Work On Fraternal Hall Progresses

During the past week a great amount of progress has been made on the remodeling of the downstairs of the Fraternal Temple. It has promise of being a very attractive, efficient and comfortable meeting place in the future.

A new subflooring has been placed on the main part of the large room. Beautiful honey-colored paneling is being installed on the walls of the kitchen and dining area which will give a soft sunshiny effect. The east wall and a part of the ceiling have received a new coat of paint.

Those assisting with the project of the past week were Harold Olderness, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Glenn, Wilbur Corkill, Mr. and Mrs. Manning Onstott, Harlan Fey, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heimgartner, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fey, Mrs. Gerald Ingle and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wolff.

Tiger Booster Club Needs Help At District Tournament; Meeting Feb. 7

Burt Souders, Jr., president of the Kendrick Tiger Boosters, announced this week that the local group will be in charge of tickets and door guards at the District A3 basketball tournament in Lewiston which begins Feb. 21. Souders has called a special meeting of the club for Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, to plan for this project and he has asked that all who can to volunteer for a ticket-taking session at the tournament. The meeting is in the cafeteria at 7:00 p.m.

JULIAETTA NEWS—

Construction Begins On New Juliaetta Apartment Project

FIRST SHOVEL TURNED—Mayor Harold Freeman of Juliaetta turns the first shovel of earth to mark the beginning of the Johnson Manor Apartments. Others looking on from left to right are Neal Knightland, Kennewick, a subcontractor; Gene Robles, contractor from Aztland Const. Co., Pasco; Mayor Freeman; and Lonnie Williams, Director of the Clearwater Economic Development Association.

Construction work on a new $295,000 housing unit for elderly people began Friday morning, January 26, when ground-breaking ceremonies were held to start the Johnson Manor Apartments in Juliaetta. The first shovel of earth was turned by Harold Freeman, mayor of Juliaetta. The ceremonies climaxed months of planning and work by investors, the Juliaetta city council and the Clearwater Economic Development Association.

When completed, the apartment house will make available 22 units especially designed for elderly persons or those 62 years of age or over. The apartments will be available to people on a subsidized basis; that is, those with limited incomes, with the income dependent upon whether the applicant is married or single. Disabled persons under age 62 with limited incomes are also eligible for subsidy. Monthly rental rates for the apartment would range from a minimum of $46.50 to a maximum of $98.

Each unit will be a one-bedroom apartment complete with carpeting, drapes, refrigerator, range and air-conditioning. Recreation room and laundry facilities will also be available in the new complex.

These units are scheduled to be ready for occupancy on July 1 of this year.

Johnson Manor Apartments are being built by Cedar Investment Co., Inc. of Spokane. Gene Robles of Aztland Constructor Co. of Pasco, a minority construction company, is the prime contractor. Much of the preliminary work and arranging for government loans was done with the help of Lonnie Williams of the Clearwater Economic Development Association. Mayor Freeman and the Juliaetta city council have also devoted many hours of planning and much coordination to bring this project about. Mayor Freeman opined that the apartments would mean as much to Juliaetta as the PFT mills mean to Lewiston, relatively speaking.

A supplementary government appropriation of approximately $40,000 has been set aside for this project. It was announced recently by the office of Idaho Senator James McClure.

JOHNSON HOUSE—This 70-year-old wooden, 2-story home, built in 1903 by Rufus H. Beeman, and known recently as the Johnson House, was torn down to make room for the new $295,000 Johnson Manor Apartments. The land on which the house stood changed ownership only four times since it was homesteaded by Rupert Schupfer, a Juliaetta pioneer.

Old House Goes Down

To make room for the apartment unit the old Johnson house had to be razed. This two-story frame structure was built sometime between 1903 and 1904 by Rufus H. Beeman, who purchased the land from Rupert Schupfer, an uncle of Herman Schupfer and Otto Schupfer, who had gained title to the land by proving up on a homestead. The house and land was next owned by Zachiah Lay who lived there until his death. John L. and Florence Johnson bought the property from the Lay heirs in 1941 and resided there until their death. The house was then rented to various families until it was scheduled for demolition.

