Genesee Council Met Monday

The Genesee City Council held their regular meeting on July 6, 1982 at the City Hall with Mayor Wilson and all Councilmen present. Visitors were Mrs. Earl Bennett and Don Grieser.

It was suggested that the Cemetery District be notified that the Council would like for them to have the unsurveyed portion of the City Cemetery surveyed for future expansion.

Beer, Wine and Liquor licenses were transferred from Russell and Helen Cromer to Greg Haynes for the Pastime. Applications from Kenny Perry and Michael Edwards were approved for acceptance into the Genesee Fire Department.

Several streets in the City have been resurfaced. Special thanks were issued to Moden, Luedke, and

Genesee School Board Met July 12

The trustees of Genesee School District No. 282 held their monthly board meeting July 12, 1982 at 7:30 p. m. in the superintendent's office.

Prior to the meeting board members toured the building to examine summer maintenance projects. The gym floor has been sanded and the final coats of finish will be applied this week. The roof repair is behind schedule due to the weather. The third and second floor hallways have been lowered, as well as the remainder of the elementary classrooms. Materials for the heat system have not yet arrived.

Minutes of the previous meeting and payment of bills was approved.

The board reorganized for the 1982-83 school year. Jack Spangler was elected Chairman of the Board; Martin Stout, Vice Chairman, and Glen Baumgartner, treasurer, Margaret Baumgartner was retained as Clerk of the Board.

Items the Board acted on included approving budget revision, hiring a new third grade teacher, Leslie Hayes; hiring a new secondary teacher Mario Salinas, authorizing the Superintendent to act on behalf of the board as their representative, authorizing purchase of a microcomputer; approving a contract with the University of Idaho for student teachers; and accepting a resignation from Karen O'Neal as head cook.

The superintendent reported on dates for the Trustee Convention to be held in Boise on November 10, 11 and 12th, building maintenance, hot lunch program, school district audit, extracurricular activities, and block fund grants.

The meeting adjourned at 11:00 p. m.

Local News Of Genesee

Mrs. Betty Teigen is recuperating satisfactorily from a sprained ankle she received in a fall at her home last Thursday. A crew from the Genesee Volunteer Fire Dept. was summoned and took her to St. Joseph's Hospital where she was treated and later released.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Dahmen and daughters of Pasco, Wa. were week end houseguests of her sister, Mrs. Mary Kasper. Ervin attended his class reunion in Colton Saturday evening. Other relatives of Mrs. Kasper and her company Sunday were Andy Sue Reid and her three children in company with Tom Cox left Monday morning for her Boise home after a ten-day visit here with her parents the Andy Coxes and other relatives. At this time the Cox household is very quiet.

On Sunday, Andy, Minnie and Tom Cox and their houseguests accompanied by David Neal enjoyed dinner in Lewiston and then spent the rest of the day cruising on the river and lake—a very enjoyable time, especially for the children.

Chris Dupea and Galen Kuykendahl of Orofino were luncheon guests of the Walt Benscoters on Wednesday. On Thursday Wilma and Tom Greene enjoyed lunch with Walt and Babe and helped with a few extra chores. Jerry Warner was a Saturday caller and remained to lunch.

Ann Turner spent Sunday afternoon visiting with Vicki Benscoter. Lawrence and Nell Heimgartner were in Deary Sunday to visit Eva Rosenau and her houseguests, Dale and Sandy Lawrence and their daughter Tawnya of Los Angeles, also to get acquainted with Eva's new baby grandson and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brett Bogar.

In the afternoon they picked huckleberries in the Three Bear country. Callers at the George Havens home this past week included Dr. Eric Stauber, Charles Havens and Jo Benscoter.

Kyle Anderson of Portland arrived at the Frank Benscoter home unexpectedly Monday morning and we hope he will be able to finish his visit in their neighborhood.

Warney and Betty May checked on their cows and picked huckleberries at the Meadows Sunday. They also moved their crew home to get back at their haying project. In the meantime they have been hauling wood for winter fires.

Jo Benscoter and Kathryn Morey had a pleasant trip to Moscow Saturday. It was nice hearing about Kathryn's recent bus trip across the U. S. We often wonder why people think it's so great to go abroad when we have so much of interest and beauty to see here in our own country where we can feel safe.

