Hattie Johnson, 82, Formerly of Peck, Passes Jan. 9

Hattie N. Johnson, 82, former long-time Peck resident, died Wednesday afternoon, January 9, of infirmities of age at Grifman Memorial Hospital at Moscow. Mrs. Johnson had been a resident of Kendrick since 1973 and a resident of Paradise Villa Nursing Home in Moscow since last April.

Mrs. Johnson was born April 2, 1897 at Cameron, Idaho to Herman and Emilie Wilken, early pioneers of Potlatch Ridge. She was married to Will Johnson Feb. 28, 1923, at Lewiston. Her husband died June 4, 1950.

The couple resided in Peck for a few years then moved to a farm on Angel Ridge where she resided until 1973 when poor health forced her move to Kendrick to be near her numerous nieces and nephews whom she considered as her own. She never had children.

Mrs. Johnson was a member of the Home Makers Club at Peck and attended the Peck Community Church. She was a life-long member of the Lutheran Church.

Survivors include a nephew, Kenneth Wilken, Kendrick; two nieces, Margaret Kerbrat of Mission Viejo, California and Marlene Meyer, Kendrick and also ten other nieces and nephews and several great nieces and nephews. Seven brothers, three sisters and five nephews preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Saturday, January 12 at 1:00 p. m. at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Lewiston with Rev. Michael Dicks, interim pastor at Cameron Lutheran Church officiating. The congregation sang selections of "My Faith Looks Up To Thee" and "He Leadeth Me".

Casket bearers were David Wilken, Jeff Kaylor, Kim Kirklund, Ted Meyer, John Kaylor and Reinhard Wilken. Honorary pall bearers were James Kaylor and Marion Kaylor.

Burial was at Normal Hill Cemetery.

Refreshments for the family, pall bearers and Rev. Dicks were served by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Duff at their home in Lewiston.

A Tribute To a Dear Friend

Hattie Johnson died last week but lives on because so many of her thoughts and ideas have a permanent place in the minds and hearts of those who knew and loved her. I only knew her the last five years, but in that time she taught me a lifetime lesson about the beauty of the human spirit. She had lost so much of what was important to her when she had to move to Kendrick and leave her home in Peck, but rarely complained and when she did, it was always with humor and not bitterness. I remember how difficult and painful it was for her to use her crippled hands; a real handicap for someone whose main occupation is writing her friends. But she never gave up trying to keep up. Her card table was always set up in the center of her living room and whenever her hands would allow it, she would sit at her table, writing, reading, remembering past times and old friends. She would get frustrated at times, but never angry; she'd just joke about the trials of getting old.

In spite of the many obstacles working against her, she never gave up her dream of getting better and returning to her home "on the hill". Every once in awhile she would get a boost of energy and want to go out and walk to town. On those days it didn't matter that it took hours to get to town and back; the important thing was that she did it. Those were uplifting days and gave her the feeling of independence she so cherished. So much had been taken from her that simple things like picking out her own groceries, nev-shoes, or having a cup of coffee at Bart's was an important accomplishment; one that encouraged her that the impossible wasn't always impossible.

She was a woman worthy of the highest admiration and respect. She taught me how to keep what's really important in perspective; being a friend and taking care of those in need took priority over personal problems. Whenever I was down or discouraged, I always knew a visit with Hattie would cheer me up. She had that ability to make you feel good; and to my children she was as loving as the best of grandmas. Whenever we would visit her they knew she would be their protector. If she sensed a reprimand was coming, she would come and put a hand on me and give a pleading look, and there would be no reprimand; they shared a special relationship that I couldn't interfere with.

Hattie had to leave Kendrick last Spring but the image of her sweeping the sidewalk in front of her door at the Hotel, sitting at her table writing letters, kneading her bread dough, making jokes about her legs and hands not doing their job, or her beautiful smiling face will always be in my mind. She had a courageous, loving spirit and I know she is at peace now, living high where she can breath easy. —Cheryl McGregor

Randa Allen
1980 Jr. Miss — Genesee

Two area girls will be among contestants from all parts of the state who will be participating in the 1980 Idaho Junior Miss Program in Moscow January 24, 25 and 26.

