It was determined that Benewah, Bonner, Boundary, Clearwater, Kootenai, Latah, Nez Perce and Shoshone Counties, and the adjoining counties of Idaho and Lewis were eligible for assistance. The Farmers Home Administration was authorized at that time to make Emergency Loans to any qualified farmers in Latah County who can prove either a physical loss or crop loss due to the ash fallout. Farmers must meet eligibility requirements and be unable to obtain credit elsewhere. No applications will be accepted after Mar. 31, 1981. She wasn't your sleek, classic beauty, but the Chief and his boys kept her shined up and as spiffy as possible.

Old Number 9.

First you'd hear the siren piercing through the trees. Then Old Number 9 would heave into sight, wallowing down the street and galumphing toward her destination like a dinosaur with flat feet.

She wasn't your sleek, classic beauty, but the Chief and his boys kept her shined up and as spiffy as possible for an aging lady who had put out a lot of fires in her time.

I loved that fire engine. And my grandfather knew it. When he gave me my first Savings Bond, he smiled and said, "Save enough of these, boy, and someday you can buy your own fire engine."

I couldn't get enough of Old Number 9. Even her siren had a special wail that gave me goose bumps. Kind of lonely and yet reassuring at the same time. Sometimes they'd park her out in front of the station, and I'd walk slowly all around her. She'd sit there, all alone, resplendent in her red coat, her chrome fixtures gleaming and winking at me in the sun.

I grew up, moved away, and on to other things. But I never forgot Old Number 9. Guess that's why I joined the local club for fire engine buffs. Turned out there were a lot of us around. Enough of us to be able to pool our Savings Bonds and go looking for a fire engine to buy.

I finally found Old Number 9. Spending her retirement on the edge of a highway under a big "Mack's Red Hots" sign. But we changed all that. Today, Number 9 has the place of honor in every town parade. She leads the march down Main Street. With me at the wheel, of course.

Bonds can help you build a hefty nest egg for a new car, a house, education or retirement. Happy endings begin with U.S. Savings Bonds.

Take stock in America.

SOME PEOPLE GET ASTHMA FROM THEIR WORK

It's nice to throw out the alarm clock. And stay in bed. But most of us can't. We have livelihoods to earn.

Life and health sometimes have a direct bearing on the way we earn our livings, says the American Lung Association.
Several recent studies have bro't out the connection between asthma and employment in manufacturing companies that work with organic chemicals. It is suggested that a substantial fraction of unexplained asthma may be due to such chemicals in the workplace. Unfortunately, use of the chemicals involved are rapidly expanding in the plastics industry.

Company attitudes toward the asthma-threatened workers vary. In some cases, susceptible workers are retained to perform other jobs, away from the guilty chemicals. At other companies, plant physicians tend to ignore complaints. Some companies invite the researchers into their plants; at others there is considerable resistance to the scientific investigation.

There are many causes of asthma other than work-related allergies. House dust, animal dander, and pollen are common examples. Or the cause may be a non-allergenic factor such as cold air, a viral infection, or vigorous exercise. The stimulus may be a combination of factors. Asthma is a definite physical disease and not "all in the mind."

Some 6 million adults and children in the United States suffer from this difficult disease. But good news about asthma surfaces, too. The disease can usually be controlled and prevented by excellent medications. To find out more about asthma and other lung diseases, consult your Idaho Lung Association—the Christmas Seal People. It's a matter of life and breath.

In Sumatra, tin may not be carried into a gold mine for fear it may make the gold flee.

Mesothelioma. A big word. A distressing disease that occurs mainly among asbestos workers, according to the American Lung Association.
Mesothelioma is a form of cancer affecting the chest lining and the membrane lining of the abdominal cavity. The disease, unknown to the general public, hit the front page several months ago when actor Steve McQueen was diagnosed as suffering from it.
The first sign of mesothelioma usually is shortness of breath, a symptom that also may be the first hint of many lung diseases. With mesothelioma, there may be pain in the wall of the chest, aggravated by deep breathing. Abdominal pain also may occur, varying from vague discomfort to severe spasms.
Precise diagnosis of this unusual cancer is difficult. X-rays may aid diagnosis, but an exploratory operation usually is necessary to provide tissue for biopsy.
Most cases of mesothelioma occur in people exposed to a certain type of asbestos fiber from a mineral called crocidolite, or "blue asbestos." These fibers are fine and straight, so needlelike they seem to pass right through the soft lung tissue to the rib cage, where they remain and irritate cancer.

Very little exposure can cause mesothelioma. It has been reported in the nonworking wives of asbestos workers and in people living near plants. Many persons believe that crocidolite should be left undisturbed and underground.
Occupational lung hazards are one of the concerns of the American Lung Association. For further information about lung diseases resulting from workplace hazards, contact your Idaho Lung Association, the Christmas Seal people. It's a matter of life and breath.

DROP IN BEAN EXPORTS FEARED
Clifton Anderson
Associate Agricultural Editor
Moscow, Idaho—A decline in the present high levels of bean exports would be a severe blow to Pacific Northwest bean producers, according to an agricultural outlook report prepared by specialists of the University of Idaho, Washington State University and Oregon State University.

