

IS YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY OR SSI CHECK MISSING?

Most people eligible for Social Security or supplemental security income (SSI) checks get them in the right amount at the right address and on time each month. A small percentage of checks, however, arrive late—or not at all. If your benefit check does not arrive on schedule, or may be due to one of these reasons:

—Change of Address: Change your mailing address recently? This may be the reason, particularly if you did not promptly notify both Social Security and the post office.
—No Check Due: Perhaps you were not eligible for a payment because you earned too much from a job or failed to submit a requested report or no longer meet all requirements for benefits.

—Mail Delay—Your check may be late because of misrouted mail, heavy mail volume during a holiday, or some other reason.
—Theft—About one-fourth of all missing Federal checks are not received due to confirmed theft and forgery.

In case of a missing check, first wait 3 days after the expected delivery date to make sure it hasn't been delayed in the mail. Then contact the nearest Social Security office.
Someone at the Social Security office will check to make sure you had a payment coming and that a check was issued. If so, you will be asked to complete and sign a notice of missing payment. Information you provide is then sent to the U. S. Treasury Department regional distributing center that issued the check.

How long it takes to get a replacement check depends on what happened to the original one. If it was mailed to the wrong address, it will simply be sent to the correct one. If your check is still missing and has not been cashed, you generally can expect a replacement within a few weeks.

If your check was stolen and cashed, a forgery investigation is necessary. In this case, it could take several months before you receive a substitute check.

Here's what you can do to make sure you receive all benefits due on time:

1. Let both Social Security and the post office know your new address as soon as you have it.
2. Promptly report any events that may affect your payments and return any questionnaire or other form sent to you by social security.
3. Consider signing up for direct deposit which can save you time, money, and worry. Ask at your bank or other financial institution for form SF-1199.

To report a missing check, contact the Pullman Social Security office at SE 1205 Johnson Avenue or call toll-free 1-800-632-5121 in Idaho or 1-800-562-6350, in Washington.

IDAHO HUNGER ACTION COUNCIL BEGINNING PROJECT

The Idaho Hunter Action Council is beginning its community garden project, according to Mary Hunter, Council representative in this area. Hunter will spend the next month and a half taking donations of garden seeds, plants and equipment, which will then be distributed to low income people in the valley. The people will in turn plant their vegetable gardens and their family will benefit from produce which might not have been available to them without the program.

Hunter organized a similar program in the Valley last year and received more than $1,500 in donations of cash, seeds, food producing plants and garden tools. She hopes to exceed that amount this year. According to Hunter, more people are in need now than in the past year. More than 35 families benefited from last year's program.

Hunter also said that the cleaning projects and the Lewiston Farmers Market will continue this year. Any questions, comments or contributions can be made by calling Hunter at 743-1556 or writing her at P. O. Box 973, Lewiston.

COUNTY RESIDENTS HAVE CHANCE TO BE MASTER FOOD PRESERVERS

Moscow—Would you like to develop expertise in food preservation and share your knowledge with others?

The University of Idaho Cooperative Extension service is launching a Master Food Preserver program in selected counties this year to provide interested persons with in-depth instruction in food preservation techniques.

The course involves 10 hours of training over seven weeks for a fee of $20. It covers pressure canning, water bath canning, freezing, jam and jelly preparation, pickling, drying and food storage. Taught by local Cooperative Extension Service home economists, it includes lectures, demonstration and fire-hand experience.

Each participant will receive a notebook of food preservation information and must pass quizzes and final exam before being certified as a Master Food Preserver.

Graduates are asked to volunteer 30 hours this summer promoting safe food preservation practices in their community. This commitment would be fulfilled by answering telephone questions, helping beginning canners and providing information at farm markets, fairs and food preservation workshops.

This course begins April 28 and runs through June 16. Enrollment is limited, and participants must register by April 15.

To re-register contact Judy Nest at Latah County Extension Office, 882-8580, extension 231.

Game Bird Questionnaires Mailed To License Buyers

The annual questionnaires from Department of Fish and Game are being mailed to upland game and waterfowl hunters, asking them to report on their trips afield during 1982 seasons.

Hunters, resident and nonresident are asked to show how many of each species were harvested, how many times they went afield and the counties in which they hunted. The answers, when they are compiled and analyzed provide information that helps establish recommendations to the Fish and Game Commission for upcoming seasons.

The stamped and addressed questionnaires go to a 5 percent sample of license buyers, representing about 14,000 hunters. Results should be available in late April, according to the department's bureau of wildlife.

club's activities as reporter.

Many of our members attended County Activities Day on March 5. Wendy Ringe won a blue ribbon for her demonstration on Making Jerky. Ryan Ringe's demonstration will go to the District Contests. Many members participated in the Home Economics and Miscellaneous Judging and the Natural Resources Identification Contests.

Our second meeting was held on March 21, 1983 and the members signed up for this year's projects. We decided to do a Community Service projects this year. Our next meeting date isn't set yet but as always, it will be in the basement of the Genesee Union.

STARTING TRACTOR CAN BE DEADLY FOR THE OPERATOR

Clifton Anderson
Associate Agricultural Editor

Moscow—Farmers who start tractors improperly run the risk of either being run over or receiving serious injuries in battery explosions, according to Tom Karsky, extension farm safety specialist for the University of Idaho College of Agriculture. He said at least one death per year in Idaho is attributable to accidents resulting from jump-starting of tractors.

"When battery jumper cables are used, battery explosions may occur. There is also the danger of the 'jumped' tractor accidentally starting in gear and running over someone," he said.

Karsky said early tractors that were hand-cranked often became runaways when they were accidentally started in gear. Accidents were also common when the electric starter was first introduced, he said.

"Through the years, the manufacturers have added important safety systems such as the neutral start system. The tractor can be a deadly weapon if it starts moving and no one is in the seat to control it," the University of Idaho specialist said.

Karsky advised tractor owners to contact dealers and ask about safety sign decals which outline safe starting procedures. "Several manufacturers are now providing decals that tell how to start specific models of tractors. A safety decal placed on your tractor could prevent a tragic loss of life," he said.

The UI safety specialist said starting of tractors is made less risky when operators know and follow these basic rules:

—Start the engine only from the operator's seat with the clutch depressed, the transmission in neutral and the power takeoff disengaged.
 —Never try to start the tractor while standing on the ground.
 —Since batteries can produce flammable and explosive gases, be aware of the danger of explosion. Keep sparks and flames away.

—While using a booster battery, provide adequate ventilation and wear eye and skin protection.

—Attach jumper cables in proper sequence. First, connect the end of one cable to the tractor battery's positive (plus) terminal and the other end of the second cable to the booster battery's negative (negative) terminal and the other end either to the tractor starter's negative (negative) terminal or to a ground position on the tractor, as recommended by the manufacturer.

—Reverse the sequence for removing cables.

"Proper maintenance of the tractor battery and electrical system will help assure easy starting. When the neutral start switch or any other component of the electrical starting system needs attention, repair it promptly. If you do this, you may never have to attempt jump-starting. If a jump start is necessary, always have an operator in the seat to control the tractor when it starts," Karsky emphasized.
