

Mercury Skids To Below Zero

A chill Arctic blast of frigid air moved into the region over the weekend, dropping the temperatures to below the zero mark in Genesee and the Southwick area and below the 10-plus mark in Kendrick and Juliaetta, as the area shivered in the first really cold snap of the early winter season.

A freezing foggy drizzle last Wednesday morning made highway travel in the higher elevations extremely difficult as black ice covered the highways and sidewalks in Genesee, Moscow, Troy and other hill towns. The temperatures stayed low for the remainder of the week and then early Saturday morning snow fell on the ridges and in Genesee, dumping over four inches on the group. No snow fell in Kendrick and Juliaetta.

Sunday night the skies cleared and temperatures dropped to zero and below on the ridges and up in Genesee. Kendrick had an official 8 above Monday morning and reports from Southwick had minus 4. Genesee shivered in about zero, unofficially, although the flats may have dropped even lower.

The mercury never rose much above fifteen degrees all day Monday and dropped back to below zero in the high country Tuesday night. The coldest reading came unofficially from the Southwick area where it was reported at 10 below zero.

Genesee Dropped By Spartans 49-46 Lapwai Routed

Last year's A-3 state champions, The Timberline Spartans, showed they were still a power to be reckoned with as they edged out the Genesee Bulldogs 49-46 in a close game on the Genesee floor to open the 1972-73 hoop season. The game also showed that Genesee would be no push over as they fought the Spartans down to the wire in a game which saw the lead change hands many times in the see-saw contest.

Genesee jumped out quickly to a 6-0 lead and stretched it out to 12-4 before Timberline hit for eight straight points to tie the game 12-12. The Spartans pushed into a 23-20 lead at halftime.

Big Jim Herman led the Genesee scoring with 18, while Jeff Boyd had 8 points and Craig Kanlikkeberg and Terry Green each added 6. Don Jared of Timberline led all scorers with 23. Wallop Lapwai 66-27

With Jim Hermann sweeping the backboards clean, the Genesee Bulldogs put on a spectacular show of their defensive ability Tuesday night by holding the Lapwai Wildcats to just 27 points as the Bulldogs ripped the Wildcats 66-27 on the GHS court. The win evened the Genesee record at 1-1.

Never in trouble, the Bulldogs led from the start and were ahead 31-18 at the half. Genesee clamped the lid on the Wildcats in the second half, allowing just 9 points in the final two quarters.

Craig Kanlikkeberg topped all scorers for the evening with 16 points while Jeff Boyd had 14, Hermann 13 and Don Telgen 10. Rudy McNair hit 8 points for Lapwai. Genesee will host Clearwater Valley this Saturday night.

School Sets Up Winter Program For Bad Weather

Supt. Don Blakeley reported this week that the Kendrick and Juliaetta schools have been setting up a program to handle bad weather and emergency school closures during the winter months.

All employees should listen to the local radio stations, KCLK, KOZE, KRLL in Lewiston and KRPL in Moscow between the hours of 6 a.m. and 7:00 a.m. for school cancellation announcements. Principals will also call teachers in their school about cancellation of school.

Students and their parents are also urged to listen to any of the above-mentioned radio stations during periods when weather may make the opening of school doubtful. Parents are urged to call the superintendent's office about bad conditions which might necessitate school closure.

Cancellation of school during the day will be more or less an administrative decision, but if bad storms prevail during the night time, trustees and especially the board chairman, will be consulted.

"We urge every parent's cooperation in this matter," Supt. Blakeley said. "At no time do we want a child's safety or life endangered by stalled school busses and blocked roads."

This year's league has only four teams and they play each other twice. The last games before Christmas will be on Saturday, Dec. 16. The games begin at 8:00 and end at 11:00. We will try to have the gym open by 8:00 a.m. so the Do-Nut League boys can come out and have some organized drills and practice before game time. The schedule will resume Saturday, Jan. 6 after the holidays.

The opening games showed excellent balance between the teams as the Green Gobblins came on to defeat a determined Golden Globetrotters team 16-15. Toni Snyder led the Globetrotters in a losing effort by dropping in six points. Doug Parks led the Green Gobblins by popping the nets for eight points followed closely by his teammate Richard Sifflov who slipped through the Globetrotters defense for six points.