Barbara Benscoter chauffeured Jo to Lewiston Saturday where they met Don to attend the Woody Freshman potluck dinner at Beach View Park. There was a large crowd and much food to add to the pleasure of seeing friends you may have not seen for many years. That evening Don and Barbara brought Jo to Kendrick where she attended a Pomona Grange meeting and they returned to their Sweetwater home.

Lawrence and Nell Heimgartner also attended the Pomona meeting where the 4-H members had charge of the program. The county 4-H leader explained and showed slides of the various projects offered for study and competition. It's a worthwhile and informative activity for any young person of school age.

20 Mountain Goats Moved to Idaho
 Twenty mountain goats have been moved from Olympic National Park in Washington—and more are on the way—to bolster some Idaho populations that have been on the decline.
 Eleven of these trophy big game animals were relocated in the Pahalmerol River drainage in the central part of the state and nine were transported to the Selkirk Mountains just south of the Canadian border, according to Jerry Theissen, Department of Fish and Game.

 "If we get a break in the weather, we plan to put some more goats on the Pahsimero before the month is out," the state big game manager said.

 Theissen looks to Olympic operated by the National Park Service, as a source for 30-50 goats a year in a program for the mutual advantage of Idaho and the service.
 "Olympic is overloaded with mountain goats and some of our historic ranges have shown dwindling numbers. Our department research can be applied to both areas—to aid in stabilizing Olympic herds at reduced levels and give us management guidelines to help restore our populations," Theissen explained.

 This year, the Fish and Game Commission approved closure of 18 goat controlled hunts and dropped 71 permits from last year's total of 123.

"Reduced hunting pressure and more transplants, coupled with a continuing look at animal distribution, natural reproduction and survival will be among our top priorities in our efforts to enhance mountain goat numbers," Theissen said.

Mountain goats also are included in the five-year management plans for trophy species. Drafts of the plans are scheduled for preliminary consideration by the commission next August.

Senior research biologist Lonni Knuck headed the department team that relocated the Olympic goats.

The animals were trapped with drop nets and checked by a veterinarian who gave them vitamins and other medication to fortify them for their trip to Idaho. Each goat went in a separate shipping crate and was snow packed around the boxes to prevent a too sudden change in temperature.

"Every goat made the ride in good condition," Theissen said. "We are grateful to Olympic National Park and the Washington Department of Game for their assistance in making more mountain goats available in Idaho."

Regular Exercise Key to Higher Quality Life

Moscow—What is inexpensive, enjoyable and important to getting more out of life? One man says it is regular exercise.

Dr. Max Morton, director of the Coors Wellness Center, told participants Wednesday in the 29th annual University of Idaho Public Utilities Executives Conference that "we can't prove that exercise will lengthen your life, but we do know that it will help you have a higher quality of life."

Morton said daily exercise programs aren't needed for conditioning but regular programs are. "To improve cardiovascular fitness requires exercise periods 3 time weekly. To lose weight, four weekly exercise periods are needed.

"By the end of six weeks the individual should have worked up to a 30-40 minute exercise period" to achieve deserved results, he said.

Morton recommended that an individual find what his age adjusted maximum heart rate is and work toward exercising to 70 to 85 percent of that figure. We said people beginning a program should stop every 5 minutes and check the heart rate until they know what their exercise regimen is accomplishing.

"Listen to your body. Don't overload it," said Morton. To check the pulse, he said, an individual may slide the fingers down the outside of the thumb to the area on the wrist just below the base of the thumb or locate the Adam's apple and move gently to one side of it. Once a pulse location is found the heart rate should be counted for six seconds immediately after stopping the exercise. A zero added to that number will give the actual heart rate.

He warned that the maximum heart rate should not be exceeded and that a good exercise program is only mindful stressful to the circulatory system.

Some of the jobs available in the Moscow area are for: Scientific helper—need B. S. in Micro Biology—Sorority House manager, must have previous managerial experience, commercial cleaner—must have one year experience; experienced cabinet maker, waitress—must have three years experience.

What exercises did Morton recommend? In terms of what exercise he recommends, he said, first of all it must be something you will do." He said racquetball is a good form of exercise followed closely by tennis.

