GOD'S PLAN FOR THE FAMILY
A fun seminar for the whole family.

CLIFF TAYLOR

It's an exciting, fun-filled family seminar experience for the whole family, not just adults. It's for all ages.

IT'S FUN. Family Evangelist Cliff Taylor, his wife Linda and their wooden-headed pal Rusty Christian makes it easy for families to LAUGH TOGETHER, as they tell Bible stories to illustrate how families can get along better with each other. Rev. Taylor also uses some "special effects" to illustrate the message.

The seminar is a free service to the community. An offering will be taken each service to defray the costs of the meetings.

CHOLESTEROL VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

Will lowering cholesterol reduce the risk of heart attack? A research team at the University of Southern California School of Medicine supported by the National Institutes of Health is conducting a cholesterol study to answer the question.

USC is one of four medical centers involved in the study. Other centers are located at the University of Minnesota, the University of Arkansas and Lankenau Medical Research Center in Philadelphia.

You may be eligible to participate in this program if you are between 29 and 64 years of age have had a first and only heart attack within

Southwick, Golden Rule News

By Mrs. Gayle Marek

If any of you readers have been wondering why I haven't gotten anything into the paper lately, it is because we have been attending to our business... horse sale in Oregon. It has demanded a lot of my time in getting ready, going to it and picking up the pieces on my return.

Alma Lawrence and Delores Cz-mowski attended the District Homemakers meeting at Orofino last Saturday.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cz-mowski and son of Kennewick were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Cz-mowski and family.

Opal Lohman was hostess for the Southwick Ext. Homemakers meeting Friday. Those attending included Julie Cooper, Dorine Stamper, Delores Cz-mowski, Alma Lawrence, Fran Holden and Benny Marek.

This Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Cz-mowski observed their 29th wedding anniversary by going out and having some fun! Congratulations to you both!!

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Colwell visited their granddaughter, Jennifer, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Cz-mowski.

Cowger—(last week)

Last Sunday dinner guests at the Helen Cowger home were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Trautman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Candler and son; granddaughter of Helen, Janet Wright of Boise, Janet was an overnight guest and stayed through Monday.

This week Helen Cowger traveled to Everett, Wash., with Ethel Goffinet on Tuesday. They visited Ethel's sister Mabel and daughter and family, and Ethel Rowe. The ladies returned home on Saturday. They saw snow along the side of the highway on the pass.

Helen reported that a fishing boat caught on fire at a dock in that area. It burned and sank. It had been scheduled to go to California to fish for herring.

Artis Gertje and Mary Putz of Lewiston visited Helen this past Sunday.

Marek—(last week)

Last week the Mareks spent from Friday to Monday going and coming to the Hermiston horse sales. John Lettenmaier and sister Ruth also attended the sales.

Sandi Gipe, Kallispell, Mt., spent two weeks with her sister Gayle Marek and family and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Adamson. Sandi assisted with the 14 head of horses both at home and at Hermiston. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Adamson and Fran Holden took care of the Marek children during the sale days on Friday and Monday.

Friday of this week Sandy Gipe and Mrs. Gayle Marek returned to Hermiston and Rufus, Ore. on a business trip. It poured rain in the Hermiston area for several hours during the day.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McKenzie and Mrs. Edie Longfellow and family all assisted Tom Marek on finishing the arena. The work sessions will continue next Sunday if the weather permits. The Kendrick youth are organizing a high school rodeo club. The Mareks/Adamsons are providing the ground for uses such as this — free of charge, at the Marek residence. Anyone wanting to assist is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom King were Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mustoe.

Wednesday, Betty's mother and Aunt Cecile Colwell, Alavadore, Ore., were visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whiting visited Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sillflow at Juliaetta.

Tuesday and Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whiting traveled to Spokane to visit their daughters Janis and Gina. Gina is enrolled in school there.