The second game proved to be as tight and exciting as the first with a well-balanced and well-coached Purple Panther team scoring a 12-10 victory over the White Knights. The Panthers had six players each scoring two points: Mitch Cuddy, Danny Lohman, Darren Clemenstegen, Eric Souder, Jim Perkins and David Heppner. Tigers Rip Deary; Lose To Lapwai

Kendrick opened the 1972-73 basketball season Friday night with a 69-26 victory over the visiting Deary Mustangs and then went down to Lapwai Saturday night and came home with the short end of a 42-33 score.

Kendrick flashed their style for the home folks Friday night with a 24-point outburst in the second quarter and romped home to an easy victory over the games, but outclassed Mustangs. Laverne Reed hit 17 points for Jim Souder to pull down 18 rebounds between the two of them.

Kelly Clemenstegen added 14 points more for the Tigers with Steve Rishling getting 11 and Marty Clemenstegen 10.

Kendrick was enjoying a 34-12 halftime lead.

Lapwai Tough
Lapwai, always tough and apparently always with a McNair on the team, dropped the Tigers 42-33 Saturday night at Lapwai. The McNair to watch this year is big, young Randy, son of Wildcat coach Rolly McNair. The tall sophomore dumped in 18 points as the Wildcats staged a come-from-behind battle to win the game in the second quarter.

Kendrick had taken an early lead and were ahead by as much as seven points before Bob Parot hit for five tallies to put the Lapwai squad ahead.

Kelly Clemenstegen led the Tigers with 10 points.

Gravy At Christmas

Christmas is a gravy train for overeaters. A plum pudding paradise. Holidays and social get-togethers are terrible trouble spots for overeaters, according to Dr. Robert J. Westlake, psychiatrist at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia.

"There are other things besides eating that families can do together on holidays," he says. But togetherness too often takes place chiefly at the dinner table.

Dr. Westlake holds group sessions to help patients unlearn old eating habits and try better ways. Part of the program involves a two-hour session every other week called family night. Overeaters bring at least one relative or friend, hopefully someone they eat with. "The families learn that the problem is behavioral and may involve them all," he says. Patients are also encouraged to preplan what they will eat at holiday dinner and at restaurant outings. Group members learn to reprogram their usual activities so they will use up more energy during the day.

Whatever the reasons for overeating, many people—particularly women—say they smoke to avoid eating more. But studies of ex-smokers don't bear out this line of logic. One out of every four ex-smokers in an extensive nationwide survey for example, actually lost weight; some lost large amounts. It seems that once people master one aspect of their behavior such as quitting smoking, they often take control of other aspects, such as eating properly and exercising enough.

Overeating is a definite problem for many people. But smoking to solve that problem is no solution. In fact, a woman of average weight would have to gain an extra 60 to 100 pounds to tax her heart as much as she does by smoking a pack or two a day. Not to mention the toll smoking takes on her lungs.

Genesee Civic Group Hear "Nightline" Discussed

The Genesee Civic Assoc. met Thursday evening, November 30th at the new Genesee Cafe. A delicious dinner was prepared and served by Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Gassway and family, proprietors. About 25 attended.

The program preceded the business meeting. Stan Smith, his wife and small child were guests of the Civic Association. Smith, a World and U. S. History teacher at Moscow high school, and Mrs. Smith are coordinators for "Nightline", Moscow's Crisis and Information Center. Smith explained that the phone service is open seven days a week from 2:30 p. m. until 2:30 a. m. and manned by trained volunteers. The number is 882-0320 and provides rumor research nutritional service in answering questions about food and health, answering any reasonable question a caller may have (if possible). Nightline has a complete service directory to make referrals for people who need specialized help or information and a complete resource and information file.

Smith told the group that he would leave applications if anyone was interested in helping with the service. Applicants are screened and trained. There is professional help available when needed. The service is open to people in Genesee as well and the reason for its operation is to make Moscow and the surrounding area a nicer place to live. Smith added that they helped all age groups and that Nightline service is a friend not a judge. In one year of operation, he went on to say, they had 415 calls, 41 percent crisis calls and the rest for rumor or information. The group extends a samaritanism that is real.

