Gustafson hit 4 points, Clifford Helmgartner 2 and Jeff Parker 1 for, the total 7 White Knight points. The Blue Jays took advantage of their superior height to dominate both backboards and race to a 30-5 victory over a game but outclassed Red Devils team. Much credit must be given to the Red Devils and their coach for their spirit and enthusiasm as they have only won one game in the past few seasons and yet come on the floor with as much determination and desire as if they had won every game. This is the type of character we are trying to instill in the participants of the program. Much credit for such a display of sportsmanship and strength of character must be attributed to the fine example set by Max Clemenhagen and Wally Wolff. My hat is off to the Red Devils team and coaching staff for exemplifying in action the old saying: "It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game." Scoring—Red Devils, Eric Souders, 3; Dale Wolff, 1 and Norman Winclair 1. Blue Jays: Tim Eichner, 8; G. Harris, 6; Lyle Deobald, 4; Randy Clemenhagen, 3; James Clemenhagen, 3; Pat May, 2; Bruce May, 2 and Rick Anderson, 2. —Darrell Mansull

NFO County Chairman Hits TV News Reports On Prices Paid Farmers

Nationwide television shows notwithstanding, farmers are getting only 72% of parity, or a fair price, compared with their costs of production, Gordon Peters, president of the Nez Perce County NFO said this week. Parity is the standard measurement of farm returns. It is an official ratio that reflects both prices paid to farmers and the rising costs of machinery, taxes and other production items. Peters was critical of a recent national television program that showed shoppers walking past meat counters, contending it failed to inform viewers what the farmer received for the various meat items involved. "The Department of Agriculture's reports in January show beef producers were doing the best in years with prices up to 88% of parity," he said. "Hogs were bringing only 76% of parity, turkeys were bringing 68%, lambs were bringing 72%, and eggs were bringing only 49%." "Wheat, which makes up about one-tenth of the cost of a loaf of bread, was bringing only 45% of parity in the market in mid-January," he said. "Corn at the farm was bringing only 56% of parity, milk was 69, soybeans 72, rye 53, and grain sorghum 59%." The NFO president said it is ridiculous to charge farmers with getting excessive prices and particularly to blame them for retail prices which include all the markups of processors, handlers and other middlemen. "There's less than 3 cents worth of wheat in the pound loaves of bread being sold for 26 to 30 cents a loaf at retail," he said. "The farmer was getting more than 50% of the food expenditures of consumers in the 1940's but the price spreads have increased now to the point where we get less than 39%." Peters noted that Congress authorized price ceilings on farm products at not less than 110% of parity during World War II. "We have a long way to go to reach that level, or to reach economic security for farmers, with these prices," he said. "The final test of whether farm prices are fair is what is happening to the farmers and with about 2,000 a week selling or being closed out, it is obvious they are far short of prices that provide cost of production plus a reasonable profit." "Beyond old farmers closing out, the hopes of thousands of young farm people to get started on the land are crushed every year. There is no future for them." "Farm people should let broadcasters who misrepresent the farm situation know what they think, emphatically."

Rep. Brocke Reports On Boise Legislature

The hearing on school reorganization, House Bill 423, was held Feb. 10 and was attended by some 150 persons, with 28 testifying. At the hearing most of the testimony was in opposition to the bills which are presently in the Conservation and Resources Committee for further study. It was the opinion of most that they endeavor to police themselves. The 100 percent funding of state supported schools is expected to be introduced soon, if it has not already been done by this time. The matter is now under study by a special committee of members of the Revenue and Taxation Committee and the Education Committee. Senate Bill 1327 requiring Workmen's Compensation for all farm workers is in the Commerce & Labor Committee in that House. Floor action on that bill will no doubt be soon. The Coyote Bounty bill, House Bill 378 (amended) passed the House last week and is now in the Senate. The House Bill on antlered only deer and elk hunting is in the Conservation and Resources Committee for further study. The House introduced last Sunday a proposed constitutional amendment to allow state-operated lottery and church-sponsored bingo games. Of course such an amendment will have to be approved by a two-thirds majority of both Houses before it can be taken to the people for the November election. The present law says that "the legislature shall not authorize any lottery or gift enterprise under any pretense or for any purpose whatever." The amendment calls for the words "lottery and gift" to be deleted and the word "gambling" substituted. It also further provides the words "provided, however, that lotteries operated by the state and sale of lottery tickets connected therewith, and parimutuel betting on horse races may be authorized and their manner of operation prescribed by law." It also allows cities to allow conduct of specific games of chance and only bona fide religious organizations shall be permitted to conduct such games. This bill can be seen as soon as printed and mailed out, if it gets by the printing committee. A bill has also been introduced in the Senate which would return legislative budget action to every two years instead of the present annual meetings. Some feel that this would lessen the second session of the legislature to more nearly 30 days. At the end of last week only nine bills had reached the Governor's desk and none of them were of major importance. In my opinion, the legislature has yet to pass a bill of real importance to the people of Idaho, and spent the greatest length of time on the floor of the House debating the criminal code repealer bill. Two hearings in which some people might have an interest will be coming up next week. One is February 24, House Bill 516, which has to do with fluoridation, and the other is February 29, House Bill 521, which would lower the age of consent for treatment in drug abuse cases to read "over the age of 12". The present law says age 18.