Pam Halseth Named KHS Betty Crocker 1973 Homemaker of Tomorrow

Kendrick High School's 1973 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow is Pam Halseth. Selected by score in a written knowledge and attitude examination taken by both senior boys and girls on Dec. 5. Pam will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for American Homemakers of Tomorrow. In addition, Pam remains eligible for state and national honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow to be chosen from all school winners in the state in judging centering on performance in the Dec. 5 test, will receive a $1,500 college scholarship. A 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," will also be presented to the state winner's school by Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation. The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $500 scholarship.

In late April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia—each accompanied by a faculty adviser—will gather in Washington, D. C. for an expense-paid tour of the capital city and Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Culminating the tour will be announcement of the 1973 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. To be selected through personal observation and interviews during the tour plus state-level judging results, they will be awarded increases in their scholarships to $6,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

Instituted in last year's Betty Crocker Search, a $1,000 Nutrition Scholarship is included in the program again this year. Recipient of this grant will be the participating student who is planning a college major in nutrition or a related field, ranks among the highest in his or her state on the overall examination and, from those meeting these two criteria, achieves the top score on the test's nutrition questions.

A total of 665,000 seniors were enrolled in this year's Search, the first in which boys were eligible to participate. Since the program began in the 1954-55 school year, approximately nine million students have taken part and, with this year's grants, scholarship awards will exceed $2 million.

Long Scarf Syndrome

New fads and fashions frequently produce unexpected dangers, and so it is with the "long scarf syndrome," the entanglement of a scarf's free floating end with moving machinery, says the Idaho Medical Association. Among several cases reviewed in a recent study, the following illustrate some dangers to which a person wearing a long scarf may be exposed. A girl, 10, suffered facial lacerations and bruises requiring surgical treatment when her scarf became entangled in a rope tow on a ski slope. A boy, 11, suffered total airway obstruction and respiratory arrest after his scarf became entangled in the engine of his snowmobile. He was rescued and recovered without impairment, but was treated for eye hemorrhages with retinal damage.

A young mother in her early 20's was hauled out of her seat on a ski lift when her scarf became wrapped around an oncoming chair. She died of strangulation.

A teenage girl sustained severe facial lacerations and bruises when her scarf became entangled in the rotating wheel of a stationary motorcycle as she leaned to inspect the running machinery.

The most striking feature of the accidents studied was the high death rate—45 per cent. All could have been simply prevented.

The fact that most of them occurred in connection with ski tows suggests that long-flowing scarves should not be worn at ski slopes.

The truth about Bronate, the "educated" herbicide. From a weed that lived just long enough to tell about it.

"Oh, it was terrible. A tragic day for weeds indeed.

There we were happily robbing the wheat of their precious moisture and nutrients when the Bronate hit.

First the gromwell, tarweed, henbit and dogfennel keeled over and died. Then the mustard family collapsed simultaneously. And finally my own family of crowfoot went before my very eyes.

I'd heard about Bronate but I never imagined it could wipe us out like that. I mean, we crowfoot are a hardy lot. Old Uncle Slimleaf, rest his soul, told us this Bronate wasn't like any other herbicide. It was educated. It knew the difference between weeds and wheat. It even says on the label it will kill 26 kinds of us.

He said farmers use it because when it killed us, it wouldn't hurt a grain of the wheat. Even the new herbicide sensitive varieties like luke wheat. And they'd get up to 12 to 20 bushels more yield per acre.

That's why it's the first choice of farmers out here in the Northwest.

Well, Uncle Slimleaf was right, dead right.

