Anderson-Meckel Wedding Nov. 19 at Valley Church

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Anderson (Sheryl Meckel) were united in marriage November 19 at Genesee Valley church. The Rev. Wm. Leed officiated.

She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert Gleason of Viola. He is the son of Mrs. Carl Anderson, Moscow.

Attending the bride were Anita Stearns, matron of honor and sister of the bride, and bridesmaid was Barbara Gleason, sister-in-law of the bride.

David Anderson, Moscow, brother of the groom was best man and Dale Gleason of Viola, brother of the bride was usher.

Sharon Worstell sang "The Wedding Song" accompanied by her husband on the guitar. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Leon Danielson.

A reception was held at the church with the four-tiered wedding baked and served by the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. David Anderson, Moscow.

Coffee and punch were poured by the groom's sisters, Doris Reiersen, Moscow and Pat Hakanson, Troy.

The bride graduated from Moscow high school and Moscow Beauty School. The groom graduated from Troy high school and is presently employed at Empire Farm Chemical Co., Moscow. After a short honeymoon they are making their home in Moscow.

Increasing Interest In Physical Conditioning

Physical condition is a subject of increasing interest, and the Idaho Medical Association has some suggestions for exercise programs.

Exercise should be done with full and rhythmic movements. Do no more than 10 to 15 consecutive repetitions of an exercise affecting a particular muscle group.

Allow for brief slowdown periods during the exercise program, especially at the beginning.

Include exercises that strengthen abdominal muscles, often the weakest muscles of the body.

Work on poorest and weakest areas to improve through training.

Build better heart and lung action by long continued activity involving many repetitions performed at low intensity.

Relate exercise. Avoid changing too quickly into completely different movements.

Don't warm up too fast. Take it easy and slow at first.

Do not use exercise gadgets for warmups. Use calisthenics.

An exercise program is only one part of total health care, which also includes weight control, proper nutrition and good health practices, including abstinence from smoking, adequate sleep and rest, healthful recreation, effective coping with emotional stress and proper health care.

No License Leading Cause for Fish and Game Arrests

By Royce Williams
Idaho Dept. Fish & Game

The leading cause of arrests during the last fiscal year is hunting & fishing without a license.

In its annual computation of arrests, warnings and incidents, the Department of Fish and Game reports 878 of the total 2,569 arrests were in the no license category. The reporting period covers the year ending June 30, 1976.

Close behind the no license category was 578 arrests for unlawful procedures, the department reports, and fishing or hunting during a closed season was a close third with 575 arrests.

The department's enforcement bureau reports the "unlawful procedure" covers a host of fish and game violations ranging from failure to produce a license for inspection to possession of fish or game without a necessary permit.

Misuse of a legally purchased license accounted for 210 arrests, and this offense category was followed by 177 arrests for overlimits, the department reports.

"No season" violations accounted for 80 arrests. This category covers incidents such as possession of a protected non-game bird or animal. Illegal gear was the cause of the fewest arrests—71 during the year.

In addition to arrests, the enforcement bureau reports 912 warnings were issued during the year.

Enforcement also reports 634 "incidents" during the last reporting period. An incident is a case in which a violation has occurred, but there is insufficient evidence for prosecution.

The total arrests this year were up slightly—71 more than the previous year. Totals in the warnings category dropped by seven from last year. The number of incidents dropped by 225 between '74-'75 and '75-'76, the department reports.

Hyperactive Kids

What happens to the hyperactive kid when he grows up?

Quite often he becomes a hyperactive adult, frequently with psychiatric problems, and often behind his peers in socioeconomic status, suggests a recent study reported in the Archives of General Psychiatry, a scientific publication of the American Medical Association.

Twenty men, who had been classified hyperactive children 20 to 25 years ago, and their brothers were interviewed in a research project at the Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine.

A large majority of men who were hyperactive children had completed high school. Each was steadily employed and self-supporting. Half of the men continued to show symptoms of hyperactivity. Nearly half had psychiatric problems, and despite normal intelligence scores and levels of education, they had not achieved a socioeconomic status equal to that of their brothers or their fathers.

It was suggested that emotional problems of everyday living may result from the persistence of symptoms of hyperactivity.

They tend to calm down somewhat by adolescence, but continue more restless and aggressive than others. The new studies suggest that many of them never completely outgrow it.

American ridge news: Miss Gladys Cain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cain, became the bride of John Wilson, son of A. C. Wilson in Lewiston last Monday. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Wilson, brother and sister-in-law of the groom. The bride and groom are well known residents of American ridge.

We would hate to guess how many cases of measles there are in town and the surrounding country, but on Tuesday there were 42 children out of school. Deary schools closed their public school Monday for 3 weeks, only about one third of the students being able to attend.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Editor, Gazette-News:

A matter that has been concerning me deeply is the need for more protection of state and public funds while they are deposited in the banks of Idaho. We have millions—actually hundreds of millions of dollars in state and other Idaho government funds—in demand deposits and time certificates in the banks, and only a very tiny part of them are insured against loss. I've been concerned about that for some time, because I think it is a bad situation from a business standpoint, and it could be a dangerous situation in a period of economic crisis.

