Troy Nips Tigers 6-0 On Final Quarter Tally; Genesee Bombs C. V.

Troy, Genesee, and Nezperce ended the football season tied for first place with identical 5-1 league records following action Friday night. Nezperce won over Deary 26-12; Genesee won over Clearwater 26-12; Troy scored to make it 27-25. The 8th grade boys didn't fare so well as they were defeated 37-15.

The Tigers showed they had bounced back from last week's loss to Genesee, as the KHS defensive unit contained the Trojans throughout much of the contest. While the Kendrick defense looked good, so did the rugged Trojans.

Troy ran a touchdown across in the second quarter only to have it called back on a penalty. Twice more in the contest the Trojans were threatening to score, only to have their drives stalled. Kendrick mounted a scoring threat in both the third and fourth quarter, but neither materialized and it was the second drive of the Tigers that set up the Troy touchdown. Kendrick tried a long field goal in the final period of play—the ball didn't get into the end zone to be declared dead and Troy ran it back to the Tiger 40, then passed to the ten and two plays later scored from four yards out.

Genesee had to come from a 6-0 deficit early in the game, but then romped home over the Clearwater Valley Rams 53-20. Genesee ended the season with a 7-2 overall record. Both losses came at the hands of the tough Trojans.

Good Attendance at Genesee Civic Meeting

Eighty-three attended the Thurs., Oct. 26th dinner-meeting of the Genesee Civic Assoc. held in St. Mary's parish center. Ladies of St. Mary's Altar Society planned and prepared the meal.

Don Springer, vice president, presided over the meeting. The invocation was given by Marie Scharnhorst.

Candidates for the upcoming Nov. 7th election were introduced and welcomed. Our new dentist, Dr. Wayne Peterson was also present and welcomed.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by secretary Zenner. Pres. Merrill left the following names for the nominating committee for new 1979 officers—Don Springer, Norma Woodruff and Marie Scharnhorst.

As this is a busy season it was suggested and approved to combine the November and December meetings. Next meeting November 30th. Membership chairman reminded members that dues are now payable. Ed Morken was moderator and Dan Aherin timer for the interesting and informative political program.

Kathryn Zenner, secy.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Editor:
I strongly urge the voters of Latah

County to support David Purtee for County Clerk/Auditor on Nov. 7th.

As State Treasurer, I have a working relationship with all county clerks in the area of remitting funds due to the State. In this area of responsibility, the present Latah County Auditor does not receive high marks and shows a lack of attention to details.

On the other hand, David Purtee shows excellent promise because of his Master's Degree in Business Administration and his experience in the management field. With his accounting background, he will make an excellent Auditor for the people of Latah County.

I am sure that once you have David Purtee in the Courthouse as Latah County Clerk/Auditor, the problems between the State Treasurer's office and your County Clerk's office will cease.

Editor:
Because of the close relationship between the State Auditor's Office and the county clerks of the state, I am very much concerned with the position of county clerks and auditors.

Because of his unique qualifications, personality, and background, I am very pleased as State Auditor to endorse David Purtee without qualification for county clerk, and would encourage the voters of Latah County to give him every consideration while casting their votes for this position.

Sincerely,
Joe R. Williams

The Gazette News
Kendrick and Genesee:
Dear Editor:

I urge the people of District 5, Latah County to vote for Tom Boyd for State Representative and for Jay Nelson for County Commissioner. Both of these men live in the Genesee area.

Incumbent Boyd serves on three important committees in the legislature. He understands the problems facing the small businessman, the educator, the students and the farmer. He listens to his constituents and weighs both sides of an issue before making a decision on how he will vote. We need his representation from our area in Boise next January.

Jay Nelson will be aware of concerns and problems of the people of Genesee and all parts of the county. His work on county boards and his interest in local activities have helped prepare him for a job as county commissioner.

Votes for Boyd and Nelson will be votes for good government in the state and in the county.

Sincerely,
Marie and Dick Scharnhorst

To the Editor:

Tuesday, Nov. 7 is a most important day—critically important for U. S. A. As we vote we will in the main support a liberal approach nationally through the Democrats, or support a conservative approach to government by Republicans. We will have to cast our votes without adequate benefits in education, in economics, business, or political science. We are really in the hands of the gods so to speak.

Over three score years ago, we put vocational agriculture and home economics in most high schools by direct federal subsidy. We passed the Smith Hughes Act. We have amended it many times. However, the usually inadequate Congress has not voted to help matters further by setting up election funds for congressional races. This would make it possible to elect more qualified people with less fetters. The Congress has not voted to help all high schools teach principles of economics and political science with applications to local, state, and federal government. Yet, we voters are supposed to be the board of directors of the most complex business in the world!

There is a terrific pressure to swing us to a conservative political stance by voting Republican. Millions of dollars are being spent by special interest groups to propagandize us. However, conservatism or rightist policies and approaches won't do the job for us. The best proof is the trials we gave the conservative views in the Eisenhower, Nixon, and Ford Administrations. For example, during Ike's Administration, the growth rate fell to less than 3%. We had three recessions and forfeited roughly $1600 billions of gross national product (GNP). We went more into debt both public and private. The farm debt was quickly saddled back on our farmer's backs—for example, we are in debt about $3300 billions public and private at this time. That's half our net worth! To top it off, Ezra Benson saw farmers break as economic power in other sectors of our economy was concentrated on top of already too much concentration.

The history of the Nixon and Ford Administrations was similar. We really went through the wringer in '74 and '75, for example. I'd say that $3000 billions of GNP was forfeited during the Eisenhower, Nixon, and Ford Administrations. This forfeiture about equals our total public and private debts of today.

The imbalance in our economy resulting of such forfeitures of GNP show everywhere. We have unemployment, more indebtedness, high energy prices, loss of farm lands, and farmers going broke.

