Kendrick Residents Asked To Sprinkle Lawns, Gardens At Different Times

Just to be on the safe side during this period of dry weather and dangerous fire conditions, the city of Kendrick has divided the city in half (for sprinkling and watering purposes) and asked the cooperation of the public.

Those residents west of Deobalds Garage are asked to do their sprinkling and watering on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays only. Those east of Deobalds Garage are being asked to do their sprinkling on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, until further notice.

What about Sundays? Well the council felt that most folks were gone on Sundays either fishing, camping or visiting or what-have-you, and it wouldn't be that much of a problem. Anyway, the city fathers didn't want to make that much of a deal about this, but with conditions being as dry as they are they were sure residents would appreciate the problems and help conserve water just a bit.

Area's Small Grain Harvest Underway; Temperature Sizzles, But Crops Look Good

With temperatures pushing toward the 100-degree mark, the first of the 1973 small grain crops began arriving in area warehouses this past week. Agrow Seed Company in Genesee took in the first crops of the season on July 4 with peas coming in from the Rimrock section. Since that time all warehouses have been receiving peas, barley and small amounts of wheat.

George Brocke Jr., of Brocke and Sons, in Kendrick, said Tuesday afternoon they are taking in spring peas, winter peas, rape seed and grass seeds. The quality has been "very good" on spring peas, Brocke said, but added it was too early to tell about yields.

Bob Watts, manager of Kendrick Rochdale, said the Rochdale has taken in just peas so far, and a little barley. Watts said the pace of the harvest is expected to pick up toward the end of the week. He said both quality and quantity of the peas coming into the co-op looked good.

Ben Westendahl, manager of Lewiston Grain Growers Kendrick and Juliaetta facilities, said Tuesday afternoon the first peas and barley came into Juliaetta last Wednesday, July 11. Kendrick's warehouses are taking in spring peas and they were "surprisingly good." He said some of the spring barley checked went 1 1/2 tons to the acre and some winter barley went 2 tons to the acre. The first wheat of the season was due into the Grain Growers Tuesday afternoon from the Leland area.

Pea deliveries were coming in slow Tuesday afternoon at Agrow Seed Co. in Genesee reported Bill Robinson, warehouse supervisor. Three farmers who were growing peas under Agrow contract were cutting; Danner Bros. on Fix Ridge, Martin Stout and Kent Broemeling. The first peas came into Agrow July 4 and Robinson estimated that approximately 75 per cent of their peas on the Rim were in. He, too, said the quality of the peas were good.

Genesee Residents Asked To Cease Watering After 8:30 In The Evening

Genesee residents are asked to discontinue sprinkling lawns and gardens after 8:30 p.m., effective immediately, it was requested this week by Bill Phar, sewer and water commissioner.

Sprinkling late at night and in some cases all night, leaves the reservoir too low for the following day's consumption. Phar said checks would be made regularly each evening to see if the request has been complied with.

Hot, Dry Weather Pushes Fire Index Up As Fire Warden Urges Utmost Caution

In the wake of the 100-degree-plus temperatures, the area fire index soared upward this week bringing another plea from District Fire Warden Richard Benjamin of the Kendrick Fire Protective District for all citizens to use the utmost care to prevent starting a fire. "We're just holding our breath," Benjamin said Monday afternoon, as he reported a three-acre blaze which the district crew fought and controlled Sunday on Rock Creek, south of Potlatch.

The Rock Creek fire, of unknown origin, apparently started in one of three unoccupied buildings, destroyed two others and burned about three acres of grass and lightly timbered ground before it was controlled. The district dispatched two trucks and eight men, while the Potlatch Rural Fire District sent about the same number of men and equipment.

Monday night Benjamin sent another truck and a crew down north of Lapwai to battle a fire that burned more than 350 acres of grass and grain two miles north of Lapwai. The Kendrick crew were among fire fighters from six units who fought the blaze. The fire apparently originated in a wheat field off old U.S. Highway 95.

Grass Fire in Kendrick A grass fire on the rock bluff behind the Bud Eichner home early Sunday afternoon was controlled by the Kendrick Fire Department with little or no damage.

