Colonial Gardens Film Enjoyed by Members of Garden Club

The film "Colonial Gardens" shown at the March meeting of the Hill and Valley Garden Club was much appreciated by members and guests alike. The buildings and industries in addition to the gardens and lovely trees of Colonial Williamsburg was an inspiring invitation to learn and see more of our colonial history.

Following the film, Historical chairman Martha Long, assisted by Miriam Cook, presented a slide program on "Old Fashioned Roses". She had interesting information about such roses as the Austrian Copper, The Harrison Rose (yellow), American Beauty and Moss Roses and other roses brought to this area by our pioneers.

During the business meeting prior to the program, the Conservation Committee reported adding 5 more mountings of the present collection.

The dues chairman reminded members that dues are due in May. This is to keep our dues current with the State Federation.

President Grace Yenni called attention to Arbor Day, April 26. Plant a liberty tree to celebrate this bicentennial year.

Civic Concerns chairman Joyce Brammer reported briefly on her committee's meeting—said she would have an article on their beautification project for the Gazette.

Coming events of interest to Garden Club members are the Clearwater District meeting April 29 at Reubens. Pacific Regional meeting May 2 and 3 at Boise; Annual Flower Show and Plant Sale May 29; Flower Show School June 2 to 4 at Lewiston and the State Convention at Boise June 9th through 11.

"Kendrick, Hub of the Potlatch" is the theme for the annual flower show on Locust Blossom Day. Show chairman Barbara Hepler has the schedule ready and they are available from any garden club member.

Priscilla Armitage, Plant Sale committee chairman asked the club to be considering what to bring for the sale and to please name and price the plants you bring.

Hostesses Mrs. Ted Weyen, Mrs. Ida Newman, Mrs. Kenneth Wilken and Mrs. Stanley Hepler served delicious refreshments to the 23 members and 11 guests present.

Food Caravan To Aid Elks Rehabilitation Center in Boise

A "Food Caravan" is now being formed to aid the Elks Rehabilitation Center in Boise. It was announced this week by Glen Wegner, a member of the Lewiston Elks Lodge, who is helping coordinate the drive in this area. The purpose is to collect both commercially canned food supplies or money which will be turned over to the Elks Rehabilitation center in Boise.

The center, open to every race, creed, and color, annually treats hundreds of patients with physical therapy following illness, accidents, or surgery. It is recognized as one of the outstanding centers of its type in the West and the cost is borne entirely by the Elks Lodge and the generosity of friends of the center.

Especially needed are fruits, vegetables, and large cans of fruit juices or money donations. "You don't have to be an Elk to help," Glen said. Donations of any size are tax deductible and anyone donating will get a receipt. Donations should be in by April 20.

Donations may be left at Dick's Barber Shop or by contacting Glen Wegner.

Corner Club Team Wins Kendrick's Cut Throat Tourney

Moscow's Corner Club used a strong third quarter showing to form the basis of their 78-68 victory from Bennett's Lumber of Moscow and win the 1976 Cut Throat tournament in Kendrick Sunday afternoon in the championship game. Kim Goetz, from the College of Southern Idaho at Twin Falls, pumped in 25 points in the game to pace the winners.

The Sunday afternoon game brought to a close a very successful two-weekend tournament. For both "A" and "B" teams, which was sponsored by the Tiger Booster Club of Kendrick. Nine teams competed in the "A" tournament.

"This is getting to be one of the best tournaments of its type in the Northwest," said Dick Ruark, who with Bill LaMunyan managed and ran the tournament. All of the profits from the tournament will be turned over to the KHS athletic department for various uses and to pay off some debts already incurred. Dick said the attendance was very good and overall the tournament was a success.

Talent abounded in the tournament and spectators had the opportunity to see some really top-flight ball played. An all-star team of Erick Hovey, Kim Goetz, Kevin Goetz, Todd Eisinger, Edgar Jefferies and Steve Weist was chosen. Weist, a U. of Idaho star, scored 93 points in his four tournament games.

Genesee team was eliminated by Bennetts Lumber, but former Genesee High School players, Ralph Stout, Jeff Boyd, Allen Odenberg and Mike Egand all saw action. Ron Hopkins, another GHS graduate, played on the Pomeroy team.

Kelly Clemenhagen, a KHS graduate who now plays with LCSC, was a member of the L-C college team in the tournament.

Ruark, speaking on behalf of the Tiger Boosters, offered sincere appreciation to all the community for its support in this project.

