Open House—October 7

An open house will be held at the Kendrick Junior and Senior high school Tuesday evening, October 7, Bob Heppner, principal, announced this week. The open house will be conducted between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m.

What the school plans, Heppner said, was to have all of the classes open that evening so parents may visit those their children are taking and have an opportunity to listen to the teacher explain the class, what the goals are, and the methods of teaching.

There will also be opportunity conference periods with the various teachers. Heppner urged all parents to attend this open house and see first hand just what the children are studying.

Homecoming Activities

The Homecoming events started out Thursday night at 7:30 with the traditional serpentine through Kendrick with a Pep Rally in the middle of town, where Paul Hutcheson and Carla Bailey were given Mr. and Miss Spirit awards. The wheelbarrow races were won by the Sophomore class an egg throwing contest was won by the Seniors and a very difficult contest in which an apple was passed under-the-chin between six classmates. After a lot of apple dropping and laughing, the Freshman Class finally won.

Friday night the activities started out with the Kendrick-Deary football game. At halftime the Drill Team performed. Cindy Winchar was crowned Homecoming Queen, with Esther Harris, Lori Brown and Diane Sillow as princesses. Kendrick lost the game 17 to 20, but the spirits picked up at the Homecoming dance which lasted from 10 to 1:00 a.m.

Tribute to F. C. Schmidt

David and Mary Braun

Kendrick had many blessings and special gifts to offer a young, newly couple just out from the east and in their first parish. But the greatest blessing of all, in 1961, was Fred Schmidt—F. C. and Emma Joy both, really.

He was all things to us: a burly stevedore delivering trunks; a warm, true friend; a gruff, blunt advisor; a reliable "open-door neighbor; a discerning and honest predecessor in the ministry; a benign and loving grandfather to us and our Vivian Joy.

F. C. and Emma Joy were big people in all ways—full of integrity in all things. We loved them dearly and have fond, treasured memories of so many occasions.

It was Christmas night at our house that he had his first stroke, from which he recovered slowly but surely, because of his sheer stubbornness and great determination. He was a man who accomplished what he set out to do! (and of course he was bound to keep "one-up" on Doc Christensen, too!)

We were grieved not to be able to be at his burial. He'd "pooh-pooh" that, but be secretly pleased! 'Cause there was an awfully tender man underneath the toughness.

F. C. and Emma Joy set out to live a worthwhile life: one of giving, of deep faith, of intelligence, enthusiasm, and vitality — and with verve, character and wit, so they did. (Sept., 1975)

Some Comments On "The Guns of Autumn"

By Cri Haden

The saddest thing about "The Guns of Autumn" the CBS special, is that it is so easy to criticize. Because it is too easy to criticize as being anti-gun, groups and individuals will dwell solely on that issue and will not address some of the real problems the sportsman faces today.

I'm not certain what a sportsman is, but I do recognize a slob hunter when I see one. CBS had a show on slob hunters, and the sad fact is, I believe, slob hunters are in the majority today. I doubt this is the case in Idaho where there is a tradition of hunting and fishing—where people realize they have a long-term stake in the wild-life resource—but nationwide slob hunters outnumber the rest of us.

You all know the slob hunter, but you may not recognize him immediately. You may have been the slob hunter yourself. The hunter doesn't have to be some kuntz from Michigan who shoots hand-fed bears, who puts five misplaced shots in an agonized deer, who runs a bear all day with dogs and then shoots the bear because the dogs "need a chew"—never admitting that he and the dogs didn't have to be exerting themselves after a bear that was minding his own business.

The slob hunter or fishperson is a more common species. Some of the things you can expect from him this coming season include:

—He'll be road hunting pheasants around Aberdeen next month because he's too paunchy to get out to walk after them.

—He'll ground sluice a game bird out of his car window, then run like hell across a field to pick up his quarry before an enraged farmer can get his license number.

—He'll take his wife or girl friend or another nonshooter into the field with him so he can shoot an extra deer or elk on the other person's tag and his hunting companions won't say much about it—except, "well everybody else does it."

—He'll drive home without tagging his deer, thinking he'll come back for a second, if he misses all of the check stations and he'll try to miss all he can.

—He'll stretch his size or length or weight limit on fish, because he didn't catch any last time out, or it's the last time of the year or whatever. Then he'll complain about the lack of fish.

—He'll shoot a pheasant during grouse and partridge season because that's the "only thing we saw the whole damned day," or because "if I hadn't shot it, somebody else would of."

—He'll shoot some hawks, eagle, songbirds, telephone insulators, or sheep "for target practice" or because he "wanted to see if he could hit it," or because he had "to kill something."

—He'll shoot a small deer and leave it lay, "because there wasn't enough meat" to make it worth taking home.

—He'll cripple something and then make no effort to find it because he's lazy. Because he lacks the skills necessary to find it.