"If bean exports should drop sharply and U. S. production remains at high levels, a disastrous price movement could result," authors of the report warned.
Loss of export markets coupled with overproduction could seriously damage the U. S. bean industry in 1981, authors of the tri-state report pointed out. They said growers should not "take the present relatively favorable prices as a signal to expand production."
In 1980, total U. S. production of dry beans was approximately 25.4 million hundredweight. This was 1 percent greater than the 1979 production figure.

RECORD-HIGH GRAIN CROPS SELLING AT STRONG PRICES
Clifton Anderson
Associate Agricultural Editor
Moscow—Grain producers of the Pacific Northwest had the profit-making combination of favorable growing conditions plus good markets in 1980, faculty members of the University of Idaho, Washington State University and Oregon State University say in their annual agricultural outlook report.

Grain prices will continue to show strength in the months ahead, the agricultural forecasters predicted.
Robert L. Sargent, extension economist for Washington State University reported these developments:
—Near-ideal weather resulted in record wheat and barley crops in the Pacific Northwest in 1980.
—Record U. S. production of hard red winter, soft red winter and white wheat made the 1980 U. S. wheat crop the largest on record. Production of hard red spring wheat dropped sharply.
—The U. S. embargo of wheat shipments to Russia did not have a direct impact on Pacific Northwest growers since Russia has not purchased wheat from this region.
—Despite the cancellation of shipments to Iran exports of white wheat from the Pacific Northwest continued to move abroad in good volume.
—China became an important importer of U. S. wheat. In a trade agreement with the United States, China agreed to continue wheat purchases at current levels during each of the next four years.
—Fairly strong prices for wheat should continue during the coming marketing year. The world supply situation will remain tight unless '81 harvests in the world's principal wheat growing regions are exceptionally good.

OVERSUPPLY OF SPUDS COULD WEAKEN PRICES
Clifton Anderson
Associate Agricultural Editor
Moscow—Growing potatoes is likely to be profitable in 1981 if growers are able to resist the temptation to overproduce, a University of Idaho economist points out in the year-end agricultural outlook report issued jointly by 3 Pacific Northwest universities.

"Potato growers traditionally over produce after a favorable price-year," said Joe Guenther, University of Idaho extension economist. "The limited availability of certified seed should offset this tendency somewhat in 1981, but watch for expanded acreage in 1982."
Guenther said potato prices gained strength in 1980 due to reduced plantings plus the unfavorable growing conditions which prevailed in some areas of the nation.
"The 1980 U. S. fall potato crop, forecast to be down 12 percent to 260.8 million hundredweight, is the smallest since 1975."
"In the Pacific Northwest, total 1980 production is expected to be down 11 percent with harvested acreage dropping from 495,000 acres in 1979 to 438,000 acres in 1980," Guenther reported.
The UI economist said Idaho's harvested potato acreage declined by 16,000 acres in 1980 and the state's production showed a drop of about 8 percent. Production declines amounted to 24 percent in Oregon and

HELP FOR PEOPLE WHO ARE HELPLESS

Practice pursed-lip breathing! Learn how to cough! Exercise your chest muscles!
 These are just a few of hundreds of suggestions in "Help Yourself To Better Breathing," a new booklet published by the American Lung Association especially for persons with emphysema and chronic bronchitis. Chock-full of excellent "how-to" hints, this large-size, 24-page booklet is illustrated by famous artist Roy Doty. There are first-person stories about how people have learned to cope with breathlessness. And specific directions on how to clear breathing passages of mucus. Exercises for postural drainage and building stamina are illustrated. Another section of this bright, helpful booklet identifies troubleshooters, such as air pollution, extremes of weather, infections, and smoking and how to avoid them.

"Help Your Medicines Help You," describes various medicines and the importance of working closely with a physician. There are spaces with in the booklet to write individual directions for taking each medicine.

Breathing aids, such as nebulizers, respirators, oxygen, humidifiers and vaporizers are described. There is even a section on eating to feel better.

The "Keep Living Your Life" chapter can help people suffering from chronic bronchitis or emphysema lead full lives despite their illness. "Help Yourself To Better Breathing" is available from the Idaho Lung Association, the Christmas Seal people. It's a matter of Life and Breath.

Mildred Heath of Hubbard Gatch—

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Heath of Nezperce, with their daughter Ruth Ann, were Friday afternoon Jan. 9, visitors of Mildred Heath. On Sunday son Gordon Heath and his boy Clark enjoyed a T. V. dinner with her at the home place. A week ago Sunday Mildred suffered a fall at her home which left her weak for several days.

Gertrude Heimgartner, with Erma Stevens visited Mother Myrtle Heimgartner in Lewiston on Wednesday following their return from an extended trip.

On Sunday afternoon Eldon and Gertrude visited sister Marie and husband Everett Custer at their Clarkston home, finding Marie doing wonderfully well after recent surgery!