Hoot Owl Shift Due Benjamin said Monday that he had received inquiries from loggers wondering about the logging operations being forced into "hoot owl" shift because of the fire danger. He said that this restriction, which forces loggers to cease operations by 11 a.m. would probably be put into effect within a week or 10 days, "it could be sooner if the weather turns extreme," he added.

It has been 21 days since the area has had any moisture or dryness, this coupled with the already dry conditions from lack of winter and spring moisture and the hot, drying afternoon winds which had been prevalent for the past week or so, are creating hazardous conditions. With farmers now beginning harvest operations, an added potential danger is present.

The annual Candler family reunion and picnic will be held Sunday, July 22 at the Kendrick City Park. The night before, Saturday, July 21, the family has rented the VFW Hall and will hold a family dance and get-together.

As the reunion approaches, Mrs. P. G. (Florence) Candler, took a look backward to her early days and put a few of her memories down in writing for relatives and friends. Here are her words and thoughts:

It was in 1888 my parents and my father's parents, Simon and Lizzie Waite moved from Dayton, Washington by covered wagon to Teakcan, Idaho. My father and grandfather had taken a homestead. I was seven. As we left Dayton, we met some shepherds—they had a little lamb with a broken leg and they gave it to my oldest brother, George. Grandpa Waite fixed it up with a splint and it was later running around the tent after us small kids. When it was grown my Dad and brother went to Genesee and bought a sheep from a Mr. Scharnhorst and raised quite a few from that one little lamb.

My grandparents didn't stay at Teakcan long. He sold his rights to Marvin Robey and moved to Seattle where he had another son, Charles Waite, and other relatives. My mother's folks lived on Fashion Island near Seattle. They all lived there till they left this world.

I remember when I was 14, I cooked for hay hands, 12 in all, with a family—Grandpa Pappinger and his daughter, Nora, some of you will remember. He also had four sons who worked in the hay. I never got to bed until 11 o'clock—I cooked, done the dishes and then washed the cream separator. . . . It wasn't easy and I got $3.00 per week.

Then I cooked for many sawmill and shingle mill crews and harvest hands. I remember cooking on a cook wagon one summer with Della Hamilton, who some of you might know—a sister to Mrs. Ford Parks. I always had breakfast ready by the time she got her hair fixed. I remember I got mad at the boss (I can't remember what for) anyway. I threw a potato at him and hit smack dab in his mouth (ha), well, he canned me and had one of the boys take me home. He got a Webster girl to take my place. I was told they really knew who did the cooking after I had left. . . . fun.

Then I cooked for the same many times after that. . . . for his shingle mill crew, even once after I was married and my husband fired the engine. I cooked several seasons when the tie camp mill ran for Jim Jump. You older folks might remember but most of the people have passed on who worked there. I remember the men said I was a good cook, but I didn't cook enough. Funny, I cooked all the pans would hold. Oh, one place I cooked for a planer mill crew (it was in 1910 after I was married and Gifford fired the engine) I made biscuits always for breakfast 'cause they ate too much light bread and I couldn't bake that every day. Well, I was mad 'cause they ate so many biscuits. Then old man Alderman says, "you make them too good."

I remember his daughter was there too. She had just been married to a Harry Abrams, as some of you might know. Anyway, she had to come stay and sleep in the bunk house with her husband and we lived in a tent and didn't have room for her; it was lots of fun. I believe they were from Gold Hill or Southwick.

I also worked in a prune orchard on American Ridge two seasons for R. A. Russell when I was about 14 or 15. Had lots of fun and worked hard to make around a dollar a day at that five cents per box. Then I packed apples and pears.

I remember Mr. Galespie from Lenore or Agatha, was my first teacher. He was on crutches at the time, and George Davidson was my 2nd teacher (I believe). I remember the ants got in my lunch (don't remember what was it) the ants wouldn't pass up. Anyway George gave me an egg boiled; he had two, don't remember what else I got. . . . just the egg from him is all. I think our lunches all sat on a shelf on the school wall.

I am 81—don't seem possible—still able to wait on my self in a way.

