Too soon for IRA?

Sure it's tough to think about retirement early, but it's tougher to think about it too late.

An Individual Retirement Account at First Security offers several advantages. You can save $1500 a year ($1750 if your spouse is not employed) and we'll pay 7 3/4 % interest. Savings and interest are both tax deductible. If you save $1500 a year at 7 3/4 % you'll have $73,940.67 at the end of 20 years. If you save $1750 a year ($875 for each spouse) at 7 3/4 % you'll have $86,264.26 at the end of 20 years.

You are eligible for an IRA account if you do not have a qualified retirement or pension plan where you work.

Remember — in order to qualify for a tax break in 1977 you must set up your plan by December 31st, 1977, even though you needn't make your deductible contribution deposit until February 14, 1978.

Heads up people, putting you ahead.

Heat Safely with Wood, Specialist From UI Advises

Moscow—Don't get burned if you're converting to wood heat this winter to save on heating bills and to help conserve nonrenewable energy supplies.

"An old-fashioned wood burning stove or free-standing fireplace can add a lot of charm and romance as well as warmth to today's home," observed Thomas J. Karsky, U/I extension farm safety specialist. "But if not installed and used properly, wood heat can also add a serious fire hazard."

News reports throughout the NW this winter tells of families losing their homes and sometimes their lives as a result of unsafe wood stove installation, Karsky said, noting that fire marshalls, building inspectors and insurers are beginning to express concern.

"The diverse wood burning stoves, furnaces and fireplaces currently available are generally safe and efficient sources of home heat," he said. "However, to protect family and property, wood heating does demand more work and attention."

Tightly constructed, well insulated homes—especially those built for electric heat—can pose a major problem for efficient stove operation, Karsky said. These houses may not have enough air leakage to supply air to the wood stove, causing poor burning and smoke.

"Also, when wood is burned without sufficient oxygen, deadly carbon monoxide can be released," the UI specialist pointed out. "Opening a nearby window or, better yet, installing an air passage from outside to the stove can solve the problem."

Many manufacturers rate their stoves by the number of cubic feet or the number of rooms the stove will heat. As a general rule, 2.6 square feet of firebox bottom is required to heat each 1,000 square feet of room area.

The stove should be installed on a brick platform or other non-flammable material extending at least six inches (preferably 12 inches) out from sides and back of the stove and 18 inches from the front opening for loading wood. Sturdy legs should provide at least four inches (preferably 8-10 inches) of air space between the stove bottom and the floor.

"Wood catches fire when heated to 500 or 600 degrees," Karsky said, noting the temperatures within wood burning stove normally range from 1,000 to 1,400 degrees. "Therefore, it's critical that you place the stove at least 36 inches from any burnable material such as the ceiling, walls and furniture."

Never use a stovepipe labeled 'coal,' 'gas,' or 'type B' for wood stove, Karsky warned. Consisting of a single thickness of metal, such pipes can get very hot and start a fire in combustible materials in walls or ceiling.

Instead, use an 'all fuel,' 'solid fuel,' or class A' welded seam stovepipe of at least 26 gauge thickness if a masonry chimney in good repair is not available. There should be at least 18 inches clearance between the stovepipe and ceiling, walls or other burnable material.

Unless specifically approved by the manufacturer, do not use handmade logs in your wood burning stove. If you use rolled newspapers for fuel in your fireplace, be sure to remove the color comics since the inks have been shown to give off gases containing small amounts of lead when burned.

Make sure all wood used is dry to prevent buildup of creosote deposits in the chimney that can catch fire. Never use kerosene or other flammable materials to start or rekindle a wood fire.

Keep the stove door closed or a tightly fitting screen in place while the fire is burning to prevent accidents from flying sparks. Have a type ABC fire extinguisher readily available, and never leave small children unattended where a stove is in use.

Clean the stove regularly, but leave ashes an inch deep to improve fuel efficiency. Place ashes in a metal container with a tight fitting lid such as a metal garbage can.

Never stock up a wood fire so hot that it changes the color of the stove pipe.

"A glowing red stovepipe signals danger," Karsky warned. "Cool the fire as quickly as possible by closing the stove's dampers and partially closing the stovepipe damper. If that doesn't do it fast enough, bank the fire by putting a few shovels full of ashes on top of the burning wood."

Take down the stovepipe several times during the heating season and clean out the soot. Removal of accumulated soot saves fuel, increases heat and minimizes the danger of fire.

If you have questions about the safe way to install or use wood heat, contact your local fire marshall, building inspector or county office of the UI Extension Service.

"Wood fires are a source of pleasure and comfort," Karsky said. "Just make sure that you are the master and fire is the servant."

What Is A Grandmother?

What is a Grandmother? According to a child at St. Paul's Church: "A grandmother is a lady who has no children of her own, so she likes other people's little girls. A grandfather is a man grandmother."

"They are old, so they shouldn't play or run. It is enough if they drive you to the market where the pretzel horse is and have lots of dimes ready."

Usually they are fat, but not too fat to tie kids' shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear.

They can take their teeth and gums out!

They don't have to be smart, only answer questions like, "Why do dogs hate cats?" and "How come God isn't married?"

