Volume 88 KENDRICK AND GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO THURSDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1973 NO. 52

Mr. and Mrs. Manning Onstott accepted a plaque and two savings bonds on behalf of the Kendrick Grange Tuesday evening, December, as awards for placing first in the state and third on the national level in the Grange's community improvement and Community More Beautiful contests. State Grange Master Dan Robinson, Saglee, Idaho, left, made the presentations. He was assisted by Edwin Condell, Pomona Grange Master from Troy.

State Grange Master Dan Robinson Visits Kendrick Grange; Presents National Award

Forty-four Grange members met at the Kendrick Grange Hall Tuesday evening, Dec. 18, at 8 o'clock.

Kendrick Grange members were honored by the presence of State Grange Master and Mrs. Dan Robinson, who were on their way to spend Christmas at their home at Saglee, Idaho. We are proud to announce that our own State Master and friend were elected to the office of National Gatekeeper at the 1973 National Grange convention held recently at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Other guests were Pomona Master and Mrs. Edwin Condell of Troy; Lapwag Grange Master and Mrs. Hugh Parks and Mrs. Ray Davis of Lewiston; Mr. and Art Fliddler of Troy Grange from Lewiston and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Steigers of Caldeasac.

The chairman of Women's Activities reported on dinners served, the Christmas party and recent accomplishments in progress of kitchen improvements.

During the Agriculture Committee report, it was stated that Roy Glenn has retired from the ASCOS committee after twenty years of fine service.

Resolutions written by the Resolution Committee were read and approved.

State Master Dan Robinson spoke briefly on the national session held at Lincoln, Neb., where he served as a committee chairman, and Mrs. Robinson served as a committee secretary. This entailed hard work, but was most interesting. A good session was reported.

State Master Robinson stated, "Grange is in favor of land-use program but the policies must be implemented by local and county committees with direct insurance and help from the state and national levels."

He also spoke of the Occupational Safety and Health Act passed in 1970 (the O. S. H. A.), saying, "We are in favor of the recommendations of the legislative council to have an educational program within the state of Idaho and leave the inspection of O. S. H. A. to the federal government at the present time."

Also, "The State Grange is in favor of the multiple use concept rather than the Wild Rivers or Wilderness Area. They are in favor of leaving it under the jurisdiction of the Forest Service Department."

He cautioned to be very careful of the size of warning signs on the rear of slow-moving vehicles as there are government specifications to this effect.

Robinson congratulated Kendrick Grange on their accomplishment of having won first place in State and third place in the nation with its entry in the Community Service and Community More Beautiful Contest. This was won on the remodeling of the Fraternal Temple which was formerly Table Supply Grocery store, into a comfortable and convenient meeting place which the Grange and other organizations and groups have been enjoying.

This was accomplished by a cooperative effort between the Grange, Masons, O. E. S. and the community.

There were 1217 volunteer man hours spent up to May 30, 1973, with many furnishings, equipment, and supply as well as monetary donations.

Two large poles, which were an inconvenience, were removed and a laminated beam installed across the ceiling of the hall, was a marvelous improvement — compliments of a farm couple.

Partitions were changed, removed and installed, to form entry way, main hall, kitchen and dining access areas; closets and restrooms formed and finished. Paneling installed, 185 yards of carpeting and also other flooring laid, plus drapes, cupboards, sub-flooring clear through and many other improvements and repairs.

This change eliminated two flights of stairs to get to the meeting hall and banquet room for Grange functions.

Plans for completion of the project are being formulated.

Awards Presented

State Master Robinson presented Kendrick Grange Master and Mrs. Onstott with a beautiful plaque and a $75 Savings Bond for the Kendrick Grange for placing third in the nation, and a $100 Savings Bond for placing first in the state contest.

Other presentations for the evening were a red medallion ribbon presented to Elsie Onstott by Pomona chairman of women's activities, Mildred Condell, for winning second place in the National Contest with her embroidered pillowcases, which are beautiful and very well done. She also received a check for $5 from the Coats & Clark company on the national level for having placed first in the state. She will also receive $25 as award for winning second on the national level in the needlework contest.

