Senior Citizens Enjoyed Trip to Spokane Ice Show Despite Bus Problems, Bad Roads

By Ruth White
Senior Citizens in the good old days "put on their old gray bonnets and hitched old Dobbin to the shaft" for an outing—but now in these days its "come on, honey, we'll get a school bus and go to the Ice Capades"—and that's what we did!
On Jan. 1, nineteen senior citizens met at the Senior Citizen Center, boarded a school bus and traveled to Spokane to the Ice Capades. We left Kendrick at 10 a. m.—carrying a sack lunch, thermos' of coffee and an abundance of smiles of happy anticipation for a good time.
Anticipation ran high as we began our pilgrimage. Roads were good, no snow—but fog began easing in.
Pulling up the grade out of Pullman, the poor old bus got weaker and weaker—finally had to be guided off the road for a "look-see" by our able male mechanics aboard. The diagnosis was: the carburetor was frozen up! What to do? After a consultation of the mechanics, hot coffee from our thermos bottles was used to defrost the carburetor!

For a while it seemed we might be the "bus people" needing to be rescued as several times on the way the problem occurred, the same procedure was followed—pull the bus over; six men, complete with thermos bottles piled out—warmed up the carburetor and off to Spokane again.
Finally we reached our destination, Spokane Coliseum. Ate our sack lunches, with some coffee but rationing enough for the home-bound trip. Another passenger, Josephine Schupfer, joined our group in Spokane. Also visited with Jerry Armitage as he heard his folks would be there.
The Ice Capades were so beautifully portrayed. Words cannot express the graceful skating feats, along with the spectacular lighting and music to enhance each skating act—just superb!
Following the show we again boarded our bus, "ate out" at North's Chuck Wagon and started on our way home.
Fog, fog and more of it. So—stop again; six mechanics with coffee filled out—soon we'd be our way home again! Arriving at Colfax, 2 bottles of "Heat" were purchased to put in the gas tank. Everything was "go" from that time on.
Arrived back in Kendrick at 11 p. m.—safe, sound, much wiser and ready to go again!
"Orchids" to the "bus people" who are a wonderful, cheerful group to travel with. They are: Ross Armitage, driver; Manning Onstott, Leonard Wolff, E. M. White, Ray Polunsky, and Ed Nelson, all mechanics; Inez Armitage, Elsie Onstott, Myrtle Mael, Eula Galloway, Hulda Clemenhagen, Lora Jean Albright, Delores Polunsky, Margaret Halliday, Ann Platt, Viola Johns Coryell Wolff, Erna Nelson, Josephine Schupfer and Ruth White, passengers.
(Note: we all wondered about a "patent" for the coffee idea? Also this senior thought "Heat" was patented used for arthritis! As I say—we're much wiser!)

Grain Prices Respond to Crisis

Pacific Northwest grain prices reacted sharply to the international situation this week following President Carter's announcement that the government will not permit the sale of 10 million tons of corn, 3.7 million tons of wheat and 750,000 tons of soybeans to Russia as a result of the USSR's involvement in Afghanistan.
Last week Genesee Union was quoting $3.60 per bushel for wheat. (The quote was $3.60 Wednesday morning and $3.51 that afternoon.) This week, on Tuesday afternoon, Genesee Union Manager Bill Woods, quoted a price of $3.39 per bushel for the same product.
Feed barley and oats were also down by similar margins on a quote from the Genesee Cooperative.
While the white wheat grown in the Pacific Northwest was not involved in the Russian sales, Woods explained that the drop in prices were in "sympathy with the decline in the market for red wheat and corn" which were among the products involved.
Woods declined to make any predictions as to just how he felt the market might depress, but was inclined to feel that further drops might be forthcoming.