Richardson Criticizes Batt and Craig

Republican candidate for State Representative, Pat Richardson, attacks CLAUD JUDD in a recent ad for his voting record for years 1975 - 1977. Did he do his homework? Out of approximately 2,000 bills voted on during this period, he attacks JUDD on only 7. If he criticizes JUDD he must also be criticizing Phil Batt & Larry Craig, who voted the same as JUDD on these issues. He attacks his own Republican leadership.

ISN'T THIS INEXPERIENCE IN ACTION, AND A LACK OF COMPREHENSION AS TO WHAT THE ISSUES ARE OR MIGHT BE? JUDD'S record proves he can work with all people. To have representation means electing a person with an open mind; One who does his homework, who will listen and knows the issues.

HALLOWEEN MOVIE FOR ALL!

The Halloween Movie will be shown Saturday, Oct. 30 from 2:00 and at 7:30 p. m. The cost will be $2.00 for high school and $1.50 for elementary. The name of the movie is "The Brotherhood of Satan." This is a little low budget film about evil forces that are at work in a small California town. The film stars Strother Martin and Charles Bate-man. There is a rash of murders in a small town and then the disappearance of the victim's children. Excellent direction builds credibility and suspense in that far-out super-thriller in which even children's toys becomes instruments of evil.

Genesee's 1982 Homecoming has come and gone. It was a big success and the spirit that was generated was awesome, some say it was the best spirit they'd seen in years.

School is now starting to get back to normal to the relief of parents and teachers.

This week's feature is about Genesee's school computer that was purchased this year. We are very fortunate to have an expert like Mr. Craig Steenberg, Genesee's math teacher, to teach those interested in computers more about how they work and operate. To learn more about the computer here is Kim Woods write-up.

This year Genesee high school purchased two new computers. The first, an Apple 3, and the second an Apple 2, a printer was also purchased and it works with both.

The common misconception about computers is that you have to be a genius to operate one. Mr. Steenberg, the computer science teacher, is teaching juniors and seniors how simple it is to use one.

There are two kinds of people who use computers, the user and the programmer. The user needs not know anything about the computer except to answer any questions the machine may ask. It may be helpful if a user knows a language called BASIC, it is not essential though.

The second type of person, the programmer must know the language BASIC and how to apply it in the construction of programs that will be useful.

A program may be set up to do almost anything a mind can conceive. There are programs to complete income tax, grades, and keep track of hours worked, etc. Intricate programs are used in video games and other areas that are such related.

Computers are replacing many other types of office equipment. They can be used as typewriters, log books, files, and calculators. They can and are very useful because of the small space they take up and how easy they are to use.

Besides being useful in the office, the computer has proven itself more than effective in the classroom. Students who have a hard time learning in the classroom atmosphere learn quickly on a one to one basis with the computers. This is not true in all cases of course but it has proven true for many.

Special children also seem to learn easier and more. So all in all the computers are not for the future, they are for now.

FOREST PRODUCTS INDUSTRY GROWING AND SHRINKING

Moscow—The number of sawmills in Idaho has declined more than half in the past 25 years, but the remaining mills are capable of producing near-record amounts of income in the forest products industry.

Chuck Keegan told the North Idaho Forestry Association meeting Saturday on the University of Idaho campus that there were 311 active sawmills in 1956. An analysis of the industry's activity in 1979 showed only 133 active sawmills but they helped the state record its second highest year in income from forest products.

Keegan, an economist with the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at the University of Montana, added that six more mills, each with a capacity of more than 20 million board feet may have closed permanently as a result of the industry slump in the past three years.

"On the positive side, there are a number of chipping plants that have opened up," he said.

Keegan and Maxine Johnson reported on a study they are completing of Idaho forest products industry activity in 1979. They used a forest industries data collection system similar to one they have previously used in studies in Montana and Wyoming.

Johnson said that the timber industry provided 25 percent of the non-farm income from 1974 to 1979.

