In other staff changes, Mrs. Marge Alexander, who has been operating the bakery department at the grocery store, will return to the cafe as cook. Mrs. Alexander's position in the grocery store will be taken by Mrs. Ada Westendahl. Mrs. Resi Brown will also return to the cafe as an employee.

Mrs. Zelinsky said Tuesday she plans to continue offering noon specials and homemade soup and pies. She said the cafe will have a house soup, borscht, which will also be available.

The name of the cafe will also change to the "Town and Country Diner," Helen said.

The business has been "Burt's Cafe" (or confectionery) since July 5, 1945, when Burt and Vera Souders purchased the store from Elmer McCoy. The Souders operated the business until 1969 when they sold it to Wadford and McClean who operated the cafe for a short time before selling it to Ted Fey. Ted and Phyllis sold the cafe to Mike Hogan, who later sold it to the Mc-7wens.

Missionary To Speak at Kendrick Assembly of God Sunday, June 5

"The printed word is a powerful tool of communication and an essential part of missionary strategy in the world today" says Miss Marca Munger, Assemblies of God missionary working with the International Correspondence Institute (ICI) program in Brussels, Belgium.

Miss Munger will be guest speaker Sunday, June 5, 1983, 11:00 a. m. at Kendrick Assembly of God, Main Street the Rev. David Schlewitz, pastor, has announced.

During her next 4-year term of missionary service, Miss Munger will continue her responsibilities as an editor and writer at the International Correspondence Institute (ICI) headquarters in Brussels. ICI is an accredited, home-study Bible school sponsored by the Assemblies of God Division of Foreign Missions. Its purposes are to evangelize, teach and train people in the Word of God by extension methods. Opened in 1967, ICI now has students in 132 countries of the world and more than 7 million courses have been distributed.

At this special missions service, Miss Munger will share information about the outreach of ICI materials worldwide and will show a slide presentation of the work at the ICI office in Brussels. The public is invited to attend.

Another Successful Locust Blossom Festival for Kendrick

The sizzling temperatures seemed to be more in keeping with a 4th of July celebration than a spring blossom Festival, but Kendrick's 23rd annual Locust Blossom Day Saturday was still a decided success. The first heat wave of the summer had sent the mercury into the middle and high 90's under a cloudless sky.

The crowd appeared to be down slightly from previous years. There were, it was estimated, just under 1,000 served at the barbeque dinner in the park at noon.

Part of the loss of crowd could undoubtedly be traced to the beautiful weekend which was also the beginning of the general fishing season. A number of local families joined the many who headed for the woods, lakes and streams.

Floyd Heimgartner Juliaetta Postmaster

By Carolyn Gravelle Floyd K. Heimgartner, Postmaster of the Juliaetta Post Office, will be retired June 1, 1983, after having served the longest term as postmaster in Juliaetta's history.

Of the 100 years the post office has existed (began by Challes Snyder in October 1882, named after his daughters, Julia and Etta), Mr. Heimgartner has been Juliaetta's Postmaster for 26 years, from 1957-

He retires with 30 years of government service. Besides serving the federal government as postmaster, Mr. Heimgartner has also been a pilot with the Naval Air Corps during WW II and an auxiliary mail carrier in Juliaetta before being appointed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1957 as Postmaster.

Mr. Heimgartner's appointment followed Myrtle Cochran as postmaster while May Walsh was Officer-in-Charge before Mr. Heimgartner officially took his post.

Mr. Heimgartner was instrumental for the new building constructed in 1974 which now houses the current postal services in Juliaetta. He remembers when mail was delivered three times a day by railroad prior to the Highway Post Office trucks (HPO's) and the current contract service. Besides the change in mail delivery during his term, Mr. Heimgartner has experienced the change of postal rates ranging from the 3c stamp for first class mail to the 20c stamp.

While being postmaster and a member of the National Association of Postmasters for 26 years, Mr. Heimgartner has served as Board member of the Kendrick Joint School District for 9 years; as Juliaetta's as Board member of the Neztah Cemetery District for 3 terms; and active member and Treasurer of the Kendrick ambulance service of EMT's; a volunteer member of the Juliaetta Fire Department.

In September the next Juliaetta Postmaster should be appointed Ben Carpenter of Lewiston from the Clarkston Post Office is the Officerin-Charge.

Now that retirement has begun, Mr. Heimgartner will continue his volunteer and civic activities, along with more time for fishing, traveling, pursuing hobbies, but more importantly, along with more time to enjoy life and his family.

A Butterfly

A butterfly is a pretty thing That sails around on silky wings Nobody pays any attention as God's creation, the butterfly.

It was hatched this spring born to fly To mate and grow, lay eggs and die. She concealed her egg—a thry moth All spun up neat in nature's cloth.

There it will be until winter has passed To crawl out next spring on a blade of grass.

It too will grow and fly,
The completed cycle of the butterfly.

Who takes time, in this land of ours To see the color in all the flowers? Who made all the tall grass grow? It was God, of course, that has made it so!

Juliaetta Community Library Summer Readina Program Offers Much

"Choose Your Own Magic" at the Juliaetta Community Library this summer: Stretch the imagination in the world of stories. This year's summer reading program offers an exciting opportunity for the young of all ages in reading incentives and weekly film and craft programs.

This Thursday's weekly program Haley's award-winning "A Story, A Story", Han's Christian Ander-Marge's sister and her husband, Fred son's classic "Thumbelina" and an Arabian Nights episode entitled "The Roc Bird and the Rescue'. A simple craft project will follow. The hour-long program begins at 10:30.

Next week's feature will be "Elsa and Her Cubs", a look at the famous "Born Free" lioness and her family. A craft project will follow.

Additional incentive for continuing reading through the summer months will again be offered in this year's Summer Reading Program.