GHS Bulldogs Chewed Tigers—

It was a winning week for the Genesee Bulldog basketball teams—both girls and boys. Friday night the Bulldogs and the Kendrick Tigers resumed activity following the Christmas holidays. In boys' action the Bulldogs broke Kendrick's deliberate play in the second half and rolled up a 48-32 win over the Tigers. In the photograph, Tiger Terry Hudson tries to check Genesee's Tim Stout, but Stout managed to score 13 points in the contest. Jim Cwancara hit for 16 points to pace the Genesee win. Rex Snyder was high for the Tigers with 14 points.
The Bulldogs are now 7-2 on the season and 4-1 in Central Idaho League. The loss dropped the Tigers to 2-5 on the season and 1-3 in league play.

Coach Von Hopkins and his Genesee girls hand the high-flying Lapwai girls their first loss of the season Friday night at Genesee, paced by outstanding defensive work of Lynne Hansen and the 10 points of Mary Beth Moser scored an upset 26-25 win as Lisa Boyd scored the winning basket in the last 12 seconds of play after Vicky Myers stole a pass from the Wildcats.
Kendrick's girls didn't fair too well Saturday night up at Cottonwood as the Prairie Pirates led all the way and won 37-21. Kendrick is 9-3 on the season now and 6-3 in league play. —Photo by Bob Bain

Winter Storm Hits Area

Winter's first real storm moved into the region over the weekend, dropping the temperatures down to near the zero mark Sunday morning in the higher elevations and laying down a blanket of snow even in the valley. The storm created hazardous driving conditions over a wide area and storm and travel advisories were issued by authorities Monday and Tuesday.
The snow began to fall late Friday afternoon and was whipped along by moderate winds as a Pacific storm front moved inland from the coast. The temperature remained up near the freezing mark throughout the night and on into Saturday. More snow fell Saturday and was turning to slush near evening when the temperature began to drop rapidly. The skies were clear Sunday morning early and this allowed the mercury to skid to near zero in Genesee, and the higher elevations and even Juliaetta and Kendrick were hovering near the ten-above mark on the thermometer.
A very fine snow began falling again Monday night and the winds increased on the hills. This new snow on the packed and icy roads from the previous snow made driving extremely hazardous on the main highways, especially on highway 95 between Genesee and Moscow, and Genesee to the top of the Lewiston Hill.
The snow storm continued Tuesday in varying degrees of intensity and by late evening there was several inches on the ground with the temperature near the 20-above mark.

Grange Stresses Driving Safety

At two of its recent meetings, Kendrick Grange has focused attention on highway safety—all the more important now that winter seems at last to have arrived. The topic for the November 20 meeting was, "Getting Ready for Winter Driving." A three member panel composed of Manning Onstott, Nellie Helmgartner, and Ross Armitage fielded a series of questions concerning winter driving. The panel agreed that vehicle maintenance deserves close attention during the winter. Emphasis was placed upon the need for efficient carburetion, adequate battery charge, and the use of anti-freeze. Panel members also pointed out that a driver should be prepared for the worst and have adequate tools and accessories along, such as chains, a shovel and axe, a flashlight and flares, extra anti-freeze, and extra warm clothing.
Driver attitude came in for a lot of attention as well. The panel stressed the importance of allowing extra time to reach one's destination during the winter as well as the importance of being alert and cautious at all times. Drivers who are slow to make the adjustment between warm weather driving and the hazards of snow and ice are potential threats—to themselves and to others on the highway.
At an earlier meeting (October 2), the Grange discussed safety and convenience in the Juliaetta-Kendrick area. While they gave high marks to local crews for highway maintenance they complained of laxity in the enforcement of speed laws. Reference was also made to the need for a more adequate highway entrance to the Brockie plant. A question was raised concerning jurisdiction over the roadway that runs through "Poster City" which is improperly used as a shortcut by those to whom speed is a way of life.
In both instances, emphasis was placed upon the need for all drivers to develop and foster an attitude of caring for others while behind the wheel of a vehicle. Give it some thought! The life you save may be your own!

Marva Sorensen, 62, Genesee Homemaker Claimed by Attack

Marva Sorensen, Genesee resident for almost three decades and the wife of Genesee Mayor Larry Sorensen, died Thursday, January 3 of an apparent heart attack at Spokane Valley General Hospital, where she had been a patient since Dec. 20. She was 62.
Marva and Larry had gone to Spokane to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob James and family when she took ill and was admitted to the hospital for treatment.