Bonnie Lawrence will represent Kendrick-Juliaetta and Randa Allen will represent Genesee. The contestants will be in Moscow from Saturday morning, January 19 to the finals on January 20 when the new Idaho Jr. Miss is chosen.

Bonnie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lawrence of Southwick, and is a senior at Kendrick High School. Randa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Les Allen of Genesee and is a senior at Genesee High School.

The first four days of the week will find the contestants practicing individual and group routines getting ready for the first night of preliminary judging on Thursday evening, Jan. 24, at 7:30 in the U. of I Administration Auditorium.

The second night of preliminary judging will be Friday evening, also at 7:30 in the Administration Auditorium. The admission price for these two preliminary nights is $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for students. The admission price will raise to $4.00 for adults and $2.00 for students the final evening.

Bonnie Lawrence
1980 Jr. Miss — Kendrick-Juliaetta

Thursday evening the girls will perform youth fitness, and poise and appearance routines and their creative and performing arts Friday night. The winners will be announced Saturday evening.

Bonnie's guest hosts for the week she is in Moscow will be Dr. and Mrs. Roger Hawkins, 906 West C, Moscow, Idaho. Randa's guest hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Otto Pratt and family at 1038 Cowen, Moscow.

The contestants cannot receive phone calls during their stay in Moscow, but anyone wishing to give their support may do so by sending cards or letters to the girls at the host homes. The official florists for the programs are Scott's Flowers and Moscow Flowers.

The Jr. Miss committees of Genesee and Kendrick encourage the two communities to support Bonnie and Randa at the State Program.

Hospital Notes

Vincent—

Marvin Vincent returned to his home Monday following a week's stay at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lewiston. He is reported to be "coming along".

Rebekah Card Party Saturday

The Juliaetta Rebekah Lodge will hold another card party Saturday, Jan. 19, beginning at 7:30 in the Lodge hall. The community is cordially invited to attend.

Sewing Machine Care Workshop In Kendrick Jan. 21

The Willing Workers Home Extension Club presents a representative from Nelson's Fabric Tree store in Lewiston talking on "Know Your Sewing Machine", Monday, January 21 at 7:00 p. m. at the Kendrick Fire Hall. The session will cover care and maintenance and other sewing machine tips. The cost is $5.00 per person and those planning to attend are asked to pre-register with either Grace Konen (276-7258) or Linda Promisco (289-3561).

The public is cordially invited to participate in the worthwhile workshop.

They've caught the fever

An outstanding number of interested persons turned out Monday night and caught what is called "Junior Miss Fever". Support was given at the meeting by the K-J Jaycees, the K-J Lions Club, V. F. W. Post and its auxiliary and fifteen to twenty community members. The meeting, held at Kendrick Fire Hall, was to inform people of the need for an organization to support the local Junior Scholarship Program.

Due to a change at the national and state level, local programs must be held by October 1, 1980. Kendrick-Juliaetta plans to hold its program in late April or early May. The date for the next meeting is Monday, Feb. 4 at 7:30 at the Fire-hall. This meeting is to elect officers and appoint committees. Anyone who is interested in working with the Jr. Miss Program is encouraged to attend and participate.

Men and women—young and old—come get "Jr. Miss Fever"!

Kendrick Clips Kamiah Kubs

Kendrick's Joe Mathews came off the bench to spark a fourth quarter surge Friday night that gave the KHS Tigers a 49-38 victory over the visiting Kamiah Kubs.