SHEEP SHOWN AT COLFAX SATURDAY, JULY 14

85 purebred sheep will be shown and sold on Saturday, July 14, at Palouse Empire Fairgrounds, Colfax, Washington, in an event sponsored by leading sheep producers who are interested in promoting quality breeding stock.

According to the auctioneer and sales manager, C. E. "Mac" McLean, Spokane, there will be 33 purebred ewes and 52 purebred rams which will be shown at 11 a. m. and judged by Milton Russell, W. S. U. Shepherd, Pullman, Washington. The sale will be at 1 p. m. with all stock selling in order of show placing.

McLean said the 85 head of sheep have been selected from nearly twice that number in order to provide a quality offering. He said 4-H club and FFA members will be offered an excellent opportunity to get top quality stock.

"The purebred sheep producers who are sponsoring this sale are confident they will have sheep for the big range operator as well as the farm flock man," McLean said. "Purebred breeders will have an outstanding opportunity to select from this offering," he said.

Consignments from Oregon, Idaho, and Washington have been entered. Breeds represented include Hampshire, Suffolk, Polled Dorset, Montford, Corriedale, Shropshire, and Oxford.

A special judging contest for 4-H and FFA members will be held at 9:00 a. m.

NATIONAL FOREST RECREATION AREAS

In a cooperative program between the USDA, Forest Service and local law enforcement officers of Montana, Idaho, Washington and South Dakota, sheriffs and deputies are patrolling National Forests in an effort to prevent vandalism, theft, property damage and to insure visitor safety.

Repair of damaged facilities in National Forests is estimated at more than 2 million annually, according to Forest Service Special Agent D. W. (Bill) Longacre in the Northern Region headquarters. This loss does not include manpower and time lost from other projects nor the extent of damage to the environment before repair is made.

Longacre pointed out that with this money the Forest Service could construct many miles of nature roads or new campgrounds with space for as many as 750 families.

National Forest Supervisors in Montana, Idaho, Washington and South Dakota have 32 cooperative law enforcement agreements with Co. sheriffs under the provisions of Public Law 92-82 passed by Congress in 1971. Under these cooperative programs, Longacre explained, the Forest Service is presently providing $180,000 to local counties as reimbursement for the added law enforcement in the National Forests.

Some counties are using the funds for improved radio equipment, new patrol vehicles and added personnel during the season of heavy use of the National Forests.

National Forest Supervisors in Oregon and Washington have reported that the cooperative program is to compensate for the added impact on local law enforcement operations.

Longacre pointed out that the theft of recreationists personal property while in the National Forests is not covered with Federal law. It falls within the authority of local, state and county officials. National Forest visitors are subject to state, county and Federal laws. Forest Service officials have primary responsibility for enforcement of Federal Laws in the National Forests.

A recent survey of National Forests and National Parks revealed that approximately two-thirds of the vandalism incidents were traced to 18 to 21-year-olds; 90 percent were male and in almost every instance the vandalism was done by groups of 3 or more persons rather than by individuals.

WHAT PRICE COMMUNICATION?

In some form or other, communication seems to be man's big problem today . . . the problem is not lack of communication, but rather a fear of saying what we really want to say. . . .

"We are afraid to risk real honest communication. We are afraid of rejection, ridicule condemnation. We are afraid that others will understand us and then they might not like us. Truly it is a risk to communicate but the rewards far outweigh the dangers. Life takes on a new meaning when you can talk with someone; when you can share the thoughts and feelings locked up inside; when that deep urge is released without fear. That's real communication and there's no agency policing it or taxing it. It's free—use it."—Chaplain Robert W. Nowling.

Upsurge in Female Workers Noticed

Miniskirts are invading the business world in greater numbers than ever before. The Wall Street Journal explains why 42 per cent of the female population is out working. . . . "It isn't to support any war effort. Nor is it to flex their rights and strike blows for women's liberation. Rather, it's for a more basic reason—money."

The upsurge in female workers may be attributed to several reasons. The Wall Street Journal says, "More employers are living up to the spirit of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which requires that men and women be given equal consideration and to the Equal Pay Act of 1963, which requires equal pay for equal work. Also many employers have been pinched for skilled labor and are discovering women can do the jobs as well—and at times better—than men."

