POTLATCH BOARD APPROVES CASH DIVIDEND INCREASE
San Francisco—Directors of Potlatch Corp., voted to day, September 26, to increase the company's 4th quarter cash dividend 6.1 percent from $0.33 to $0.35 per share, marking the 8th consecutive annual increase in the cash dividend rate.
Richard B. Madden, chairman and chief executive officer said the increase is equivalent to an annual dividend rate of $1.40 per share, compared with the previous annual rate of $1.32 per share. It is payable December 1, 1980, to stockholders of record November 12, 1980.

Madden said effects of the nation's recession have had a negative influence on the company's earnings. As reported earlier, Potlatch net income through the first six months of 1980 was off 49 percent from the year-ago period.
"There will be years like 1980, when economic forces beyond our control interrupt our long-term earnings growth pattern, but over time our ambitious capital spending programs of the past 7 years will bring sizeable economic rewards," he said.
Madden explained that the company's cash dividend rate increased approximately 15 percent annually between 1972 and 1979.

"The smaller increase in 1980 reflects current economic difficulties, but it also represents an expression of confidence in the company's future earning power," he said.
Potlatch is a diversified forest products company with timberlands and manufacturing operations nationwide. The company reported first half 1980 sales of $387.8 million and net income of $21.9 million and $71 million, respectively, for full yr. 1979.

help knock the stuffing out of rising hospital costs!

In November, voters will have an opportunity to vote on a referendum which will amend the Idaho State Constitution to enable non-profit religious sponsored health facilities to borrow for capital expansion at the same low-interest rates as all other hospitals. Nearly 20% of Idaho's hospital beds are affected. Costs ultimately are paid by the patient. Idaho's sick and injured will benefit by containing this ingredient of escalating medical costs. You can help, too, by sending your tax-deductible contribution to support passage of the Equal Hospital Funding referendum . . . and by voting for HJR-12.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Two amendments to the Idaho Constitution will appear on the general election ballot. These have been proposed to the people for ratification following action by the legislature. The amendment proposals, the Legislative Council's statements of meaning and purpose, and the statements for and against are listed as follows:

S.J.R. No. 112

Section 1, Article III, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho is amended to read as follows:

SECTION 1. LEGISLATIVE POWER — ENACTING CLAUSE — REFERENDUM — INITIATIVE. The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a senate and house of representatives. The enacting clause of every bill shall be as follows: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Idaho."

The people reserve to themselves the power to approve or reject at the polls any act or measure passed by the legislature. This power is known as the referendum, and legal voters may, under such conditions and in such manner as may be provided by acts of the legislature, demand a referendum vote on any act or measure passed by the legislature and cause the same to be submitted to a vote of the people for their approval or rejection.

The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws, and enact the same at the polls independent of the legislature. This power is known as the initiative, and legal voters may, under such conditions and in such manner as may be provided by acts of the legislature, initiate any desired legislation and cause the same to be submitted to the vote of the people at a general election for their approval or rejection provided that legislation thus submitted shall require the approval of a number of voters equal to a majority of the aggregate vote cast for the office of governor at such general election to be adopted.

The question to be submitted to the electors of the State of Idaho at the next general election shall be as follows:

"Shall Section 1 of Article III, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to strike the requirement that an initiative be approved by a majority equal to a majority of the votes cast for governor and to allow an initiative measure to be placed on the ballot at any general election?"

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL'S STATEMENT OF MEANING AND PURPOSE S.J.R. 112

The purpose of this proposed amendment to Section 1, Article III, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho is to remove reference to the number of votes cast at a gubernatorial election for determination of the majority necessary to pass an initiative measure.

Effect of Adoption
If adopted, this amendment would revise procedures relating to submission of initiative measures. Because the present language requires that an initiative be adopted by a majority equal to the majority of votes cast for governor, it is uncertain whether initiative measures may be placed on the ballot in non-gubernatorial general election years. With adoption of this amendment, this uncertainty would be removed and initiatives could be submitted in any general election year.

Statements FOR the proposed amendment:

1. The original language of Section 1, Article III, was adopted when the governor was elected every two years. However, the governor is now elected to a four year term; consequently this amendment is necessary to return to the original intent that initiatives could be submitted in any general election year.

Statements AGAINST the proposed amendment:

1. The language which is struck by the proposed amendment deletes the extraordinary majority required for approval of an initiative, but does not state the majority which is to be required. There are two possible consequences of this deletion. First, the majority to be required may be determined by the Legislature which might exercise its option to enact an excessive majority thereby impeding the exercise of the initiative power. Alternatively, only a simple majority may be required and the intent of the original authors to require a specified extraordinary majority is lost.