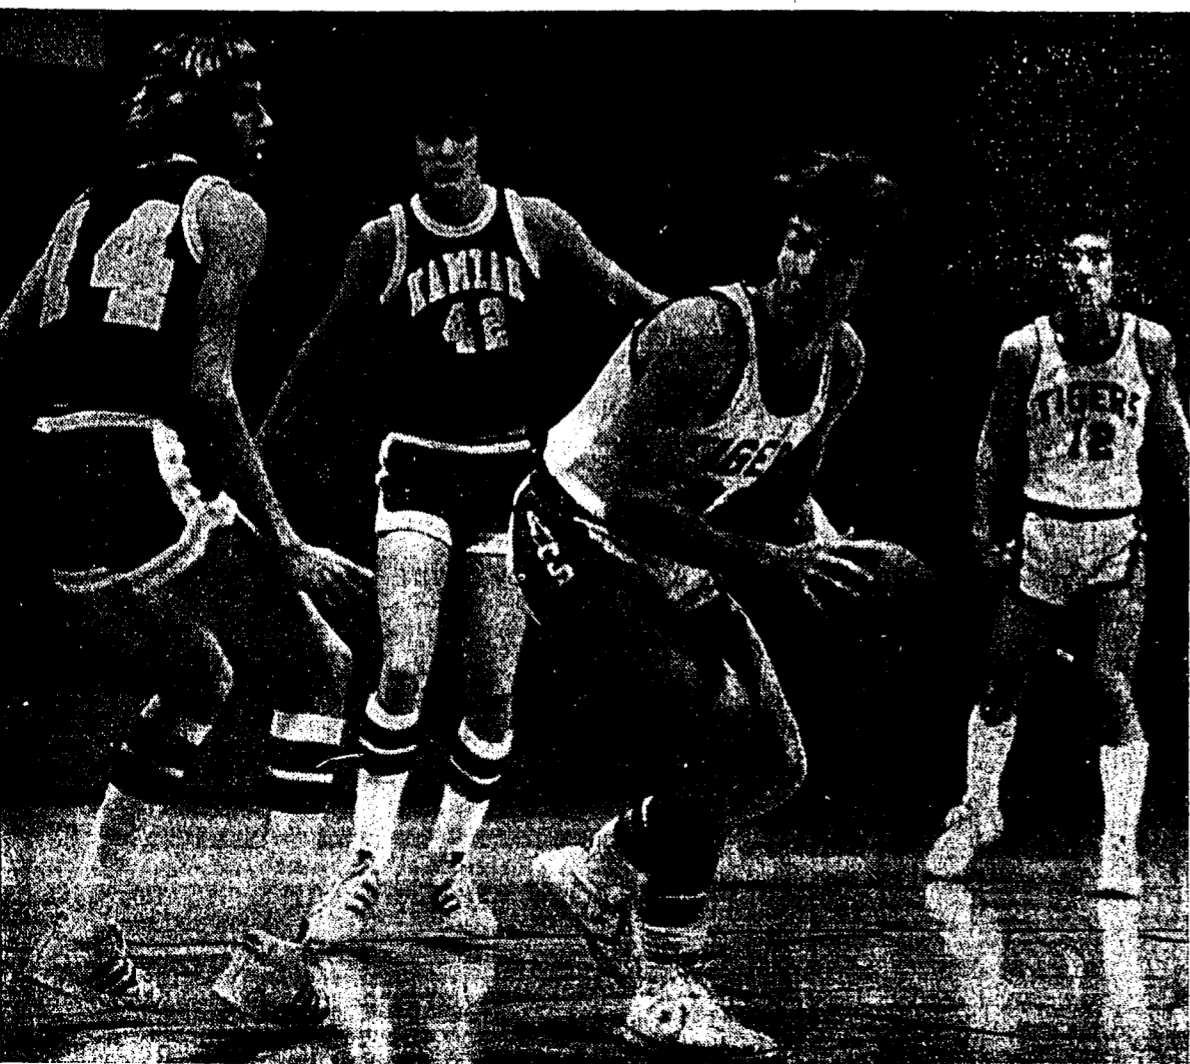

Tiger coach Brent Monroe credited Joe Mathews' two steals which were converted into baskets and another field goal he scored later in the game. Kendrick also went to a full-court press in the final period, allowing the Kubs only six shots and just 4 points.