value of outdoor recreation, to build a "case" for public support. With further reduction of the average work week virtually certain in the coming decades, this nation will have the opportunity to realize more fully the great dream of mankind that the individual shall have a rich and rewarding life. This could come to an important degree from constructive use of the growing amount of leisure time. To look across open land, hear a songbird, smell the moss in the woods or the pungency of sage—these are a necessary beginning to an understanding of the natural forces of the landscape. And man must understand he is one species among many who depend on each other and upon the natural environment which sustains them all. OUTDOOR WAY OF LIFE REQUIRES PROTECTION

It takes a department store of outdoor recreation areas to satisfy the one day, weekend and vacation needs of Idahoans and nonresident visitors. The matching of the supply of areas with the large, varied demand is enormous and complicated. The main problem is to acquire and develop public access areas to open space that are reasonably accessible to urban populations, for their enjoyment and benefit.

While Idaho's natural heritage is fortunately generous, it has its limits. Urban and industrial civilization puts special strain on renewable resources as well as those which once taken from the ground are gone forever. In spite of past experience and new knowledge, it would appear, for instance, from the amount of current pollution of air and water that not all the hard lessons have been taken to heart.

Proper care of the outdoor heritage is inseparable from the central concern of most Idahoans—to make available that quantity and quality of land and water they want and need for recreation, which includes an array of activities vital to their way of life.

Taken together, these things are big in purpose and urgent in their call on public and private effort. They could not be otherwise and hope to keep up with the transformation in prospect for the state and nation over the next generation.

What is involved, basically, is the proposition that every citizen is entitled to a share of the good things of life, and among them are the enjoyment of the state's heritage of landscape, lakes and mountains, rocks and rills. Equally important—perhaps even more so—is a conviction that the character of Idaho people, their spirit, will and outlook, will be shaped to a large degree in the future as the past by the nature of their physical surroundings.

It is clearly predictable that these surroundings are going to be subject to greater pressures in the future than in the past.

Barring catastrophe, the basic forces which have changed the natural scene faster in one life time than ever before will continue their momentum at least to the year 2000. More than half the people alive today will be around to celebrate the arrival of the next century. Between now and then the population will increase considerably and the proportion living in metropolitan areas will also rise.

Again barring catastrophe, people will have more of just about everything that an abundant economy can produce—including more leisure time, money and travel facilities. Combined with larger population, these last-mentioned factors will generate a demand for outdoor recreation greater than population growth alone would indicate.

In view of these prospects, ways and means of preserving open space reasonably accessible to where most people live are now a necessity, not merely desirable, if the quality of life and man's balance with nature are to be preserved.

Since state and federal governments are not in the entertainment business, it is necessary to prove the serious

OUR COMPETITION RECOMMENDS BRONATE.[®]

Our competitors think so highly of Bronate as a broad-leaf weed killer in wheat and other grain crops that they want you to tank mix their products with Bronate.

While we appreciate the compliment, we don't necessarily go along with the recommendation.

Because while the addition of less effective herbicides to Bronate may help the other herbicides, it doesn't help Bronate. Matter of fact, it can hurt Bronate.

Unlike many other herbicides, Bronate kills your weeds without damaging your wheat. And tank-mixing reduces Bronate's high degree of selectivity.

Also, unlike other herbicides, Bronate isn't restricted to any particular soil type or condition. And tank-mixing limits Bronate's wide range of application.

Use Bronate alone if your weed problems include Tarweed, Gromwell, Henbit, Dogfennell, Crowfoot, Purple Mustard, and the rest of the Mustard family. Or any of the 23 other kinds of weeds listed on the Bronate label.

Our experience has shown that Bronate used alone has increased productivity for Northwest wheat farmers by as much as 20 bushels per acre.

Is it any wonder our competitors recommend Bronate?

For more information on how Bronate can help you, see your supplier or write Mr. R. P. Rich, Rhodia/Chipman Division, 120 Jersey Avenue, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903.

News Items From Genesee Schools

GHS SCHOOL NEWS

Genesee—At its regular meeting on Monday, February 14, the board took the bid of Delta Ford for a new bus for the coming school year. Delta Ford bid was $7,265.00 and Hebling Bros. $7,300.00. The bus will be delivered before the start of school.

The board also discussed the driver education program for the district. We have approximately 40 students available for the program and only enough funds to run about 20 students through the program. We are hoping that the legislature will come up with full funding or other means of presenting the program for all eligible students.

The board also discussed the teachers for re-hiring for the coming school year.

It was decided by the board that Spring Vacation would be March 27 through the 31st, providing we did not miss any more school.