2. Adoption of this amendment could lead to a proliferation of initiatives because issues of the moment would result in ballot submissions, whereas the present waiting period assures that only issues of enduring importance result in initiative action.

H.J.R. 12

Section 5, Article IX, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho is amended to read as follows:

SECTION 5. SECTARIAN APPROPRIATIONS PROHIBITED.

Neither the legislature nor any county, city, town, township, school district, or other public corporation, shall ever make any appropriation, or pay from any public fund or moneys whatever, anything in aid of any church or sectarian or religious society, or for any sectarian or religious purpose, or to help support or sustain any school, academy, seminary, college, university or other literary or scientific institution, controlled by any church, sectarian or religious denomination whatsoever; nor shall any grant or donation of land, money or other personal property ever be made by the state, or any such public corporation, to any church or for any sectarian or religious purpose; provided, however, that a health facilities authority, as specifically authorized and empowered by law, may finance or refinance any private, not for profit, health facilities owned or operated by any church or sectarian religious society, through loans, leases, or other transactions.

The question to be submitted to the electors of the State of Idaho at the next general election shall be as follows:

"Shall Section 5, Article IX, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to empower a health facilities authority, as specifically authorized by the Legislature, to finance or refinance private nonprofit health facilities owned or operated by a church or religious society?"

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL'S STATEMENT OF MEANING AND PURPOSE H.J.R. 12

The purpose of this proposed amendment to Section 5, Article IX, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho is to allow a health facilities authority, when specifically authorized by law, to finance or refinance health facilities owned or operated by a church or religious society.

Effect of Adoption

If adopted, this amendment would clarify the constitutional and statutory powers of a health facilities authority, by allowing the authority to provide loans for religiously affiliated health facilities, in the same manner as such loans are now available to other private, non-profit institutions.

Statements FOR the proposed amendment:

1. The United States Constitution contains no similar barrier to this kind of financing proposal as does the Idaho Constitution; adoption of the amendment would make the Idaho Constitution consistent with the United States Constitution on this matter.

2. The state of Idaho makes no tax dollars available to a health facilities authority; all the money available to a health facilities authority comes from private sources. Thus, loans by a health facilities authority to non-profit health facilities do not constitute lending the credit of the state.

3. All non-profit hospitals, whether religiously affiliated or not, have the same basic philosophy of providing quality health care to people in need; this amendment will provide the necessary legal mechanism for an important group of religiously affiliated hospitals to receive financial assistance through loans or leases.

4. The interest costs of capital expenditures for religiously affiliated health facilities could be reduced because of loans made by a health facilities authority; this reduction would help contain the rising cost of health care to patients.

Statements AGAINST the proposed amendment:

1. There is no guarantee in this proposed amendment that facilities financed by loans from a health facilities authority would be open to the general public; however, open admissions and requirements of indigent care have historically been mandatory by applicable governmental standards.

FISH AND GAME JOURNALISTS LEARN ABOUT CHECK STATIONS

By Royce Williams and Hugh Wilson

Department of Fish and Game
When two Department of Fish and Game journalists abandon their type writers for check station duty, we expect to learn more about the people we work with and the hunters who buy licenses.

We did. During the weekend opener at sage grouse management stations in Owyhee Co., we found:

1. That a good 99 percent of the hunters who stopped were cooperative and had a real desire to be sure they were hunting legally.

2. The great majority of them were concerned about and interested in Idaho's wildlife resources.

3. Department personnel who work in the field have an abiding dislike for poachers.

4. It's true that most opening days for bird seasons are windy, wet and cold.

The department's management check stations are set up in the same place each season to collect biologist information that compares the status of game bird population from year to year.

Part of our job was to clip a wing from each sage grouse, chukar and quail that passed through the station and toss it in a container marked for the area where the bird was harvested.

Hunters didn't object to seeing their birds partially denuded, but many of them wanted to know why. After a short course in wing-reading, we were able to show them how certain feathers showed age and sex.

When seasons end, department biologists gather all of their samples and hold "wing bees."

The wing feathers from sage grouse, for example, can give them such data as peak hatch dates and whether or not a hen reared a brood.

There are other incidents that probably occur only at check stations.

Like the man who stopped and asked if we wanted to check his truckload of bees. We did not.