PineCreek Visitors—

On Sunday Don Brown and son Allen of Lewiston, dinner guests of Helena Brown, were able to do yard work, burning tree and shrub trash, etc. A Spring-like day! Merle Cooper was her "beauty parlor operator" on Saturday from Lewiston.

Everything "lookin' good" violets in bloom!

Memories Shared—

Mrs. Eldon (Ann) Taylor, wife of Kendrick's Supt of Schools, and former high school comrade of Linda Talbot Steigers at Moscow High enjoyed luncheon together on Tuesday, January 6th at the Taylor home. Old times were reviewed by the ladies.

Attend Boise Meeting—

Steve Pettit, officer in the State Fish and Game Dept., for the Clearwater River area fishing, with wife Diane Pettit, Tribune writer, attended a meeting held in Boise recently, flying by plane. Son Kelly spent the overnight at the home of young pal Kerby Kirkham, and at the Ken Steigers home until his parent's return late Thursday eve. Linda and small guest came one evening bringing gifts of fresh baked goodies to the E. Steigers home, to supplement Ernest's good cooking. Nellie being on the "lazy list" for a few days.

Making a recovery, the couple attended the beautiful memorial services held at the Vassar-Rawls Chapel on Saturday morning for friend Robert Swank, son of Ray and Gladys. This death was a tragic event for the elderly couple. Mr. Swank being 96 years old, now. Our hearts are heavy with them, grieving.

The Idaho Fiddler's Jam—1981

was the best ever and a huge crowd there to enjoy it, was held at the Lewiston Elks Building on Saturday afternoon, January 10. An estimated near 1,000 persons, filling the rooms to overflowing, caused personell to dismantle and open a room already prepared for an evening dinner party! So varied was the program, all of fine quality, it delighted the listeners! Monty Stevens, now 80-plus and tiny little fiddlers with miniature fiddles. May the "old time music" live on.

Sunday dinner was enjoyed at the Erma Stevens home by Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Filger of Moscow. Their three daughters were at Spokane, where a swimming meet was held.

Company at Cletis Hoisingtons—

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Prentiss, brother of Beatrice, from Michigan, and sister Wilma Clark from California spent several days this week at the Hoisington home on the Ridge. Cletis and Ben joined the entire family of Loren and Katy at their Juliaetta home Sunday, Dec. 11. A fine time for all!

A Very Successful Journey—

Leaving their Stony Point home on Dec. 22, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stevens accompanied by daughter Linda Bakke and mother Effie Powell, drove to Boise for overnight at the home of the Tom Glass family, drove on to Turlock, Calif., where they visited the Dr. Richard Carpenter family and also in the Bud Carpenter home and Chas. Bakke home. Spending Christmas with their grandchildren then homeward by Mt. Angel, Oregon, where Marjories aunt, Mrs. Pearl Baumgartner and 2 of her children reside made their joy complete. Good roads and good weather! All to the good, including finding things "ship-shape" at home on their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Heimgartner were Tuesday overnight guests in the Bill Harri home in Clarkston on January 6. Sunday home dinner guests included Helen Slomp and her son Bill, Cheryl Metcalf, and Mother Hunter, all of Lewiston. Wayne and Ruth chore together!

The only news reported by Leslie Heimgartner was "infection in his toes". Antibiotics and soaking will hopefully clear up the trouble. The ailing knee seems improved! Rather more than his share of crippling problems recently.

Again the Lloyd Stevens family visited with Patti's mother, Edna Greene, at the Lewiston Convalescent Center on Sunday.

Visit in Lewiston—

Tuesday, saw Ernest and Nellie Steigers quite busy traveling—first to Kendrick, then on to the Sol Jones home in Lewiston, supper with son Bill and wife in the Orchards, and a pleasant evening at the Clint Forsman home, later, with friends gathered for a musical evening, then home to bed at a decent hour. Nellie suffered a "convulsive" spell about 2 a. m., causing Ernest to phone son Ken and wife, who arrived pronto! By 4 a. m. things were better, only weakness lingering for a few days. Guess the "old gray mare is not what she used to be"—but Saturday was another day in town! At a rather slow pace!

INFLUENZA IN IDAHO

State health officials have confirmed several cases of type-A influenza in Idaho but are not sure at this time how large the seasonal outbreak of the disease may become. Numerous cases of the disease have been reported across the nation in recent weeks.

"Four cases of influenza caused by the type-A Bangkok virus have been confirmed by the Idaho Health and Welfare Laboratory," said Richard Schultz, state communicable disease control supervisor.

"Three of those cases were reported from Malad," Schultz said. A Malad physician estimates that over 60 percent of that southeast Idaho community have experienced flu-type illness.

"The other confirmed case of influenza was reported in southwest Idaho," Schultz said. "No large outbreaks of apparent influenza have been reported in other parts of the state up to the present time. However, we do know that Idaho has joined most other states in confirming the presence of Influenza A Bangkok."

Symptoms of the disease usually include fever, head and muscle aches cough and nasal discharge. Older persons and those with heart, lung, kidney and other debilitating disorders run a greater risk of complications associated with influenza.

"The supply of vaccine effective against type-A influenza is very limited," Schultz said.