The business meeting was presided over by Gene Woodruff. After secretary and treasurer's reports; old business was taken up.

The library committee reported that it would cost over $300 to adequately repair the roof. Help from the Moscow Latah County Library Board is unavailable and the lessors, Delta Ford, while renting for the agreed price, do not wish to pay for repairs. Alternate sites were proposed and discussed and the problem will be investigated further. The Civic Association pays all lights, heat, small repairs, rent, etc. while the Moscow Latah County Library Board funded by a 2 mill levy from each taxpayer, provides the books, records, puzzles and other media, and the librarian.

Leonard Singhose reported that the University of Idaho may provide help in planning recreational facilities for the upper park. No report was given on the swimming pool project.

Wm. Phar co-chairman of Community Day stated that a net income of $906 was realized from Community day.

D. F. Scharnhorst, chairman of the nominating committee presented a slate of officers. It was moved that a unanimous ballot be cast by the secretary and this was done. New officers for 1973 are:

Gene Woodruff, president; Wm. Phar, vice president; Marie Scharnhorst, secretary; David Kuehl, treasurer. Mrs. Scharnhorst and Mr. Kuehl will also work as membership chairmen.

It was decided to provide treats for Santa's visit to Genesee this year as usual. The Genesee Community Firemen also help with this project. Santa's visit will be on December 16 at the picnic shelter in the park.

The next Civic Club meeting will be on the 4th Thursday of January at 7 p. m. unless weather prohibits.

Watch Slick Bridges

State Police and Traffic Safety officials today noted that because of colder weather conditions an increase in the number of accidents caused by frosted or slick bridge and overpass surfaces is expected.

Motorists often approach bridges and overpasses unaware that such surfaces retain more than the normal frozen moisture content due to under structure design and exposure to the elements.

During 1971, there were 5,321 accidents attributed to snowy or icy conditions. Many of these were due to slick structural surfaces. Twenty-six individuals lost their lives because of winter road conditions and 1,077 were injured in accidents.

With over 4,000 bridges represented on Idaho's various roads and highways, drivers are requested to be more than normally aware of the possible hazard of such structures when approaching them.

Consolidated Fund Drive In Genesee Nets $2,730.37

The 1972 Consolidated Fund Drive for Genesee was completed on November 30, 1972. A total of $2,730.37 was collected this year, and pledged as follows:

Cancer: $685.49; heart: $493.73; local: $197.81; M. O. D.: $207.13; Red Cross: $394.55; Salvation Army: $182.49; Camp Fire: $133.98; U. S. O.: $91.08; Boy Scouts: $284.11. Total: $2,730.37. Expenses: $35.40, leaving a balance of $2,694.97.

The amount collected was 91 percent of our goal of $3,000.00. I would like to thank all solicitors. They were all very conscientious workers and did a very complete job. Mrs. Everett Wishard.

IMPROPER GAME TAGGING BRINGS MANY CITATIONS

The Idaho Fish and Game Department said that many of the citations handed out by conservation officers during October, November and December are for not properly punching big game tags and attaching them immediately to animals they have harvested.

Hawley Hill, Chief of Conservation Enforcement, commented, "Of 204 citations issued during October, 45 were for not properly punching big game tags. Figures for November and December arrests are not available at this time. Totals for these months during 1971 show that 175 citations were issued for similar big game violations, with 65 for improper tagging."

"Hunters are required to punch the tags correctly," Hill added. "Conservation officers must issue citations unless tags are punched when game is shot. There always is the possibility that an unpunched tag may be used again. Improperly punched tags also foul up statistical management studies which use the tags for information purposes."

Not stopping at checking stations enroute to or from the field leads to a number of citations each fall. Hill said, "The law requires all hunters and fishermen to stop at checking stations whether they have been successful or not, if a station is in line of travel. Citations are issued when people do not stop."

FACIAL SAUNAS

There is no medical evidence that facial sauna devices are helpful in relieving acne or wrinkles according to the Idaho Medical Association.