That could account for the fact that nearly two thirds of the labor force increase in the last decade has been female."

So the next time the "lady of the house" is nowhere to be found, just follow the sound of hammering—she may be down the street building a new city hall!

Idaho Wants Legal Voice In Three-State Fishery

By Jim Humbird

Idaho Fish-Game Department trying to make its voice heard in the deliberations of the Columbia River Compact, established by the states of Oregon and Washington to manage and perpetuate the renewable ocean-run salmon and steel head fisheries. The Columbia River Compact historically has divided the commercial fish harvest between the two states, excluding Idaho from membership and voting rights.

The Oregon legislature this year once more rejected a fisheries bill to make Idaho a full member of the Compact, and the Washington legislature summarily adjourned with a bill (HB-274), which would have authorized Idaho membership in the influential Columbia River compact, still hanging in committee closet gathering dust. Commercial fisheries interests dominated the 2 legislatures in this regard and the bills got nowhere.

As a member of the Columbia River Advisory Council, Idaho is advisory only. Final decisions and voting power is in the Columbia River Compact. The Oregon Fish Commission and Director of the Washington Department of Fish determine the seasons and the management of any ocean fishery. Decisions are based on the recommendations of the biological staff. The Advisory Council is made up of 5 state agencies, commissions and sport agencies of Oregon, Idaho and Washington.

Warm-Water Fish

In addition to black bass, bluegill, mouth and small mouth species, there are (1) true sunfishes in Idaho waters such as bluegill, pumpkinseed, and (2) the crappies. Collectively, they are the so-called spiny-rayed fish and are native only in North America, the most widely distributed and most numerous of any freshwater family of fishes in this country. Like the bass, these warm-water species were imported to Idaho waters during the great mid-century coming of the early settlers in covered wagons.

One day a small boy was taking a walk with his father. When they passed an unusual looking truck, he said, "What's that, Daddy?"

"I don't know," his father said. "Then they came to a large, old-fashioned warehouse. 'What's in there, Daddy?'" the little boy asked.

"I don't know," his father said. "Then they saw a man with a pneumatic drill breaking up the pavement. 'What's the man doing, Daddy?'" the boy asked.

"I don't know," his father said. "After they had walked on a short way in silence, the little boy turned to his father and said, 'Daddy, do you mind me asking you so many questions?'"

"Of course not," said his father. "How else are you going to learn anything?"

A heavy drinker was warned by his doctor that he was suffering from dropsy; too much water in his body.

"That's impossible," said a close buddy, "You don't drink any water— all you drink is booze."

"I know," said the tippler. "It must be those darned ice cubes."

Salmon Seasons Vary Depending On Waters

The Idaho Fish and Game Department urged salmon anglers to study chinook salmon regulations carefully because of variable season closing dates which began June 30 on the Clearwater River and ends July 31 when the chinook salmon season ends on the entire Salmon River drainage.
July 15 is the closing date on Redfish Lake Creek; Redfish Lake; Salmon River and tributaries, including lakes, from the mouth of Redfish Lake Creek upstream to Hell Roaring Creek; Valley Creek from Stanley Lake downstream; Camas Creek, from mouth of Silver Creek to the mouth of Yellow Jacket Creek; and Loon Creek from the mouth of Mayfield Creek upstream, including Mayfield Creek.

MOSQUITOES ARE NO PROBLEM

(nor are any other unwanted visitors)

Nobody likes those bugs and flies with their buzz and bites, but air conditioning lets you keep them outside, as you keep clean, fresh air inside.

Air conditioning lets you lock out other unwanted visitors, too: burglars and vandals who just can't ignore that window left open to get relief from the hot summer night. You air condition your house because you want to enjoy cool comfort the clock around.

Isn't security a nice fringe benefit?

Enjoys Alaskan Vacation
Leaving home on June 19, and driving to the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bakke, for an overnight and day visit, the Glen Stevens started on a wonderful vacation. Mrs. Bakke, who now hold a pilot's license, took her parents for a 1 1/2-hour plane ride over the area, her first relatives to be taken aloft.

