GHS Bulldogs Edge Lewiston J. V.'s 8-0

Coach Daren Munden and his young Genesee High School football team made a successful debut before the home town crowd last Friday night as they edged out the Lewiston Junior Varsity 8-0. It was a landmark game, as this contest marked the first time in 28 years that the Genesee football team has not been coached by Ozzie Kanikteberg.

It was a defensive team's game, especially for the rugged Genesee line that gave up only 39 yards rushing and minus-9 yards passing the entire four quarters. Munden seemed well-pleased with the efforts of both his offensive and defensive squads, considering their inexperience.

Neither team scored in the first three quarters of the Friday game, and it was finally Ricky Vestal who ran the ball over the goal line in the fourth quarter from 5 yards out, who scored the lone touchdown of the contest. Vestal also carried successfully for the two-point conversion. Vestal picked up 80 yards in 14 carries, while Ken Reynolds rushed for 51 yards in 14 attempts.

Moscow JV's at GHS Saturday Genesee will meet the Moscow Junior Varsity squad this Saturday afternoon on the Bulldog field in a game beginning at 1:00. The Moscow JVs squeaked out a tough 33-32 victory over Troy last Saturday at Moscow.

Kendrick Campers on South Fork for Labor Day Weekend

Eleven campers spent the Labor Day holiday on the South Fork of the Clearwater River.

Those making the trip were: Manning and Elsie Onstott, Merrell and Ruby Horney, Al and Jessie Severson, Buck and Eunice Batterton, Wayne and Eleanor Wegner, Roy and Edith Johnson, Elmo and Marge Eldridge, Gordon and Frances Peters, Bill and Alberta Turner, Art and Maxine Foster and their guests, Fred and Judy Foster and family, Teresa, Lisa and Toby and grandson Robert Brown came Sunday afternoon, and the most welcome guests of the group were Jack and Rickie Steigers.

The fishing was good, the fireside stories enchanting and the card games proved to be really competitive.

There was the usual potluck meal on Sunday followed by several selections on a battery-operated Casitone played by Alberta Turner. Gordon Peters accompanied her on a few selections with his harmonica and the group joined in singing some of the well known "old time numbers". Wayne Wegner entertained in the evening at the campfire playing his harmonica, while marshmallows were roasted over red coals.

It was greatly enjoyed by everyone.

THE BIRTHDAY

It was raining on my birthday one year. So, after I opened my surprises and ate my cake I went to bed. (I didn't know my third case had already begun).

It had been a good day even with the rain and I had gotten everything that I wanted. I got a new water gun, some toys and even an R2 D2 cake.

There was one present that didn't have a card. It was addressed to: BOUNTY HUNTER. It was a little fake voodoo doll. The doll had brown boots, tan pants and a tan shirt. After I played with it for a little while it seemed to start growing. That's when I decided it was time for bed.

As I lay in bed for awhile I started to doze. Suddenly I heard a sound coming from my closet. I got up and opened the door. A man dressed just like the doll jumped out and ran.

I grabbed my new watergun and checked to see it was loaded. I picked up the doll and ran after the man.

I ran down the stairs with the doll. The man was waiting and tried to grab me. I jumped out of the window onto my trampoline. With one bounce I was standing on the ground.

He was coming after me again. I aimed my water gun. I wanted to protect myself but I'd only use it if I needed to.

Then I accidentally squirted the doll. It blew up in a flash of light. When I looked up the man had also disappeared.

It had been a long day and I returned to bed to try and sleep. Yes, a long day but that was one case and one birthday I wouldn't forget.

Deary Topples Tigers 12-6

Coach Terry Webb's Kendrick Tigers showed plenty of determination, some inexperience and first-game jitters, and occasional flashes of excellent ball playing as they lost to the Deary Mustangs 12-6 on the KHS field Friday night.

Deary jumped off to a 12-0 first quarter lead and then was held scoreless the remainder of the game, although three Mustang touchdowns were called back because of infractions.