Elsie also received a blue medallion ribbon for having placed first in the state.

The Robinsons were presented a Christmas gift and best wishes from the Kendrick Grange.

Chairman of Women's Activities, Mabel Glenn, was presented a new, pretty and modern C. W. A. pin.

The Grange members were honored with musical selections by two girls, Joanne Parks and Amy Lawrence, from the music department at KHS. Joanne sang "Birth of a King" accompanied by Amy. Amy played a piano solo "March of the Toys", followed by a duet "Let There Be Peace on Earth" by both girls with Joanne playing the accompaniment. Then both girls sang a capella—"We Wish You a Merry Christmas", a lovely musical Christmas card to all. They were lovely and everyone enjoyed them.

Five Granges were represented at this meeting—Westmond Grange No. 302, 2 members; Troy, 4; Caldeasac, 2; Laywall Valley, 3 and Kendrick 34.

At the close of the evening delicious refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Manning Onstott, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Fey and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson.

Thought for the day—taken from Poor Woman's Almanac by Beryl Plinker in Ladies Home Journal—"If you speak before you think, you find out what's really on your mind."

The next regular meeting has been cancelled because it fell on New Year's Day. Consequently, the next meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 15 at 8 p. m. in the Grange Hall.

There will be a meeting of the Latah County Pomona Grange Saturday, January 12 at Moscow Grange Hall.

'Cats 59-55 for 4th Win

Proving once again that you can't keep a good man or good team down, the Kendrick Tigers went to Lapwai Tuesday night and dumped the Wildcats 59-55. It was the fourth win in seven starts for the KHS team that bounced back after a shaky match against the Kamiah Cubs last Saturday night.

It was a close contest all the way with the score tied 31-31 at the half. Kendrick held a slim 45-44 lead at the end of three quarters and then the Wildcats finally took the lead 51-50 before Vern Reed dropped in a short shot that sent Kendrick ahead to stay.

Four shooting played a big role in the contest with KHS getting 17 of its points from the free throw line.

Reed's 20 points led all scorers that night with Ron Siflow close behind with 17. Kelly Clomneshagen had 8, Ed Anderson 7, Marty Clomneshagen 6 and Ken Brown 1.

Kendrick's JV team had an easier time, winning the preliminary game 59-44.

Christmas Break

Coach Geo. Nolan and his boys now have a holiday break and won't be back in action until January 4 when they go to Craigmont for a game with the Highland Huskies.

Latah Bookmobile Schedule Revised Effective Jan. 2

The Latah County Bookmobile is beginning a new schedule Wednesday, January 2, 1974. Stops on the new schedule are being shifted to reduce the number of miles the bookmobile must travel per year. This reduction will result in considerable savings in gasoline and wear and tear on equipment plus savings in personnel time but will not cut service.

The Library Board has also changed the bookmobile circulation policy. All bookmobile items will now circulate two weeks rather than the four week period previously allowed. The circulation change was made in an attempt to get books returned faster. This check-out period is the same as that for the Moscow Public Library and the county branches in Pocatello and Genesee. Renewals are still possible if another person has not already requested the same book. This change begins with

Dist. 283 Supt. Discusses Tax Levies

By Don Blakeley

Let's take a look at bond and school plant facilities recently passed in Idaho school districts.

Congratulations are in order for East Bonneville for the approval of their $3,459,000 bond issue to build with a 69.72 percent favorable vote and to Meridian for the approval of their $3,285,000 bond with a 73.468 favorable vote. Marsh Valley approved their $1,400,000 bond with a 70.01 percent vote. Hansen approved its $380,000 bond with a 68.7 percent vote and Blackfoot approved its $3,000,000 bond with a 74.020 percent favorable vote. Blackfoot also passed a school plant facility levy of 5 mills for 5 years with a favorable vote of 72.65 percent.

We are pleased to learn that at least the first review of the bonding attorneys of Judge Durtsch's decision on school funding will not affect the present bonding procedures at least until after July 1, 1975.

Joint School District 283 turned down a school plant facility levy of 2 mills for 10 years to buy school buses by a total of 3 votes last May. We must propose a similar levy by March or some of the rural students may be walking to school in the future.