Leaving Seattle on an evening jet plane for Alaska, the Stevens arrived in Anchorage at 10:30 by Alaskan time and saw a rising sun? (I am as confused over this as Marjory said she felt!) Glen and Marjory spent three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Bud Carpenter and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Carpenter and grandson Wesley.

During their stay, they traveled to Valdez by car, returning by ferry. Also they enjoyed a short fishing trip with Richard.

On a trip to a zoo with grandson Wesley a newspaper photographer snapped his picture petting a wolf, and gave him a "writeup" which they proudly brought home!

The Stevens arrived home safely on Thursday, July 12, after another overnight stay in Seattle with daughter Linda and husband.

Home had been left in the care of a friend, Mrs. Carol Maynard, who became as fond of our community as the community of her!

Gertrude Heimgartner now is valiantly fighting the grasshoppers and army worms who advance on her garden! Combining has commenced with surprisingly good yields considering all the problems faced.

Friends happily report the wonderful progress being made by Lois Johnston following her recent surgery!

Flowers Return Safely
Mrs. Ken Steiglers, one of a party of 13 "rubber-rafters" returned home on Thursday evening, unburned and weary, after a week's float from Paradise to Selway Falls. All were satisfied with the expedition. In one night's camp nine rattlesnakes were seen by the group and others en-

CHAMELEON TACTICS OF THE FLU VIRUS
Flu virus that cause worldwide epidemic may be earthbound Andromeda strains that hide out, waiting for the right moment to burst forth on the world.

At a recent conference at the National Institutes of Health, Dr. Edwin D. Kilbourne, chairman of the Department of Microbiology at New York School of Medicine in New York compared the flu virus to the organisms from outer space that almost produced global disaster in Michael Crichton's novel.

The flu virus, according to Dr. Kilbourne appears to be the only virus afflicting man that undergoes sudden, major genetic changes. He believes strains of past flu viruses, for which man has developed antibodies are now breeding in animals. While in the animals, he feels they can change their stripes. When a random recombination of genetic materials occur the virus once again is infectious for man. When a favorable climate an ecological niche develops for them, they travel back from animal to man again.

As One Man Sees This World...

July 4, 1973
Fort Dauphin, Madagascar

Former Pastor Otto G. Ehlen celebrated his 75th birthday in Bezaha, Madagascar in the home of American Lutheran Church Missionary, Rev. Roger Ose and family. Mrs. Ose is the daughter of Mrs. Ehlen and the late Clyde Smith of Fort Angeles, California.

Madagascar will become totally free of control by France on September 1st. Politically, militarily, and economically she has been controlled by France. In 1960 she declared herself a republic and has gradually gained free status as a new emerging nation. Even now France exercises considerable influence economically.

The island of Madagascar is 1,000 miles long and 300 miles wide and varies greatly in climate, terrain, and flora from north to south, and from east to west.

The Malagasy people are dark skinned but not of African nor Asian ancestry, but rather Polynesian. Family ties are very close. Even ancestors dead long ago exert an amazing influence on the present pagan families. The manner of life grandfathers held must be honored. This hinders progress. They till the soil with primitive tools.

Zebu (hunchbacked cattle) pull two-wheeled wagons along unimproved roads. Women carry rice and many other products in wicker baskets on their heads. The people plant rice, harvest it by hand sickle, thresh it, and hull it by hand and sell it by the cup full in the village market.

The majority of the Malagasy have no electric lights or refrigerators. Hence vegetables and meat and rice are bought for each day's requirement. Family income probably averages less than $100 per year. But rice is the staple food, and all have enough to eat. Clothing needs are few, since this island, 4th largest in size on earth, lies between the equator and the Tropic of Capricorn. It is warm at this time of year and although this is the "winter" season it was 80 degrees on the shortest day of the year.

But the Gospel of Christ is bringing hope, health, and progress to this emerging young nation. The Christian Church is well over 100 years old in Madagascar. Hospitals are staffed by well-trained, self-sacrificing Malagasy and foreign physicians and nurses. Often the needed medical supplies arrive as exasperatingly slow, yet somehow the medical staff manages to help people! New methods in agriculture, in education and industry, are promoted by, and on occasion instituted by the Christian denominations.