Everybody should try to have one, especially if you don't have television, because grandmas are the only grownups who have the time to entertain you!—The Catholic News—Contributed by Hazel Zitzelberger

Don't let cabin fever get you down. There are a lot of game and nongame animals open for hunting and trapping, making it a good time to sharpen your outdoor skills.

There is also general information on property taxes in the 1972 book entitled YOU CAN GET YOUR REAL ESTATE TAXES REDUCED by Ronald Gettel. These books and pamphlets are available at the libraries in Moscow, Pocatello, Genesee, Juliaetta & Troy and on the bookmobile.

Blue Key Members Named

Moscow—The UI chapter of Blue Key, a national honorary, selected 10 UI students for membership. Blue Key sponsors publications and distribution of the UI campus telephone directory each fall. Other annual projects include involvement with the Friends Unlimited program, assisting with the Borah Symposium and serving as tour guides for high school students during their spring campus.

The new members include Mark Mustoe, junior, agribusiness major and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mustoe, Route 1, Kendrick.

The Rev. G. C. Albright, pastor was burned and scalded when fighting the blaze. The alarm was turned in by Lester Crocker at 9:08. However, by good use of water, little damage was done the manse—it suffered a slight scorching and a few cracked windows.

While cleaning out the attic of an old granary on the farm, Darwin Tarry found a crumpled, torn Kendrick Gazette, dated May 26, 1892, and bearing the numbers Volume 1, Number 20—which makes it the first year of publication for the paper. The handwritten name was to L. E. Lepole, for whom, old timers say, Lepole Canyon was named. Of particular interest was this item —A. G. Wilson of Palouse and Miss Mary Barns were married last evening (May 25, 1892) at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. Frank LaBolle. Homestead proofs were being offered by Louis Oldag, John Gertje, George Leith, Williams B. Whitesides, James R Watkins and Annie Hicks.

Students May Invite Guest To Lunch at Juliaetta—

The Juliaetta Elementary School through courtesy of our cooks Jean Clemenhagen and Irene Thornton has asked each student to invite one guest, a parent, aunt, uncle, grandparent or other friend to dinner on Valentine's Day, Tues., Feb. 14. The guest may eat with the student that has invited him or her and enjoy "cook's choice" for the day.

Labels For Education

We've passed the 2,000 mark! Only 5,000 more to go! We have a big thank you to say to Lucinda Grose-close who brought over 700 last week Grandma really helped us out! Joe Forest also stopped by the school last week with a sack full of labels. Monday, we received 30 labels anonymously from someone in Spokane and 40 labels from Mrs. C. E. Clymer of Clarkston. Don and Dale Gallo-way have also brought in quite a few. Let's keep them coming! Remember to save your Campbell soup and Franco-American labels.

Library News

Last week the 3rd graders were the first class to clean up all their overdue books. Each of them received a Books Are Something Special bookmark. We are having a monthly contest to keep the overdue books to a minimum. On the last day of each month the overdue board is checked and those classrooms with a clean slate receive bookmarks.

Fourth Grade News

We had a surprise party for Mrs. Mathison. She got a baby bottle candle from Glyna. We had a cherry cake, cookies, koolaid, jelly beans, red hots, mint candy, and Mrs. Mathison brought ice cream. We're doing a science report on mammals, fish, insects, reptiles and amphibians. Our new student aide is Joan Silflow. She is helping us. We made a Valentine's card and a snowflake heart. Reporters, Darcie Gentry and Denise Mitchell.

Sixth Grade News

In Social Studies we are studying about the West Indies. For math, group II is doing fractions, group I is doing geometry. In Science we are doing astronomy. A week from Friday we are going to have oral book reports. On Valentine's Day all the kids in the class can invite a person for lunch. The cost will be 75 cents per person. The magazine sale will start Feb. 16. If you would like to renew a magazine please save the name tag off the magazine. Reporters, —Stacey Mitchell and Julene Smith.

Fifth Grade News

We have a new girl in our class. Her name is Michelle Mathews. We decorated our class with Valentines. We go to the school library every Monday. We have a soup label in the school library now. We have 2,000 soup labels. We have to get 5,000 more. So keep on saving your soup labels. Mark Harris is home with the chicken pox. The 5th and 6th graders are having a magazine sale starting Feb. 17th. —Reporters Connie Anderson and Brenda Hamilton.

Doughnut League Hoop Season At Halfway Mark

At the halfway point in our season we find Team IV in the lead with a perfect 3-0 mark while teams I, 11 and III all have identical 1-2 win-loss records.

He was joined in scoring by Dale Renfrow who had 4 points and James Morey and Jack Meyer who scored 2 points each. John Bryan scored 5 points for Team I followed by Doug LaMunyan and Brian Hutcheson with 2 points.

Team II broke into the win column by downing Team II 16-14 in a close hard-fought game. They were led in scoring by Galen Browning's 12 points, while Mark Harris and Brian Parks tallied 2 points each. Bill LaMunyan scored 6 points for Team II, all on free throws. Other scorers included Brent Hutcheson with 4 points and Robert Jones and Casey Alridge with 2 points apiece.

The girls did most of their scoring in the first half as Team II squeezed out an 8-7 halftime lead and went on to a 15-9 victory. Scorers for Team II were Stacey Mitchell 6, Lisa Foster 3, Cindy Hadley 2, and Kristen Cuddy got credit for 2 as team captain when an opponent scored in the wrong basket.
