1½ cups boiling water
1 cup oatmeal
1/2 cup molasses
1/3 cup shortening
1 tablespoon salt
6 cups white flour
2 eggs, beaten

Soften yeast in warm water, set aside. Combine boiling water, oatmeal, molasses, shortening and salt. Cool to lukewarm.

Stir in 2 cups flour and eggs, beat well. Add yeast mixture; beat well. Add enough remaining flour to make soft dough. Grease top; cover tightly and refrigerator overnight. Shape into 2 loaves, let rise until doubled.

Bake 375 degrees, 45 minutes.
Yield: 2 loaves.

Robbers Get $400 In Quarters and Smaller

No trace has been found up to the time of going to press of the three men who entered the bank of Juliaetta early Thursday morning, robbing the outer safe of approximately $400. At first it was believed that only about $100 was taken, but in a later check-up, much small change was found to be missing from the vault.

A careful check Thursday afternoon by A. W. Behrens, cashier of the bank revealed that about $400 in nickels, dimes and quarters had been taken by the men, although they left $31 in pennies untouched. Liberty bonds were strewn over the floor and it was determined that seven safety boxes broken into were virtually untouched.

Robbery was first discovered when the bank was opened for the day on Thursday, the robbery presumably taking place between 2 and 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Mrs. M. Kimberling, living next to the bank declared that she had been awakened by two shots, evidently made by the robbers at work. She did not report the incident until after the discovery was made.

Robbers were described as three in number, one man being short and the other two tall. They were said to be traveling in a Ford car. They took an exy-acetylene outfit from a Lapwai blacksmith shop shortly after midnight, which was found at the bank. Entrance was made by jimmying a door.

Fingerprints have been taken by a Lewiston expert on the Nez Perce sheriff's staff, although no announcement has been made of his findings.

A Burns detective agency man went on the job Friday.

Caught In His Disc

Jeff Harbke had a narrow escape from possible death or serious injury Monday morning about 10 o'clock while operating a disc on his ranch north of Culdesac. He was driving twelve horses to the disc and accidentally slipped off the board on which he was standing while driving. His foot was caught in such a way as to be drawn underneath and between the disc wheels, pinning him fast. managed to stop the horses, but was unable to release his foot. He was assisted by passersby and no serious results are expected.—Culdesac Enterprise.

CATTLE BANGS TEST REQUIRED FOR 1977 FAIR

Spokane Interstate Fair Manager Ray Meenach, has reported that a negative test for bang's disease will be required for all beef and dairy cattle herds exhibited at the 1977 Spokane Interstate Fair. This requirement will apply to both Washington State herds and out of state herds except dairy heifers under 20 months of age that have been vaccinated for bangs or beef heifers 24 months and under that have been vaccinated. Due to recommendations by local, state and federal veterinarians, it was decided to make this requirement for the 1977 Fair for the protection of all cattle exhibitors.

Any herd originating from a bangs quarantined area or herd will not be eligible to show at this year's Fair.

Church Introduces Legislation for Gospel Hump Agreement

Washington, August 5 Senator Frank Church today introduced legislation to implement an agreement reached last month between conservationists and representatives selected by the Grangeville Chamber of Commerce on the future management of the Gospel-Hump roadless area in North Central Idaho.

The legislation was offered as an amendment to the pending Endangered American Wilderness bill which Church introduced earlier this year. That legislation would designate as wilderness several areas in a number of Western States.

The bill introduced today covers approximately 343,000 acres of the Gospel-Hump area located north of the Salmon River. Another 150,000 acres of the area are located south of the Salmon, and talks between conservationists and the local representatives on a management plan for that area are still underway. Church said that when agreement is reached on that portion, he will offer legislation to include it within the scope of the bill.

Church, the ranking member of the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources was instrumental in bringing environmentalists and members of the Grangeville Chamber's Task Force on Natural Resources together earlier this year in hopes of putting together recommendations on the future of Gospel-Hump which both sides could support. The area has been the subject of protracted debate and delay for several years.