Until that time, it was a close game with only two to four points separating the teams. The win lifted the Tiger's record to 2-3 in the CIL and 3-5 overall. The Kubs remain winless having lost all five league games and nine straight, a rare experience for Kamiah coach Fred Mercer.

"It was probably our best over-all game of the year," said Coach Monroe Monday morning. "The boys were patient on offense and ran off the patterns well."

Kendrick used a balanced scoring attack with Mathews and Duane Howerton each scoring 8 points. Rex Snyder, Danny Lohman and Terry Hudson each scored 7, Darren Clemenhagen 6, Mitch Cuddy 4 and Keith Ingle 2.

Winter Storm Quickly Departs

By Thursday morning of last week Kendrick and Juliaetta and the rest of the Inland Empire lay covered with snows of up to 14 inches as the region attempted to dig itself out from one of the heaviest snow storms on record. Even Lewiston, the heart of the "banana belt" struggled to free itself from over a foot of snow.

The storm, which began last Tuesday afternoon, increased in fury Wednesday and Wednesday night. Traffic was snarled in both towns and on the highways. Kendrick schools were dismissed Wednesday and Genesee schools were closed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday because of the poor road conditions. Traffic jams and minor accidents were numerous in Lewiston as many residents of that city were caught unprepared for such driving conditions and some drivers tried the streets without snow tires or chains but still attempted to operate vehicles on the snow laden streets.

Genesee, which is not unfamiliar with heavy snow, coped adequately with the storm although travel was not easy, but Kendrick and Juliaetta, which is not prepared for snow removal of the proportions it was faced with struggled and waded through the snow as city employees fought a battle of snow removal and street plowing with inadequate equipment. The State and Highway district crews did a good job keeping most of the roads open. Another smaller storm struck the area Friday night, but it was not nearly as severe as predicted and by Sunday the temperatures jumped above the freezing level and strong winds pounded the higher elevations. The results were a sudden dispersal of much of the snow covering. Snow packed streets and sidewalks were quickly turned into a sea of slush as the streams rose quickly, although no flooding occurred.

Tuesday of this week saw almost all the highways bare and some were even dry with travel returned to routine normal. The clear skies caused the temperatures to drop Monday night and Tuesday which helped keep the snow from melting too quickly and causing flood danger.

It was hazardous traveling and a lot of heavy shoveling for grownups in Kendrick following the snow storms of last week that piled over a foot of the white stuff in the valley. But it was tough for grown-ups, it was a wonderful time for kids who had the opportunity to bring out sleds and other equipment. Here, Julie Bateman, Mardell Clemenhagen and Karen Clemenhagen had a marvelous time sledding. (photo by Bob Bain)

Commission Considers Changes In Hunt Drawings

The Idaho Fish and Game Commission, concerned about the growing numbers of applicants for controlled big game hunt permits, is looking at possible changes in the annual computerized drawing.

More applications each year point up a need to consider alternatives. Distribution of permits, personnel and time needed to process applications—and costs—are causes for concern.

Department of Fish and Game records show that hunters submitted 105,036 eligible applications for 11,159 permits in 1979, compared to 88,510 eligibles for 10,128 permits the previous year.

There were 35,711 first choice applications for 2,425 elk permits last year. Almost 22,000 applications were submitted for 136 moose permits; 25,071 for 1,745 antelope permits; 6,212 applications for 228 mountain goat permits and 15,525 eligibles for 6,525 deer permits.

Following the closing date for applications, the department's data processing section has barely a month to prepare the list of eligible applicants in time for the drawing.

Temporary employees are hired to augment the section's permanent staff and extra data entry equipment must be rented.

Commissioners have given preliminary consideration to alternatives developed by the department, which would:

1. Add another trophy species, perhaps moose or mountain goat, to the restriction that applies to bighorns. (Current regulations specify that a person seeking a bighorn permit cannot apply for any other species.) Adding another trophy species could improve chances for drawing such a permit.
2. Limit an application to one species—deer, elk, antelope, bighorn, mountain goat or moose. The expected result would be a reduction of about one half in the number of applications and limit permits to one per person.
3. Allow an application for a deer permit and one other species, including bighorn. The data processing section estimates that applications would be trimmed from the 105,036 in 1979 to about 62,000 and the number of hunters drawing two permits would be reduced by about one third.
4. Retain existing regulations.