Let us all think on this between now and Nov. 7. Really, the conservative approaches are our worst enemy. We are getting behind in this very competitive world. Further, the forced dislocation of our own populations is putting our old timers in the so-called empty states in debt to afford the new living room for so many people moving in on us. A more functional and stable U. S. economy would dampen the drive that moves people from the more populated areas to Idaho, for example.

Government is best when it governs least . . . and to keep it under control we must keep as much of it confined to local levels as possible.

The County Commissioners must make the county decisions . . . to leave these to the legislature or the governor means giving away our county government and with it our individual rights.

Is county government "just an extension of state government", as my opponent recently stated? If that is true, or becoming true then we're on the wrong track.

 October 17, 1978
 Mr. Wm. Roth,
 Editor and Publisher
 Dear Mr. Roth:
 Seems I am way behind in sending in my subscription for another year of the Gazette News. Noted in issue October 12, that you were going elk hunting, hope your luck better than mine. Had intended paying my subscription before heading into mountains but after looking at all the grain that should have been threshed and in the warehouse instead of ruined in the fields I forgot to pay up one time was in Kendrick. I heard about a 5-point bull a bow hunter killed in the Panhandle hunting area. Although friends hunting in my area traveled as far as Big Hog mountain, Mt. Price Peak, Fish Lake area, none made any complete hunter group kills.
 I myself spent 10 days on Salmon Mt. Lost Parker trail area. Saw far more cougar, bear and coyote tracks. No big herds of elk with big herd bulls. Ten or a dozen elk here, even a dozen years ago. I've seen herds totaling a hundred head when they came out to feed in the twilight.
 I hunted with a man who killed the third best elk then in North America in this area in 1977. About 50-inches spread, six-pointer. This year lucky to kill a 5-point bull. I told him some 20 years ago I had been in on the killing of real rump scatcher with 8-point on each side and 54-inch spread.
 Snow finally run me out of high country at a depth of two feet and turning toward zero weather. It snowed 7 of the 10 days. I was off road in mountains and traveling thru country from the Salmon River Breaks divide down to the Selway. Everywhere I saw elk and deer tracks. I saw more cougar and coyote tracks than those of big game.
 In High Country and along breaks Salmon and Selway, more deer and elk food than in former times. Owen Morris, former head of the biological survey really built up Idaho big game herds. He had iodized salt and minerals packed out or flown out along elk migration routes in the spring in calving grounds. More important he had hunters trapping out cougars and coyotes and bear where too plentiful.

 Cougar hunters with hounds who hunted elk wintering area were paid a bounty for their cougar kills.
 If our big game is going to survive in some of our best elk habitats we must again establish the Big Game Reserves and close alternately areas and open areas for say next 5 or 10 years.
 Ross Leonard, during his reign as head fish and game department with advertising liberal season and up to 5 deer per hunter in hunting in various areas. For a few years really started decline of Idaho's big game population. He's in New Mexico presently but no longer involved in game management.
 Even in best areas near Idaho-Montana border long famous for trophy elk. Few kills made, perhaps more kills after stopped snowing and elk migrated to Selway and Montana to winter. Agree banding, say grizzly and black bears o. k. during census studies. But I always contend corraling elk and mt. sheep with salt and feed killed more animals than studies benefitted herds left on study areas.
 I hope elk surviving better in the Pan Handle than in the Selway. Bittersweet Salmon River Breaks country.
 I once came on a Fish & Game Peoples Corral near Goat Mt. where 5 elk were dead and dieing. Needless to say I destroyed that corral. I say hauling of elk, deer and sheep in peoples way. Students and professors set behind desks and use helicopters to check on game. I go with the German forestry and game management universities. If a forestry student, forester, or game management graduate does have the love and intelligence to know all about the game of his area with catching and putting streamers and beepers on the animals he will not be graduated and licensed into his profession. Forestry and game people are penalized all their lives for any errors they make even down to number points on deer and elk classified as legal game. Students and professors come to Idaho from all over the nation to experiment with our big game and they don't give a dam how many animals they sacrifice as long as they are able to kill enough to get the percentage needed to make thir Masters and Doctorate look impressive.

 And, sadly these people and the fish and game department have so brain washed the younger generation coming up and the new comers to Idaho who haven't seen the game herds of only a few years past. That (for except) status quo now as what good for the state. The Forest Service regardless of a congressional no, have continued to punch roads through timber toward the Chamberlain Basin, the best wintering ground adjacent to Summer Range for elk, deer, mountain sheep, mountain goat and deer that is left anywhere in the U. S. A. I expect that this area with go were Rare II evaluated by Forest Service.
 I'll say that some game areas in Northern Idaho have grown up with mostly worthless white Fir where P. F. I. once logged, also old burns that once were willows but not so in the High mountains where lightning fires left to burn themselves out to provide new food areas to provide elk and deer food. The Buck-Bull laws is like the rancher always killing off his best herd bulls and leaving the scrubs to build up his herd.
 No other state, except maybe Alaska is permitting experimental studies by University Game Departments for mostly out of state students to experiment on their big game herds to gain degrees and jobs to the extent that the State of Idaho has in the past and is continuing. The Fish and Game Department is self-supporting and those people are going to figure ways and means to sell Big Game licenses until the last dam elk is gone and the land developers move into Chamberlain Basin. The only solution I see is to tie a provision for reinstatement of Game Reserves in all Big Game areas in Idaho to a very popular measure most of the people want.
 A straight out attempt to pass beneficial laws to save and increase our Big Game failed because Fish and Game people were able to put them down. I think we have a few lawmakers who are beginning to understand what is happening.
 The only good, big bull trophy I saw or learned about came out of an area off Elk Mt where 5 hunters took good bulls out of an area both too skippy and steep for any pack animal only back packing country. These people had hunted area for the past 19 years.
 I will credit Fish and Game people with transplanting mountain sheep to Owyhee back of Snake River country. Also wild turkeys and chickens. These achievements didn't require college department studies.
 Respectfully yours,
 B. E. (Gene) Groseclose

Jim McClure has worked hard to cut taxes and big government.