—He'll hook a trout in the gills or eye and then throw it back because it's "too small to eat."

—He'll take an Indian out with him so when he shoots something illegally he can say it was his Indian friend "exercising his treaty rights."

—An Indian, he'll shoot deer he doesn't need for food to sell to white folks, or he'll take a non-native American hunting, and then claims the game if a warden comes along.

—He'll sign on for guaranteed cougar hunt, bobcat hunt or whatever, without caring that the guarantee means the poor animal was in a cage until a few minutes before the hunter arrived. That's where the guarantee comes in: it's guaranteed some animal suffered for months in a cage before some city dude came along and put it out of its misery.

—He'll let his son or daughter Arkansas something out of a pickup window, because the kid's too young to carry a gun in the field, but needs the "hunting" experience.

—He'll observe any one of these things and many more, and he won't have the guts—this mighty hunter who strikes fear in the hearts of wild things—to notify law officials or even to tell his hunting companion that he doesn't want to see a repeat.

The critics will choose to ignore the bountiful supply of slob hunters. They will claim CBS is antigun, and not look any deeper. That is the pity. Hunters are losing their sport because they can't control their own numbers. They lose fish, fowl, big game and access to private property to their slobby friends, and blame it on "out-of-state hunters, predators, hard winters, development" and an assortment of other problem areas.

"The Guns of Autumn" can be criticized for being antigun and anti-hunting, but sportsmen should be appalled that such things as CBS portrayed exist. They should recognize that such legalized slaughter threatens all hunting. They should be a bit ashamed at what they saw on the tube and instead of discounting it, they should work with fish and game professionals to end it just as quickly and cleanly as they'd end the suffering of a wounded animal.

Hunting, Fishing Day

September 27 has been set aside in Idaho as a day to recognize "outstanding contributions that Americans hunters and fishermen have made to conservation, recreation and the economy."

Governor Cecil D. Andrus signed the proclamation after listing some of the sportsmen's contributions to wildlife.

"In the last 50 years alone," Andrus said, "hunters and fishermen have provided $2.5 billion for conservation programs."

The governor urged all citizens "to join sportsmen-conservationists in a rededication to the wise use of our natural resources and their proper management for the benefit of future generations."

Exercise can take off Excess Pounds, Tests Show
 There is evidence that exercise alone can take off excess pounds, observes the Idaho Medical Assn. providing one stays with a program involving a good deal of regular exercise.

11 women participating in a study at the University of California at Irvine lost 10 to 38 pounds and averaged a loss of 22 pounds during a period of one year from exercise alone.

It has been assumed that only a careful diet, supplemented by exercise, could bring any substantial weight loss.

All of the patients selected brisk walking as their form of exercise. There was no weight loss until the brisk walk went beyond a half hour a day. The greatest loss was noted when the patients walked between 2 and 3 hours a day.

Weight loss was slow, averaging about a half pound a week. When exercise stopped the lost pounds returned.

The exercise program was in addition to the customary physical activity of the day. The weight loss followed, even though the exercise increased the appetite of the patients, who actually ate more food each day. There were no dietary restrictions during the year's trial.

Motivation was a critical factor. Less than a third of obese patients who began the study continued for the full year of daily, extended exercise.

Failure are the rings on the ladder of success.

Pets are Worth Saving

The city of Lewiston impounds about 800 dogs a year. Less than 25% of these are reclaimed by their owners.

The animal shelter receives about 2,500 additional animals a year. About 400 are placed with new owners. The rest are given euthanasia. The problem grows with each passing year. Please help us reverse this trend.

You can help in two ways:

- BE A RESPONSIBLE DOG OWNER—unless you are a breeder, have your dog or cat spayed, or neutered by a veterinarian. (Yes, the statistics on cats are also painful). Write or call us for a pamphlet on the effects of neutering and spaying.
- SEND US PEOPLE WHO WANT A DOG—The shelter has healthy pets for adoption. If they are old enough we have them spayed. They have had distemper shots.
- If we all just recognize our problem maybe we can solve it.

Fight Weeds Now

Don't let your weeds revive and go into the winter with healthy root systems replenished with nutrients. After hurting the morning glory and Canada thistle all summer, now is the time to give them the big hurt with a shot of 2,4-D on Banvel. Even dandelions will recuperate in the next few weeks and be harder to eradicate next year. Weed and feed your lawn now. It will give you a better lawn next year and save work by eliminating weeds. If you fought morning glory in your garden or flower beds this summer, now is the time to use a soil fumigant or a residual herbicide like Banvel. Many times it is wise to take out a flower bed, get rid of morning glory, and then start fresh. In a garden you can leave the treated part idle for a year and then treat another section next year. This way you can get control of your noxious weeds and still have a garden.

Banvel granular, a dry form of the herbicide, applied by hand is becoming more popular every year. It is easy to use and effective. Before using any herbicide, read and follow directions and precautions on the label.