Commissioners are seeking public comment and department employees will be asked to give their reaction to the alternatives before any final decisions are made.

Letters may be addressed to the department's headquarters office in Boise, P. O. Box 25, Boise, Idaho 837-07, or to any regional office.

A Little Town

A little town is where you don't have to guess who your enemies are. Your friends will tell you.

A little town is the only place on earth where people past middle age are called by their first names when they saunter down the street.

A little town is where everybody knows everybody else's car by sight—and also where and when it goes.

A little town is where few people can get away with lying about the year they were born. Too many people can remember.

A little town is where people with various ailments can air them properly for sympathetic ears.

A little town is where, when you get the wrong number, you can talk for 15 minutes anyhow, if you want to.

A little town is where everyone becomes a "neighbor" in time of need.

A little town is where you don't have to lock your door every-time you leave the house.

A little town, when all is said and done, is a nice place in which to live. (From the Sept. Rurality magazine, and sent in to the Gazette by Helen Cowger)

HUNTER EDUCATION LAW TAKES EFFECT JANUARY 1

Idaho's hunter education law took effect January 1 and boys and girls under the age of 15 must comply if they participate in those seasons that extend beyond the first of the year.

The law requires that anyone younger than 15 must complete a standard hunter education course before obtaining a hunting license.

More than 600 volunteer instructors throughout the state have been certified by the Department of Fish and Game's enforcement bureau, which administers the program.

The bureau advises youngsters or their parents to get in touch with department headquarters in Boise or one of its regional offices if they wish to take the course.

CARDIOVASCULAR DISEASES

When listed separately cardiovascular diseases include 4 of the 10 leading causes of death in Idaho. Heart attacks leads with 1,782, followed by stroke with 609, arteriosclerosis with 117, high blood pressure (hypertension and hypertensive heart disease) with 51. High blood pressure is also a contributing factor in heart attack, stroke and renal (kidney) disease.

Mysterious Crates Of Psychiana To Be Opened Jan. 15

On Tuesday, Jan. 15, a mystery about a popular mail-order religion of years past will be dispelled when four sealed boxes of Psychiana miscellany are opened. The boxes, reputed to contain memorabilia of the movement which attracted more than 600,000 subscribers in the 1930s and '40s, were sealed 25 years ago and ordered to remain unopened until now.

Charles Webbert, head of the archives at the University of Idaho Library, will conduct the opening of the boxes at 4 p. m. in the Special Collections room of the library. The boxes have been stored in the library since 1955.

There is speculation that they contain a number of items, from random correspondence and financial records to some sort of Psychiana secret. "I'm a little afraid there might not be anything in the boxes," Webbert said.

The psychological religion was started in 1929 by Frank Robinson of Moscow, who also owned News-Review Publishing Co., and donated the land area later named Robinson Lake. Psychiana was said to work work miracles. It was similar to the Positive Thinking Movement and was born at just the right time—a few months later the stock market collapsed—and within five years, Psychi-

UI Students Trek Back For Spring Session

After a break between semesters for holiday festivities, over 7,000 University of Idaho students are beginning to return to campus to prepare for spring semester registration on Tuesday, January 15.

Classes will begin on Wednesday, January 16.

Applications for baccalaureate degrees to be completed this spring must be filed by Monday, Jan. 28.

Mid-semester grades will be available Monday, March 17. The spring recess is scheduled to begin at 5 p. m., Friday, March 14, and end at 8 p. m. Monday, March 24.

A writing proficiency test for transfer students is scheduled for Thursday, April 3.

Spring final examinations will be conducted Monday through Friday, May 12 through 16, with semester to end at 5 p. m. Friday, May 16.