Like the hunter who said "go ahead and check the birds, but that dog back there in the truck just about chewed up a Montana game warden one time."

Like the van load of gloomy hunters who had spent most of their day in the field getting their vehicle free of that Owyhee County gumbo.

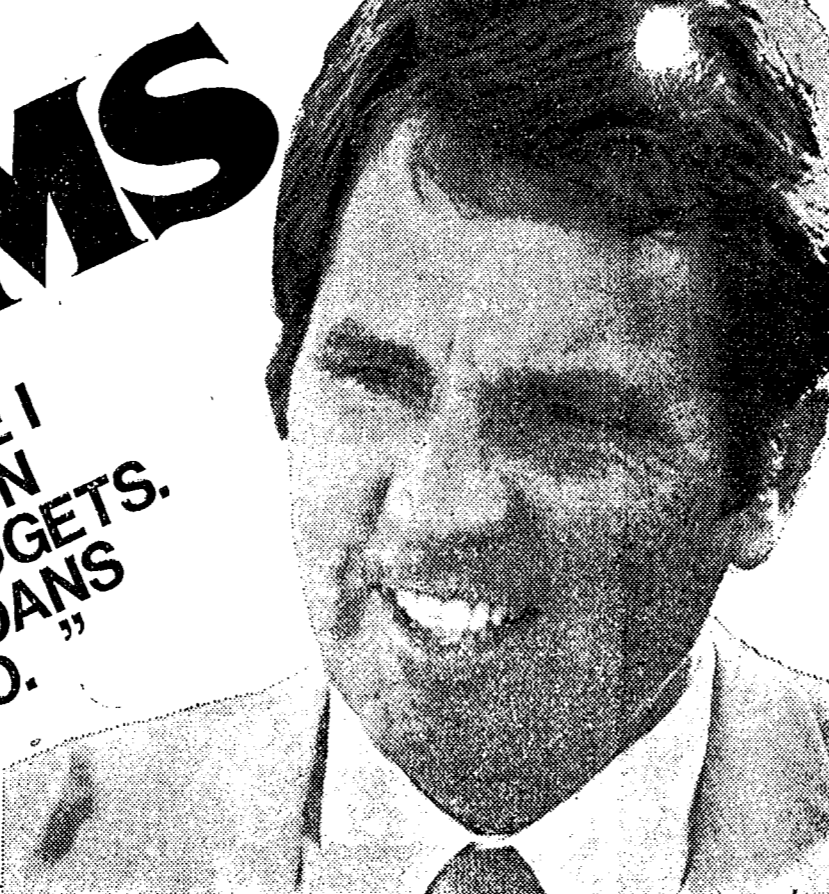

Judge a man by his questions rather than by his answers. —Voltaire

STEVE SYMMS
"OF COURSE I VOTE 'NO' ON DEFICIT BUDGETS. MOST IDAHOANS WOULD, TOO."

STEVE SYMMS ON THE ECONOMY:

"I am totally opposed to deficit spending by government because it is a basic cause of inflation and it is wrong. I have sponsored legislation to make a balanced federal budget mandatory except in time of national emergency.

Our senior citizens are hurt the most because they must live on limited incomes. But our young people are hurt too because of the difficulty in providing a home and food while starting a family. Business suffers. Farmers are caught in the squeeze.

A balanced budget in government requires the same self-discipline on the part of its leaders as the family must exercise in living within its income.

In 24 years in the Senate, Frank Church has shown time and again that he does not have such discipline. In 8 years in the House, my record shows that I do."

Most Idahoans . . . but not Frank Church.

On 19 specific occasions since 1975, Frank Church has had an opportunity to vote against federal deficit budgets and he hasn't . . . not once. Despite his campaign promises.

Most Idahoans know that deficit spending is the basic cause of inflation. And inflation is the basic cause of all of the economic problems we have today. People out of work. Skyrocketing prices. The struggle of senior citizens. High interest rates. Welfare fraud. Government over-regulation . . . people tell me about these problems that plague us today.

Do you think Frank Church will change now . . . even if he were to go back to the Senate?

Hunter Education Classes Certify More Than 6,200 Boys and Girls

More than 6,200 boys and girls have been certified in hunter education classes during the first eight months of Idaho's mandatory program and more busy days are ahead for instructors this year.

"September will be a peak month as we get into fall hunting seasons. We are hard pressed right now to fill instructor's requests for training films," says Milt Williams, hunter education coordinator for the Department of Fish and Game. The department is the administering agency.