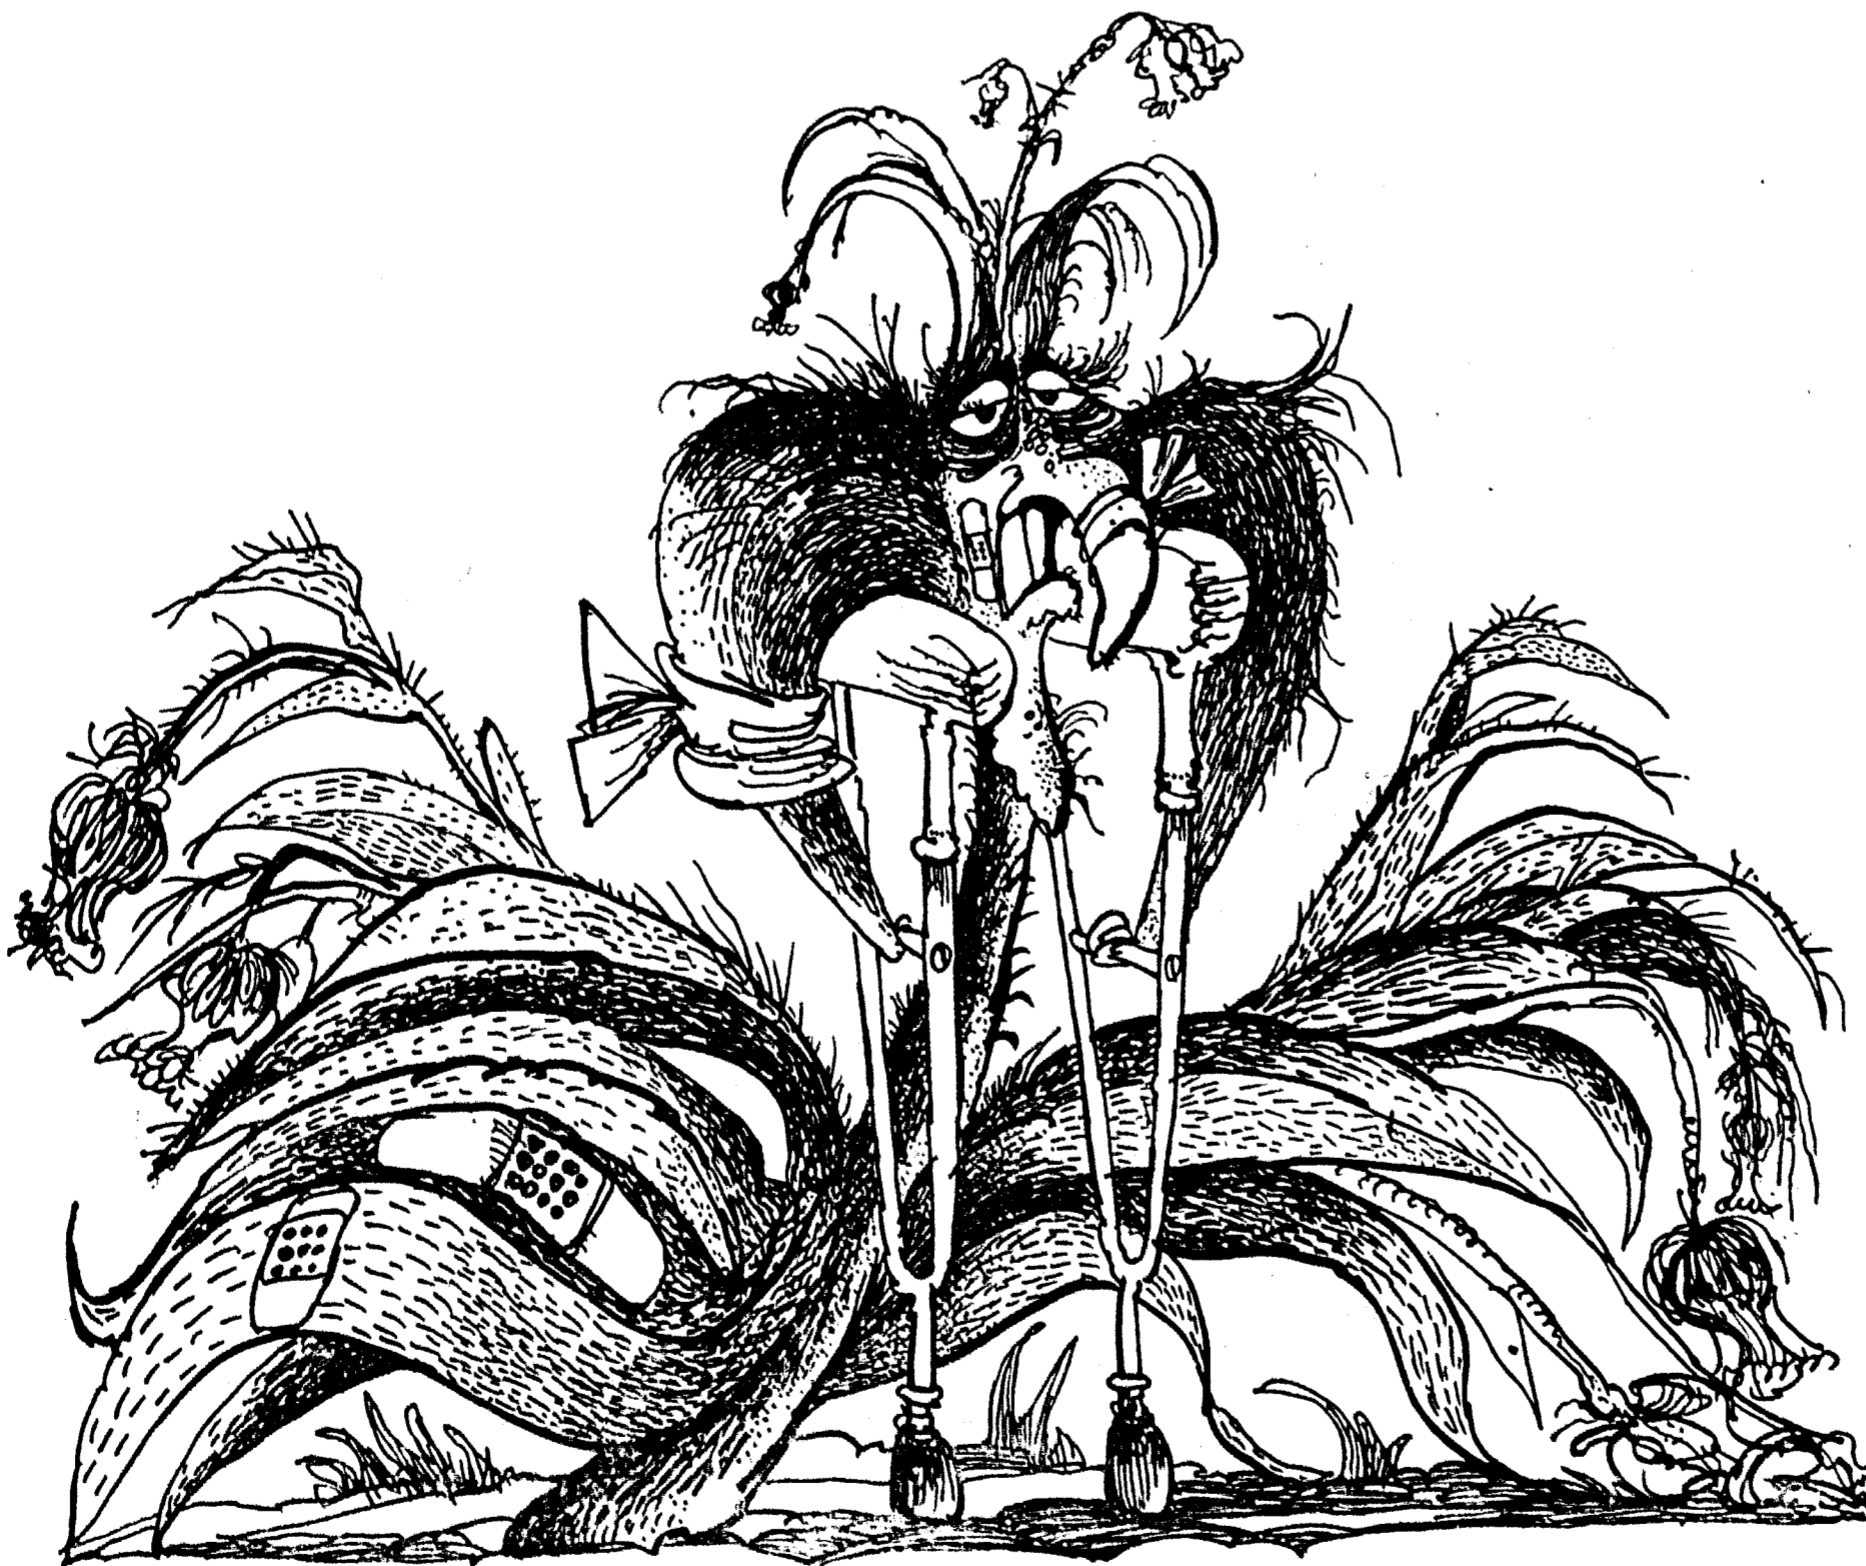

Anyway, by the time we realized Bronate was coming it was too late. We were goners.