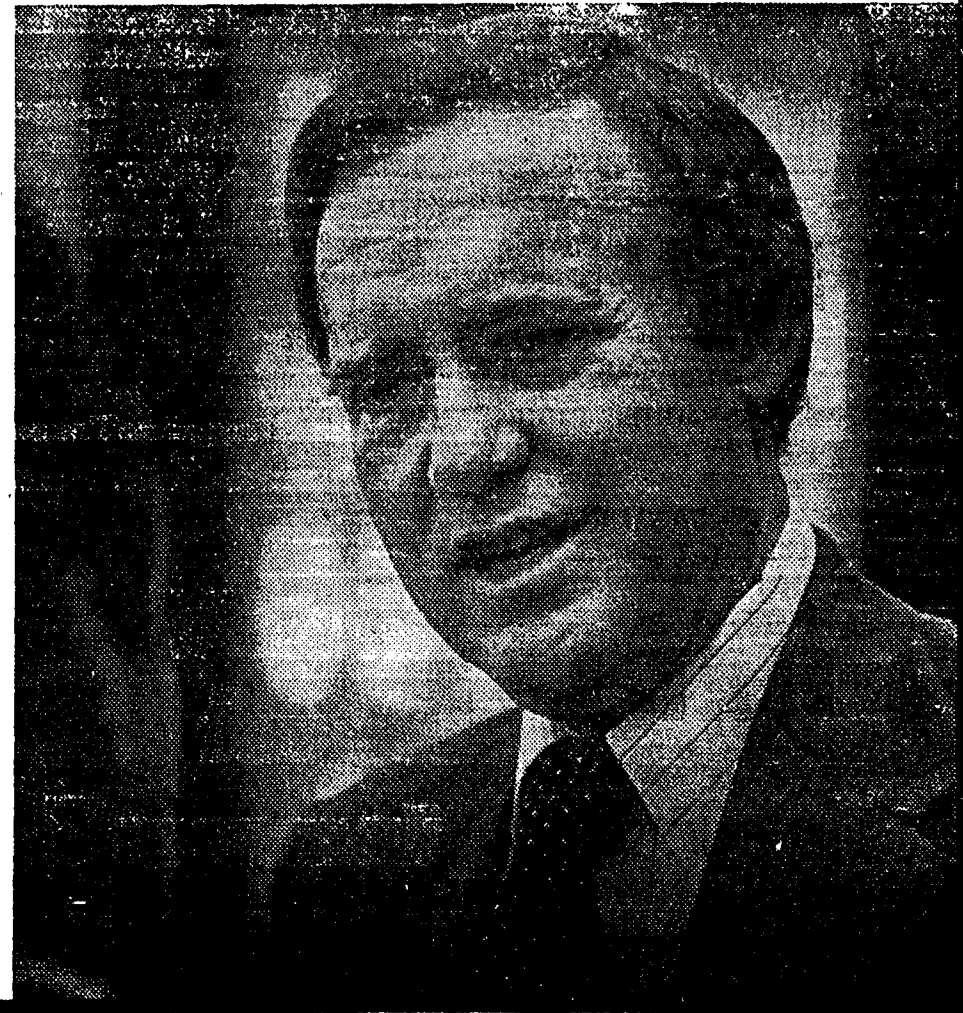

"We need to cut back the bureaucracy, we need to cut the weight of the federal government, we need to cut taxes by an average of 30% and we can do it.

"We shouldn't forget that the biggest spenders of all are in Washington. And I've already introduced a constitutional amendment that would limit the amount of money the federal government can spend!

"The people's frustration with taxes and government has finally boiled over and I believe now we have a good chance to put a lid on government spending."

Big spending proposals such as the $25 billion-a-year federal health insurance program and the $20-$40 billion-a-year Humphrey-Hawkins "so-called" jobs bill would add to our record budget deficits and fuel the fires of double digit inflation. In his opposition to run-away government spending, Idaho's Senator Jim McClure speaks for you.

Darby Family Reunion—

The family members had an enjoyable potluck Sunday at the home of Aunt Elsie Darby. Those present were LuAnn and Russel Brammer, Estel and Glen Summerfield, Wayne and Dorothy Darby, all of Moscow; also Earl and Dorris Keller of Coeur d'Alene; Tom and Carol Lynn Rogers and two small sons, Anthony and Christopher of Lewiston, Joe, Cecil and Gar, Brammer of Cedar Ridge and Lloyd and Amy Farrington. It was a most enjoyable time for Aunt Elsie to remember. Earl and Dorris Keller remained overnight before leaving for their home in Coeur d'Alene Monday morning.

Walt and Edna Benscoter returned home after a week's stay in Montana at the Hot Springs. While there, Jack Webster came in a Poplar to visit with them. Callers during the rest of the week included Kyle Anderson, Frankie Benscoter, Judy, Audra, and John Callison; also Bob and Diane Dupea and sons Tim and Chris; Brett Hoisington, Mary Beth and Dick McCall and Wilma, Tom and Sally Greene.

Lawrence Heimgartner and other Heimgartner brothers are busy rounding up their cattle in preparation for returning them home to their winter quarters. The Warney Mays are engaged in the same occupation in the Bovill area.

Kathlyn Morey is visiting her parents, Edd and Emma Kent for a few days. Margaret Cox McDougal was a Friday overnight guest enroute from Coeur d'Alene to her winter home in Palm Springs, Calif. Other callers in the Kent home have been Sue and Jim Reid, Kyle Anderson, Frankie Benscoter and Flo and Clem Lyons.