Buses Getting Old

Most of the school buses are getting quite old. A break down on bus route mileage is listed below and indicates that the Leland and the spare bus should be replaced. The spare bus is also used for many activity trips.

Bus	Mileage
Leland	94,769
Spare Bus	92,690
Bear Ridge	88,448
Juliaetta Bus	49,740
American Ridge	42,528
Southwick-Cameron	35,120
Cedar Ridge	17,690

A check reveals that the Leland bus was purchased in 1965 and the spare bus in 1962. Something must be done to upgrade the district fleet.

The plant facility levy shows a present balance of only $1808.42. Bus replacements will run about $7,800, depending upon size. This means that even if a plant facility levy passes, a bus can't be purchased for another year until tax money is received. We can't buy much of a bus for $1,808.

Harlem Clowns Team Here December 28

The famed world travelers known as the Harlem Clowns basketball team are coming to town to play at the Kendrick High School gymnasium Friday evening, December 28. It was reminded again this week by Bob Hepper, president of the Tiger Booster Club, who is sponsoring the event. The Clowns will meet a team made up of Booster members.

Game time is 7:30 p. m.

Since their first trip across the U. S. A. in 1934, this great team has traveled over a million miles and played before hundreds of millions of people.

Audiences have ranged from a 100 spectators in a school gymnasium in a remote western town to 35,000 in Manila, The Philippines.

The Clowns have played in the smallest towns as well as the world's largest city, Tokyo, Japan. In Tokyo they have appeared three times where they share their popularity with the Harlem Globetrotters.

There is no language barrier when the clowns dribble out on the floor to open their basketball fun festival with an exhibition of ball handling they call "The Magic Circle."

A clipping from the newspaper China Post in Taipei (Formosa) is typical of "rave notices" in the world press when the Clowns were on a recent tour.

Under the heading, "Harlem Clowns Unbelievable", was the following: "Over 10,000 basketball fans packed China Stadium last night to see the fun-filled Harlem Clowns win a game 83-85. Shrieks of laughter, thunderous bursts of handclapping and gasps of astonishment filled the air. How the ball moved from man to man, bounced from floor to palm and into the net was a mystery. The show should be seen and not read to be appreciated."

Energy Crisis Discussed At Boise School Meeting

Supt. of Schools Don Blakeley recently returned from a State Superintendent's meeting in Boise. One of the major topics of discussion was the shortage of fuel and how it will affect school operations. Here are some of the pertinent results of that meeting:

A special task force has been set up to deal with conservation and the energy crisis. All superintendents are to submit answers to questions regarding heating fuels and gasoline used since 1970-71. The survey statistics will be submitted to the State Board of Education for final analysis on such problems as four-day school, transfer of gasoline from district to district, cancelling of spectator buses for ball games and field trips. The board is scheduled to meet in early January. We should know the mandatory requirements by Jan. 14.

It was agreed that all districts would implement all reasonable measures to save fuel, both gasoline and heating oil, and should be included in the first priority grouping by the state and federal agencies involved in the energy crisis. It was the opinion of the administrators that when a school district has exhausted its available supply of fuel, it discontinue operation of the units involved and when the impact upon the school warrants, that the school declare an emergency closure.

Juliaetta Donations Aid Needed at Christmas

Juliaetta has a small part in helping the Salvation Army furnish Christmas for 3500 needy people in the area served this year. The Salvation Army reported aiding twice the number of people this year as it did last.

Gifts and clothing were collected at Noble's Store, making ten boxes in all. These were delivered to Lewisville by members of the Juliaetta Community Church.

L. Anderson of the Lewiston Salvation Army unit, said 600 gift packs and visit were made at area rest homes this year.

Receives Dividend Check on Behalf of Genesee Union Warehouse

Genesee Union Receives Dividend Check from NPGG

At a recent dinner held in Walla Walla Bill Wood, manager of Genesee Union Warehouse Co., accepted a check for $12,900.00 from Bill Bell, president of North Pacific Grain Growers, Inc., covering dividends the local couple earned on business transacted between the two firms last year.