Commencement will be held Saturday, May 17.

Special programs sessions are being planned for May 19 through June 9, with summer school registration set for Monday, June 9.

Pilot Instrument Training Course

A pilot instrument training course will begin at Lewis-Clark State College. Taught by pilot Steve Perry, this fifteen week course is designed to prepare students for the F. A. A. instrument and commercial pilot exams. The class will be held in the Administration Building, room 203, on Monday evenings, 7-9 p. m. Two Rec. 491 credits may be earned by passing this course. Students may register for the course by calling the Continuing Education Office at Lewis-Clark State College, 746-2341, ext. 318, or at the first class meeting on February 4.

I wonder whether man will ever permit himself the happiness that his intelligence has made physically possible.—Bertrand Russell ana had attracted over 100,000 subscribers.

Frank Robinson was a ne'er-do-well druggist who sought both a secure job and time to pursue his religious meditations. He claimed to have "actually and literally" spoken with God and he employed a rousing rhetoric which lured people to him.

His religion was based on the premise that "the entire human race is in the grip of what psychologists call an inferiority complex." He promised that by studying his lessons and developing faith in "God-Law" ("the creative power behind this universe is a law and not a personality of any kind," he wrote) anyone who really tried could achieve health, happiness and material abundance.

Robinson's venture made him a prosperous man and the royalties he collected from his numerous books and from the fees of thousands of subscribers to the religion allowed him to live in style.

In addition to establishing the News-Review firm, which prints the Daily Idahoian newspaper, he created Moscow's first youth center, and at one time was Latah County's single largest employer. Two buildings in downtown Moscow were Psychiana's headquarters and the city itself was granted a first-class post office due to the enormous quantity of mail that passed in and out of town.

Psychiana flourished for 20 years to become history's largest mail-order religion, with more than 600,000 members in 67 countries.

But four years after Robinson died in 1948, Psychiana had dissipated.

The Robinson family donated the sealed crates in 1955 on the condition they remain unopened for a quarter century.

CORPS TO FUND NORTH IDAHO FISHERY RESEARCH PROJECTS

The Corps of Engineers has announced that it is funding two Department of Fish and Game research programs in northern Idaho "to improve fisheries knowledge and management" in streams affected by Corps' projects.

A two-year study is proposed for Lake Pend Oreille to demonstrate a method for restoring the kokanee population. Idaho researchers will study the feasibility of a hatchery program rather than would improve survival of young kokanee by releasing the fry in midsummer rather than in the spring.

Earlier studies in 1974 through 1978 indicated that zebra shrimp—introduced in 1966—had contributed to a reduction of the food supply critical to the survival of kokanee fry.

A proposed method for restoring the kokanee fishery to the level of the 1960's includes artificial incubation and release of large numbers of fry in mid-July when ample food is available.

Initial efforts by department biologists were promising but study over a longer period will allow a more thorough evaluation of the restoration methods, according to Jack Thompson, fisheries biologist with the Corps' Seattle district.

The three-year study on the Kootenai River will concentrate on fisheries studies, angler success and general knowledge of the river, Thompson said.

Water quality and flow characteristics in the Kootenai River have been changed by construction of Libby Dam upstream from Libby, Montana. Information from the study, Thompson said, will assist in determining the best system for withdrawing water at Libby Dam.

Cost of the studies is estimated at $45,000 for Lake Pen Oreille and $32,000 for the Kootenai River.

Trappers' Licenses Selling At Record Rate in '79-'80

Trappers' licenses are selling at a record rate in Idaho this 1979-80 season, keeping pace with favorable prices for the more popular pelts.

As of January 9, about 3,000 licenses had been sold by the Department of Fish and Game's license section in Boise. On the same date a year ago, sales totaled 2,655.

A resident trapper's license costs $5.50; nonresident, $75.50, and the nonresident cannot obtain an Idaho license unless his home state allows Idaho trappers to buy licenses in that state. Idaho licenses are available only at the department's Boise office.