Marva was born to William and Christiana Burton at Downey, near Pocatello, Idaho, on November 11, 1917. She married Lawrence Sorensen at Preston on Feb. 8, 1941, and they moved to Malad later that year. The couple moved to Genesee in 1950 where Larry was the head of the Genesee Soil Conservation Service office for that area until his retirement in 1970.
In addition to her husband, Marva is survived by two sons, Larry Dan, stationed with the Navy in Rhode Island and Jim Lee, a vo-ag instructor at Kimberly, Idaho; a daughter, Marilyn James of Spokane; four brothers, Alvin of Rupert; Douglas of Ogden, Utah, and Don and Edward of Downey; and four sisters, Sarah Moon and Pearl Bybe of Downey; Marian Draper of Malad and Elizabeth Hooker of Montpelier. She was preceded in death by an infant son, Clyde. Also surviving are eight grandchildren.

A Memorial Service was Held Saturday, January 5, from the Genesee Community Church with the Rev. Stan Lyman officiating. Pallbearers were John Luedke, George Wilson, Larry Dan Sorensen, Walt Menden, Jim Rabbau and Jim Sorensen. Honorary pallbearers were Bob James, Willis Moser, Wayne Roach, Stan Merrill and Daron Sorensen.

Mrs. Martin Stout was organist and Eugene Rainville was vocalist. He sang, "In the Garden," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Marva was laid to rest at the Downey, Idaho cemetery following a service at Arimo Tuesday.

A Friend and Neighbor

Life won't be the same again up on our hill in Genesee. Our friend and neighbor for over 25 years is gone and part of what made our neighborhood so special is gone now, too.
In a modern world where women are constantly struggling to be "liberated" this very special lady was the most unliberated person I ever knew. She was tied and bound to her husband, her children, her friends and her neighbors. Not by the strings of dependency, but by the bonds of love, devotion and caring. Only her husband, her children and a few neighbors made up her interests and her world, she really cared for little else although she was a warm, compassionate person. The love and devotion of her husband and children gave her a special kind of freedom to be what she wanted to be. A wonderful wife and mother. But if she allowed you into her world, and she would to good friends and neighbors; you found warmth, humor and a charm which endeared her to all.
Marva was a quiet, almost shy person, who didn't really like to go out and socialize too much. Most of her neighborhood visiting was done in the gardens or yards on the days when the weather was good, or maybe she'd exchange a few words when you drove in from work and you'd walk across the road to see how the garden was doing.
Marva won't be in the yard or garden anymore to wave shyly when you pulled in from work; she won't answer the door when you go to the house to see "pappy" and she won't delight you with her little laugh and blush. You won't see Marva again. But somewhere, in a warm, private place in your heart you'll have a beautiful memory because you knew and loved Marva Sorensen.—Bill.

"Blithe Spirit" A great deal of hard work has gone into GHS's 1st major production of the season, "Blithe Spirit." It shows itself too in strong character portrayals and a beautiful set, enhanced by the old carpet from Genesee's First Security Bank.

In the play, Charles Condomine, played by Mike Burt/Duggan Harmon, and his 2nd wife, Ruth, played by Kristi Leed/Leslie Martin, hold a seance in order to gather "tricks of the trade" in order for Charles to write a book about a homicidal medium.

To fill the seance table, the Bradmans, Charles O'Neil, Walt Moden, Randa Allen/Cheryl Shirley are invited to take part. Madame Arcati, portrayed by Liz Sims/Lisa Boyd, conducts the rather hysterical seance and displays her very odd tricks of the trade.

She conjures up Charles' first wife, Elvira, Vicki Myers/Leanne Davis, who tries repeatedly to kill off Charles to keep him with her forever. Her plans, however, backfire. The result . . . come and find out!

"The play itself," according to director Joe MacDonald "is very difficult for high school students because of the size of the parts. The smallest number of lines is about 150 while the largest is almost 900 lines. On top of this, we have added the British dialect to each of the characters. Most of the students are doing an excellent job with the dialect and the lines."