Along with 48 other local grain companies, Genesee Union Warehouse Co. owns stock in North Pacific, a regional grain marketing cooperative. At the end of each fiscal year, the regional distributes profits to its stockholders based on their individual patronage.

The past year was one of the most eventful in memory. Crop failures in both hemispheres attracted buyers from around the world to the U. S. A. The political detente with Russia and Mainland China opened two new foreign markets to grain growers. Last year's total U. S. wheat exports hit an historic high of some 1.2 billion bushels. This volume also pushed wheat prices to historic highs.

"We thought last year was the wildest time we'd ever see in the grain business," declared Genesee Union Warehouse Co.'s manager Bill Wood. "However, as things developed, last year didn't even hold a candle to this year," he concluded.

Excellent Chance of Wet, Muddy Christmas

For a brief period Thursday morning, the chances of a White Christmas in the area appeared excellent, but the snow storm which had dropped about an inch of cover on the higher elevations during the night turned into a drizzling rain at day-break and now, with the exception of a few protected snow banks, the ground is a muddy brown and green again. Temperatures stayed in the mid-forties during the day and only on that one night did they approach the freezing level.

Less Lights

The current energy crisis has also cut into the holiday look in the Genesee, Juliaetta and Kendrick areas. Notably absent are the usual Christmas lights across the business districts and very few outside decorations or lawn scenes are up. There even appears to be less lights on Christmas trees in the homes this year.

All of this may be just as well and could serve to remind us that the true spirit of the holiday for Christians lay in the hearts of man and not in an electric light bulb.

Hoogland On Christmas Vacation From West Point

West Point Cadet Steven Hoogland, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hoogland, Jr., Kendrick, arrived home early Friday morning for Christmas vacation with family and friends. This is the first time Steve has been back since summer when he left to begin his first year at the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York.

Steve dropped into the Gazette Friday afternoon and reported he liked life at the academy although the training and routine were rigorous. He can remain at home until January 1.

Kendrick Area Professor Dwight Ingle Lecturing at University of Idaho

(Note—Dr. Ingle was born and raised in the Kendrick area and has always maintained close ties with his family and friends here.)

Moscow—A University of Idaho visiting professor of chemistry who last spring published a book on selective population control said he has received surprisingly little criticism for discussing the highly controversial subject.

Dr. Dwight J. Ingle wrote "Who Should Have Children: An Environmental and Genetic Approach" while serving as chairman of the physiology department at the University of Chicago. He has since retired and is spending several months at his alma mater teaching an interdisciplinary course.

The book advocates selective population control on a voluntary basis as an alternative to uncontrolled population growth and the expanding welfare state. Ingle argues that parenthood is not an inherent right and that some couples should remain childless because they carry genetic defects that could be passed on to the child while others should remain childless because they cannot offer children the sort of environment needed for good health, citizenship and self-sufficiency.

Ingle said the book received national attention when published and he received only two angry letters, one opposing him on religious grounds and the other from a social worker who wrote, "You're trying to get poor people to stop having children. What about the White House crowd?"

Ingle said, however, he was opposed at Chicago by students affiliated with the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS). He said membership in the SDS at Chicago had been depleted as a result of suspensions or expulsions following the sit-ins at the university and the remnants were trying to find a new rallying point.

Ingle said his viewpoint was chosen for attack because the SDS claimed the differences in individuals were primarily the result of "social injustices," rather than partly hereditary, as Ingle and others claimed. He said, however, that although the SDS was vocal it was not particularly strong and the opposition had little effect.

Ingle does not underestimate the value of a good environment for the individual and notes that "man inherits little, if any, knowledge, only some reflexes and perhaps some instincts. Otherwise, knowledge is learned from the environment."

But at the same time he notes that if a child inherits a defective or tiny brain, no amount of training or environment advantage will make the child normal in behavior. Intellect, he said, is "developed by environmental experiences according to the inherited capacity of the nervous system to learn, reason and create."