In fact, physicians have seen some acne worsened by facial saunas. Facial saunas are electrical units which heat water and release steam to which the face is exposed. The effect is similar to that achieved by putting a hot, wet towel on the face.

The claim is that the device causes the skin to perspire, cleaning it deep down but perspiration will not flush out pores, nor is steaming enough to cleanse the face.

Excessive perspiration can aggravate acne in some cases. Facial sauna may temporarily increase circulation and introduce quite a bit of moisture into the upper layers of the skin but they will not erase wrinkles.

Medicare does not cover ambulance transportation if the patient could be transported by other means without danger to his health.

Truth — the biggest mistake you can make is to believe you are working for someone else.

Home Cookin'

Our recipes this week, (and hasn't it been a long time since anyone has contributed?) comes from our faithful reader and friend, Mrs. Ethel Liberg of Coeur d'Alene. When any of her recipes appear in The News, all her Genesee friends know they are in for a treat. With the holidays slipping up on us (all too soon) these recipes for Marshmallow Dessert and Scalloped Corn are indeed timely.

Thanks again, Mrs. Liberg. You know how much we appreciate your thoughtfuless.

SCALLOPED CORN

1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1 large can cream style corn
1 cup medium cracked crumbs
1 cup milk
1 slightly beaten egg
1/2 teaspoon pepper and salt
1/2 cup butter

Mix all ingredients together and bake in casserole for at least 90 minutes in 300 degree oven.

MARSHMALLOW DESSERT

Heat 1 pound marshmallows and 1 cup of milk together until marshmallows are dissolved (cool). When thickened, add 1 pint whipped cream. Fold together.

Sprinkle bottom of pan with graham cracker crumbs and pour in one half of marshmallow mixture. Spread 1 can cherry pie filling over marshmallows, then pour rest of marshmallow mix on top. Sprinkle graham cracker crumbs on top.

Refrigerate until set, then serve. Mrs. Liberg adds that it is delicious. That she made it for a Tupperware party and all present liked it.

"KEY 73"

A tremendous evangelistic effort is being projected by over 140 religious groups and organizations in America and Canada. It will be launched and known as KEY 73. This effort calls for a gigantic offensive aimed at challenging every person in North America with the claims of Jesus Christ.

Representatives from six different churches met on December 3rd at St. Johns Lutheran church in Genesee to begin organization of this project on the local level. The next meeting will be held at the Genesee Community Church on Sunday, December 17, at 2:30 p. m. All interested Christians are urged to attend.

Contentment is a matter of reducing your wants and desires.

HELPS YOUNG PEOPLE

Social security for young people comes in the form of disability and survivors benefits.

It's all right to make up your mind if you know why it is made up.

Two men were walking along a street in New York at night. One of the men kept glancing back and was becoming more and more nervous. Sure enough, as they rounded the next corner, two muggers were closing in on them. The nervous fellow quickly took out his wallet, extracted a $20 bill and handed it to his companion. "Bill, here's that twenty I owe you."

If thine enemy wrong thee, buy each of his children a drum!

A man who had just been promoted to vice-president boasted so much about it to his wife that she finally retorted: "Vice-Presidents are a dime a dozen. Why, in the super-market they even have a vice-president in charge of prunes."

Furious, the husband phoned the supermarket in the expectation of refunding his wife. He asked to speak to the vice-president in charge of prunes. "Which kind?" was the reply. "Packaged or bulk."

GAME DEPARTMENT URGES USE OF RETRIEVER DOGS

The Idaho Fish and Game Department today urged waterfowl hunters to use retriever dogs as a reliable conservation measure and to add to their own physical comfort.

Dogs also are most valuable when hunting pheasants and other upland game birds, according to Dick Norrell, Game Bird Supervisor.

The national studies show that one out of 4 ducks and geese that are shot are never retrieved but a well trained retriever dog will fetch most of these birds even when they are in the worst conditions. Checking station workers report that only 20 percent of the waterfowl hunting parties use dogs.

"These big, intelligent, tough canines are about the best companions a hunter can have, especially in a cold duck blind or when wading after downed ducks," Dick Norrell, Game Bird Supervisor said. "This is an uncomfortable job at best, dogs cheerfully, eagerly retrieve ducks, often under impossible conditions for a man."