Kyle Anderson, Portland, was a Saturday overnight guest of the Frank Benscoters. He also called on other old friends and neighbors including the Coxes, Kents, Walt Benscoters and Perry Mattoon.

Joy (Davis) Huggins was a Saturday caller in the Frank Benscoter home and Sunday evening, Don, Barbara and Opie Benscoter and Vicky Benscoter were callers.

Dick and Vicky Benscoter visited Ella's brother, Bill Lyle and his wife Dorothy at Gig Harbor, Wash, from Thursday to Sunday. They had a very interesting and fun time gathering clams and oysters which are abundant near the Lyle's back yard.

Andy and Minnie Cox went to Boise to stay with their grandchildren while their parents, Andy Sue and Jim Reid journeyed here to spend the weekend with Tom and attend the football game in Moscow.

Betty May and Rena Andrews, also Lawrence, Nell and Ray Heimgartner and Jo Benscoter attended the Fall Concert at Kendrick High School last week. Those who did not attend missed a very inspirational program. When we think of the hours of practice and planning for both the instructor and participants, it would be gratifying to see a packed house.

For the best of both Savings and Checking

Take Advantage

The NEW way to bank that helps you control your money.

With First Security Advantage you earn interest on the dollars you normally keep in a checking account. And it can cost you absolutely nothing.

It's your choice. You select the amount you want to keep in each account and we'll automatically transfer* from statement savings to checking as needed. Meanwhile, your money in savings keeps earning 5% continuous compounded interest.

Advantage gives you credit for the combined average balance of both checking and statement savings accounts — not just your minimum balance. And this is more economical for you. Because you have the Advantage.

First Security Advantage also gives you:

- First Security Banking Card — It works like your personal check. Accepted wherever VISA is honored.
- Write all the personalized checks you need.
- New combined checking and savings monthly descriptive statement.
- Visa credit card.
- Check Protection Plus.
- Reduced rate on installment loans.
- Little or no cost. Based on your savings and checking balances combined.

*Effective November 1, 1978. Federal regulations permitting.

Advantage may not be for everyone, but look at your own situation. Are you splitting your savings to pick up a few dollars a year in a savings and loan? Bring them to First Security for the Advantage, where combined savings and checking balances can save you much more. See your nearby First Security Bank for complete details.

State Representative — District 7

This I Believe:

We need meaningful tax reform, but public services (education law enforcement, etc.) must be maintained.

Involvement of the state in local matters should be minimized.

Each issue should be considered on its merits.

I would remain independent as far as each issue is concerned, but would solicit the opinions of the voters, and would vote to the best interest of my constituents.

Boyd on the 1% Initiative

"I voted for property tax relief measures the past two sessions and strongly support property tax relief today. But, as an experienced legislator, I fear a cut of $141 million all at once would require alternative sources of revenue to fund critical services such as education and local governments. A more responsible way is to draft legislation trailored to Idaho in the beginning rather than waste more taxpayers' dollars trying to make over an ill-fitting shoe."

BOYD IS AN INCUMBENT LEGISLATOR, and a member of three vital committees. He offers experience and sound judgement as a representative of the people of District 5.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

The following are the proposed Constitutional Amendments to be voted on at the next General Election to be held November 7, 1978

Five amendments to the Idaho Constitution will appear on the general election ballot. These have been proposed to the people for ratification following action by the legislature.

The amendment proposals, the Legislative Council's statement of meaning and purpose, and the statements for and against are listed as follows:

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

To vote on the following, mark a cross in the square at the right of "Yes" or "No."

S.J.R. No. 102

Yes No
"Shall Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended by the addition of a new Section 3B to provide for the issuance of revenue bonds by port districts in the manner prescribed by law, for the acquisition, construction, installation, and equipping of facilities and projects to be financed for, or to be leased, sold or otherwise disposed of to persons, associations or corporations other than municipal corporations; provided, that any such revenue bonds shall be payable solely from charges, rents, or payments derived from the facilities or projects financed thereby and shall not be secured by the full faith and credit or the taxing power of the port district, the state, or any other political subdivision?"

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL'S STATEMENT OF MEANING AND PURPOSE

S.J.R. 102
The meaning of this proposed amendment to Article VIII of the Constitution of the state of Idaho is to provide for the issuance of revenue bonds by port districts in the manner prescribed by law.

Effect of Adoption

The adoption of this proposed amendment would grant to port districts the right to issue revenue bonds to be paid off from the revenues generated by the port district.

Arguments FOR the proposed amendment:

1. This amendment would cure technical obstacles, raised by bonding counsel, to the issuance of revenue bonds by port districts.
2. Revenue bonds would be payable solely from operating revenue of the port districts, and could not be a burden upon the tax payers of the district.
3. The ability to issue revenue bonds by port districts will provide financing for port district facilities, which should improve business and economic conditions for Idaho citizens.

Arguments AGAINST the proposed amendment:

1. One of the expressed purposes of this amendment would allow a port district to issue revenue bonds upon facilities to be leased to private corporations or individuals. This is preferential treatment of the worst kind; it gives these private corporations or individuals a distinct economic advantage, not shared by other tax payers, but paid for by other tax payers.
2. No other unit of government in the state has been granted this kind of revenue bond authority that is proposed for port districts.

S.J.R. No. 115

Yes No
"Shall Section 3, Article VIII, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho, relating to limitations on county and municipal indebtedness, be amended to provide that a majority, rather than two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on the question, approve revenue bond issues to finance airport and air navigation facilities in accordance with existing requirements and that the cost of such financing be paid solely from the revenue derived from the operation of such airport and air navigation facilities?"

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL'S STATEMENT OF MEANING AND PURPOSE

S.J.R. 115
The meaning of this proposed amendment to Section 3, Article VIII, of the Constitution of the state of Idaho is to provide that a majority of the voters voting on the question, rather than two-thirds of the voters voting on the question, may authorize the issuance of revenue bonds to finance airport facilities and air navigation facilities.