It's just a matter of time for me now. I don't know how much longer I can hang on.

My last words to my fellow weeds are: stay away from Bronate. It re-a-l-l-y w-o-r-r-ks."

Bronate.

Works on weeds, not wheat.

Safe Use of Dinnerware

There's been considerably "toto" recently about dinnerware safety, and rightfully so. By following 3 simple rules, you can use your dinnerware without fear of lead poisoning advises Joanne Anderson, extension home economist, U. of I.

Rule 1: Do not store acid foods or beverages in pottery or ceramic containers.

Rule 2: Always use glass, plastic or enamel containers for storing acid foods.

Rule 3: Use dinnerware only for mealtime service.

What is the problem? A glass coating is used to seal the service of dinnerware. Also, some dinnerware is decorated with decal applied over the basic glaze and bonded by firing. Glaze and decal sometimes contains various metallic elements.

The presence of lead or other heavy metal compound in a glaze or decal does not in itself constitute a hazard. The important factor is how resistant the glaze or decal is to attack of food acids.

If the glaze or decal is properly formulated, properly applied, and properly fixed there is no hazard.

We do not always know about the glaze, so for assurance of safety, Mrs. Anderson emphasizes the importance of storing fruit juices soft drinks, wines, cider, vinegar and vinegar-containing foods, sauerkraut, tomatoes and tomato products, in fact all acid foods, in glass, plastic, or enamel. Do not store any acid foods in pottery ceramic or earthenware.

Use any type of glazed dinnerware for dinner service only.

"No Fault" Insurance Topic At Genesee Civic Association Meeting Wednesday

The Genesee Civic Club met Thursday, January 25 at the Genesee Cafe. A buffet dinner was prepared and served by Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Gasaway.

Guests for the evening were Lee Martin of Lipps Insurance and Wm. Totten of Stonebraker Insurance, of Lewiston. Mr. Martin is Regional Director of the Idaho Association of Independent Insurance Agents, Inc. The men were introduced by Don Springer, of Springer Insurance, Genesee. Their topic was the No-Fault Insurance plan formulated by the I. A. I. A. This group was asked by the State Insurance Commissioner to study and present a plan to the legislature.

The two guests explained why they believed no-fault insurance was a way out of the present insurance dilemma. It eliminates the necessity of proving fault in an accident in order to collect for any losses that might result. Idaho needs a plan of its own, Totten explained, because our problems are unique to our state and a federally devised plan may not work. Both men urged their audience to become familiar with the plan and write to or call their legislators about it soon. The bill will be presented to the legislature in Boise during the current session. They passed out brochures and more are available at Springers office.

The business meeting was conducted by President Gene Woodruff. After minutes and treasurer's report, a letter was read inviting anyone interested to attend Key '73 worship service at noon on Wednesday, at the Fire Hall. It was announced that bills from the current legislature will be available at Springer's Insurance for anyone who wishes to read them. Woodruff told the group about a meeting he attended in Moscow about drug abuse in the county. Questionnaires will be distributed to citizens of Latah county in the near future in an attempt to determine how widespread drug abuse really is.

The wedding of Miss Camile Wishard to Mr. Robert C. Hickman, will be solemnized on Saturday, March 3 at the Kenton United Presbyterian church in Portland.

PERMITS NEEDED TO FISH FOR STEELHEAD TROUT

The Idaho Fish and Game Department reminded anglers today that to fish for or take searun steelhead trout, a fisherman must have in possession a steelhead permit.

Any person holding a valid resident fish license or a valid nonresident fish and game license, and any person holding a nonresident season fish license or a valid nonresident fish and game license shall be eligible to purchase one steelhead trout permit at a fee of $1.00. This remains valid for the entire calendar year.

When a steelhead trout has been hooked, landed, and reduced to possession, the angler must immediately record on his permit the month and date of catch, and name of stream and stream section from which the fish was caught. Stream, stream section and date entries are required to be legible and accurate.

