Fine Weekend On St. Joe Enjoyed by Camper Club

Fourteen Kendrick Camper members enjoyed the weekend at the Shadowy St. Joe River campground. Those going were:

Bill and Alberta Turner, Juliaetta; Doug and Flora Little and Manning and Elsie Onstott of Kendrick; Roy and Edith Johnson, Lewiston; Ed and Dorothea Ness, Clarkston and Alfred and Jessie Severson of Moscow. Merle and Ruby Horney of Moscow joined the group for dinner on Sunday.

Time was spent with fun games of Uno and pinochle and hiking.

The Seversons and Onstotts drove to the Black Lake area Friday, observing field crops yet to be harvested. We hope all harvesting can be completed.

The St. Joe is a growing climate, as three tomato vines, with nice big green tomatoes grew in front of Doc's trailer. The next day three bright, red tomatoes on the vines proved the tomatoes rish with the season!

One evening a stranger knocked at the trailer where games were being played. He was seriously trying to answer the question about a "park ranger". When others suspected it was our friend and we began to laugh however "He" returned in the direction of the tomato patch!

Six Alaskan husky puppies, about three months old, were found abandoned Friday night. Needless to say they soon won the hearts of everyone. They were so tame and playful and hungry. Food came from every trailer to satisfy for awhile. At Sunday dinner they gathered among the campers around the table and slept 'til dinner was over then inhaled the food offered to them. Word was sent to St. Maries and hopefully they will find a home and avoid the cruelty of starvation and neglect.

Bulldogs Blank Tigers 20-0

The Genesee Bulldogs ran their undefeated streak to 3 games last Thursday night on the GHS field, handing the visiting Tigers a 20-0 defeat that left the Tigers still looking for a win this season.

Running back Art Hebling couldn't be contained by the Kendrick defensive unit as he rolled up 125 of Genesee's 169 yards of offense and scored two touchdowns. Art packed the ball 25 times for the Bulldogs.

The teams battled to a first quarter draw, with neither scoring, but in the second quarter Dave Burt intercepted a Slade Zimhofe pass and took it back 36 yards for the touchdown. The extra point try failed but the Bulldogs lead 6-0 at the half.

In the third quarter, Hebling went the final 11 yards of an 80-yard drive to score for Genesee and then ran the conversion for another two points.

Hebling scored again in the final period from 10 yards out to give the Bulldogs the 20-0 White Pine league win.

This Friday Kendrick will go up to Troy for a game against the Trojans who last week lost a tight 16-14 game to Deary. The same night Genesee will host the Colton Wildcats.

September Sunset

Blood red streaks spread across the western sky
As the crimson ball of sun fire sinks low,
Hillsides flame with reflections hot and dry
Their rusty hues and rose tones cast a glow.
In the East the moon winks a wary eye
As September bids the world good-bye.

Cameron Church to Observe 90th Anniversary October 10, 11

There is an air of celebration at Cameron as the Emmanuel Lutheran Church prepares for its 90th anniversary October 10 and 11.

Old record books have been translated from German to English and it has been revealed that the church was organizing a few years earlier than originally thought and this might actually be the 93rd anniversary rather than the 90th.

Bits of interesting information, articles, stories and pictures were compiled and a history of the church is being published.

Addresses were sought and invitations sent to everyone the committee could find who has been a member of Cameron Emmanuel.

The children are practicing a program of characterizations and songs and the choir is rehearsing some "oldies but goodies".

Many families are thumbing through old pictures and a gallery of family history is beginning to take shape on the walls at the church.

All of the planning and preparations will come to a climax October 10 and 11 as the congregation celebrates with a banquet at the Kendrick V. F. W. Hall Saturday evening and a worship service and potluck dinner on Sunday.

The featured speaker at the banquet will be Dr. Bill Rieck, President of Pacific Lutheran University and grandson of an early circuit-rider of the Cameron Church. Anyone who may have saved clothing from days gone by might add to the interest of the evening by wearing them or bringing the clothes for display.

Rev. Clarence Solberg, President of the North Pacific District of the American Lutheran Church, will be speaker at the Sunday morning worship. All former pastors in attendance will be assisting ministers. A potluck dinner and brief program will bring the festivities to a close.

The community is invited to join in this time of remembrance and thanksgiving. Reservations for the banquet (adults $6.50, children 6-12 $3, under 6 free) and the history book ($5 plus postage) may be made by calling or writing Walt Zollnsky, Rt. 2, Box 1093, Kendrick, Idaho 83537 (telephone 289-3711) before Sept. 28 so arrangements may be made with the caterer.

Maggie M. Akins, 89, former owner-operator of Akins Shady Grove Trailer Park at Clarkston, died Tuesday at 1:15 p. m. at Tri-State Convalescent Center where she had resided for two years.