In introducing the legislation today Church said that the consensus reached by the two sides "is proof that the volatile issues surrounding the future use of our national forest roadless areas can be resolved. Furthermore, the people who have been meeting together in north Idaho have demonstrated that even in areas where there is great controversy, agreements can be reached by men and women willing to sit down and talk about their differences."

The legislation introduced today contains the following major provisions:

—The high alpine regions of Gospel-Hump and the breaks country of the Salmon River would be added as a unit of the National Wilderness System. Some 220,000 acres would be included in this area.

—The most heavily forested commercial timberlands lying along the periphery of the area, and accessible by the existing road network, would be scheduled for timber harvest and development. Some 45,000 acres would thus be immediately available for harvest, helping reduce "the timber supply problems anticipated for the very near future in Idaho county."

—Another 78,000 acres would also become available for development under a comprehensive resource development plan.

—A seven-member advisory committee would be set up within the Department of Agriculture to help the Secretary decide upon the best way to develop the areas covered under the resource development plan, while protecting water quality and fish and wildlife resources of the area.

—The Secretary of Agriculture would be authorized to cooperate with the State of Idaho and the Department of Interior in conducting a comprehensive fish and wildlife research program within the entire Gospel-Hump area and surrounding federal lands. This research program would involve detailed investigations of resident and anadromous fish populations and the status, distribution, movements and management of game populations. Results from this research program would be integrated into the plan developed for the 78,000 acres of management lands.

—Using the results from the fish and wildlife research program, as well as other data on soil, timber volume and productivity, a 4-year management plan would be developed for the 78,000 acres in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture's advisory committee. It would be revised as new data on resources within the area becomes available. The completed plan would be referred to Congress for a 90-day review.

—Within 30 days from enactment of the legislation, the timber contained in the 123,000 acres scheduled for development would be returned to the annual allowable cut calculations for the Nezperce National Forest.

Church said that hearings on the legislation will be scheduled in Grangeville later this month, hopefully on August 24, with details to be announced at a later date.

Citing the success of the effort which produced the agreement on Gospel-Hump, Church urged the Forest Service to "take a close look at the process which evolved at Grangeville. Perhaps the method used there can be applied to other similar situations across the country. Perhaps, if environmentalists and commodity groups sit down together, they will find they have more in common than they first imagined."

CONTROLLED HUNT PERMITS MAILED
By Royce Williams
Idaho Dept. of Fish and Game

Idahonans who applied for a controlled hunt permit should check their mailboxes now to see whether they have drawn on of the 9,635 permit holders for 1977.

The Department of Fish and Game reports billing notices for those who drew permits were mailed out shortly after the Monday (August 1) computer drawing.

Claude Clapsaddle, data processing supervisor called this year's drawing "very smooth." Sifting the 9,635 permit holders from 89,104 applications took about 35 minutes, he said.

Clapsaddle said those persons drawing more than one permit this year were about 5 percent and no one drew more than 3 permits. He said 14,157 persons applied for 3 or more permits (the limit is 6), but only 22 persons drew 3 permits.

He said 26,055 persons submitted between 2 and 6 applications, but 484 actually drew 2 permits.

Since the $1 application fee was dropped this year, persons who drew permits will have to pay for the permit itself according to the following schedule:

Residents: Deer, $3; elk $5; moose, $55 (includes tag); antelope, $15 (includes tag); bighorn sheep, $55 (includes tag); and mountain goat, $25 (includes tag).

Nonresidents: Deer $3; elk $5; antelope $25 (includes tag); bighorn sheep $110 (includes tag); and mountain goat, $45 (includes tag).

Representing the public at this year's drawing were Representative John Reardon of Boise; Dr. Steven Oki of Nampa and Cary Jones of Boise. They drew the numbers that set the sequence of the 6 applications, social security and hunting license numbers used. In a second drawing of 10 numbers, they mixed the first set drawn.

The department said persons mailing their permit fees are asked to send either money orders or cashiers checks. Personal checks will not be accepted.

Self-confidence is a good trait, but be sure you are in a position to back it up.
