

LUXURY ON WHEELS

Public transportation can be uncrowded, clean and efficient. It can even be luxurious.

This spring the federal government unwrapped a model of the "bus of the future." The sleek, soft-riding vehicle sported huge panoramic windows, which were 3-foot high and ran the entire length of the bus. Doors were plenty wide enough to enter comfortably. And the floor was only 17 inches above the curb, half as high as in standard buses, making it faster and easier to board as well as less of a hassle for elderly and disabled people.

According to riders, the trip was quiet and soft a bit bumpier than even-rail commuter trains but smooth enough to read newspapers and enjoy it. In addition to comfortable upholstered seats, there was wall-to-wall carpeting. Not a bad way to go.

Major companies submitted designs for the model, the first new bus design in this country in more than 15 years. It took 2 years and twenty-six million to finance the project.

For one year, the bus will be driven hard in the Arizona desert. And it will face the hazards of the big city, too. Identical models will be sent to New York, Miami, Seattle and Kansas City this summer. The buses which won't cost much more than current models, probably won't be ready for the boarding public until 1977. Hopes are that they will lure motorists away from their cars and

EMERALD CREEK AREA TO BE OPENED FOR GARNET DIGGING

The Emerald Creek Garnet area will be open Thursday for garnet digging under a permit system which begins Aug. 1, Ed Kautz, St. Maries district ranger said last week.
Digging will be limited to an area in No-Name Gulch. Digging will be by permit only. Permits will be available on a first-come, first-served basis at the parking area near the mouth of Pee Wee Gulch. One-day permits, limited to 30 per day, will cost $4 per person.
The digging area in No-Name will be open between the hours of 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. Monday through Sunday. Camping in the area will be limited to the Emerald Creek Campground. This is a charge campground with a $2 daily fee.

The parking facilities at the mouth of Pee Wee are limited in size and facilities and will not accommodate trailers or overnight parking.
The situation is that these patients report that sleeping pills make their insomnia worse. And their blood pressure rises sharply during sleep. "Special sleeping pills are respiratory depressants," Dr. Dement said. "What becomes perfectly understandable," the doctor advises other physicians not to prescribe sleeping pills to any patients with insomnia unless they first check out the possibility of a respiratory problem.

BREATHLESS NIGHTS

Counting sheep cures some kinds of insomnia. But sleepless nights can also be caused by unrecognized breathing problems.
A sleep researcher at Stanford University, Dr. William C. Dement said results of sleep disorders may be suffering from undetected respiratory abnormalities. According to Dr. Dement difficulty in breathing among sleep disturbed patients was accidentally discovered less than two years ago by a colleague who noticed that some insomnia patients seemed to have stopped breathing before waking abruptly.
As a result Dr. Dement began to monitor respiratory measures during sleep in a variety of patients with insomnia. In 1/10 of his sample which happened to be all male he found this pattern: shortly after the person falls asleep, his diaphragm stops moving; then after 15 seconds to three minutes of breathing problems he wakes up, breathes deeply and falls to sleep again. This cycle repeats itself hundreds of times during the night," Dr. Dement said.

The interesting thing about the cut down air pollution.
Car exhaust is the major contributor to polluted air. And improved public transportation can help. Like the pollution problem. Decreasing the number of cars on the road by organizing car pools or substituting bicycles when ever possible is another way to attack the problem.

IT HAPPENED WAY BACK WHEN

Kendrick Gazette Aug. 3, 1934
 Mr. and Mrs. Dick Blewett were given an old-fashioned charivari last Thursday at the Harting home when some 50 youngsters gathered to produce much noise and bedlam—but all enjoyed it. The Blewetts produced treats for all.

 Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crawford of Leland are the parents of a seven lb. daughter who arrived at their home Tuesday night.
 Word comes from Juliaetta and vicinity that both watermelons and cantaloupes as well as tomatoes are suffering greatly from the extremely hot weather this past week. On Friday, melons and tomatoes were virtually cooked on the vines, large blisters raising on the watermelons and cants and tomatoes caving in.

IDAHO DEPT. OF EMPLOYMENT

26 Latah County workers were placed on jobs through the Moscow office of the Idaho Department of Employment during the past week. Frank J. Hartstein, Moscow office manager reported that this was considerably more than the 11 workers given job finding help during the previous week and was double the 13 workers placed on jobs during the corresponding week in 1973. Hartstein attributed the increase to an accelerated demand for farm workers, workers in the moving and storage industry, and for some office occupations. At the end of the week there were still a total of 35 jobs open. Most of these required skills and experience not readily available in the area. Hartstein indicated, however, that employment opportunities seemed to be picking up somewhat and he expected that more jobs would be available as time went on, at least for the next few weeks.