He added that the success ratio of pheasant hunters who use good dogs also is higher than it is for those who do not. They not only flush more birds, but also recover more cripples.

Do your duty and leave the rest to the Gods.—Pierre Comelle.

DEPT. OF EMPLOYMENT

Employment opportunities bounced back after a very slow holiday week. The Moscow office of the Idaho Department of Employment received 11 new job listings during the week compared with only 5 received during the previous week. A year ago the total was 10. Frank J. Hartstein, Moscow office manager said that his office found employment for 9 workers during the week, the same as for the corresponding week in 1971, and far above the two job seekers placed during the previous week. At the end of the week there were still 27 jobs open. Most of those required special skills, training and experience. There were also some domestic jobs available.

The number of idled workers seeking pay benefits continues the slow climb predicted some weeks ago. Hartstein's report indicated that the current total number of claimants is now at 223, up from last week's 206, but still fewer than last year's figure at 256. In the immediate Moscow area there are now 129 persons seeking unemployment insurance. Last week 121 and last year 123. In the Troy-Desary-Bovill area the total is now 45, a week ago 41 and a year ago 79. At Potlatch the total rose from 33 last week to the current 37, but still was fewer than last year's 41. In Genesee the total is now 7 and at Kendrick only 5. Weather conditions are such that no great change is anticipated during the next week or so.

Hartstein said that his office still has a number of students seeking part time work and that others will be seeking work over the long college Christmas vacation. He asked local area employers to consider listing any job openings either for full or part time work with his office.

FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Social security is valuable financial protection to the young family because benefits may be payable to the disabled worker and certain members of the family.

HOME SAFETY LEGISLATION TO HELP PROTECT CHILDREN

A typical home is potentially a source of danger to the unsuspecting child. According to the Public Health Service each year 500,000 children swallow a poisonous household product; 500 of these children die.

Precautionary warnings on product labels as well as appropriate first aid in case of accident are required by the Federal Hazardous Substance Labeling Act, reports Mrs. Ruth Spidahl state extension home economics leader, U. of I.

To comply with Child Protection Act requirements, warnings must be attached directly to household products not sold in containers or having labels.

This legislation also gave the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare authority to ban from the market any substance too dangerous for household use, no matter what warnings the label carries.

In addition, the legislation forbids sale of toys and other children's articles which contain hazardous substances.

Mrs. Spidahl says these laws have helped reduce accidents and injuries. However, only the consumer can eliminate the problem.

Mrs. Spidahl urges everyone to follow the advice on labels, keep products in safe areas, read directions and warning statements and use only as directed.

Products should be stored only in their original containers, she advises.

DECEMBER HUNTS EYED BY ELK-DEER BOWMEN

Bowmen are urged to check regulations for archery deer and elk, making sure a unit is open on the dates planned and noting the regulatory changes in archery equipment the Idaho Fish and Game Department said today.

For the first time, Idaho archery regulations prohibit the use of any weapon except a longbow having a pull of 40 pounds or more with a 28-inch draw. Arrows must have a minimum 7/8-inch broadhead. The regulations prohibit the use of arrows taking big game animals, dipped in or containing any chemical, poison, or tranquilizing substance in

CHAIN REFERRAL SALES—SCHEME DOESN'T WORK

Many adults are fooled by the "something for nothing" sales gimmick which promises you a free appliance if you will just supply the names of 10 to 20 prospective buyers. The story sounds good, so you sign the contract. You have also likely become another victim of the "chain referral sales scheme," says Mrs. Ruth Spidahl, state home economics leader, U. of I. You usually get stuck with paying for a grossly overpriced product, she warns. The Federal Trade Commission, Better Business Bureau, and the U. S. Postal Service are diligently working to stop this scheme. Authorities in many states have taken legal action against it.

Typically, the sales person peddling this deal explains that his company believe word of mouth advertising is highly effective. They wish to share the money they save by not advertising in magazines and newspapers or on TV and radio with people who take part in the program.

All you have to do to qualify is supply a list of 10 to 20 names of friends or neighbors. You get a "commission" for each one who buys the product. This way, says the salesman you will get the product for nothing. You may even earn money. You aren't given a chance to think it over and to go out and compare prices. The salesman's aim is to lull your suspicions and push you to the point where you sign the contract to "show your good faith."