The game started slow with neither team able to get its offensive thrust moving. The first quarter was over half completed when Wayne Deeds of the Tigers went through the Mustang line for enough yardage for the first 1st down of the game for either team. Then with 3:25 left in the first period, Deary quarterback Derek Jones connected with Randy Cannon on a 30-yard pass play to score. The extra point kick attempt by the Mustangs failed.

Less than two minutes later the Mustangs struck again—this time on a pass from Jones to Derrick Eggers who took the ball and the Tiger 45 and simply outran the defense to make the score 12-0 in favor of Deary after the PAT kick was too low.

With a little over 4 minutes remaining in the first half, Kendrick put its own passing game into gear as quarterback Troy Huett completed passes to Slade Zumhofe and Jack Meyers to bring the ball to mid-field. Huett, on a keeper play, went down to the Mustang 36 and then on the next play handed off to Wayne Deeds who rambled around right end for 17 yards and another Tiger first down. Deeds bulled his way to the Deary 8 yard line on the next play. The Tigers caught Deary off guard on a well-executed pass play with Huett handing off to Zumhofe in the backfield and Zumhofe dropping back to the 18 connected with a perfectly timed pass to Jack Meyers in the end zone for a Tiger touchdown. The extra point try failed, and Deary took a 12-6 into the second half.

Deary's defense dominated the game through most of the third and fourth quarters, although two Mustang touchdowns were called back because of violations, usually illegal procedure. Deary also suffered a severe offensive loss in the third quarter when Eggers, always a scoring threat, had to leave the game with a leg injury.

With time running out in the game, the Tigers tried desperately to score again and drove down to the Deary 12-yard line where the Mustang defense held solid and the Tigers were forced to give up the ball.

Tigers at Timberline

Kendrick will be on the road this Friday night as they travel to Timberline for a game with the Spartans. Timberline took a 33-6 win from Kootenai last Saturday night in its opening game.

Peaches and Cream Old Time Favorite

The combination of peaches and cream is an old-time favorite that appears every summer simply because the two together are delicious.

For new ideas on how to prepare this standby, Sunset Magazine in its August issue offers several suggestions. Two include fresh peaches in almond cream and a peach-and-raspberry ice cream torte. Both desserts nicely follow almost any entrée and are attractive, refreshing and yet simple to prepare.

Peaches in Almond Cream
About 1 ttbl. sliced almonds
1 cup sour cream
3 ttbl. firmly packed brown sugar
1 ttbl. almond-flavored liqueur or 1/8 teaspoon almond extract

Happy Home Club, Arlyne Clemm

2 or 3 large, ripe peaches, peeled and sliced. Mint sprigs
Scatter almonds in flat pan (such as an 8- or 9-inch pie pan) and place in a 350 degree oven until lightly toasted, about 7 minutes. Set aside.

In a small bowl, beat the sour cream, sugar and liqueur until smooth.

Divide the sour cream sauce between 4 salad or dessert plates, pouring it into a circle on each. Lay an equal portion of peach slices in the cream on each plate, fanning slices in a petal-like arrangement. Garnish each with 3 or 4 almond slices and a mint sprig.

Makes about 4 servings.

PEACH SAUCE: In a blender, whirl about 1 1/2 cups peeled and sliced peaches until smooth; you need 1 cup puree. In a 1 1/2-2-quart pan, combine peach puree with 1/3 cup sugar and 3 tablespoons light corn syrup. Blend 1 1/2 ttbl. of each cornstarch and water until smooth, then stir into puree. Cook over medium heat, stirring, until mixture boils. Remove from heat; cool, cover and chill.

Peach Melba Frozen Torte

2 cups finely crushed gingersnaps
cooky crumbs (about 7 ounces)
1/4 cup (1/8 lb.) melted butter or margarine
1/2 gallon vanilla ice cream, slightly softened.

Peach Sauce, Raspberry Sauce
Stir together crumbs and butter until well mixed. Set aside 2 ttbl. of this mixture, then press the remainder evenly over the bottom and about 2 inches up the sides of a 9-inch cheesecake pan with removable sides.

