> Public Hearing On Latah County Comprehensive Plan Set for January 16

The Latah Board of County Commissioners will hold a Public Hearing | Those present were Lloyd Holbrock, to review the revised version of the Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Pea, Ed., Patricia Latah County Comprehensive Plan and Michael, Steve Pea and Alice and recommended to them by the County Lisa and Bryan Pea. Presents were Planning and Zoning Commission. In response to the Idaho Local Planning Act of 1975, the County has revised the 1971 Latah County Comprehensive Plan. Through a county-wide questionnaire and a year-long series of work sessions, the Planning Commission developed an overall planning philosophy. Based on this philosophy, the Comprehensive Plan has set up long home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Pea. range goals for the County's human,

It responds to the accelerated rate of growth and changing development patterns. The Plan incorporates the requirements of Idaho Code, Chapter 65. Title 67., "The Local Planning Act". The resulting document analyzes the problems and issues of Latah County. Its purpose is to provide a means of achieving the citizens' goals for Latah future found here. It is hoped that the Plan cal sequence for the best interests of County citizens.

Provisions are also made for a constant re-evaluation and reassessment of the Plan so that it will reflect new situations and remain useful as time passes.

Those interested in the Comprehensive Plan are invited to attend the Hearing to be held in the Latah Courthouse, Courtroom 4 on January 16, 1979 at 2:00 p. m.

Tigers Tame Wildcats; Will Play In Potlatch Games

Strong rebounding was the key to Kendrick's 67-56 league win over the Lapwai Wildcats Friday night of last week. Scott Manfull and Doug Parks pulled down 17 rebounds and 18 points each in leading the Tigers to victory.

Kendrick coach Brent Monroe termed the win Kendrick's best ef- Moscow to spend Christmas Day at fort of the season and added that he her sister's. Connie and Frank Evehopes the team will find some con- land. sistancy now for the remainder of letters to the editor ...

But some traditions change very little. A kiss under the mistletoe dates all the way back to Norse mythology, which dedicated mistletoe to the Goddess of Love.

December 19, 1978

Dear Bill and Jane:

First off, Merry Christmas to you and all in my most favorite spot on

As per usual, on the event of the arrival of the Kendrick Gazette, I read every word and enjoyed it all. Thanks so much for sending it. I suspect the only thing I really miss is the N. B. Long & Sons advertisement of past years.

I was at first angered, but considering the source was saddened by the most recent letter from Werner Brammer. If it isn't one thing to complain about, then it is another. This time he has taken on what I would consider to be a community "sacred cow" and I think it is high time somebody told him where to get off. I am referring to the letter he unthinkingly wrote about the Kendrick-area "Living War Memorial Swimming Pool." I think that is the proper and original name.

Literally thousands of hours by community volunteers made that great community asset a reality. It was because so many people had a community spirit and were far sighted enough to "dig in" and "be counted" that the community pool exists today. If it were for people, like Mr. Brammer, who can think only of their pocketbooks, no such facility would exist. Nor would countless hundreds of area children have had the precious learning experience and a good, clean place for recreation while their parents shopped and visited in the community.

As for the unnamed civic-minded pool. men of the community who gave of their time that such a facility can and does exist, I say to the Kendrick Community-be ever so grateful that they will give of their time and energy. Be also thankful that they are willing, in the name of a good community, to take the 'cheap shots' from the cheap skates who will always be willing to criticize. My hat is off to them, for they provide a GREAT service to a great community.

If it is time to put that swimming remain do it pool in a state of good repair, do it and do it now. It is one of the best assets a community anywhere can have, and it is worth every effort the investment necessary. I wish I could just name a few of the people of Kendrick and the surrounding area who gave and gave willingly that it could be there today. Even like Brammer, do it now and do a good

Dear Editor: In answer to the attack of Werner Brammer on the Recreational Committee, I would like to correct a few of those statements.

First: I was not selected by people on the streets of Kendrick. A. well-known farmer of this community recommended me and I was appointed by the Governor of Idaho, John Evans. Second: For twenty years I was a farmer in Idaho, and I have paid taxes on farm land for thirty-five years. Therefore, I know some of their problems.

Third: A good share of the income he speaks of is from farm land I sold when I retired.

The project the committee is working on is the reconditioning of the Kendrick Swimming Pool because it is threatened with closure by the Health Department.