Streams not broken down by section (such as the Middle Fork or the Salmon River) need be listed only by stream name, not section.

On the back of the steelhead permit, river sections of the Snake, Clearwater and Salmon rivers are indicated and the permit should be marked accordingly. For example, a steelhead caught in the lower section of the Salmon River should be marked on the permit "Mouth to Whitebird Creek"—Salmon-1. The daily bag for steelhead trout (20 inches or over in fork length) shall be two (2) fish. No more than two (2) steelhead may be taken during any seven (7) consecutive day period. Not more than ten (10) steelhead trout may be taken during the year (January 1, 1973 to December 31, 1973).

Most compliments are untruths and that makes even more enjoyable.

Uncased Gun Illegal
Sans Current License

Idaho Fish and Game law requires that a person hunting or taking game or carrying an uncased rifle or shotgun in the field or forest of Idaho must have a valid hunting license.

There are certain exceptions.

One of these is that no one under the age of 12 years is permitted to carry an uncased rifle or shotgun in Idaho or to hunt at any time. Federal law requires that each person 16 yrs. of age or older who hunts ducks or geese must have in his possession a Federal migratory stamp of current issue. This stamp must be signed in ink with the holder's name. However, the duck stamps issued during 1972 for the 1972-73 waterfowl season remains valid through the current season.

Persons 70 years of age or over who have been residents for at least 10 years are exempted from licensing requirements but a valid free permit is available from the Fish and Game Department.

It is unlawful to hunt, shoot at, kill or attempt to kill any game animal with a .22 caliber rifle using rimfire cartridges. Cottontail and pigmy rabbits can be hunted with .22 caliber rimfire cartridges.

Shotguns may be used to hunt any big game animal with no restrictions on shot size. Pistols, except .22 caliber, may be used on big game.

Rifle, pistol and shotgun are permitted for hunting wild turkey, blue ruffed and/or spruce grouse. All other upland game birds are shotguns only. Mourning doves must be hunt-

Rabbit Hunting Goes On As Waterfowl Season Ends

Cottontail and pigmy rabbit seasons run through February 28 with daily bag and possession limits eight in the aggregate of cottontail and pigmy rabbits. Goose season is closed state wide while the season for ducks, coots and mergansers in the Columbia Basin mallard counties runs through January 20. The daily bag limits 7 ducks and the possession is 14 with shooting hours 1/2 hour before sunrise to 1/2 hour after sunset.

Youngsters under the age of 16 are not required to have a Federal duck stamp. Hunting licenses or combination hunting-fishing licenses are needed for these sports except for persons specifically excluded by law.

All upland game bird hunting in the state is closed except chukar and Hungarian partridge and quail in parts of the Snake and Salmon river drainages. Hunting for these species will be open through January 21. Bag limits are 10 Hungarian partridges and 10 chukar partridges and 10 in the aggregate of quail.

ed with shotguns capable of holding no more than 3 shells. Migratory waterfowl may be taken only with shotguns not larger than 10 gauge and incapable of holding more than 3 shells fired from the shoulder. It shall be unlawful to hunt, shoot or kill waterfowl with shotgun shells having a greater maximum length than 3 1/2 inches or with shot larger than size BB in any place in the state of Idaho

"Hand-Outs" Not Good

Giving money to a child "as needed" makes it difficult for him to plan his spending. He never knows how much money he will receive, or when.

This method does not offer regular experiences in managing money. And, it encourages a child to ask for money, says Mrs. Lois W. Pace, expanded food and nutrition extension specialist, U. of Idaho.

Some parents feel an allowance system would be a greater strain on the family budget than "hand-outs." Keeping a record of money given to youngsters during the week may prove "hand-outs" total more than an allowance.

National Wildlife Week
Plans Are Told

Plans are being readied by the National Wildlife Federation and its state and local affiliates for participation in the 36th annual National Wildlife Week, set for recognition March 18-24.

The theme for the 1973 Wildlife Week is "Discover Wildlife—It's Too Good to Miss." Focus of the week will be on the simple, yet exciting joy that can be found by Americans of all ages in the outdoor, natural world.