She and her late husband, Earl Akins, farmed in the Cavendish area for many years before moving to Lewiston. She later moved to Clarkston and operated the trailer park for 31 years.

She was born Dec. 15, 1891, at Southwick to George and Cora Brown. She was married to Akins July 5, 1910, and he died July 10, 1956.

She was a member of the United Brethren Church and the Asotin County Gerontology Council and a former member of the Pomona Grange.

Survivors include a daughter, Agnes Wittman of Lewiston; a son Vernon of Eugene, Ore.; three grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; two sisters, Martha Sapp of Medford, Oregon and Goldie Tempo of Spokane; and a brother, Ed Brown of Kendrick.

Five sisters, a brother and a daughter, Ilah Akins, preceded her in death.

Volleyball Team Will Play at Clark Fork

The varsity volleyball team at Kendrick are getting ready for a mid-season tournament. The tournament which will include a team from Canada, will be held Oct. 2, at Clark Fork. Clark Fork and L. V. Rodgers are the only other teams in the round-robin tournament.

Kendrick coach Nancy Monroe expects the competition to be tough. According to Coach Monroe, L. V. Rodgers is a very disciplined team, and will consistently use three hits before sending the ball back over the net. Coach Monroe also respects ability of Clark Fork. Clark Fork, which was last year state representative in league play this year. The Tigers, which are 4-0 so far, will have to play their best to win.

Coach Monroe feels this is the strongest team in Kendrick's 5-year history. Clark Fork should be strong again this year. L. V. Rodgers proved they are tough, as they handed Clark Fork a defeat earlier this season.

The Tigers will leave in the morning for the four-hour trip. Coach Monroe said the long trip might affect the girls, who have 2 matches earlier in the week. However Coach Monroe does not feel the travel will be much of a factor in their performance.

Wayne and Phoebe Davis and Edith Hendrix shared Tuesday (Sept. 15) dinner with the Frank Benscoters.

It was thoughtful of Jim Keeler to visit the Benscoters' family reunion and bring to mind the rattling of the cream cans when he was employed at the Kendrick Creamery in days gone by.

FRESHNESS OF CUT FLOWERS CAN BE EXTENDED BY HOURS

Marlene Fritz, Assistant Agricultural Editor, Parma. A few minutes of preparation can add hours of freshness to cut flowers, says a University of Idaho Cooperative Extension Service horticulturist.

Mike Colt, based at the UI Southwest Idaho Research and Extension Center at Parma, says flowers will stay beautiful longer if you:

- Remove at least a half inch of stem, preferably under water, with a scissors or sharp knife to expose a fresh surface and improve water conduction.
- Place the lower half inch of the stems in boiling water for 30 seconds, if they leak a milky fluid when cut, to prevent sap from plugging water-conducting tubes.
- Remove excess foliage to reduce both moisture loss above the water level and decay below the water level.
- Place the flowers in a clean container that has been washed in soap and water, thereby removing bacteria and fungi that might plug water-conducting tubes.
- Use either a commercial flower preservative or 1 to 2 tablespoons of either lemon-juice or lemon-lime soft drink in a quart of water.
- Avoid arranging flowers with fresh fruits or vegetables, which produce enough ethylene gas, a growth hormone, to drastically shorten the life of many cut flowers.

COST OF EXTINGUISHING FOREST FIRES IS VARIABLE

By Kyle Johnson
 U News Bureau

Moscow—The cost of extinguishing forest fires is highly variable and in some cases exceeds the value of the timber and other resources being burned, according to a UI forestry professor who is studying the cost-benefit ratio of fighting fires.

Charles McKetta, an assistant professor of forest resources, is studying the firefighting costs of state and federal agencies in the Pacific Northwest as part of a national project by the U. S. Forest Service's Riverside, Ca. Fire Laboratory.

"It's an incredible broad problem," said McKetta who specializes in timber economics.

The project is looking at a host of items that may affect the cost of forest fire management, including the variety of fuels present, resource characteristics and values, management organization style, and the costs and suppression effectiveness of different firefighting techniques.

The results of this research will be used to make a computer model of up to 140 different fire management scenarios nationwide. The model will allow forest managers to identify economically optimal responses in containing fires by comparing expected costs to probably losses and benefits of fire.

"We aren't expecting to displace local fire managers, but to give them an idea of what they can do economically," says McKetta. "Firefighting has been one of the last bastions of non-economic decision making."

Fire suppression philosophies vary from one agency to another, and even within agencies, said McKetta. Some will selectively allow a fire to continue burning as long as it doesn't threaten residences, while others may strive to have all fires extinguished before they reach 10 acres in size.