MacDonald said that he was particularly satisfied with the set for this play. The whole set folds neatly away and can be leaned against the back wall of the stage.

"The students are really excited about presenting this play to the public. I feel that they have good cause to be excited. They've worked hard on this play and it shows. I'm really impressed with the determination of the cast to make this play a hit. I feel sure it will be!"

Farmers Have Big Stake in Expanding World Markets

Moscow, Idaho—Exports of American agricultural products will continue to rise in 1980, agricultural college faculty members of the University of Idaho, Washington State University and Oregon State University predicted in a year-end report.

The export year ending next June 30 will be "another record year" in United States agricultural trade and "export sales are expected to total between $35 billion and $40 billion, up from $32 billion in 1978-79," the report stated.

"Strong to moderate increase," were predicted for U. S. export sales of grains, soybeans, poultry, dairy products, vegetable oils, and fruits and vegetables.

"International sales of sunflower seeds are expected to double," the report said.

"Exports of soybean meal and other protein meals should be at or near the 1978-79 level. A decline in export volume of livestock and meat is forecast. However, higher meat prices should result in an increase of sales value," the report added.

Serious limitations on international trade are being imposed by countries with "protectionist" trade policies, authors of the report pointed out. They said protectionists would increase if a worldwide recessionary slump posed a major menace to the world's economic health in 1980.

"Protectionism is a serious threat for U. S. agriculture, which depends heavily upon export markets," the report warned.

"The outlook for future U. S. Agricultural exports relates directly to and policy stance of the United States and its trading partners—and whether those partners enhance or inhibit expanding two-way trade," the report continued.

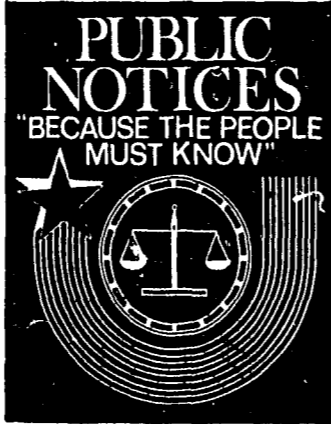

Some progress was made in 1979 toward reducing tariff barriers and encouraging trade expansion, the report said. The multilateral trade negotiations known as the "Tokyo Round" resulted in tariff reductions applying to over $125 billion in world trade and "about $15 billion of this amount involved agricultural products," the report noted.

U. S. farmers are likely to expand their sales to the Orient as relations between the United States and the People's Republic of China continue to improve, authors of the report said.

"Over the long run, China may join the club of billion-dollar agricultural importers from the United States," they declared.

Asia's Political Strife Slows

Exports of Wheat

Clifton Anderson
Associate Agricultural Editor

Moscow, Idaho—Political unrest in Asia was a major cause of reduced 1979 exports of Pacific Northwest white wheat, economists of the University of Idaho, Washington State University and Oregon State University pointed out in a year-end report.

Turmoil in Iran and South Korea restricted exports of wheat, the economists said in the 1980 Pacific Northwest Agricultural Outlook report, published jointly by the 3 universities.

The economists said another factor limiting U. S. white wheat export was the aggressive sales campaign conducted in Asia by the Australian Wheat Board.

"Heavy U. S. domestic stocks combined with record supplies in Australia seem likely to keep a damper on white wheat prices through the rest of the 1979-80 marketing year and into 1980-81," authors of the report predicted.

American farmers are expected to increase their plantings of wheat in 1980 the economic forecasters said, noting the government's decision to discontinue the acreage-limiting "set aside" program.

"The 1980 wheat crop stands a good chance of exceeding two billion bushels—and a 2.2 billion bushel crop is a distinct possibility," the university economists added.

They said "downward price pressure" will develop if U. S. wheat supplies reach a new record in 1980.

For the current 1979-80 marketing year, the economists said U. S. wheat and feed grain exports should attain record levels. They said wheat exports will reach 1.2 billion to 1.3 billion bushels, but U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates 1.4 billion bushels in export trade were said to be overly optimistic.