Effect of Adoption

The adoption of this proposed amendment would reduce the required majority of favorable votes needed on a question presented to the people in order for cities and other political subdivisions to be able to issue revenue bonds to finance airport facilities and air navigation facilities.

Arguments FOR the proposed amendment:

1. This amendment should be adopted so that financing for airport facilities and air navigation facilities can be readily provided.
2. There will be no increased burden placed upon the property tax payers because of this amendment; all revenue bonds are to be paid off from the revenue generated by the facilities of the airport.
3. In order to attract the kind of industry to Idaho that the people want, it is necessary to upgrade and improve many of our airports and air navigation facilities; this amendment will aid in this process.
4. Many other kinds of facilities of local units of government are financed by revenue bonds with the approval of a simple majority of the voters voting on the question; this amendment merely allows the same kind of majority approval for revenue bonds for airport facilities and air navigation facilities.
5. Idaho is uniquely dependent upon air transportation; this amendment will help to assure adequate air transportation facilities.

Arguments AGAINST the proposed amendment:

1. There is no need for this proposed amendment; revenue bonds for air navigation facilities may be issued at present after approval by two-thirds of the voters voting on the question.
2. In this time of increasing inflation and higher governmental spending, it is not proper to reduce the required majority for approval of bond issues, even if they are revenue bonds.

S.J.R. No. 110

Yes No
"Shall Section 5, Article IX, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to authorize the Legislature to empower the Idaho Health Facilities Authority to finance or refinance health facilities owned or operated by a church or religious society?"

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL'S STATEMENT OF MEANING AND PURPOSE

S.J.R. 110
The purpose of this proposed amendment to Section 5, Article IX, of the Constitution of the state of Idaho is to authorize the Legislature to empower the Idaho Health Facilities Authority to finance or refinance health facilities owned or operated by a church or religious society.

Effect of Adoption

If adopted, this amendment would clarify the constitutional and statutory powers of the Health Facilities Authority, by allowing the authority to provide loans for religiously affiliated health facilities, in the same manner as such loans are now available to other private, non-profit institutions.

Arguments FOR the proposed amendment:

1. The United States Constitution contains no similar barrier to this kind of financing proposal as does the Idaho Constitution; adoption of the amendment would make the Idaho Constitution consistent with the United States Constitution on this matter.
2. The state of Idaho makes no tax dollars available to the Health Facilities Authority; all of the money available to the Health Facilities Authority comes from private sources. Thus, loans by the Health Facilities Authority to non-profit health facilities do not constitute lending the credit of the state.
3. All non-profit hospitals, whether religiously affiliated or not, have the same basic philosophy of providing quality health care to people in need; this amendment will provide the necessary legal mechanism for an important group of religiously affiliated hospitals to receive financial assistance through loans or leases.
4. The interest costs of capital expenditures for religiously affiliated health facilities could be reduced because of loans made by the Health Facilities Authority; this reduction would help contain the rising cost of health care to patients.

Arguments AGAINST the proposed amendment:

1. This proposed amendment gives constitutional recognition to the "Idaho Health Facilities Authority", which has been created by statute; however, nothing prevents the Legislature from modifying or eliminating the operation of the Health Facilities Authority.
2. There is no guarantee in this proposed amendment that facilities financed by loans from the Health Facilities Authority would be open to the general public; however, open admission and requirement of indigent care has historically been mandatory by applicable governmental standards.

H.J.R. No. 6

Yes No
"Shall Section 13, Article V, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to authorize the Legislature to provide mandatory minimum sentences for any crime and to specify that the sentence imposed shall not be less than the mandatory minimum sentences so provided and that the sentence imposed shall not be reduced?"

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL'S STATEMENT OF MEANING AND PURPOSE

H.J.R. 6
The purpose of this proposed amendment to Section 13 Article V, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho is to authorize the Legislature to establish mandatory minimum sentences for the commission of any crime and to specify that the sentence imposed shall not be reduced. The Idaho Supreme Court has held that the Legislature does not currently have the power to impose mandatory minimum sentences by law.

Effect of Adoption

If adopted, this amendment would empower the Legislature to pass criminal laws containing provisions which would require that a person convicted of a specified crime serve a minimum period of incarceration, without the possibility of the sentence being reduced, unless the sentence is commuted by the state board of pardons as provided in Section 7, Article IV, of the Constitution. No minimum sentences would be imposed until the Legislature acted affirmatively by passing legislation to impose mandatory minimum sentences for specific crimes.

Arguments FOR the proposed amendment:

1. Mandatory minimum sentences would contribute to a reduction of sentence disparity based on station in life or differing philosophies of members of the judiciary.
2. The certainty of being incarcerated for conviction of a crime provides a deterrent for those considering the commission of a crime. Jurisdictions which have adopted mandatory minimum sentences have experienced a decline in crime rates.
3. The Legislature should have the authority to determine how serious a crime is, and to punish its commission accordingly. This concept does not violate separation of powers.
4. The judiciary would only lose a certain amount of discretion in those crimes for which a minimum sentence has been prescribed. Even then, the only discretion lost is the ability to mete out an inadequate sentence. The Legislature could combine mandatory minimum sentencing with fixed term sentencing to allow the judiciary to assign greater than minimum sentences under aggravating circumstances.
5. Mandatory minimum sentences represents, particularly for violent crimes, a better alternative to crime prevention and control than does regulation of ownership of firearms.