A report was made by the building committee on the rental of the parochial school. It was felt by the board more information was needed and no action was taken.

Legislative information was presented to the board by both Supt. Diehl and Chairman Boyd. The board did not attend the hearing on the reorganizing school bill last week, but did send down testimony for the hearing.

The Steering Committee was appointed by the board for the Needs Assessment to be conducted by the district. Members of the committee are Les Diehl, Ed Davis, Tom Boyd, Kathy Heinemeyer Dennis Carlson, Don Bennett, Pat Asker, and Ed Morken, Jr.

The board also decided to appoint a Parent Council for Title I program for the district as required by the federal government before we can receive any of these funds. The funds received by the district for these funds amounts to $2200. This council will be appointed at the next board meeting.

Following payment of January bills the board adjourned.

PROPERTY TAXES INCREASES

An explanation of allowable rent increases for residential rental property due to increase in state and local real estate taxes was provided today by the Internal Revenue Service.

IRS director Calvin E. Wright said that a landlord may increase monthly rent to recover the amount of any increase in state and local real estate taxes occurring after December 28, 1971. He explained that such taxes "occur" on the last date installment may be paid without incurring penalties or interest.

Wright explained that in Idaho the last date for paying the two installments is December 20 and June 20.

Therefore the first installment of 1971 taxes in Idaho occurred before December 28, 1971 and residential rents cannot be increased to recover the increase. The latest date for payment of the second installment is June 20, 1972. The landlord may increase rent after June 20, 1972 by 1/12 of the amount of the increase on the second installment after meeting the applicable notice requirements. According to Wright rents can not be increased because of an increase in 1971 real estate taxes prior to June 20, 1972.

Wright stated that no rent increases are allowed under any circumstances unless the landlord notifies the tenant of the proposed rent increase at least 30 days before the date it is to become effective.

KITCHEN AIDS DEVELOP BETTER EATING HABITS

Youngsters who help in the kitchen are better eaters at the dining table, says Esther Wilson, extension nutrition specialist, U. of Idaho.

She reports on an experiment designed to increase children's demands for vegetables. One group of children learned to add vegetables to gelatin, made a tossed green salad, and cut raw vegetables into fancy shapes. They ate raw vegetables with a low-calorie dip and snacked on cooked vegetables. These children started eating more vegetables than they had before. The other group did not participate in these preparations and, though served the same foods, their vegetable consumption did not increase. The experiment was at a camp with children from 6 to 17 years old. So, if your children turn up their noses at vegetables, maybe you can try

SNOWMOBILES EXCLUDED FROM GAME AREAS

Anything that prevents deer and elk from feeding and resting reduces their chance for survival until spring. Harassing causes animals to burn energy needed just to keep them alive and warm. Thus an emergency has some of these ideas. Most children will be interested in at least tasting foods they have helped prepare, Mrs. Wilson points out. And tasting may lead to liking.

Dear Sir:

It was noticed in last week's report of the school board's meeting, that the issue of Kendrick High School's dress code was either neglected or purposely ignored. We the students feel that a subject worthy of our concern should not be dismissed lightly by the school board as a trivial matter.

This issue has been voted on by the entire student body, the Student Body President has taken the polling results to the school board, and the school board has given their decision with little consideration of the student's view. The school board decided to put the code under advisement. This sounds like a stall, with the thought in mind that the students might give up trying to abolish or revise the school's dress code.

We feel the public should be informed of ALL the business of the school board.

Sincerely,
(Name Withheld

To V. F. W. Aux. Meeting

Mrs. Chas. Deobald and son, Jed, left by plane for Los Angeles and the Disneyland Hotel, Feb. 3.

Mrs. Deobald, National Council member of the ladies auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, attended the Council Meeting on Feb. 4th and National Midwinter Conference on Feb. 6th and 8th.

Highlight of the conference was the presentation of the Auxiliary's annual "Better World Award" and $10,000 check for cancer research to the entertainer, Danny Thomas, for his work as founder and President of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. St. Jude Hospital treats, free of charge, children stricken with catastrophic disease. He predicted 80 percent of all children treated for lymphocytic leukemia will live in 1972; if immediate treatment is received at this hospital.

While in California the Deobalds visited Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm, and other places of interest and had lunch with relatives. They returned home Feb. 8th.

Joyce Clemenhagen Wed In Tacoma Ceremonist

Asbury United Methodist Church was the scene of the Jan. 30 wedding of Joyce Ann Clemenhagen and Loyal K. Schlatterbeck. A reception followed in the social hall of the church after which out-of-town guests and the bride party were entertained at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Clemenhagen. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Victor Rice of Tacoma, and Loyal Schlatterbeck of Spanaway.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of Valencia lace fashioned with shallow scoop neckline, long full sleeves with deep cuffs and graceful skirt scalloped at the hemline. A matching lace bow held to her hair with illusion veiling. She carried her Rainbow Bible with a cascade of pink tea roses and white carnations. For something borrowed she carried her mother's lace handkerchief.