The number of persons continuing to seek unemployment insurance rose slightly from the 231 of a week ago to the current figure of 234. 3 persons filed new claims for benefits during the week. Among those filing new claims were several new arrivals in the area some construction workers and a few others who had become unemployed because of reasons other than lack of work, quits-dismissals and other personal causes. A year ago there were 299 persons idle throughout the county and during this same week in August 1973, 61 workers filed new claims for benefits. This was occasioned by extremely dry conditions in the woods last year causing curtailment in the logging industry at that time. At the present time, there are 161 persons filing claims in the immediate Moscow area, 160 last week, and 178 last year. In the Troy-

PROSPECTIVE UI STUDENTS INDICATE STUDY NEEDS

Some 3,024 Idaho high school students taking the ACT college entrance exam this year had the opportunity to indicate areas in which they believe they need added assistance for college.

According to Dr. John Hipple, assistant professor of guidance and counseling at the UI, 50 percent of these students indicated the need for extra help in educational and vocational planning, 32 percent in writing, 41 percent in reading, 48 percent in study skills, 59 percent in math and 40 percent in personal counseling. "The self-assessment of these students indicates they see a real need on their part for some additional help in order to make college a better learning opportunity," said Hipple.

"These students are actually saying that in these areas they are not prepared to make it on their own," said Hipple. "It appears that the university has a big job ahead if we are to help fill the gaps in students' academic backgrounds."

"Although this is a random sample and the students don't all come to the University of Idaho, this information can be valuable in helping provide a guideline for evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of high school preparation as well as the ability of the university to handle their needs," said Hipple. "Since our university is an open-door institution and we allow our Idaho kids to come here, we are the ones who must fill the gaps in their education."

 Deary-Bovill area, the total is now 36, last week 29 and last year 49. Twenty-four checks are going into the Potlatch area compared with 25 last week and 64 last year. At Genesee the figures are 9, 10 and 5, and in the Kendrick area the totals are 2, 7 and 3. Hartstein predicted that unemployment would remain about the same, or decline for the next two months, unless weather conditions caused some layoffs or unless a larger than anticipated influx of out of state persons swells the local labor force.

Park News

Harvest Rolls
Reasonably agreeable weather has helped keep Park trucks on the road as combines sweep the year's crops from the fields. Black peas are rolling in as the weekend, with wheat soon to follow. Yields of peas have run as high as 2500 lbs to the acre in the best fields.

Between truck driving and crew feeding chores, farm wives are harvesting higher-than-average yields from some garden produce. A wet spring rotted many fine seeds in the ground, but such larger seeds as peas, beans and corn are making a good showing.

Hay yields were much higher than last year and with only one rain storm during the season, very little got wet in the field during the season.

Japanese Visitor
Miss Yoshiko Tanahashi of Gifu, Japan, arrived in Lewiston July 25 to be met by Mrs. Jerry Smith, her daughter, Barbara and her mother-in-law Mrs. Vester Daniels of Juliaetta, to start a near-month-long visit with the Smith family. It is Miss Tanahashi's first trip outside Japan. Organized jointly by the Labo educational clubs in Japan and 4-H in the U. S. Over 100 youngsters made the trip this year and many 4-H'ers went to Japan from here.

Among the experiences now to Miss Tanahashi are picking huckleberries, swimming in a creek, having equipment (she rode on top of some 8-hale high loads including two loads that came down the Kendrick grade to Juliaetta). She had never seen a large tractor or any combine — nor a beef cow, pig horse or chickens. She'd never picked peas or beans or helped get them ready for the freezer.

Other things she's enjoyed are horseback riding (seeing a pollution-free sunset from the back of a horse on top of a high ridge), making bread—plus a party in honor of her 15th birthday anniversary, complete with home-made ice cream and a 4-tiered cake made and decorated by Barbara.

Barbara stayed with the Tanahashi family last summer when she and her mother visited Japan. Yoshiko will be leaving for home August 20.

Other Items
Mrs. Stiner Ringsage and Mrs. Chas. Stratton visited Mrs. Stratton's daughter, Mrs. Donald Gudmunson at Colfax Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hyden spent last weekend at College Place, Wash., visiting relatives.

Miss Kathy Keuther, Lewiston, was a Friday overnight visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith and daughters.