Arguments AGAINST the proposed amendment:

1. Adoption of mandatory minimum sentences would remove discretion from the judiciary and place it in the hands of county prosecutors. The discretion to bring a charge for which a minimum sentence is prescribed falls outside the judicial system until a charge is actually filed, and is not subject to appellate review.
2. The adoption of mandatory minimum sentences does not consider individual differences in the offenses and the offenders. It would prevent treating an offense on a case by case basis, and require that a judge sentence the category of crime, not the individual. Society at large may ultimately be injured by exposing a person convicted to a new education in prison not geared to rehabilitation.
3. Taxpayers would be faced by additional expense, both from added court congestion and an increase in prison population. If a person is charged with an offense for which there is a certainty of prison if convicted, he will exercise all legal remedies available to him.

4. Nothing would prevent the Legislature from imposing mandatory minimum sentences for misdemeanor crimes if the amendment is adopted. If approved by the voters, the Legislature may overreact to what it feels the people demand.

5. There is no credible evidence that mandated imprisonment is an effective deterrent. Existing procedures for sentencing and the judgment of the Commission on Pardons and Paroles constitute the better method of achieving justice.

S.J.R. No. 116

Yes No
"Shall Section 11, Article I, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to protect the right to keep and bear arms, and to prevent the confiscation, licensure, registration, or special taxation of firearms or ammunition?"

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL'S STATEMENT OF MEANING AND PURPOSE

S.J.R. 116
The purpose of this proposed amendment to Section 11, Article I, of the Constitution of the state of Idaho is to reinforce the right of citizens to keep and bear arms, and to prevent the confiscation, licensure, registration or special taxation of firearms and ammunition.

Effect of Adoption

If adopted, this amendment would provide an additional constitutional bulwark against the possibility of encroachment into the right of a citizen to keep and bear arms.

Arguments FOR the proposed amendment:

1. The present Idaho Constitution only guarantees the right to bear arms; this amendment would add the right to keep arms.
2. This amendment is necessary in order to more firmly establish a constitutional guarantee against a possibility of intemperate, emotional, popular efforts to impose gun controls.
3. There is no substitute for the right to keep and bear arms for freedom loving citizens living in a free country. This amendment would enhance that right.

Arguments AGAINST the proposed amendment:

1. This amendment is totally unnecessary; the right to keep and bear arms is already a part of the United States Constitution.
2. There is a serious question as to whether this amendment is properly prepared. It obviously embraces more than one subject; it deals with the right to keep and bear arms; it deals with concealed weapons; it deals with minimum sentences; it deals with licensing; and it deals with taxation.
3. This amendment would allow dangerous psychopaths, who have committed no crime but are nevertheless a menace to themselves and others, to indiscriminately own and use firearms, and the police could do nothing about it.
4. The present Idaho Constitution has served very well for nearly a century to protect our right to bear arms; there is no reason to change this well established document.
5. The proposed amendment is very confusing; it will cause more problems than it will solve.
6. Irresponsible actions like this amendment on the part of the states will result in additional federal control of firearms.

ine Foster; Gatekeeper, Dick Cuddy. Vera Hutcheson will serve as Secretary and Grace Ingle as Treasurer. The Three Graces are Coryell Wolf as Flora, Ruby Craig as Pomona, and Elsie Onstott as Ceres. COUNT CALORIES TO LOSE EXTRA POUNDS

Counting calories is a favorite pastime among those of us who want to lose weight.

But how many of us know exactly what is a calorie?

The term "calorie" is used as a unit in expressing the energy-producing value of food. When we say that a tablespoon of honey contains about 65 calories, it means that the honey, when utilized by the tissues of the body, will release that amount of energy to be expended in bodily activity.

The American Medical Association points out that the usual weight-reduction goal of one or two pounds per week is achieved by a daily intake of 500 to 1,000 calories less than the intake needed to maintain the weight at which reducing was begun.

Calorie needs are an individual affair and your diet should be worked out in consultation with your physician. He can help you arrive at a reasonable figure, permitting you to lose weight steadily and gradually, and at the same time maintain good health and not go hungry.

Calorie charts will help guide you in determining what you can eat, and what quantity, to maintain your desired daily intake. Some diet specialists recommend 5 to 6 small meals a day, rather than 2 or 3 large ones.

Keep in mind the nutrient values of foods selected. When total food intake is restricted, it is important to choose those foods that will provide optional nutritional value with a minimum amount of calories. Calorie tables can be useful, they should not be the sole basis for selecting food. Whatever program your physician prescribes for you, there is one important thing to remember—calories do count. To lose weight, we must spend more energy than we take in.

Everyone's days may be numbered—but some people live as if they were endless.

GROWER SURVEY SPOTLIGHTS WAYS TO COMBAT FOOT ROT

Clifton Anderson Associate Agricultural Editor Moscow—After surveying wheat growers in northern Idaho about problems in this year's crop caused by Cercospora foot rot, University of Idaho extension specialists are hopeful the fungus disease can be brought under control in 1979. Foot rot causes plants to "lodge" or fall to the ground.

We're recommending that growers avoid three undesirable practices—early seeding, excessive use of nitrogen fertilizer and too-frequent use of winter wheat crops in the rotation," said Harry S. Fenwick, plant pathologist for the UI Cooperative Extension Service.

Fenwick said the importance of avoiding these cultural practices was demonstrated "clearly and unmistakably" in the results of a recent survey conducted among wheat growers in Idaho County and all wheat growing areas to the north.

"When we compare the growers' reports on 272 fields having lodged grain with 434 fields where lodging was not a problem, one thing that stands out is the danger of early seeding. Many fields without lodging were seeded one to three weeks later than the fields with lodging," the UI plant pathologist noted. The survey also included information on crop rotation systems. The rotations which provided superior protection against the foot rot disease included two or more years of non-host crops such as spring wheat or barley, oats, peas, lentils, rape, hay, alfalfa or bluegrass preceding the 1978 winter wheat crop.