Spoon 1/3 of the ice cream into crust, then spoon 1/2 of the peach sauce and 1-4 of the raspberry sauce over ice cream; repeat, ending with ice cream.

Sprinkle the top of the torte evenly with reserved crumbs. Cover and freeze until hard, at least 6 hrs. or as long as 3 days. Cover and refrigerate the remaining raspberry sauce.

About 15 minutes before serving, unwrap torte and let it stand at room temperature to soften slightly. Stir reserved raspberry sauce to blend. With a sharp knife, cut torte into wedges, topping portions with raspberry sauce as desired.

Makes 10 to 12 servings.

RASPBERRY SAUCE

In a 1 1/2- to 2-quart pan, combine 3 cups raspberries (fresh or unsweetened frozen), 2/3 cups sugar, and 1/3 cup each water and light corn syrup. Blend 1/4 each cornstarch and water and stir into berries. Cook over medium heat, stirring and mashing berries with a spoon, until mixture boils. Remove from heat; cool, cover and chill.

REGULATIONS PROTECT WILD STEELHEAD

The odds should favor survival of wild steelhead this season—but only with plenty of help from anglers who abide by Department of Fish and Game catch-and-release regulations.

Proper identification of the dorsal fin that fits a wild steelhead is step one. Then come the key words that say the fish "must be released immediately, unharmed." Here are the instructions:

—Do not squeeze the fish
—Do not touch its gills or hold it by the gill covers.

—Leave the fish in the water while removing the hook. Cut the leader if the hook cannot be easily removed. Small pliers are a handy item, both for removing hooks and squeezing down a barb.

—If the fish is exhausted hold it in an upright position and gently move it back and forth in the water until it can swing away.

A wild steelhead generally has a dorsal fin higher than 2 1/4 inches when the fin rays are fully extended and—with two exceptions on the Snake River—the regulations state that it must be released.

The "keepers" are hatchery steelhead with dorsal fins shorter than 2 1/4 inches that show bent or crooked rays or have a clipped appearance.

September 1 was the starting date for steelhead fishing on the Salmon and Snake rivers. On the Clearwater River system the opener is October 15. Barbless hooks are required.

Another fin, or lack of same, that deserves attention is the adipose fin, the small back fin nearest the tail. A missing adipose fin—one that has been clipped—means that a small coded wire tag is implanted in the steelhead's nose.

The tag provides valuable information after it is recovered. Anglers can help the program by returning the fish's head to a conservation officer or a department office or they can freeze the head until it is convenient to turn it in.

MANAGEMENT UNIT 39 MAP AVAILABLE FOR HUNTERS

Big game hunters concerned about boundary lines for management unit 39 will find a detailed map available at Department of Fish and Game offices this year for $3 each. The map, printed on durable, moisture-resistant paper, is the first in a series that will eventually include all of the state's management units said Bill Goodnight, chief of information and education.

Next on the printing schedule are maps for units 43, 44 and 48 in the South Fork Boise and Big Wood River drainages and units 6, 7 and 9 in northern Idaho. Both groups of three units will each be printed on single sheets.

"Vachose unit 39 for the first map because it has such a variety of landmarks and because it attracts more deer hunters than most units," Goodnight said.

October 5 is the opening date for elk hunting, bulls only, in unit 39 and the deer season, for bucks only, opens October 19.

Computers Help Producers Evaluate Wheat Program
Clifton Anderson, Associate Agricultural Editor

Moscow—Wheat producers can consult computers regarding the options available to them under the 1984 wheat set-aside program, according to Neil Meyer, extension agriculture economist at the University College of Agriculture. He said each county office of the UI Cooperative Extension Service will have a new computer program that is designed to help producers evaluate their options.