"Golf is just a good way to ruin a walk," he added noting that some individuals are so frustrated with a low golf score that the stress from a golf game may be more harmful than the exercise is beneficial.

The three-week Public Utilities Executives Conference gives executives training in problem solving in labor relations, accounting and finance, governmental and regulatory matters, and in many other areas. The physical fitness information is offered in the program to encourage the participating executives to be aware of ways to improve their orer all health and well-being. This is beneficial both to the individual and the employer.

Employment Picture in County

There were 42 claims for unemployment insurance filed this week compared to 25 new claims filed last week, according to Phyllis Dunn, manager of the Moscow Job Service. There were 597 continued claims compared to 625 the previous week.

Some of the jobs available in the Moscow area are for:

Scientific helper—need B. S. in Micro Biology—Sorority House manager, must have previous managerial experience, commercial cleaner—must have one year experience; experienced cabinet maker, waitress—must have three years experience.

Letters to the editor...

July 10, 1982

Dear Editor:

For the record, the National Youth Sports Program's bus rental proposal was on the following terms:

- 1) $125 for use of the bus itself.
- 2) cost of all insurance and liabilities
- 3) cost of all maintenance and operations while bus is in use
- 4) cost of gas

The driver was not included in the bus rental proposal; a licensed driver was to be provided by the NYSP itself.

Perhaps the information presented to the Kendrick School Board by the superintendent was misleading. For the NYSP offered funds for more than the gas only!

School districts in Anatone, Asotin, Clarkston, Culesac, Lapwai, Lewiston, Orofino all approved the NYSP bus rental proposal. Some school districts even donated their buses since all those other expenditures were paid.

Although the procedure for Kendrick school bus usage is $1.00 per mile, a reasonably fair offer was made by the NYSP for the Board to make an exception to the transportation policy. If consistency is the issue, it appears exceptions to rules have also been a consistent policy for our school district. So why not an exception for this?

Dear Editor:

I can understand some of the board's concerns about Brian. He, like all of us, have made mistakes. But I feel that if the personal problems that arose had been handled between teacher, parent, and student that the board would not and should not have become involved. Several complaints from parents were never even taken to Brian by our school administrators and that is not the way these problems should have been handled.

Mr. Eugene Taylor, former board member, stated before the people in attendance at the meeting and also before the board, "In the fifteen years that I was on the board we looked for three qualities in a teacher: 1) discipline, 2) honesty, and 3) educational qualifications. Mr. Taylor then asked the board if Brian possessed these qualities and their answer was affirmative. He rested his case with their answer.

We have some real concerns at our school right now. That is why we are fighting hard against what we feel has been an injustice not only to Brian but to our communities. Several of us spent hours contacting Genesee, Troy, Deary, Lapwai, Craigmont, Nezperce, and Kamiah school districts. All of these schools have at least 50% or more of their teachers in Jr. and Sr. High who have been there from 10-30 years. Kendrick has two! You will have people telling you it is because we are so close to the university—or that they only use Kendrick as a stepping stone. To that I say, "HOGWASH." Those are not the reasons our teachers are leaving. You have only to spend the time visiting with several who have left and many of those still here to know this is not the case.

Last year our school was evaluated by a team of 19 members and these concerns were brought to our attention: 1) the need for a solid guidance and counseling program; 2) the rapid rate of teacher turnover; 3) uniformity in discipline; 4) more student and community involvement.

In visiting with board members and teachers from other school districts, I found they all felt like continuity of teachers was No. 1 in providing uniform discipline and solid academic and athletic standards in their schools. They stated that boards were for policy making and that they should be discouraged from entering into personal conflicts between student, parent, and teacher. They all encourage community and student involvement in their schools. I do not feel that our board and administrators encouraged our involvement in this matter even though the community and student support of Brian was overwhelming. Some people feel they should always support their board; however, the board, in turn, needs to represent all the people. And when there are over 200 people requesting an explanation or reversal to a questionable decision, the board is morally and ethically obligated to these citizens to respond to their concerns.

I feel strongly that it is wrong for the Board to put a young man's reputation and career on the line in an effort to protect the names of other adults who the school board feels should not become involved. What moral and ethical right do they have to make this discrimination? The board has finally stated and the people should know: this was not a moral issue.

To conclude, I would like to say,