The Wildlife Week poster symbol is a young wood duck shown just emerging from its nest, which in this case is a wood duck box of the kind that has been constructed and erected in food duck areas around the country by hundreds of organizations and wildlife agencies. All that newly hatched duck has to do to break out into the natural world is take that first step out of the nest. It is just as easy for people to take that same step, to break out into nature and see what beauty has to offer.

The Wildlife Federation is urging families to plan now to get out and enjoy our wild resources as soon as spring weather permits. The experience can open up an entirely new world.

Moderate Exercise Won't Stimulate Your Appetite

Weight watchers should not shun exercise because they fear an increase in appetite, suggests the Idaho Medical Association.

Although a lean person in good condition may eat more following exercise his increased activity will burn up the extra calories he consumes.

The overweight person does not respond the same way to exercise. Because he has large stores of fat, moderate exercise does not stimulate his appetite. Only when he exercises to excess will his appetite increase.

Laboratory tests on animals have borne this out. In one experiment, animals exercised an hour a day, ate a smaller amount of food than those exercised less than an hour a day or not at all.

When the animals were exercised vigorously over long periods, they ate more, but the extra activity kept their weight constant.

Studies of overweight adults have shown that the start of obesity corresponds with the decline in activity. Although activity decreases with age, appetites do not—and through habit people tend to eat as much as ever.

Most people are limited by their inability to appreciate others.

1st Grade News
Children enjoyed a day of vacation last week. The children studied about the flag. What the colors stand for. Why there are 50 stars and the meaning of the stripes. Also along with studying about the flag they also learned about the President's Inauguration Day.

Children will be watching crystals growing soon.

Grade 2 News
Monday was Linda William's birthday. We enjoyed a cookie treat.

Tuesday we went outside and noticed the school flag was flying half-mast. Many students knew that it was because President Johnson died. We also took a walk downtown, past the postoffice to see if their flag was half-mast. And it was.

Friday we enjoyed watching Mrs. Beebe make Sesame Street Play Dough. We copied the recipe and each got to choose our own color dough.

Third Grade
The third grade class is earning two new caps. They are becoming meteorologists in their study of clouds. How they are made, how they are named, how precipitation is formed.

Secondly, they are becoming newscasters. They are now looking at information with the questions. Who? What? Where? When? in their minds. After preparing their announcements they are having the J.E.S. news in the classroom.

Fourth Grade
Willy the Bookworm is now doubling back home.

Those who received failing grades in the math test had better study harder. Some are even having troubles with adding and subtractions. And that's the truth!

Last Friday we etched slogans on "crayoned" cardboard. Some of the slogans were: "Keith is the best and all the rest. That's why this world is so great"—by Keith Ingle. "81" is the coolest in the West! PEACE!"

For science we drew these groovy pictures of a euglena, paramecia, and things. There were things we'd see through the microscope.

In Language we are talking about adjective or adverbs; we are on pages 218-219. In social studies we are making around the world cook books. We are putting up a map for it and the countries on it; then we will take straight pins and put a pin where country is that we brought a recipe. In spelling we are on pages 43-44.

The games this Saturday were very nice. The scores of the first game was 20-22, Jesters favor. In the second game, scores were 27-35, Timberline's favor. At half time the fifth and sixth grade girls drilled. We thank the 7th and 8th grade for yelling for us.

Many Activities, Projects Keep Kindergarten Students Busy, Active

We cut out pictures of the letter "H" for our sound books this week. Also, we practiced unscrambling numbers, learning more on our clocks, worked in our math workbooks on the number 2 and started a unit on different types of trucks and what they're used for.

Our teacher drew us a water cycle chart and explained how moisture evaporates, forms clouds and turns again to the earth.

We have been learning the song "Candy Man" and do we ever love it! Larry Snyder brought his record so we could hear other candy songs also.

Our teacher has been reading fairy tales to us every day and we sure hate it when story time is over.

Yarn and construction paper with punched holes are helping us to learn to lace and tie. Hopefully, our teacher says, we'll all soon be able to tie our own shoes.

Today, we drew self portraits so Mrs. Abrams can hang them up in our room, one at a time for Student of the Week. You'd be surprised, they really do look like ourselves.

A new alphabet and alphabet pictures are hanging on a wall of our classroom. Mrs. Abrams made them to help us remember the alphabet letters.