There are 240 wood products plants in Idaho handling 1.7 million board feet of timber in 1979, the second largest total in the state's history.

"The industry affected virtually every county of the 44 counties in the state. Thirty-five counties had primary manufacturing," said Keegan.

Seventy-five percent of the timber came from northern Idaho. Clearwater County provided 39 percent of northern Idaho's total while Shoshone, Idaho and Bonner counties each supplied more than 10 percent.

Keegan said that about 77 percent of the timber went to sawmills, 13 percent to plywood and veneer operations while 10 percent went to other wood products. The products had a sales value of nearly $850 million in 1979.

Twenty-two percent of the trees harvested were true firs while 20 percent were Douglas-fir.

The NIFA meeting coincided with Forestry Day on the UI campus. Other speakers at the meeting included Garry Barnes of First Interstate Band of Idaho; Mark Dunn, a political consultant from Boise; Tom Coston, regional superintendent of the U. S. Forest Service, and Michael Frome, an internationally-known author and U$ visiting associate professor.

The meeting concluded with presentations by administrators and faculty in the UI College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences on activities in the college.

Later, NIFA members attended a reception hosted by UI President Richard Gibb and the UI 56-0 win over Portland State University.

Draft of State Fisheries Plan Ready for Public Review

By Hugh Wilson
Department of Fish and Game

The objective comes straight to the point "provide the continued supplies of fish and fishing opportunity as mandated by law" but the "how to" takes up 283 pages in the Department of Fish and Game's draft of its state plan for managing Idaho's fishery resource through 1985.

Management guidelines are proposed for the 37 species of game fish and 33 nongame species. Problems are identified and programs are recommended for each major drainage and body of water.

Within those areas are 16,000 miles of rivers and streams, 239,000 acres of reservoirs and 225,000 acres of lakes.

The draft plan, first of its kind in the history of the department, has been cleared by the Fish and Game Commission for public review and comment. Public meetings throughout the state are to start in late September and continue during October. The deadline for public comments will be November 10.

KEEP STATE TREASURER MARJORIE RUTH MOON Making Money for YOU

State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon has earned more money in investment interest for Idaho's taxpayers than all other State Treasurers in history combined—over 90 MILLION DOLLARS. And that's $90 million going to help pay the cost of government that didn't have to come from you in taxes!

Regional officers will be announcing schedules of local meetings and have copies of the plan available for inspection.

"The key to maintaining continued supplies of fish and fishing opportunity is maintaining the quality of fish habitat in Idaho," the plan states.

Water is becoming a precious commodity if continues, and other uses of water are often detrimental to fishery resources. "Any activity which affects the quality or quantity of water available to fish affects their populations."

The report notes, that while the department is charged with the management of fish, the fish habitat is managed by other state and federal agencies and private individuals who often have goals other than those of maintaining fish.

"Fishery management then becomes a difficult matter of maintaining a fishery in an altered habitat."

The draft plan is designed to strike a balance in management keyed to angler performance and participation and long-term policies established by the commission.

A department survey of anglers published in 1980 showed that stream fishing was preferred by 58 percent of those surveyed and 47 percent of fishing pressure was directed at streams.

Warm water game fish and sturgeon were given first preference by 6.7 percent of the anglers surveyed and the draft plan points out that the importance of warmwater fishing is increasing in Idaho at a rapid rate.

A proposal for expansion of efforts to stock suitable habitat with warmwater species is included in the plan, along with a recommendation to conduct studies to identify more habitat for added fishing opportunity.

Other angler preferences also get their share at consideration in the plan with management proposals that include those for wild trout, hatchery programs, anadromous fish and alpine lakes.

HALLOWEEN MOVIE FOR ALL!

The Halloween Movie will be shown Saturday, Oct. 30 from 2:00 and at 7:30 p. m. The cost will be $2.00 for high school and $1.50 for elementary. The name of the movie is "The Brotherhood of Satan." This is a little low budget film about evil forces that are at work in a small California town. The film stars Strother Martin and Charles Eatem. There is a rash of murders in a small town and then the disappearance of the victim's children. Excellent direction builds credibility and suspense in that far-out super-thriller in which even children's toys becomes instruments of evil.