"Applying nitrogen fertilizer at a high rate seems to invite attacks by the foot rot fungus. In the survey, some growers reported no lodging except at the sites of fertilizer over-laps. Conversely, some fields had lodging everywhere except where there had been fertilizer skips," Fenwick emphasized.

Where lodging occurred in late-seeded fields, heavy applications of nitrogen fertilizer was usually a contributing factor.

"Anything that promotes lush, excessive fall growth of winter wheat will predispose the crop to infection by the foot rot fungus. Nitrogen fertilizer can be a major factor. Weather conditions also can promote infection. During the drought year of 1978-77, foot rot was minimal," Fenwick said.

The systemic fungicide Benlate has been used in the past to control foot rot, but an emergency label for the 979 wheat crop has not yet been granted by the Environmental Protection Agency.

"We have applied again to the EPA for an emergency label for Benlate and are hopeful that it will be granted," Fenwick said.

The Extension Service is advising wheat growers to test their soils and follow fertilizer guidelines developed by the UI and WSU. The fertilizer guide is available at county extension offices.

"A grower should apply only the amount of nitrogen fertilizer needed for a winter wheat crop. If his land has a production potential of 60 bushels per acre, fertilizing for an 80-bushel-per-acre yield will increase the possibility of foot rot," Fenwick pointed out.

A foot rot fungus survives from one year to the next in infected straw and stubble.

"A high level of fungus inoculum probably exists in most of the 1978 winter wheat fields in northern Idaho. In most fields, the presence

Family Affair—

Unwillingness To Remain in School

There are certain children who more or less suddenly develop an aversion to school to such a degree that they absent themselves. There are other children who do not wish to go to school because the school represents the losing of freedom and of independence.

A girl of ten, one morning, refused to go to school. When her parents pressed her to go, she became very anxious, almost to the point of panic. As they still continued to press her, she became sick to her stomach and vomited. They allowed her to remain home. The next morning she was nauseated when she awoke and could not go to school. After several days, the parents again attempted to insist and the child became extremely panicky. When her father attempted to take her by force, she ran to her room, got under the bed, and clung to the bedposts.

Such cases are, not infrequent. Sometimes they are less severe than this one in that the child only feels ill—with nausea, abdominal pain, or headaches—every morning. If the parents allow him to stay home, he will do so; but if they insist, he will go to school from time to time. Nausea and vomiting are the most common physical symptoms in these children.

Often, if they stay from school, the physical complaints disappear and the child goes about his usual activities unless the question of school attendance is approached; then the anxiety reappears. Frequently they do not mind other people knowing that they are not attending school, and often will play outside unconcernedly.

The child who refuses to go to school because of anxiety will put up considerable resistance if attempts are made to force him to go. A boy of ten could hardly bear to remain a full day in school. Usually he ran home after a short period of classes. During the time he was in school, he could pay no attention to what was being taught. On some occasions, his mother would escort him to the classroom but would fight him at home when she returned from school. During the day, he would not leave the house and even objected to running errands for his mother. When school was dismissed, he would go out and play with his friends, but never until the school day was over. He absented himself from school, but remained at home.

Technically, his behavior could be labeled truancy, but the fact that he remained at home distinguished it from the usual truancy in which the child absents himself from school without the parents' knowledge, and in order to occupy his school day, he goes downtown, pays his way or sneaks into a movie, window shops, or plays with other truant in a different part of the area, returning home at the time that school is dismissed. Such children often make friends with delinquents who are truanting and may copy the delinquent behavior.

A child may refuse to attend school because of learning difficulties or of an inability to learn. This cause more usually results in truancy than do the other two types.

A child may truant because he believes he has no need to learn for when he becomes an adult, he can use magic. There are certain children who feel that knowledge comes by magic and therefore they have no need to recall anything they have learned.

A child may want to absent himself or may actually do so because his teacher really dislikes him and treats him badly or because he dislikes the teacher. He may be unable to get along with other children or there may be a gang or a bully who really is terrorizing or perhaps black mailing him. Such conditions are more frequent than most parents and many teachers realize.

In the case of the boy cited earlier his parents quarreled constantly and his mother, to whom he was much attached, threatened almost every day to pack up and leave the family. He really never knew when he left the house in the morning whether he would find her at home when he returned. When he sat in school, he worried whether she had left already so when the worry became unbearable, he ran home to assure himself she was still there. Such conscious worries about the real family situation are frequent causes of this type of behavior.

Such child suffering from fears about school goes through an intermediate period where he is trying to adjust to the classroom, but is not yet adjusted to it. He needs special help in convincing himself that he need not run away or be afraid. The treatment for all such cases depends on the cause. Many cases of the types due to anxiety or fear about the home or school situation and many cases of delinquent truancy can be treated by the teacher or school counselor.

Results of Consistency Training

The importance of starting with only one rule. You will be tempted to "wipe the slate clean" by setting up rules to handle all existing problems. Yielding to this temptation would be unwise. Begin with only one well-defined, clearly enforceable rule. There are several reasons for starting with one rule. First: if the parent has been inconsistent in the past, the child's testing of the first rule will be more extreme and last longer than it will for later rules. The enforcement of this rule will require all the energy. The first rule establishes your consistency. When a child learns that you will act consistency enforcing one rule, he will conclude, with less testing, that you will be consistent in enforcing another rule.

of the fungus was indicated by an incidence of white heads that contained shriveled kernels," Fenwick said.

Second: every rule changes a child's environment. It is going to be very hard for him to get used to one change. If he must get used to several changes, it might well be overwhelming for him.

Third: parents have found that, when one rule is established, a child aims all his rebellion at that one rule. He abandons many of his other misbehaviors and concentrates on breaking that one rule to the best of his ability. This is useful to the parents who has a clear enforcement plan. He knows exactly what to do when the child breaks the rule, and he can handle irrelevant behaviors.