Even Healthy Athletes Susceptible to Sickness

Colds and flu can make anyone miserable. For athletes, they're even more trouble than injuries. Staying home a few days from school or work and taking medication and lots of fluids isn't much fun. But being laid up for the Rosebowl game or the Wimbledon final can be disastrous—if you're a player that is.

Athletes have just as many upper respiratory infections as the rest of us. But—according to Dr. Allan J. Ryan, supervisor of the sports magazine program at the University of Wisconsin—athletes don't stay sick as long. Because they're in better physical condition. A top athlete, he says, might be laid low for a few days with a respiratory infection that would knock out more sedentary types for two to three weeks.

When colds are uncomplicated by fever or general malaise, strenuous exercise doesn't usually pose too much of a problem, Dr. Ryan says. However, there are hitches. In the past two years, he says, there have been reports of sudden death apparently brought on by participation in very vigorous physical activity while the athlete was suffering from an acute viral infection.

Team physicians and coaches have to be cautious. "If you've got a swimmer with one of these infections," Dr. Ryan says, "you know you've got to keep him out of the water or you're never going to get the situation under control."

Spreading the infection—even in a football huddle—isn't the problem among athletes one might suppose. Dr. Ryan says wrestling is the sport where these infections are most easily transmitted because the contact is both intimate and sustained.

The real problem, the doctor says, is getting the athlete to report his or her symptoms because of fear of being benched.

Even a woodpecker owes his success to the fact that he uses his head.

Genesee Harvest About Over

With only one farmer still delivering some barley, the 1975 harvest in the Genesee area is complete, according to Mike Martinez, assistant manager of Genesee Union Warehouse. The barley grower is expected to finish up within a day or so and that will wind up the harvest.

Approximately 90 per cent of the over-all harvest came in this year compared to that of last, Martinez said. Wheat was only about 80 per cent of what it was in 1974. "The acres were there," Mike said, "we just didn't get the bushels."

Diane Becker Commended In Scholarship Program

Diane M. Becker, a senior at Genesee high school has been named a Commended student in the Merit Program by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. It was announced this week by Roger Woehl, principal.

Diane is among the 35,000 Commended students named nationwide on the basis of their high performance on the 1974 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Commended students represent less than 2 percent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1976.

Although Commended students ranked high on the PSAT/NMSQT, they do not continue in the Merit Scholarship competition because their scores were just below those of the 15,000 semifinalists publicly announced by NMSC in September.

Anger—like fire, finally lies out—after leaving a path of destruction!

Remember, we can't all be heroes because someone has to sit on the curb and clap as they go by!

"Chas, someone made a puddle in the cloakroom. We will let our hands over our eyes." He guilty party can go out and clean up the mess and no one will be the wiser!"

Dutifully the children all put their hands over their eyes. Soon there was a sound of footsteps then a short delay then more footsteps.

After a few moments, the teacher had them put their hands down. Satisfied she handled the situation correctly, she inspected the cloakroom. There she found two puddles and a sign which read: "The Phantom Strikes Again!"

This Week's Philosophy: Frequent Naps Prevent Old Age. Especially if Taken While Driving!

"Don't you ever dream about anything but baseball?"
"No, just baseball, all the time."
"Don't you ever dream about eating or fishing or going out with girls?"
"What, and miss my turn at bat?"

SHARE A SONG

By Lucille Magnuson
There's a joy in striving to share a song,
When a tune's arriving we sing along.
It might be a ballad to show we care
Or lullaby with baby's smile to share;
It could be sung in rousing march time,
Or maybe a gay old nursery rhyme.
On radio, television, or stage
Singing a good song pleases every age.
Please request your favorite melody,
We'll vocalize in four-part harmony.
Our chorvs ring out with barber-shop quartet—
With your applause, sweet music you will get!
We promise to sing when harvest moon shines,
For we're harmonizing "Sweet Adelines."

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks to neighbors and friends and to Dick Benjamin and his crew from the Kendrick Fire Protective District and others who helped with the fire in our canyon Sept. 22.

Genesee Fall O-Mok-See Results

Genesee Rim Riders held their fall O-Mok-See Sunday at their arena east of town. A good turnout was reported and 78 contestants from various areas participated in the day's activities.

The only mishap of the day was when Joe Nowakowski, announcer, met his horse "heads up", for which Joe was awarded the hardluck trophy.

All-around trophies were awarded to Tina Heimgartner, Randa Allen, Janene Connerly, Judy Nearing, Karen Crumley, Ken Nearing, Sandra Brebner, Gary Campbell and Harold Kruger.

Boys and girls competed in the same age classes up through 18, and men and women competed separately beyond that age.

Tina Heimgartner of Juliaetta won all events in the 9 and younger class—barrel, pole bending, flag, scurry, and key races.