Hundreds of people have learned to swim at the pool. I wonder how many drownings would have taken place if they had not received the first class swimming lessons at our

State of Idaho Office of the State Treasurer Boise, Idaho 83720

Dear Editor, This is a report to the people of Idaho about how regulations, calling for the State to pay bank service charges on state acounts for the first time in history have complicated my budgeting process while I am trying to respond to the 1% initiative. A separate State agency, the Investment Board, last May adopted rules requiring the State Treasurer to pay what I have guessed to be nearly $220,000 in bank service charges and related costs. According to the law, these charges are to come out of the State Treasurer's office

I contested these rules in court, and also the constitutional authority of the Investment Board to adopt them. This month, however, a district court in Boise said that the rules were val-

The rules as adopted by the Investment Board provide that any Idaho bank may elect to bill service charges on state accounts. Never before in history has the state been charged such fees. Rather, in the past it was considered a privilege and an economic benefit for a bank to have a state account. Four big banks have elected to charge service charges under the Investment Board's rules. All the rest of the state's banks have decided not to charge. It is very difficult to guess exactly how much the state will owe in service charges when they are due to be paid in July of 1980. I put in an estimate of $200,000 in my 1980 budget request for the service charges themselves, and an additional $15,930 for salary and $3370 for personnel benefits for an auditor to audit the charges presented by the banks, as provided by the rules. One bank alone to date has charged over $20,000 for four months and another over $17,-

I have tried to switch as many of the state's operating accounts as possible from the banks which are charging to non-charging banks. However, I have been unable to avoid service charges altogether because the banks are charging for the DOL-LAR amount of the state warrants which they haven't yet presented to the State Treasurer for payment. The result of the bank service charges is an additional $219,300 in the State Treasurer's budget. My total budget request is thus 68.2% higher than my 1979 appropriation, but with out the service charges the increase would be only 5.9%. I worked really hard to keep this as low as possible to follow the spirit of the 1% ini-

The bank service charge rules will have to be appproved by the Legislature, which could throw them out. I hope the Legislature takes a close at the wisdom of paying out such large amounts in bank service charges in a year when the people are calling for a reduction in government spending.

Cumberland wasn't a free pass.

But it was America's first generation gap. Between 1775 and 1880, generation after generation of American settlers plodded through the Cumberland Gap.

A natural pass through the Appalachians that became the gateway to the West.

It was tough going. The cost was great. In money. And lives. But they paid the price. Because they were

The Ernest Steigers— On Tuesday, Dec. 19, Ernest and Nellie Steigers visited distant cousin Jim Parker, of Palouse, at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lewiston. Jim recently had undergone major surgery and did not feel too well. As they prepared to leave he, with his usual courtesy, weakly murmured, " I hope next time I can be a better host." A born gentleman!

Tuesday overnite guests in the Ernest Steigers home included granddaughter Charlotte Sauer and infant son David, from Salt Lake City, Utah; little greatgrandson Joshua Dean Ahles of Genesee and grandson Michael Ernest Steigers enroute homeward from Lakeside, Montana, AFB with all his belongings, including his motorcycle, disassembled, lashed to the top of his small car. The young man was extremely weary from the long and dangerous drive, and, in addition, was most uncomfortable from frostbitten knees, suffered two weeks before, while in fun, constructing an igloo at his base camp! As mentioned in an earlier Stonypoint column, Mike next will be stationed at Mt.

The Ken Steigers News— Brant Steigers on Wednesday of last week, while coasting at grand-pa's house, had the "lucky' misfort-une of a cracked or broken large bone just above the left wrist and will be wearing his cast for a month. "And it's my eating arm", he moaned! Brant is a "south paw".

It got down to 28 degrees for about 2 hours a night for two nights, but the ripe side, so not much damage, I expect they greatly exaggerated that up there to drive the price up. We buy 50 lbs. of grapefruit for $1.50 and 60 pounds of oranges for $3.00, any kind you want. Lettuce is free, brought right to your door by people in the court. Cauliflower is just coming in to Lewiston where they visited Anna Gertje.

A CHRISTMAS POEM

A beginning of a New Year. Christmas like a dove

So Much peace from Heaven above.

It is a time for giving and sharing. But can be sought.

Jesus from Heavens above Gives us all his love. He was born this day To pay the way

For our spirits journey someday.