Genesee's 1982 Homecoming has come and gone. It was a big success and the spirit that was generated was awesome, some say it was the best spirit they'd seen in years.

School is now starting to get back to normal to the relief of parents and teachers.

This week's feature is about Genesee's school computer that was purchased this year. We are very fortunate to have an expert like Mr. Craig Steenberg, Genesee's math teacher, to teach those interested in computers more about how they work and operate. To learn more about the computer here is Kim Woods write-up.

This year Genesee high school purchased two new computers. The first, an Apple 3, and the second an Apple 2, a printer was also purchased and it works with both.

The common misconception about computers is that you have to be a genius to operate one. Mr. Steenberg, the computer science teacher, is teaching juniors and seniors how simple it is to use one.

There are two kinds of people who use computers, the user and the programmer. The user needs not know anything about the computer except to answer any questions the machine may ask. It may be helpful if a user knows a language called BASIC, it is not essential though.

The second type of person, the programmer must know the language BASIC and how to apply it in the construction of programs that will be useful.

A program may be set up to do almost anything a mind can conceive. There are programs to complete income tax, grades, and keep track of hours worked, etc. Intricate programs are used in video games and other areas that are such related.

Computers are replacing many other types of office equipment. They can be used as typewriters, log books, files, and calculators. They can and are very useful because of the small space they take up and how easy they are to use.

Besides being useful in the office, the computer has proven itself more than effective in the classroom. Students who have a hard time learning in the classroom atmosphere learn quickly on a one to one basis with the computers. This is not true in all cases of course but it has proven true for many.

Special children also seem to learn easier and more. So all in all the computers are not for the future, they are for now.

FOREST PRODUCTS INDUSTRY GROWING AND SHRINKING

Moscow—The number of sawmills in Idaho has declined more than half in the past 25 years, but the remaining mills are capable of producing near-record amounts of income in the forest products industry.

Chuck Keegan told the North Idaho Forestry Association meeting Saturday on the University of Idaho campus that there were 311 active sawmills in 1956. An analysis of the industry's activity in 1979 showed only 133 active sawmills but they helped the state record its second highest year in income from forest products.

Keegan, an economist with the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at the University of Montana, added that six more mills, each with a capacity of more than 20 million board feet may have closed permanently as a result of the industry slump in the past three years. "On the positive side, there are a number of chipping plants that have opened up," he said.

Keegan and Maxine Johnson reported on a study they are completing of Idaho forest products industry activity in 1979. They used a forest industries data collection system similar to one they have previously used in studies in Montana and Wyoming.

Johnson said that the timber industry provided 25 percent of the non-farm income from 1974 to 1979. There are 240 wood products plants in Idaho handling 1.7 million board feet of timber in 1979, the second largest total in the state's history.

"The industry affected virtually every county of the 44 counties in the state. Thirty-five counties had primary manufacturing," said Keegan.

Seventy-five percent of the timber came from northern Idaho. Clearwater County provided 39 percent of northern Idaho's total while Shoshone, Idaho and Bonner counties each supplied more than 10 percent.

Keegan said that about 77 percent of the timber went to sawmills, 13 percent to plywood and veneer operations while 10 percent went to other wood products. The products had a sales value of nearly $850 million in 1979.

Twenty-two percent of the trees harvested were true firs while 20 percent were Douglas-fir.

The NIFA meeting coincided with Forestry Day on the UI campus. Other speakers at the meeting included Garry Barnes of First Interstate Bank of Idaho; Mark Dunn, a political consultant from Boise; Tom Coston, regional superintendent of the U. S. Forest Service, and Michael Frome, an internationally-known author and US visiting associate professor.