 A note for $1250 was paid off December 6, 1975 which was the Civic club share for the construction of the tennis court.
 Marie Scharnhorst, membership chairman reported that so far in 1976, she has 40 paid up members.
 Adrian Nelson gave a report on transportation.
 Mayor L. W. Sorensen gave a report on Community development. He had contacted Principal Roger Woehl at the school concerning painting the fire hydrants. Woehl will contact the school board to see what can be done.
 Mrs. Irma Eglund suggested that perhaps a 4-H club might be willing to undertake this project of painting the fire hydrants.
 Dorothy Holben, librarian, reported that the roof on the library was in need of repair. However, on April 14th there will be an open house at the local library and there will also be a family reading contest, and other interesting programs for spring and summer. Banker Stan Merrill said there may be a possibility that the Burr building would be available in case of necessity.
 Gene Woodruff thanked the Altar Society for hosting this meeting and preparing the dinner.
 Meeting adjourned.
 Kathryn Zenner, secretary

Sportsmen who hunted waterfowl and upland game birds during 1975 are being asked to return a questionnaire mailed out by the Department of Fish and Game.
 The department randomly selects hunters to receive the questionnaires and their return, even if the hunter did not go bird hunting in 1975, is important in determining next years seasons.

GRAND CANYON TREK
 Like a beautiful picture, the Grand Canyon is most spectacular when viewed from a distance. Howard and Ruth Hoffman discovered some of the hidden and unique qualities of the Canyon from the Bright Angel trail which leads 10 miles from the South River to the Colorado River and the Phantom Ranch.
 This time of year is ideal for hiking because the temperatures at the bottom of the canyon were mild although there was ice on the first mile of the trail.

PA System In Fraternal Temple Installed, Paid For

It took the efforts of Mrs. Ruth White, chairman of Women's Activities of Kendrick Grange No. 413 and her hard-working committee, but the new public address system for the Fraternal Temple is now paid for and installed. The committee's Spring Festival of Bicentennial of Ideas held last Thursday evening finally brought in enough money to see the project into reality. The event attracted over 60 people and took in over $200 for the project.
 The quilt, hand-tied by men of the Grange, was auctioned off and was successfully bid on by Manning Onstott at $70.
 The group in attendance enjoyed the antics of Nadine Wing and her "Henry Holligan" — a ventriloquist act.
 Mona Mitchell and Peggy Ross Home Economist from the WWP presented a two-hour demonstration on new methods of food preparation. The Grange is grateful to Brocke and Sons for the use of the refrigerator and stove used during the demonstrations.
 Roy Glenn, serving as auctioneer, was decked out in the bicentennial theme as was Ruth White, who served as Master of Ceremonies for the evening.

 Fatigue fractures occur when a bone is subjected to a series of stresses which it is unable to withstand.
 They take place in the forefoot, heel, or ankle and occasionally even in the leg or hip.
 Jogging should be undertaken gradually with the time and length increased over a period of two to three weeks.
 Jogging and other exercise programs can be dangerous if undertaken without expert guidance. For safety, one should consult his family physician before taking up rigorous exercises.

MACHINE GUARDING

Machine Guarding is now part of occupational safety and health standards for agriculture.

These new standards will have the most wide-spread effect on agriculture of any of the OSHA standards for agriculture to date. With this, Wayne Fisher, U/I cooperative extension safety specialist, notes that Idaho agriculture may be especially affected due to our particular commodities.

The standards specifically cover 4 areas of machine hazard which will affect Idahoans hiring farm or ranch employees. 1. The power take-off drive. 2. power transmission components (gears, chains, and belts), 3. components which continue to rotate after power has been disengaged and 4. disconnection of power supply to electric motor driving machinery. Additionally, the standards call for the employer to be responsible for instructing the employee in the safe operation and servicing of equipment.

The effective date of the above standards, except for the electrical, is June 7, 1976. The electrical disconnect standard will become effective September 7, 1976.

The power take-off standards will apply to both new and old machines. These PTO shields have been standard equipment for many years. Power take-off shields are often absent however as they wear out and cause inconvenience.

The power transmission component guarding will be in effect on all machines manufactured after June 7, 1976. The economic impact of putting guards on previously manufactured machines was felt unwarranted by those advising OSHA officials who in turn agreed. Idaho is fortunate to have Mr. Ovil Millar on this advisory group. A similar decision was made in regard to components which rotate after power is disengaged. The new machines will have to have audible and/or visual warning devices indicating the part is still in motion. The warning device will not be required on older machines, however, adequate warning signs and hazard identification must be in place by the June deadline.

