Genesee Planning Com. Seeks Citizen Input on Comprehensive Plan

Genesee's Planning Commission is actively seeking citizen input on the development of the city's comprehensive plan. The Planning Commission, chaired by John Luedke has been meeting twice a month to com-plete the comprehensive plan. The main objective of the plan is to document the citizen's goals and ideas for Genesee's future

The plan will be used as a guider for current and future actions by the Planning Commission and City Council. The plan will include all physical, social, and economic elements within the city and surrounding area. The plan will be divided into 2 major parts, a background data section and a goals and objective section. The goals and objectives for each element of Genesee's future will be based upon the background data. collected and the citizen's input.

The Commission urges all community residents to express their views, including any particular problems. needs, or opportunities, on Genesee's immediate and long-range future. Public meetings are scheduled for the citizen's viewpoints with the Commissioners. The meetings will be held in May and June at 7:30 p. m. in the City Hall. Topics to be-discussed at the meetings are Trans-portation and Housing, May 19; Recreation and Community Facilities: and Services, June 2; Land Use and: Population, June 16; and Community Design and Economy on June 30, 1975. The Planning Commission is broad based and representative of Genesee. Members of the Planning Commission include: Luedke, Elvon Hampton, Adrian Nelson, Jerry Linehan, Doug Lindquist and Ron Bevans.

All residents and community organizations who are not able to attend the meetings are urged to contact one of the Commission members and relate their particular desires to them on Genesee's current problems and future goals.

The Planning Commission has been gathering the background data for the plan over the past year and has used this information to base goals. and objectives to Genesee's future. Citizen input on the Commission's proposed goals and objectives is greatly needed, so the plan will truly represent the path the residents want the Commission and City Coun cil to take.

The Planning Commission will prepare and recommend a zoning ordinance to the City Council based on the comprehensive plan when it is adopted The purpose of the zoning ordinance is to protect the health, safety and welfare of the Genesee residents and to protect the property values of the residents' land.

now is the time when one of your best short term opportunities is a bank savings ccoun

This is the time to maintain. Fly a holding pattern. As far as your money is concerned. Especially if you come into a little extra money . . . a windfall, so to speak,

You may want to keep it liquid, in case prices come down. Or keep it earning high interest in case prices go up. Or keep it safe, in case . . .?

A short term investor looks for three things before he puts his money down. High yield, minimum risk, and maximum liquidity.

A First Security savings account puts all three together in a very attractive package, with the added assurance that the investment will never go down.

The safety of your money is insured up to $40,000 by an agency of the U. S. Government. And assured by the sound management of a $1.8 billion corporation.

Your First Security savings account will earn at the highest legal bank rate. And, with a passbook account, you may add to or withdraw your money at a moment's notice.