The meeting concluded with presentations by administrators and faculty in the UI College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences on activities in the college.

Later, NIFA members attended a reception hosted by UI President Richard Gibb and the UI 56-0 win over Portland State University.

Draft of State Fisheries Plan Ready for Public Review
By Hugh Wilson
Department of Fish and Game

The objective comes straight to the point "provide the continued supplies of fish and fishing opportunity as mandated by law" but the "how to" takes up 283 pages in the Department of Fish and Game's draft of its state plan for managing Idaho's fishery resource through 1985.

Management guidelines are proposed for the 37 species of game fish and 33 nongame species. Problems are identified and programs are recommended for each major drainage and body of water.

Within those areas are 16,000 miles of rivers and streams, 239,000 acres of reservoirs and 225,000 acres of lakes.

The draft plan, first of its kind in the history of the department, has been cleared by the Fish and Game Commission for public review and comment. Public meetings throughout the state are to start in late September and continue during October. The deadline for public comments will be November 10.

Regional officers will be announcing schedules of local meetings and have copies of the plan available for inspection.

"The key to maintaining continued supplies of fish and fishing opportunity is maintaining the quality of fish habitat in Idaho," the plan states.

Water is becoming a precious commodity if continues, and other uses of water are often detrimental to fishery resources. "Any activity which affects the quality or quantity of water available to fish affects their populations."

The report notes that while the department is charged with the management of fish, the fish habitat is managed by other state and federal agencies and private individuals who often have goals other than those of maintaining fish.

"Fishery management then becomes a difficult matter of maintaining a fishery in an altered habitat." The draft plan is designed to strike a balance in management keyed to angler performance and participation and long-term policies established by the commission.

A department survey of anglers published in 1980 showed that stream fishing was preferred by 58 percent of those surveyed and 47 percent of fishing pressure was directed at streams.

Warm water game fish and sturgeon were given first preference by 6.7 percent of the anglers surveyed and the draft plan points out that the importance of warmwater fishing is increasing in Idaho at a rapid rate.

A proposal for expansion of efforts to stock suitable habitat with warmwater species is included in the plan, along with a recommendation to conduct studies to identify more habitat for added fishing opportunity.

Other angler preferences also get their share at consideration in the plan with management proposals that include those for wild trout, hatchery programs, anadromous fish and alpine lakes.

From the Pulpit—Love Story—

by Pastor Schlewitz

"And I will have mercy upon her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to them which are not my people, Thou art my people; and they shall say, Thou art my God (Hos 2:23)"

No novelist could write a more moving love story than that of Hosea and Gomer. Theirs is a true story. It happened about 800 years before Christ in the nation of Israel.

Hosea was a tragic figure in many ways. He lived at a dangerous time in Israel's history. Added to this misery was Hosea's home life. It was a miserable failure. Little wonder that Bible scholars refer to him as the "prophet with a sorrowful heart."

Hosea's wife, Gomer became a woman of the streets. Before many years had passed, Gomer became a slave. Her body was diseased. She became a virtual hag. A trinket, a plaything, something not many wanted.

But Hosea never stopped loving her. She was still the dearest person to him. And what a beautiful picture of God's love! My friend here is something to realize—God has never stopped loving you!

Hosea also never stopped searching for her! He inquired about her continually and finally found her and brought her home! And God is searching for you!

And Hosea never stopped giving to her. He gave all he had to buy her back. God has never stopped giving to you! You couldn't be redeemed with just a few dollars. The price tag was tremendous, "God so loved . . . (you) that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life (John 3:16) "What a love story! God never stopped loving! God never stopped searching! God never stopped giving! Won't you respond to God today? "Yet to all who received Him (Jesus), to those who believed in His name, He gave the right to become children of God—children born not of natural descent, nor of human decision or a husband's will, but born of God (John 1:12-13)" Jesus declared "I will tell you the truth, unless a man is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God (John 3:3) "God bless you as you become His child!"