The electrical disconnect standard relates to the inadvertent application of power to equipment being repaired, serviced, etc., thus creating a danger due to motion or electrical shock.

The operating instructions apply to the initial assignment of the employee to the task and at least annually thereafter. In general the instructions cover the basic steps of safety for machines operation. Instruction and training may be the most feasible answer to many of the present hazard areas on our machines. Fisher stated that the 1976 Idaho Farm Safety Survey did disclose a number of machinery accidents, however, guarding would not be practical in many of the locations injuries occurred. The standards so specify that guarding should not substantially interfere with the function of the component (of the machine).

Further information will be available at Cooperative Extension offices on a later date. The details of the standards may be found in the Federal Register for March 9, 1976. This publication is available in most city libraries.

USE "LOADED GUN" RULE WHEN HANDLING OR APPLYING AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS

The safety slogan "treat a chemical as if it is more hazardous than you think it to be" might parallel the gun safety slogan "always treat a gun as if it is loaded." This warning comes from Wayne Fisher, Safety Specialist, University of Idaho Cooperative Extension Service. Chemicals are a useful and necessary part of today's agriculture but they need to be treated with due respect.

Illness or injury from chemicals will seldom be credited to the source, Fisher points out. Several factors cause this lack of positive identification. Symptoms of chemical illness or injury are much like the symptoms of other maladies. Dizziness, nausea, a tired and confused feeling for example could be brought on by handling chemicals. The individual may think he has the influenza as the symptoms are much the same. Rashness caused by agricultural chemicals could be mistakenly credited to many other sources of irritation. In some instances symptoms may appear days or months later or build up with years of exposure. The physician has a difficult task diagnosing a condition which the patient himself cannot relate to specific circumstances.

The 1975 Idaho Farm Safety Survey did not disclose any work related illnesses or injury which could be credited to chemicals. There were several illnesses which the doctor or the patient could not explain. It would be difficult to speculate on the actual effect of agricultural chemicals on the health of those who use them. A day-to-day monitoring of the health of a great number of persons would be needed to supply accurate information.

Fisher advises persons using these chemicals not to take chances but to carefully follow the instruction on the containers. There are several categories of toxicity and the level of personal protection and handling methods are based on the hazard. If these are not understood by farmer or rancher handling chemicals, he should seek the assistance of his local Extension Agent, the chemical dealer, or some other qualified person. Pesticide applicator training will be available through the Cooperative Extension Service in the near future as the teaching program is now being established. Fisher urges those handling chemicals to take time to inform themselves of safe methods. Know the level of hazard and the personal protection and handling procedures which will prevent illness or injury.

Danger In Skiing

There is still snow on Idaho's slopes and over confidence of new skiers with some experience behind them poses a danger.

Don't let your speed surpass your skill, the Idaho Medical Association counsels.

Skiing is fun, and with qualified instruction, easy to learn.

But many skiers get into trouble after they have mastered the fundamentals. The primary cause of accidents is the failure of the skier, particularly the overconfident beginner—to limit his speed in accordance with his ability, his experience, and the existing conditions of snow, terrain and weather.

If you are new to skiing, don't go too fast. Be cautious around ice, slush, and bare spots on the slopes. Be especially careful in late afternoon when visibility is poor and you are likely to be cold and tired. Also, a companion adds to the enjoyment and safety of this popular winter sport.

The great majority of ski accidents are avoidable.

As on the highway, speed and weariness are dangerous and judgment, caution and courtesy are most important.

Donating Blood Is Easy

The greatest risk involved in donating blood is falling off the donor couch, and this practically never happens in a properly run blood bank, says the Idaho Medical Association.

A blood bank will draw one pint of blood. The average person has about 10 pints of blood circulating in his body and can easily spare the pint. Plasma volume is restored almost immediately after the blood is drawn. In about 10 days the red blood cells are restored and iron is back to normal after about two months, says Dr. Robert S. Richmond, Baltimore, a regional Red Cross blood program medical director.

Anyone in good health, aged 17 to 60, can give blood.

All of the different types of blood are needed, even the most common. Shortages of all types are distressingly common.

With proper scheduling, the entire process takes about one hour, with about 10 minutes required for actual drawing of blood.

Donors with high blood pressure usually can be accepted, even if they are taking ordinary medications. Anemia rules out donating blood, as does a record of hepatitis.