Under Idaho law which took effect last January 1, most youngsters under age 15 must show that they have passed the hunter education course or an approved equivalent before they can obtain a hunting license.

An amendment to the law this year exempted those who can prove that they held a valid license when courses were voluntary prior to '80.

The new program started with about 600 volunteers certified instructors and that number had increased to 1,012 as of August 31, according to Williams. "Our instructors have given us strong support and the general quality of their instruction has been excellent," he says.

Instructors must pass a uniform course taught by department personnel before they are certified. They use films, slide series, charts and demonstration sporting arms as part of the training they give their students.

Idaho is one of eight states that also require range firing to complete the course. "Marksmanship is secondary to the students' demonstrated ability to handle the rifle safely," Williams says.

During each training course, students study such subjects as hunter ethics, wildlife identification and conservation, care of game in the field and hunter survival.

Information about class schedules is available from instructors and all department offices, Williams said.

BEEF SYMPOSIUM SLATED AT BOISE

Clifton Anderson Associate Agricultural Editor

Boise—Livestock health and management factors that influence calf survival will be discussed at the 1980 Western Beef Symposium, to be held Oct. 27-Oct. 28 at the Red Lion Riverside Motor Inn, Boise.

J. D. Mankin, UI extension livestock specialist, is the program chairman for the 2-day meeting. Tom Hovenden, secretary-manager of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association, is arrangements chairman. Cattlemen from eight Western states are expected to participate in the conference.

Dr. Richard F. Hall, UI extension veterinarian, will explain how to safeguard the health of calves during branding, castration and dehorning.

Dr. Guy E. Reynolds, Oregon State University extension veterinarian, will speak on the causes of deformed and stillborn calves.

More than a dozen livestock specialists will speak at the two-day se-

DIGESTING THE LUNGS

For years, researchers have known that smoking is the major cause of emphysema. Now they are beginning to find out why.

According to the American Lung Association, the lungs function normally if there is a vital balance between two substances—two enzymes.

One enzyme called elastase actually digests the rubbery fibers that make the tiny air sacs in the lungs elastic. The other enzyme inhibits the first so that it doesn't get out of control and severely damage the fibers.

Among emphysema victims, a very small fraction inherit the disease and develop emphysema even if they do not smoke. Most emphysema patients, however, have smoked heavily for many years. But those who inherit the disease have a deficiency of the second enzyme. As a result the uninhibited elastase enzyme devours the tissues of the air sacs. The air sacs cannot exchange oxygen and carbon monoxide properly. The emphysema patient must struggle to breathe 20 to 25 times a minute instead of the normal 15. In its advanced stages the disease is agonizing.

In "smoker's" emphysema, the problem is more complicated, according to new research from the National Institute of Health. By comparing lung fluid from heavy smokers with fluid from nonsmokers, investigators found that the second—the inhibiting—enzyme was present; but it was not doing its job. A chemical in smoke called an oxidant apparently turns off the second enzyme. "Every individual who smokes shows some sign of emphysema," says Oscar Aurebach, M. D., who recently was awarded the Trudeau Medal from the American Lung Association for his years of study that documented the correlation between the amount of lung damage and the amount of smoking.

To find out more about quitting smoking and preventing such diseases as emphysema, contact your local American Lung Association—the Christmas Seal people. It's a matter of life and breath.

FRANK CHURCH'S

It's Time Idaho (and the U.S.A.) Had A Better Friend.

STEVE SYMMS
 "THE CARTER AND CHURCH RECORDS ON NATIONAL DEFENSE ARE MUCH THE SAME ... AND OUT OF STEP."

STEVE SYMMS ON NATIONAL DEFENSE:

"I have consistently worked and voted to keep our military forces strong ... second to none. I believe, as history proves, that 'peace through strength' is not just a theory, but a basic truth.

We must remember that proven truth if we are to keep our children from marching off to war."

As your United States Senator, I will do more to keep America strong."

Steve and son, Dan.

Our foreign relations problems are severe. One of the most important causes is our nation's military preparedness ... how other nations see our declining defense capability.

Frank Church along with his liberal colleagues and President Carter, are talking a lot this year about how we must now spend more on defense. But the fact is, the United States has fallen behind the Soviet Union because Frank Church, Jimmy Carter, and their colleagues have consistently opposed the badly needed research and development programs ... as well as a number of new weapons systems needed by our military to keep America strong.

Today we are seeing the result of the Carter/Church record — a foreign policy in disarray and a defense capability that is questionable at best.