A fourth reason for starting with one rule is that the child cannot remember more than one rule at a time.

What behavior should you expect? The extent of a child's testing of a rule and the extremity of his irrelevant behaviors will be different for each child. Without exception, however, a child's behavior will "get worse before it gets better." Many older children seem to regress to a two-year-old level, indulging in good old-fashioned temper tantrums.

Because so many parents abandon the rule when a child tests it, it is wise to prepare parents for this unpleasant period. If you know what to expect, it will not be so upsetting when it happens. If you know when a child needs to test rules, you will not regard his anger as a personal attack. We should emphasize, however, that this testing period is temporary and relatively brief. If you are consistent, a child will need to test the rule only a few times. The irrelevant behaviors will drop away very rapidly if they are ignored.

What happens to the parent? It seems as though life should be much more comfortable for parents after a child stops testing the rules. Very often a long-standing battle has been resolved and the child is at last behaving as you want him to. Unfortunately, it isn't quite that easy. In the long-run, life will seem more comfortable. But you have to get used to things first. Adults react to new situations very much like children do. They are upset and anxious when they cannot predict what is likely to happen. As a result of your consistency, the child is acting differently. Thus, you must re-learn what to expect from the child.

After establishing a new rule, you may see a lot of things about your child's behavior that you never noticed before. You will find that his actions are much more reasonable than they seemed before. This can be a very exciting experience and you will probably want to tell people about it—your spouse, your neighbor and friends.

After awhile, you may notice that you become angry or fearful with very little cause. Sometimes there doesn't seem to be any cause at all. This is an adult equivalent of a temper tantrum. You are reacting to the change in your child. After you get to know him again, these moods will subside. Knowing that these moods are natural and normal should make them easier to bear.

Finally, other members of the family are likely to react to the change in you and the child. Temper tantrums, arguments, verbal attacks, etc., are a temporary result. If these

MS READ-A-THON

Helping Students Read Better

In a period when massive spending cuts throughout the school system is occurring at the same time that reading levels by students in our schools is declining, it is encouraging to take note of a reading program being implemented across the country by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society and in the local Genesee area.

The program, called the MS READ-A-thon was originated and developed by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in 1974. In the 1977 fall READ-A-thon, 2,737 Inland Empire students read 38,159 books and raised $55,199.50 for research and patient services.

A read-a-thon to raise funds to combat multiple sclerosis will start Wednesday in 11 northern Idaho schools.

Ronald S. Perry, coordinator of the Lewiston subchapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, said students who participate will secure sponsors who pay them so much for each book they read during the drive which will end April 1.

Rates pledged by sponsors may vary. Participating schools besides Genesee are Moscow, Idaho county, Troy, Deary, Bovill, Pottlatch. Kendrick schools participated last spring.

Letter to the Editor—

October 26, 1978

Dear Citizens of Kendrick:
I am asking the people of Idaho not to hurt my son. He is in the second grade. He is doing well in school this year.

He does not understand the possible consequences of the one percent initiative, but I do. Passage of this initiative will hurt my son and the other 200,000 children in Idaho's schools.

The fact is, that should the initiative pass, school funding may be reduced by as much as 30 percent. A 30 percent reduction would require the dismissal of some teachers, create additional overcrowding, and necessitate the elimination of extra curriculum activities (athletics and music).

If the initiative passes, parents and other friends of the schools will be powerless to help our children. Citizens will have lost their opportunity to vote for better education at the local level.

The children of this State are not the enemy. They have a Constitutional right to a quality education.

The real problem is that the property tax is unfair. Idaho needs tax reform. The one percent initiative is not the answer. The passage of this poorly written initiative will actually delay tax reform. The Legislature will immediately have to act to make the initiative Constitutionally acceptable.

An initiative so fundamentally affecting government will not be easily interpreted or revised. The fact is that legislative haggling may throw Idaho's tax system into chaos for three to five years. Such financial uncertainty will seriously impair the school's ability to plan and carry out effective educational programs.

I believe that meaningful and just tax reform will be accomplished by the Legislature without the passage of the one percent initiative.

We need not hurt our children to have a fair tax system. Please vote NO on the one percent initiative.

CHARCOAL COOKING CAN FREE DANGEROUS GASES Keep Grills In Open Air

Glowing charcoal briquets are a pleasant and convenient method of grilling steaks, hamburgers, hot dogs and other goodies in the back yard of an evening.

Keep those glowing coals in your hibachi or grill where they belong—in the open. In a closed space, they can kill.

The problem is a colorless, odorless tasteless gas produced by smoldering charcoal—the highly lethal carbon monoxide.

Medical journals are sprinkled with reports from doctors called to treat victims of carbon monoxide poisoning from charcoal grills. The victims were individuals who brought the grill inside—into a camper, tightly closed tent, a room in the house, a room in a motel. Some thought the fire had burned out. Others, unaware of the danger, used the hibachi to warm the camper or lake cottage on a cool evening. Some of them never woke up.

The title, 'The Hazardous Hibachi' comes from a report published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, describing in detail five deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning from charcoal briquets—inside a Volkswagen bus, a trailer, a station wagon and a potato cellar. The Journal article also mentioned five more deaths reported by other doctors. And a bulletin from the National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers reports on more than 30 deaths from the same cause.

Charcoal is perfectly safe when used as intended, in the open air or under a proper chimney or vent, such as a stovepipe or a fireplace. The charcoal briquets available in the grocery store usually carry warning on the label against use indoors or in a closed space.

One back yard chef was routed by a sudden rain squall. He carried his grill into a small tool shed to finish the cooking. His family found him dead in the shed.

Carbon monoxide also is a component of auto exhausts, and the potential danger of running the auto engine in a closed garage is well known and widely publicized. The hazard of the charcoal fire is less commonly known.

A promise is a small outlay intended to pay large returns.