Idaho has had a law on the books since 1989 that the banks don't have to put up any collateral or provide any other guarantee that the millions of dollars in state and public deposits are safe and will be repaid in the event of a bank failure. Before 1989, the banks had to put up collateral if they wanted state or other government accounts, but since that time there isn't a bit of security for public funds in the banks other than the $100,000 insurance provided by the federal government.

On June 30, 1976, the State of Idaho had $76 million in time deposits alone in 35 Idaho banks, apportioned, as provided by law, according to each bank's capital and surplus. The smallest bank had $9,579.24 of this amount; the largest had $29,646,318.67. In addition, the state had about $3.5 million in various demand deposits, ranging in size from $3000 to around three-quarters of a million dollars. When all the different state general accounts in a bank are combined, only the amount up to $100,000 is fully covered by the federal deposit insurance. In dollars, that means that of the June 30 state combined total of about $80 million, only $3,340,342.58 was protected by insurance. That's about 4 percent.

The situation wouldn't be so bad if the State Treasurer (and other public fund treasurers) could pick and choose their depositories. But we treasurers are also governed by another section of the Idaho Code, known as the public depository law, which says in effect that ANY bank desiring a public deposit may have one by just certifying its capital and surplus to the state or other governmental unit. That means that I as State Treasurer, or any other public treasurer, can't refuse to deposit money in any bank, no matter what its financial condition. It's not that I'm expecting any Idaho bank to fail, although the picture on the national scene in regard to bank failures hasn't been that rosy in recent years.

All I am saying is that the people of the State of Idaho have a right to know that their public money in Idaho banks will be safe, even in the event of any possible unforeseen financial emergency. And I do not think that the present law provides that safety.

The law should be changed to require that the banks provide SOME type of security for all the public funds entrusted to their care. For certain banks, this could be in the form of a contract with the state that in the event of a loss of public funds in ANY Idaho bank, all other banks signing the contract would reimburse their proportionate share of that loss. But since this provision could pose a problem for a smaller bank which might not be able to pay even a small share of a loss which conceivably could run over $100 million in state and public funds in the unlikely event of a large bank failure, there should also be an alternative that a bank could choose to put up collateral as security for only the state and public deposits it actually holds.

I plan to propose a law change to the next session of the Legislature. In the meantime I would like to work on it with any interested person or group so that the solution to the present situation can be something that everyone can live with—the banks, the governmental treasurers, and most of all, the people, whose money it is that we want to protect.

Marjorie Ruth Moon,
State Treasurer,
Boise, Idaho

Here's some good advice. If you drive "don't drink." And for drinkers "don't drive." But such advice—even in the face of tragic statistics—is unrealistic. Some people will drive after drinking! Are you one of them!

The Kendrick School

'Principal's Corner'

All Northwest Choir—
Joanne Parks, a Junior at Kendrick High School, has been selected to participate in the All Northwest Choir which will meet and perform in Seattle this spring. Four hundred and fifty students have been picked throughout Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Alaska and Montana to become part of this group. All applicants for this honor had to meet very high standards of musical proficiency and were selectively screened before they were chosen to participate. Three other students, Amy Lawrence, Tammy Armitage and Carla Bailey have been selected as alternates to the All Northwest choir. We are all very proud of these music students for their accomplishments. We wish the best of luck to Joanne in Seattle and hope she has a rewarding experience.

Movie for Elementary Students—

On Wednesday afternoon, December 22, elementary students at Juliaetta Elementary will see the animated color cartoon feature "The Point". This is an enchanting fantasy filled with imagination and comedy and also says much about a timely message. This movie is presented as a gift by the staff and community. We want the children in our school to know that we love them very much.

Basketball Fever—

Last Friday marked the opening of the 1976-77 boy's basketball season. Of course, the players have been practicing since early November, but for the rest of us, we have four months of basketball to look forward to. We have four games in December, eight games in January and seven games in February. The district tournament is the last week in February and the first week in March, which could mean six more games. The state tournament is the second week in March for possibly another three games. This brings the total to twenty-eight games. This is a lot of basketball which represents many hours of practice, travel and competition for a group of kids who are extremely willing to make sacrifices and work hard. We all hope that this will be a successful season for our teams as winning makes it all worthwhile. However, win or lose, these kids should be congratulated for dedicating themselves to the goals of this activity. Any support they can receive is well appreciated.

Juliaetta Elementary School Christmas Program

The annual Christmas program for Juliaetta Elementary will be held on Tuesday, December 21 at 7:30 p. m. in the Elementary Gymnasium. Students involved in the program should arrive by 7:15 p. m. The program will last about one hour. Everyone is welcome to join with us in celebrating the Christmas season.