Items. It's also a good idea to photograph these items and record their serial numbers in case of theft so you can help recover them.

* Set your thermostat at a minimum air conditioning requirement.

* Leave shades and drapes the way you normally leave them when you're at home. You might want to set a timer that turns on a light or two, making outsiders think that someone is home. It generally doesn't help just to leave a light on because if someone is casing your home, he'll see through that ploy after a few hours.

* Lock all windows and doors. If you have a sliding glass door, lay a length of pipe or a broom stick in the inside track to keep a burglar from jiggling the door open.

If you'll take these steps to safeguard your home, you'll be less likely

Home Cookin'...

If you are thinking of entertaining in your home or even going on a picnic, home made bread is always one of the most welcome foods on the table. Good bread or rolls make a meal and everyone enjoys fresh bread but just don't take the time to make it. So try this recipe for rolls, then invite some neighbors in and share it with them. Our cook (and I am to keep her? his? name out of print) says they are easy to prepare with the recipe large enough to serve several, and what you don't bake will freeze well.

2 WEEKS SUPPLY OF ROLLS

2 qt. sweet milk
1 cup sugar
1 cup shortening
1 pkg. yeast
1/4 cup warm water
8 1/2 to 9 1/2 cups flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 teas. soda
2 teas. baking powder
Scald milk. Stir in sugar and shortening. Let cool. Dissolve yeast in water and add to it 4 1/2 cups of flour. Beat altogether 'til smooth. Let rise until double. Then stir down batter. Add salt, soda and baking powder, and mix well.
Then add 4 cups flour—mix well. Add more flour is necessary. Knead 'til smooth.
Then place dough in bowl that is well greased and cover with grease. Cover with plastic and place in refrigerator. Make rolls as wanted. This keeps 2 weeks in refrigerator without souring. When making the rolls, it takes about 2 hours for them to rise. Bake at 350 degrees.
You may cut down on sugar if you wish. Makes good cinnamon rolls or coffee cake.

DON'T LET A BURGLAR BLOW YOUR VACATION

Coming home to a burglarized home is no way to end a vacation. If you are planning a trip this summer, take a few precautions to insure that everything will be the way you left it when you return.

Before you leave—be sure to—

- * Tell a neighbor where to reach you in an emergency. Give him an itinerary of your trip, so in an emergency, he can contact you by calling the highway patrol or leaving a message at your destination.
- * Give your neighbor a spare key and ask him to check your house daily.
- * Stop newspaper, milk and other regular deliveries.
- * Have the post office hold your mail while you're gone or have your neighbor pick up your mail regularly.
- * Arrange to have your lawn mowed, your houseplants watered and your pets tended.
- * Notify the local police or sheriff's office so officers can keep an eye on your house.
- * Check your policies, to see if your car and homeowner's insurance are in force. Also make sure that your driver's license has not expired.
- * Store your exceptionally valuable

Latah County Job Picture

21 area workers were placed on jobs during the past week reports the Moscow office of the Department of Employment. This compares to 12 last week and 12 during the same period a year ago. An increase in area farming operations contributed to the increase in job placements. 29 new jobs were placed and at the close of the week there were 27 positions available. Current listings include domestic workers, office workers, waitresses, cooks, service station attendant, janitor, hotel clerk, sales clerk and mechanics. Many young workers continue their search for summer jobs. Any employers who are in need of summer help are urged to contact the Department of Employment.

Claims for unemployment insurance total 277 in Latah county. This is down 2 from last week but still somewhat higher than last year's total of 250. 18 new claims were filed during the week. Moscow area residents receiving jobless pay total 189 in addition to 7 in Genesee, 35 in the Troy-Deary-Bovill area, 2 in Kendrick and 84 in the Polk-Latah area.

HAPPY PEOPLE

The happiest people are not necessarily those who receive the largest salaries or the most public acclaim. A feeling of wholesome and enviable well-being is to be found among millions of plain people who are giving to have your vacation spirits dampened by a burglary.

to their daily task their best effort, and are meeting their obligations to their families and their neighborhoods squarely and honestly.—Breda, Iowa News

One of the peculiar things about truth, in general, is that it requires very little argument to support itself.