"Some tough decisions will have to be made in planning for seeding this fall. The 1984 wheat program, as announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has some new features. The target price has been increased to $4.45 per bushel, the loan price has been reduced to $3.30 per bushel and growers participating in the program must set aside 30 percent of their base acreage," Meyer said.

The program could be changed after Congress goes back in session on September 15, Meyer said. Decisions are still pending regarding access to the reserve program and a possible deficiency payment of $1.15 per bushel, he added. The 1984 program, as announced by the USDA, has in effect a $50,000 payment limitation for deficiency payments. A payment-in-kind provision at 75 percent of base yield per acre is available for up to 50 percent of a producer's base acreage.

"Base acreages for 1984 will be the average of the 1982 and 1983 'considered planted' acreage. Summer fallow cannot be designated as 'conserving acres' and you will not be allowed to plant barley on conserving acres," Meyer said. Sign-up will be considered a "definite contract" in the 1984 program, the UI economist pointed out. "If you change your mind after the sign-up period and decide not to go into the program, you will have to pay liquidated damages," he said.

Catch-and-Release Applies For Wild Steelhead

The catch-and-release rule for wild steelhead will be in effect during the fall season in Idaho which was to open on the Salmon and Snake river September 1, the Department of Fish and Game emphasized.

Regulations state that steelhead with dorsal fins higher than 2 1/4 inches—wild fish must be released and barbless hooks are required.

On the Snake River, however, anglers can keep steelhead with dorsal fins higher than 2 1/4 inches only between the Snake-Clearwater river confluence and the mouth of Redbird Creek from November 15 through December 31.

The dorsal fin restriction also does not apply for the full season from Hells Canyon Dam to Wild Sheep Rapids 6 miles down stream. Otherwise only steelhead with dorsal fins higher than 2 1/4 inches can be taken and barbless hooks must be used.

Except for the Middle Fork Salmon River and its tributaries, it will be legal to fish for steelhead on a catch-and-release basis in any water open to fishing for trout, but anglers are limited to single, barbless hooks and artificial flies and only. A steelhead permit is required for any steelhead fishing.

The fall season on the Clearwater River system opens October 15.

Ash from Mt. St. Helens didn't harm crops or soil

Clifton Anderson
 Associate Agricultural Editor

Washington, D. C.—Although some changes may occur in the next few thousand years, soil chemistry of the Pacific Northwest presently shows no significant effects from the volcanic ash that fell on the region in 1980, according to Robert Mahler, University of Idaho soil scientist.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy, Mahler said ash from the Mt. St. Helens eruption of May 18, 1980 contains minerals that will slowly become available to plants.

In a previous Mount St. Helens eruption which occurred about 1850, the Pacific Northwest was blanketed by ash similar to the ash that fell three years ago, the University of Idaho scientist said.

When testing deposits of the 19th Century ash, Mahler found that the ash had not been broken down by weathering. He said deposits of ash from an eruption 6,700 years ago included both weathered and unweathered materials.

The slow release of mineral compounds from the 1980 ashfall is not likely to bring any noticeable changes to the soil chemistry of the Pacific Northwest, Mahler said.

"There has been no need for adjustments in soil test calibration date presently used for fertilizer recommendations in Idaho. There is no evidence to suggest that high levels of ash inhibit wheat production," he said.

Because the 1980 volcanic ash is extremely porous, it has increased the water-holding capacity of Pacific Northwest soils, Mahler said.

When mixed with agricultural soils, the 1980 volcanic ash has not interfered with plants' uptake of minerals from the soil, he reported. He said tests indicate plants will take up more sulfur, potassium, calcium and magnesium from an ash-soil mixture than from soil alone.

Toxic elements in appreciable amounts are not present in the 1980 ash, Mahler said. Release of elements that can be utilized by plants will occur slowly as the ash undergoes weathering, he said.

"The 1980 ash deposits will not affect the environment chemically until weathering appears," he said.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY BILL JUNK

The Latah County Historical Society now has on exhibit photographs by Bill Junk. These photos represent a collection of Bill's most recent work in this area. The majority of the photographs have been taken to record the variety and scenic beauty of the Palouse country.