Ingle considered both heredity and environment in his book. Among those he believes should remain childless are:

- Individuals who could pass on genetic defects. Genetic counseling is becoming more common, Ingle noted, and if presently known methods for detecting genetic defects by amniocentesis are perfected, it is possible about 100 genetically-linked diseases could be decreased. There are about 400 genetic defects caused by dominant genes which could be identified by physicians trained in human genetics.
- mental retardates, whom Ingle believes are not qualified to be parents.
- habitual criminals, particularly those who commit crimes of violence. Ingle noted that while there is no convincing evidence that criminality has a genetic basis, the child of the habitual criminal is more likely to be born into an environment that encourages crime.
- hard drug addicts, because the child will be born with a drug addiction.
- and those with mental or physical disabilities which could prevent them from properly caring for the child.

On the other hand, Ingle does not argue for "positive eugenics" to breed only the best of characteristics. He said medical science "has too little knowledge of the risks involved in trying to breed a superace" and at the same time, society needs the traits found in "average" individuals.

The book advocates encouraging moral guides to selective population control by education and material reward, rather than by coercion, and placing programs of selective population control in the hands of the medical profession and a new professional class of social scientists trained to judge qualifications for parenthood.

"It seems possible that, after being informed about the issues, the public will agree that we should aim for happy, healthy, competent children and that child welfare has a higher ethical value than the right to parenthood," Ingle wrote. "Does any person have a natural right to bring a child into the world with an uncorrectable biological or environmental handicap to success?"

Private Law practice

Darrel, the son of Don and Leona Aherin, attended schools at Genesee and Culldesac, graduating from the latter in 1964. He represented that school at Gem Boys State in June, 1963. He was active in sports and the politics of school during both high school and his college years at L. S. C. S., and received several scholastic and athletic awards.

After receiving a Bachelor of Letters and Science Degree from L. S. C. S. in 1969, he taught mathematics in the Lewiston school system during the 69-70 term. He was accepted at the U. of I. Law School in 1970 and commuted during his three years with other law students from the Lewiston Valley. He received a Juris Doctor Degree from the University in May of this year and successfully passed the Idaho Bar examination given in late August.

Darrel was married in June 1968 to the former Joan Kieffer. They have two sons, Danny, 4 years, and Dustin, 4 months. Jean taught school at Culldesac while her husband attended law school. He has been an employee of Hughes Air West since the spring of 1968 and his wife and sons and parents accompanied him on a flight to Boise November 1st to witness the State and Federal swearing-in ceremonies.

Jean's parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Kieffer of Mountain Home joined the group at the capitol city to attend the State ceremony.

Darrel's paternal grandparents are Mrs. Lillie Aherin of Genesee and the late Dan W. Aherin, who moved here from Iowa as a young married couple to homestead in the Big Bend country and then on to Genesee where they farmed and ranched for many years. His maternal grandparents are Leo J. Edwards of Clarkston, Wn., who was the Business Agent for the Lewiston Carpenters Local for a number of years until ill health forced an early retirement, and the late Margaret McPhail Edwards who as a young girl came with her family to this country from Scotland.

Save
year after year

The new year traditionally brings many things, among the least pleasant of which is increased expenses and decreased income.

You can save yourself a lot of that New Year's grief by saving, yourself.

First Security's 7 1/4% per annum 4-year savings certificates can bring you guaranteed extra income when you need it most.

Saving is believing.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 352

Boy Scout Troop 352 of Genesee had 2 patrols participate in the Latah Co. "first aid meet" at the Moscow fire hall recently.

Senior patrol consisting of Ron Nichols and Thom Shirley placed 2nd in the senior patrol division, just one point behind the winner and received a "B" ribbon.

Eagle patrol, consisting of Rodney Burnett, Clarence Aherin, Walt Moden II, Steve Haxton, Ken Cromer, and Tim Flodin won a "C" ribbon.

The props used on the victims were extremely realistic, such as oozing blood that would only stop flowing if the appropriate pressure point was found.

Luckily enough the real victims survived all the first aid administered. Thanks is given to Dick Flodin for his assistance in instructing the Scouts and also thanks are extended to Mrs. Shirley for providing transportation.

