

Dr. Dwight Ingle Gives Royalties from Book To Scholarship Fund

Salt causes cancer! Thunder sours milk! Lightning never strikes twice in the same place! True?

According to a new book, "Is It Really So?" by Kendrick native Dr. Dwight J. Ingle, these statements and many others like them are false. In the small paperback book published by Westminster Press and available at the U/I Bookstore, the UI alumnus discusses the human thought process and analyzes why false beliefs are formed.

Ingle, who first discovered the biological activity of cortisone, discusses numerous kinds of fallacies in the 7-chapter book. He cites for example, the fallacy of verbal conjugation: "I am frank; you are candid; he is rude." The fallacy consists of using words with different meanings to describe the same characteristic.

The psychologist turned physiologist says most people have some difficulty with the meaning of words and their proper use, and suggests that asking for definitions of words used by an opponent in an argument is one sure way to put him on the defensive, especially if definitions are requested for obscure words used in the original definition.

Ingle earned bachelor's and master's degrees in psychology at the UI, completed a doctoral degree at the University of Minnesota, and during his scientific career worked both at the famous Mayo Clinic and at the Ben May Laboratory for Cancer research, University of Chicago, where for 9 years he served as head of the physiology department. Following retirement, he came to the UI as a visiting professor of chemistry where he helped teach courses on the pseudosciences. He has donated the royalties from his new book to the chemistry scholarship fund named for Dr. Malcolm Renfrew, former head of the UI chemistry department.

Other fallacies in the book, which contains one of the most complete listings of fallacies ever published, include fallacies of generalization, oversimplification, begging the question, and fallacies uses of numbers and deductive reasoning.

"The mind is limited in ability to collect information about the world," Ingle says, noting that individuals vary in their ability to observe and remember as well as in ability to reason. In the book, he cites the results of surprising students during a lecture with a rehearsed "crime" scene in which one person chases another with a banana and the victim falls "dead" at the sound of a paper bag. Accounts from the students varied from near accuracy to genuine fear that after the victim was shot the criminal might turn his

St. Paul's Methodist church in Spokane was the setting for the wedding ceremony Saturday afternoon, July 25, at 3:30, of Wilma Wright Tilford, daughter of Harry E. Wright of Spokane and Roy E. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Long, Kendrick. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a short honeymoon trip to points of interest in Canada.

The road crew of Kendrick Highway Dist. is bending every effort to put the old American ridge grade in to shape for harvest. The highway crew consisting of H. Galloway, Ossie Kanikkeberg and Gust Luckens has been busy with drills and powder eliminating one of the worst road hazards. The patrol has been working steady smoothing out the new gravel being hauled onto the road from the Cherry Lane crusher.

Leland Items—Mr. and Mrs. Billy Weyen, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Weyen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Draper, Ervin Draper, John Vincent and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Craig and Paige left Wednesday on a fishing trip to the Ce-

"gun" on others.

Ingle closes his book with a chapter discussing ethical uses of knowledge. He questions those who would stop some research because of their fears of the use to which the knowledge might be put, but agrees that some caution must be used. He says possible benefits of research must be weighed against possible harm and the most judicious course chosen.

Early Season

Idaho's earliest upland game bird season opens this week along the Salmon river. From August 1 thru September 17, bird hunters can hunt chukars in those portions of Custer, Idaho, Lemhi and Valley counties lying within one-half mile of the main Salmon River from the mouth of Sheep Creek (approximately 30 miles above Piggins, Ida.) upstream to the mouth of Horse Creek. Those portions lying within one-half mile of the Middle Fork of the Salmon River from its mouth upstream to the mouth of Indian Creek will also be open the same time for chukar hunting.

The early hunt will have a daily bag limit of 10 chukar partridge and a possession limit of 20.

take a card... either card

for back-to-school shopping

Different people like to do their shopping in different ways. First Security understands. And wants to help. Two ways.

First Security BankAmericard lets you charge the back-to-school clothes, school supplies, even travel arrangements almost anywhere. With BankAmericard you can shop all over, and still get only one convenient bill.

And our new Check Protection

Plus lets you write a check if you want to pay that way. With our good name behind your good name, there's no check cashing identity crisis... no oh-my-gosh-I'm-overdrawn crisis. First Security backs your check for up to $100, even if your account's a little short. You'll never have any trouble cashing a check again.

So take a card, either card, for back-to-school shopping.