Average prices for most pelts in 1978-79 were well above those for 1972-73. The average price for a bobcat pelt last season, for example, was $283.11, compared to $18.01 in 1972-73.

Staff biologist Ken Norrie says prime bobcat pelts sold for as much as $600 each in 1979. Coyote pelts averaged $60.54 in 1978-79, up from $11.55 in 1972-73.

Norrie says prices are usually dictated by the demands of the fashion world. "Right now, everyone seems to be wild about bobcat and coyote pelts, but next fall it could be raccoon or even weasel!"

More trap lines mean more opportunity for the trap thief, says Norrie, a former conservation officer. He advises trappers, particularly the newcomers, to hide their traps carefully—and to notify a conservation officer if problem areas crop up.

Removing wildlife from another person's trap is a misdemeanor.

It is not the oath that makes us believe the man, but the man the oath.—Aeschylus.

Dick and Vicky Benschoter returned home Saturday from Phoenix, Ariz., where they had been visiting friends Mr. and Mrs. Twain Sumner. Pat Neal stayed in the Benschoter home during their absence.

The Benschoters are expecting Dr. Jim and Lesley Kopp and their two children to arrive today from their Oakland, Calif., home for a short vacation visit.

Peg and Tom Neal spent Saturday with her parents, Andy and Minnie Cox. Stephanie and Wayne Pedersen were Sunday afternoon callers.

Sunday guests in the Frank Benschoter home were their grandson Bill Benschoter and his fiancée, Lois Peterson; also the Dick Beebe family, all of Moscow. Dick Benschoter was a Sunday morning caller.

Pat May was a Friday overnight guest in the Roger Courtright home in Kendrick in celebration of his 19th birthday.

Darold Hazeltine and little daughter Jennifer called on the Warney May family Sunday afternoon.

Saturday evening dinner guests in the David Neal home were Bill Gillespie, Karen Kries, Penni Gregory and Craig Cyr.

Mary Beth and Dick McCall and Dick Benschoter called on the Walt Benschoter Sunday afternoon. Other callers during the week were Tammy Armitage, Glen Ford, Bob Callison and Priscilla Armitage.

Ernie Andrews was released from Gritman Hospital Saturday and is recovering at his home here until his knee is healed sufficiently for therapy treatments.

Otto and Goldie Brammer were Friday afternoon callers in the Andrews home.
Dean and Lynda Brocke and their children were Saturday evening supper guests of the Bob Callisons.

Mr. and Mrs. Maury Heier and family were Saturday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Holt and Amy.

Russell Brammer returned Saturday to the University of Idaho to resume his second semester studies.
Mr. and Mrs. Marion Souders visited with Mrs. Ida Greenwood at the Manor.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parsley and family were Saturday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harris and family. Also called on Mr. and Mrs. Doug Harris and family. Ricel Parsley left last Friday for Idaho State University in Pocatello.

Gene Perryman toured the McConnell Mansion in Moscow a week ago.
Bill Cuddy of Thompson Falls was a Sunday afternoon caller of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cuddy and Kelly.

Jason Witt was a Friday overnight guest of Aaron Patterson and Jan. Chad and Marnie Henson of Juliaetta were overnight guests of Aaron. The Pattersons visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Patterson in Lewiston Sunday.

The telephone meeting was held at the Clem Lyons home Jan. 10 with eleven present.
Mr. and Mrs. John Cuddy and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hudson enjoyed Sunday supper at the Chinese Village in Moscow.

Ed Ranta walked the TV line Sunday evening and visited with Ernest and Nellie Steigers. Quite a strenuous undertaking in snowy weather.
Don and Elaine Hoisington really entertained with the break in the snow barrier, many, many came. Friday evening guests in the Hoisington home were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Heiler and family from Kendrick. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jim Albright of Juliaetta and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Coepenshire of Clarkston braved the elements for a good time together there and on Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Dean Weyen of Kendrick were guests.