Some fire management agencies are highly centralized and capital intensive, while other have their equipment and personnel geographically dispersed. Both have worked his-

DEARY ARTIST'S WORK DISPLAY AT UI GALLERY

Moscow A showing of porcelain-ceramic work by Linda Lighton of Deary will be on display in the University of Idaho Art Gallery thru Friday, September 25.

The work, which Lighton describes "urban art" includes porcelain and ceramic representations of items which impressed Lighton when she was living in the city—shirts, vegetable shapes, gas hose nozzles, garbage bags, dishes, leaves, pencils and biomorphic shapes.

The pieces, which have high intensity glazes, are shiny and colorful, and the show has been described as "cheerful" by UI Gallery Director Beth Sellers.

The show is running in conjunction with an exhibit of traditional Ecuadorian weaving, which will also end Sept. 25.

The show is free and open to the public. Gallery hours are 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. Monday thru Friday, and 1-4 p. m. Sunday.

McKetta said finding the economic costs of fire management in these agencies isn't always simple, as some are found in nonfire budgets such as for training, capital and administrative services. These opportunity costs are rarely defined in public accounting systems, he added.

In one agency, for example, the wages of a 20-man "hot-shot" firefighting crew are $211 per hour, but considering the overhead makes the actual costs $407 per hour, not counting transportation.

McKetta said that when one type of air tanker is used to drop fire retardant, it costs only $2,163 per hour to operate, but it usually drops 2,000 gallons of retardant, raising the actual cost closer to $3,500 for a typical drop.

He said he hopes that making these costs obvious will allow fire managers to ask, "Hey, there's another fire but is this one really worth fighting?"

McKetta said he and Dr. Leon Neuenchwander, an associate professor of forest resources at the UI who specializes in fire management, are also working on a second study related to the Riverside project.

They are trying to determine the cost and effects of artificially reducing the amount of burnable material in the forest by several different slash and hazard reduction techniques.

The two projects at the UI are funded by $75,000 in a cooperative agreement with the U. S. Forest Service.

Wedding News— The Saturday afternoon, Sept. 19, wedding of Miss Melanie Steigers, daughter of Ralph and Shirley Steigers, to John Gibbs, Jr., son of John and Carla Gibbs, was a wonderful event! Held at the Cottonwood Creek Community Church, (seating capacity 260) was filled—with some seated in the balcony! Gorgeous bouquets of Pampas grass, 'cat-tails' and silk roses decorated the area where the wedding party assembled for the ceremony. The human interest event, which captured the hearts of all, was the afternoon nap taken by the manly little ring-bearer, on the soft carpet at the feet of the group, during the long affair. The kindly "best man" retrieved the "pillow" and removed the ring, at the proper moment! The little lad peacefully slept on, until awakened by the worried little flower Miss! Blinking sleepy eyes, he stumbled and fell on the slight steps, and in great grief was soon clasped closely in the comforting arms of his loving mother! He almost stole the show!

The young couple, both life-time residents of the area, are to reside at their own trailer home, where

Cedar Ridge News

By the Friendly Neighbor Club

Summer has really come to an end with some of our gardens having been frost nipped the last couple of nights. The last fields have been harvested and everyone is waiting for a good rain to start working the soil.

The Cedar Ridge 4-H'ers had a very impressive showing at the Latah County Fair exhibiting it with a dinner for members, leaders and parents. Those enjoying the dinner at Johnny's in Moscow with the 4-H'ers were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson, Mrs. Alice Searcy, Mrs. Sylvia Sylverson, Mr. and Mrs. Maury Heier, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cuddy and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dorman.

Congratulations Mrs. Ray Cuddy on your 88th birthday. An open house for family and friends was held on Sunday to honor the occasion.

Mrs. Roseann Holt and Mrs. Flo Lyons were busy last week judging flowers and needlework respectively at both the Clearwater County Fair and the Latah Co. Fair.

Cedar Ridge residents welcomed back Mrs. Sam Weaver who spent several days visiting old friends and neighbors.

Recent visitors for several days at the Gerald Dorman's were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chapin of Clifton Heights, Ca.

Mrs. Harley Perryman called on Mrs. Eugene Taylor in Juliaetta. Mrs. Ray Cuddy left Monday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Armitage in Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Lyons returned last Wednesday from a very pleasant trip through Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Mackey of Lewiston and sons, Warren, Brian, Pat and Cliff Jr. were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Mackey.

Since the Friendly Neighbor club taken responsibility for Cedar Ridge news we've tried to encourage every one to call the reporter of the month with their news items. We would like to see if we can get your cooperation. Reporter at this time is Phyllis Dorman, 289-5332.