Randa Allen accumulated points to become all-around winner in the 10-12 division.

Janene Connerly of Lewiston won the pole bending and flag races in the 13-15 class. Judy Nearing won the scurry event and placed in other contests in the 16-18 contests.

Karen Crumley of Moscow won the barrel, pole bending, flag and scurry and key races in the 19-29 women's competition.

Ken Nearing of Lewiston captured the barrel, pole bending, flag and key races.

Snake Bites Seldom Fatal

Studies indicate that snakebites are seldom fatal, reports the Idaho Medical Association.

About 45,000 persons are bitten by snakes each year in the United States, according to an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association, and of these some 8,000 are by poisonous snakes.

Despite the number of bites by poisonous snakes, deaths from snake venom poisoning have not exceeded 12 per year in the past five years. In some 20 per cent of the bites of the poisonous snakes, no venom is actually injected.

In the United States there are some 120 species of snakes, about 20 of which are venomous. The latter include rattlesnakes, cottonmouth, Barchus, Clarkston and Del Massey, won the 4-person team contest in pole bending.

The Genesee Rim Riders wish to thank all who helped in any way to make our day a success.

water moccasins, copperheads and coral snakes.

Injection of antivenom as soon as possible after the bite is highly important in treatment.

Incisions over fang marks and suction from the cuts are helpful only within the first 30 minutes after the bite. A tourniquet above the bite may help. The patient should be kept warm and should not be allowed to walk or be given alcohol.

The most important act following snakebite is to get the victim to a hospital or doctor as quickly as possible. New studies have shown that antivenom is most effective when given within four hours of a bite, the earlier the better. It is of less value if delayed for 8 hours, and of questionable value after 24 hours.

The Journal article was written by a group of physicians from the University of California School of Medicine, Los Angeles.

Allergic Salutes and Shiners

The allergic salute and rabbit nose sound a lot like Alice in Wonderland. But they can be clues to detecting allergies in children.

If a child has a habit of wiping his or her nose with an upward sweep of the finger, it may be a symptom of an allergy, according to pediatric allergist Dr. Claude A. Frazier. The "allergic salute" is different from the way most kids wipe their nose—with a horizontal motion of the finger or hand. "Rabbit nose," constant wiggling and wrinkling of the nose, is another suspicious sign.

There are other give-a-ways, says Dr. Frazier. One is excessive sweating in a nursing infant or night sweating in an older child. Paleness and "allergic shiners," dark circles under the eyes, can mean allergic distress, too.

Often a child who has an allergy as an infant will have eczema as a to-der and eventually asthma, an abnormal reaction of the air passages of the lungs to specific substances. This "allergic march" could be stopped if parents recognized the first signs of allergy and sought treatment from the child's physician.

Frequent croup can be another indication of allergy, says Dr. Frazier. The symptoms of croup are a harsh, barking cry which sounds something like a puppy's cry. There's a funny, high-pitched sound when the baby inhales. More trouble-signs in an allergic child are itchy or watery eyes as well as frequent clearing of the throat because of postnasal drip.

It's important to check out suspicious signs with a physician and begin treatment early in the game. To find out more about breathing problems of all kinds, contact the Idaho Lung Association, 2821 Carnus Street Boise, Id. 83705, the Christmas Seal

"Share A Song Week"
Proclaimed in Kendrick PROCLAMATION!!

Mayor Robert Watts of Kendrick proclaim the first week of October as "SHARE A SONG WEEK" in honor of the Sweet Adelines.

Twenty-five thousand women throughout the United States, Canada, Panama Canal Zone and England will be celebrating "SHARE A SONG WEEK" Oct. 1 through 7, when they will entertain hospital patients, senior citizens, shoppers, school groups and civic groups. This annual affair will be observed in this area by Lewis-Clark Chapter of Sweet Adelines, which meets at Lewiston each week and is enjoyed by several local members, Marilyn Eichner, president of the group, said. Others who have joined are Flo Lyons, Ann Meske, Gloria Braden and Lucille Magnuson.

The public is invited to attend the open house observance Monday evening at 7:30 at the Congregational - Presbyterian Federated Church in Lewiston. The chorus, under the direction of Dolores Patrick of Clarkston, will sing and also the "13th Edition," a special quartet.

"Oh, so your son's in college?"
"What's he going to be when he gets out?"
"An old man."

"And what were his last words to his wife?"
"Go ahead and shoot—you couldn't hit the side of a barn."

Well Tuned Cars SAVE GAS!

It has been proven that a well-tuned conditioned car or truck provides better gas mileage. With the energy crunch and high prices, motorists just can't afford to pour dollars out of the exhaust pipe.

That's why we recommend keeping your car or truck in the best mechanical shape at all times. And—we can help with a good tune-up job. Why not drop in or call and set up an appointment? It'll mean savings in money and gasoline.