At Pinecreek—
Pinecreek has started to 'raise' due to melting of snow on the drainage—but as of Monday morning still not ferocious.
Sunday guests, her only ones this week except the faithful mailman, were son Don Brown and young Allen. Don, as he has done with all his 3 children, gave careful driving instructions in snow driving on Sunday up snow covered Pinecreek bed road. He also taught them handling of the car in mud, and icy conditions! A good principal!

Mildred's News—
On their early Monday morning journey to Lewiston for medical appointment. Mrs. Mildred Heath and son Eugene noticed a slide in the road below the Lee Heath home had been traversed by tractor marks, so the Lapwai school bus had 'made' it thru.
A sore foot and finger are her miseries at present, but she is not a complainer!
Inez Ingraham and daughter were her Sunday all-day guests. Son Gordon and boys of Potlatch came Saturday to check on cattle and the boys shoveled the snowy walks.

Stony Point
Nellie Dean Steigers—Reporter

The BIG NEWS of Stony Point and our river area was "Snowbound"! Nineteen inches was reported on Cherrylane Flat on Thursday morning, Jan. 10th when Janet Kerby and son Don walked across Cherrylane Bridge and on an unbroken trail to the home of elderly neighbors, the Ernest Steigers! As much or more than reported in many other areas! Banana Belt?? It was beautiful, and our snow removal equipment was on the job for our county roads, and as much as possible on entries, etc. Sunday noon, the car of Jim Steigers of Lewiston was the first car to come thru that driveway!

On Monday morning things look messy! Rain fall has melted much snow and dirty spots show thru. Floors not so clean for a while soon!
News is very scarce, most having been homebodies!

Gertrude and Eldon Heimgartner, with Erma Stevens, drove to Lewiston Saturday, finding Mother Mystic in very good condition!

The Ernie Fliger family were Sunday visitors from Moscow at the Erma Stevens home on the Point.
Making it to Cottonwood Creek Church for Sunday Services was the welcome outlet for several of the hilltoppers and a trip to Kendrick or Lewiston a big event!

Mr. and Mrs. James Hoisington and children from Cuidesac arrived for luncheon at the home of his parents Cletis and Bea Hoisington at the end of the Ridge, on Saturday and the visit of son Lauren and wife Katy of Juliaetta Sunday afternoon established good contact with the outside world again.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Heimgartner made a trip to Kendrick.
Roy and Ardythe Heimgartner managed a drive to the home of her brother Elmer Peters in Ione, Wa.
The Lloyd Stevens family called on Mystic Heimgartner and Edna Greene in Lewiston Sunday. Good Reports.

At Weippe—
Kenneth Steigers spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the Orofino, Weippe area, on various projects. He was joined there Sunday morning by wife Linda and children, where they were dinner guests in the fine, new home of Ken and Gail Hart at a point 2 miles beyond the Steigers settlement. Mrs. Hart is the daughter of Howard Johnson.

The Steigers children, Bekalyn and Brant have had "flu" the past week, having been housebound and unable to attend school. A common ailment this winter, but can be severe.

Barbara Honored Again!—
"Barb" Heimgartner (Mrs. Lee Heimgartner), who often says she has "no news", and is actually one of the busiest young matrons, was exposed on her latest activity, in a recent Tribune article, noting the fact she had been recently appointed secretary-historian in the "Idaho Women in Agriculture" organization. A fine little mother and wife to boot! Nicely liberated!

Phil's Food Center Enriches School Soup Label Drive

The Juliaetta Elementary Schools Campbell Soup Label drive received a welcome boost this week with the addition of certificates worth 400 la-bels, complements of Phil's Food City.

The Heinens, who own the local market, received participating mer-chant certificates from the Campbell Soup Company which can be con-verted to 400 label credits, because of their promotional efforts of the com-pany's products during the school's drive to collect soup labels.

The school still needs all the labels it can get and appreciates the sup-port of both merchants and individ-uals.

Heart attacks, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases caused al-most as many deaths in Idaho in '78 as all other causes combined, ac-cording to a statement released by the Idaho Heart Association.
