THE CELEBRATION

This year Easter Sunday will fall on April 14. Since the very early days of the Christian church, this has been the great event of the year, commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ and the fufillment of the promise of salvation for all people.

Since ancient times, churches and altars have been decorated for the occasion; candles have been burned; and, in the medieval cathedrals of England, the Easter or paschel candles were often of huge dimensions. They were held in gigantic brass or silver candlesticks and reached a combined height of as much as 60 or 70 feet. This Easter, sunrise services, children hunting Easter eggs, familles attending church together and the, sometimes frivolous, profusion of new "Easer bonnets" will be outward evidence of the 2,000 year continuity of the Christian celebration of Christ's resurrection and spiritual reality. It is a time to reaffirm our faith in Him who rose to lead mankind in the ways of peace and broth-erhood and fulfill the promise of eternal life.

IT HAPPENED 😤 WAY BACK WHEN

Genesee News-30 Years Ago

Glen Baumgartner, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baumgartner, residing west of Genesee, narrowly escaped death Tuesday afternoon when his saddle horse, carrying him and another boy slipped on the pavement near the Smolt residence and ran for 3 blocks with Glen hanging from the right stirrup.

When the horse slipped, the second rider behind the saddle slipped to the pavement. He suffered a compound fracture of the right leg midway between the knee and ankle where the bones pierced the flesh; a number of

Not much, compared to Saint Looey

The typical settlement in the early west was seldom a thing of beauty. Usually it was a random group of log huts along the trail at a more or less level spot handy to water.

The most imposing structures were made of hewn or whipsawed lumber at a cost of countless hours of ackbreak. Parks, no. Public protection, the fire sucket and the Winchester.

The sense of purpose and industriousness that made these people brave the trail in the first place drove them to improve things. It inspired them to build the fine communities we enjoy today. Who knows the squabbles and disagreements that had to be smoothed over to bring this about. The important thing was that everybody gave a little for the benefit of all. Progress can't stop. Cooperation and understanding are more essential than ever in, for example, the construction of needed power generating stations. For its part The Washington Water Power Company pledges its corporate resources, its belief in progress and its determination to create and maintain a desirable environment.

Alma Betts accompanied Agatha Perkins to Kendrick last Wednesday where they took in the Farm Institute. In the afternoon Agatha attended a garden club meeting at Moscow. Alma took in the T. V. P. (textured vegetable protein) lesson and visited her sister, Martha Wilken and spent the evening with Agatha.

Extension Club had a busy meeting with Pat Jacobs, Julie Cooper as her helper, and they served a delicious Mexican Dinner. Alma wishes to thank all for the much appreciated "parting gift". She will soon be moving, or is the process of moving to Coeur d'Alene.

News Items From Juliaetta School

SCHOOL DISTRICT PATRONS-A Personal Note

I have heard many times from citizens as well as teachers the statement, "What is wrong with the younger generation?"

At this point I am convinced that there is no more wrong with this young generation then there was with ours. I would like to tell you about a personal happening last week that bears out my beliefs.

During the magazine sale at the Juliaetta School, one of the prizes was a large, stuffed teddy bear. The value of this is between $15 and $20. All of the students had a chance to win the bear for their very own by having a drawing. Instead of doing this the students had a combined class meeting and decided to give the big teddy to our son, Joel. As you know, Joel is stricken with brain damage and cerebral palsy. The students are the stricken with the stri dents decided to invite both Joel and Sally to their ice cream party and present him with the bear. I knew nothing about this but was told later by the teachers that the students were so happy and excited to be able to give Joel the bear. My wife and I are very grateful to, and proud of all the young people in this community.

We sometimes wonder if we at school, or at home are teaching our own or other children anything. When something like this happens, all of us should be reassured that be-tween the homes, communities, churches and schools, these young people, when given a chance are truly wongent, compassionate and kind young day dinner held last Tuesday at her derful, unselfish, thoughtful, intellipeople.

My point is when we begin to wonder or hear, "what's wrong with the younger generation", maybe we should remember the good things they do and and stop concentrating on the mistakes they sometimes

Each of the reading classes are concentrating more and more on comprehension as well as their phonetic skills. The older reading groups will be doing some silent reading each week followed by an exercise for week followed by an exercise for comprehension. Silent reading with good comprehension is a skill itself and requires a good deal of practice. As students progress into the upper elementary grades they are required to do more and more silent reading. So they must be able to read silently.

The school's magazine sale is over and the students awards have been

The school realized about $761.98.
This will be used in the rooms and for the playground.