The hard lesson of reality comes later. Mathematically, the chain referral plan of selling will fail.

Before you earn enough commissions to pay in full for your appliance, you and nine other must each give six referrals who "actually buy."

That means there would have to be 60 successful referrals. Each of the 60 will be offered the "opportunity" to pay for their purchase by giving six referrals who will buy. You can see where one area becomes saturated very quickly, Mrs. Spidahl says.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steigers spent an hour or so in the Jack Browning home Sunday evening where Ernest and Jack enjoyed pictures taken when the Brownings visited relatives in Missouri near Ernest's birthplace there. Later the group crossed the street to the David Steigers home to help him eat his birthday cakes—one baked by his son Danny on Saturday and one, an "upside down" angel food, brot by his mother. (It suffered several mishaps.)

The David Steigers family had returned, after dark, from a very chilly and jolly day of "snow-mobiling" on French Mt. near Pierce.

"Plans Disappointing" Twenty-six delegates appointed from among area school teachers to attend an educational conference held at Boise on Saturday, Dec. 2, waited at the Lewiston Airport at 6 a. m. Saturday morning for their plane to conquer mechanical difficulties. This was not accomplished and they were informed the next plane in could accommodate 24 of the 26.

It was heard circling above the fog but never landed for them and so—26 frustrated persons Christmas shopping or whatever before returning to their various starting points.

Mrs. Alvin Steigers was a Tuesday evening caller at the Albert Heimgartner home and at the Ernest Steigers home. The Alvin Steigers spent several days visiting with relatives in the Seattle area and at Vancouver, Wash., last week.

News seemed to the frozen at most homes contacted on Monday morning!

AUTUMN BEST SEASON FOR CATCHING TROUT

Idaho trout are bigger, fatter, sweeter and hungrier now than at any time of the year, the Fish and Game Department reminded anglers today.

Waters, which were high and roily a good part of the early summer, now are at their best and full of fish. Competition is at its lowest ebb because most summertime anglers have forsaken rod and reel for guns.

Although the general statewide trout season ends November 30, year round fishing waters in all areas will remain open for catching some or all species as indicated in the 1972 regulations.

Some of the more important off season fisheries include, steelhead, the large, ocean-going rainbow trout in the Snake, Clearwater and Salmon River drainages; whitefish in many statewide waters; also fishing, or netting at Bear Lake in late January and ice fishing for trout, perch, and other species where the waters are open.

PAYABLE WHILE UNEMPLOYED Social security can pay some monthly benefits even though a person may not be retired during every month of the year.

SEAT BELTS Seat belts, if they are used—will go a long way toward making auto travel safer, reminds the Idaho Medical Association.

There is no doubt that seat belts save lives and reduce injuries. Accident studies demonstrate that the use of seat belts can eliminate at least one-third of all automotive injuries.

A motorist's chances of being killed in an auto accident increase five times if he is thrown from the car.

Seat belts are the best low-cost, safety feature available for a car, yet many people fail to use them.

Some people feel that because they do not drive fast or take long trips they have no need for seat belts.

But the truth is that more than half of the accidents causing injury or death involve speeds of less than 40 miles per hour and three out of every four cars will be involved in a traffic accident during the next year.

Seat belts will not stop accidents but they will reduce deaths and injuries.

SOME HUNTERS BELIEVE "NORTHERNS" DIFFERENT

By Jim Humbird Idaho Fish-Game Dept.

It is true enough that migratory waterfowl are raised in the north-land, as the term suggests, and that some "resident" ducks and geese are hatched and raised in Idaho waters.

But, there is no way to be sure that a duck bagged in mid-November on the Snake River came from Alaska or Canada, or was hatched and raised within a few miles of the spot where the hunter stands.

Idaho waterfowlers also are interested in the number and variety of ducks coming through the State. The most common species, the mallard, is regarded by many as the finest of all, despite many claims for the canvasback. On a good industrious day after the "northern" have arrived, most experienced duck hunters can shoot limits of greenheads.