Looking beyond 1980, the economists said, "World demands for both wheat and feed grains will continue to expand. Since the United States will remain an important source of exportable supplies, a continued growth of the U. S. export market appears to be a virtual certainty."

Kendrick Cemetery near the graves of his two babies, who preceded him in death. Funeral services were held in Moscow, his home during the final years. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Steigers, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steigers.

Children Depart—

After happy holidays spent at Pinecreek with their grandmother, Helen Brown, Noelle and Rena Richardson of Orofino returned to school there and the Brown children, Shannon and Allen returned to Lewiston. Merle Cooper spent Sunday at Pine Creek with her mother. Shannon displayed her prize rabbit at Moscow Saturday.

Jim Steigers, now of Lewiston, was a Sunday evening caller at the Cherylane home of his grandparents. The Ernie Fliger family of Moscow spent New Year's Day with Erma Stevens. Reports of "Mystie" are still favorable!

Safe Return—

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stevens, accompanied by Mrs. Effie Powell spent from Dec. 19 to Jan. 1, visiting in Turlock, Calif., in the home the Richard Carpenter family. While there they enjoyed attending the Christmas program of grandchildren Wesley and Stephanie Carpenter, at the Turlock Christian School. Mr. and Mrs. Steve (Linda) Bakke of Sandpoint were also at Turlock. Fog problems on the Spokane plane landing, homeward bound, were encountered.

Home From Portugal—

Mrs. Linda Steigers, who accompanied her cousin Sharon Hatch and small sons Milo and Carney on a plane trip to Portugal recently, returned late Saturday evening by car from Seattle where they had landed. Lisbon was their grounding place. The recent earthquake did not disturb the mainland, it being on a chain of islands (Canarys). A most interesting vacation trip!

The delay in the arrival of Linda's luggage resulted in a complete change of wardrobe being furnished by the airline company! This she purchased in Lisbon (except shoes). This included wool sweater and lined wool skirt, blouse, etc.

During the last few days of his mother's absence, son Brant Steigers suffered a broken forearm, in a fall during ball playing on the Lapwal school ground. This same portion of his arm had been broken previously a year or so ago! It is doing nicely.

Gruell Family Get-together—

Saturday, January 5, saw eighteen members of the Gruell family gathered in Clarkston at the home of Marie and Everett Custer, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ray from Los Angeles, Calif. Eldon and Gertrude Gruell Heimgartner, and the Cecil Gruells of Juliaetta were among the group.

Overnite New Years eve guests in the Wayne Heimgartner home included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harri, Lily McCall and granddaughter Tina, all of Clarkston, also Janet and Dean Rynearson and girls from Sandpoint. The Sunday visit of the Lloyd Stevens family found mother Edna Greene doing well, propelling her own wheel chair and grandmother Mystie eating her supper! Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Heimgartner visited in the Koskia-Clearwater area last Sunday.

Farewell and Hello

Gray and grizzled the decade ends. Ancient head bowed he prays for future good. Wishing the best for New Year Friends.

He hopes the eighties bring true brotherhood. Hailing the New Age for the coming He lifts an aged hand in farewell greeting. Infant marches to fresh drumming: Smiles at the challenges he'll be meeting.

His blithe approach will urge us on. As nineteen eighties' promises beckon.

Value of the Horse

By Bud Adamson
When the farmers can't run tractors And they need them, of course, When everyone starts walking, I'll be riding on my horse.

When I ride on my horse, The cars all fly past. But, who'll be driving When the cars can't get gas?

When the motors wear out, And the bolts all come loose, I'll still be riding On my faithful cayuse.

When the cars are all parked And no one can buy gas, My horse will keep on going With nothing but grass.

He might not be so fast Or go quite so far. But, what fun is there In pitting an old car?

The looks on faces, As they go driving by Seem to say, "Get off the road, Go someplace else to die!"

But, if farmers would use horses To till the soil America could tell the Arabs "Keep you oil!"

A world of Joy that knows no fear—
Our prayer for you in the coming year!