CHARITY GROUPS USE SURPLUS GAME, FISH

Properly prepared game meat or fish is a gourmet's delight. However, when a hunter's family finds there is too much venison or wild-fowl or fish, there are charitable organizations in Idaho that will know what to do with the surplus.

A news item from the Fish and Game Department urges hunters and fishermen to use their game meats and fish when they can. If that is not possible, remember that it is in keeping with the holiday spirit to pass the surplus along to less fortunate people.

Besides, it's against the law to waste game meat or fish. A number of the state's charitable organizations are listed in the phone book. Check the yellow pages under Social Security and Welfare organizations.

CHRISTMAS POEMS BY C. C. D. STUDENTS

The sixth grade students of the C. C. D. classes of St. Mary's parish have been working on poetry during the Christmas season.

Cheryl Shirley, age 11 years has turned in this poem:
GOD LOVES US
God loves us, everyone,
That is why He gave us His Son.
He was born on Christmas Day,
Layed in a manger full of hay.

It filled the hearts full of love.
God gave us His Son that day,
In a stable filled far away.

JESUS CAME INTO THE WORLD
by Randa Allen, 10 years, 6th grade
Jesus came into the world,
To change the darkness to light.
From sin to kindness to all
Bringing peace to overcome fight.

The bread we eat this time,
Never alone our soul will be,
For we drink this wine
His blood was shed for you and me.

U. of I Students Leave For Christmas Break

Moscow — Facing problems of closed service stations and possible gas rationing, University of Idaho students began heading home Friday for Christmas break.

The vacation for students, faculty and staff began Friday and will extend until January 14 for students. University offices will reopen on Wednesday, January 2.

Pre-registration conferences for second semester are scheduled Jan. 14 with register Tuesday and Wednesday Jan. 15-16. Classes for second semester officially begin Thursday January 17. Second semester ends May 17.

WINTER

Winter is hard to define. It conjures up the usual thoughts of snow flakes, Santa and swarms of little ones romping through mud puddles. But the spirit of the new season, which descends upon us December 21 this year, has changed somewhat. For many, the lean, rough edge of winter suggests a Spartan-like quality which must be revived and cultivated if we are to overcome problems such as shortages of essential energy supplies, inflation and alarming leaps in federal control over our lives.

Modern problems have not dimmed the squeals of youthful sledgers, the colorful Christmas pageantry of the chocolaty goodness of a hot cup of cocoa after a brisk walk outdoors. Such enjoyable winter scenes should not, however, divert us from doing what we can to improve our own corner of the world. That could mean a return to ways which exalt efficiency and scorn wastefulness or a vigorous plunging into community affairs. Whatever path is taken, new dedication to the common good should benefit us all in the long run.

captain of degree team. The Temple decided to give Christmas gifts to the convalescent homes

Employment Picture In Latah County

The Moscow office of the Idaho Department of Employment assisted 10 Latah county workers in finding gainful employment during the past week. Frank J. Hartstein, reported that this was about average for this time of year, as 8 workers were placed through his office last week, and 9 during the week a year ago. At the end of the week there were still 17 jobs open. All of these were for permanent full-time workers and included a TV repairman, secretaries, sales personnel, cafe and domestic workers. Unemployment insurance claims continue to show an increase as 42 persons filed new claims for benefits during the week. This brought the total number of persons seeking jobless pay to 408, up from last week's 393, but considerably higher than last year's figure of 292. The steady increase during the past several weeks has been attributed primarily to curtailments in the woods and on construction jobs, with some new claims being filed by persons who are new arrivals in the area. The energy crisis has had some slight effect on the labor market in the Moscow area. Predictions from some local employers are that the area will be hurt more as time goes on.

Genesee V. F. W.

The Genesee V. F. W. Post 10290 held their December meeting at the Kent Broemeling home. The topic of the meeting was "Membership" new members and reinstating delinquent members. It was brought out that membership not paid up by January will void the member's insurance. The Veteran's Day Poppy sale was successful this year, thanks to Bill Shirley's Scout troop. $76.00 was realized from the sale. After the meeting Kent served Tom and Jerry's to fit in with the holiday season. The next meeting will be held on January 3, 1974 at the Corner Club Cafe.