Goose and duck brood censuses are run in selected areas in southern Idaho each summer. In addition, meeting surveys are made annually at Island Park and Blackfoot reservoirs. Mud Lake in Jefferson County, and along the lower Snake and Payette rivers. These waterfowlers produced in Idaho provide the main hunting opportunities for sportmen on opening weekend of the season and the several weeks following. The "northern" come much later.

Bands returns show that habit patterns or traditions of resident geese have changed since the coming of the white man and extensive grain farming. For example, this change in southwestern Idaho since the turn of the century, has added available food to other ideal winter conditions such as open water and feed.

Since geese in southwestern Idaho now have suitable year-round habitat for wintering, breeding and raising new generations, these honkers have become nonmigratory.

For different reasons, the Island Park country of eastern Idaho also serves as a suitable wintering area for resident Canada geese. Here, in snow country with grain stubble to see them through, the resident geese, swans and ducks have warm spring feed waters that are rich in aquatic plants. A portion of the breeding population stays in the area throughout the year while the remainder heads south into Arizona and California.

Eastern Idaho's goose movement normally does not reach it's peak until early December as birds move southward from Alberta and Montana. American Falls is Idaho's second major wintering area outranked only by Deer Flat Wildlife Refuge in Canyon County. From 4,000 to 10,000 geese usually winter over on American Falls reservoir.

A large percentage of Idaho's duck migrants come from Alaska, with the rest winging down from the northwest territories, British Columbia and even Alaska.

Newspapers, generally, are alert for unusual story angles. They are quick to note for example, that pintail ducks banded in eastern Idaho have been shot in Siberia and that

FRANK V. BARTON

LAWYER Office in Postoffice Building Phone 289-4981 KENDRICK, IDAHO Wednesdays: 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Large numbers of snow geese have definite fly patterns to that part of Soviet Russia. However, Idaho hunters mostly want to know when the "northern" will reach their part of the state. The simple answer (based on past experience) is about mid-November depending on when weather begins pushing them down out of Canada. No matter how much is learned, it is a safe bet that many always will lift his face to the skies and thrill to the sights and sounds of migratory waterfowl, and will continue to write songs about wanting to go where the wild geese goes. Soon the word will go out that the "northern" are here and the cattails will be full of hunters with plastic quack tubes and the din they set up will be heard by every duck in the country. In the hands of an expert quacker, at least these devices will "save" a lot of ducks. Those that come in will be bent on suicide; but that's hunting! Many dark mysteries surrounding the migration of geese and ducks are At worst, it's conservation!

LETTERS FROM READERS

Kendrick, Idaho

Dear Concerned Parent:

I take this means of corresponding with you since you will undoubtedly look at this section to see if your letter to the editor is being printed this week — it isn't. It is not the policy of this, or any other paper I know of, to print anonymous letters. Most unsigned letters, you see, attack people or groups and that just isn't fair.

What we will do, and are doing now, is to hold your letter and give you the opportunity to come in and sign it. Then we will print it — we will even withhold your signature if you like — but if we do withhold your name we would be compelled, from a sense of fair play, to release your name to the person and the institution you are criticizing, but to no one else.

I am not in a position to pass judgement on your opinions, nor am I attempting to censor or prevent you from being heard. From your letter I could feel you are both concerned and sincere, and more than just a trifle angry. Perhaps a test of your concern, sincerity and anger would be your willingness to sign the letter you wrote.

The columns of this newspaper are always open to all people, within the boundaries of good taste and libel, of course, to express their opinions on just about any subject, but, my paper will never be used for anonymous attacks.

Sincerely,
W. A. Roth, Editor

MODERN DRUGS

Modern drugs are a far cry from the potions of the old medicine man observes the Idaho Medical Association, but they must be used with the same respect and a great deal of care.

They save thousands of lives and make life more pleasant for millions of people, but they can have adverse reactions which make their use inadvisable for some people.

Some drugs tend to produce more adverse reactions than others. Penicillin, the wonder drug that conquers pneumonia as well as many other diseases, illnesses and infections, produces a reaction in possibly one person in 20 but it still saves thousands of lives every year.

As a patient, you should feel free to take drugs prescribed by your