Bill has been photographing since the mid 1970's and has received many awards for his photographs. Raised in Moscow, Bill now works as an Assistant Professor in the Computer Science Department at the University of Idaho.

The exhibit is at the McConnell Mansion, 110 South Adams, Moscow and will be up through September 10.

U. S. HIGHLIGHTS

Winter wheat production in the United States at 1.96 billion bushels is down 7 percent from last year. Spring Wheat production is 31 percent below 1982 at 379.7 million bushels. Barley production rose to 6 percent to 554.3 million bushels. The nation's corn crop at 5.24 billion bushels is well below last year's level, down 38 percent from the 1982 record crop. Dry bean production at 15.7 million cwt. is 27 percent below last year. Sugarbeet harvest is expected to produce 21.3 million tons virtually the same as last year.

MARY JANE McCALL

Kendrick—Mary Jane McCall has been promoted to loan officer at the local branch of First Security Bank of Idaho, N. A., according to Lloyd Duncan, Northern Division manager. She was graduated from Timberline High School and Lewis Clark State College and began her career with First Security in 1979. She lives at Asotin with her husband, Mark, and son, Jeff.

Trapping Regulations for 83-84 have more Standard opening dates

Furbearer trapping regulations for the 1983-84 season calling for more standard opening dates and a reduction in controlled beaver trapping units were approved by the Fish and Game Commission at its recent meeting in Boise (Aug. 10). Commissioners also approved a new regulation which requires a state's official export tag for all bobcat or lynx pelts in this state in addition to those legally taken in Idaho.

Other reporting requirements for bobcat/lynx are specified in the printed regulations.

The trend toward standard opening dates conforms to the Department of Fish and Game's proposed five-year furbearer management plan, which was cleared by the commission for public review.

Social Security Changes Reflect Changes In Societies' Needs

The Social Security Amendments of 1983 were the result of a national dialogue that extended into the past decade. The provisions reflect an effort to reconcile Social Security to emerging changes in society and to reconcile Social Security to emerging changes in society and to assure that benefits will be paid when due under any circumstance.

Two provisions included in the amendments deserve special note as examples of national determination that benefits will be paid. One is considered a "stabilizing" mechanism and the other, a "failsafe" mechanism. Both are designed to assure the payment of Social Security benefits on a timely basis under adverse economic conditions.

The stabilizing mechanism provides that, beginning with the cost-of-living increase in January 1985, if the Social Security trust fund balance falls below 15 percent of estimated benefit payments for the coming year the benefit increase for that year will be based on the lower of the increase in the cost of living or in average wages. This level increases to 20 percent beginning in 1989. When the trust fund balance reaches 32 percent of estimated annual outgo—benefits and administrative expenses—catchup benefits will be paid to make up for any previous benefits that were less than the cost of living to the extent that funds are available.

In recent years increases in wages have generally lagged behind increases in prices. Basing the annual benefit adjustment on the lower of the two assures a lesser impact on the trust funds. At the same time, recognizing that the cost of living for beneficiaries is more accurately reflected by increased prices for the goods and services they purchase, the law mandates catch-up benefits to the extent that funds become available.

The failsafe mechanism includes several provisions designed to anticipate a sort of "worst-case" scenario in which poor performance by the Nation's economy would reduce income to the trust funds below that needed to pay benefits on time. The law authorizes borrowing among 3 of the Social Security trust funds to pay benefits as needed. The funds, Retirement Survivors Insurance, Disability Insurance and Medicare hospital insurance are maintained separately, each designed to support a specific program. This is not a new concept. In 1981, for the first time the Board of Trustees was given the authority to borrow between the trust funds without further Congressional action. The authority ended in December 1982.

With the economy improving it is unlikely that we will ever need to use these measures. But the important point is that they exist as part of the law if they are ever needed. People who count on Social Security benefits as their primary source of income as well as workers who have worried about the payment of benefits in the distant future may take heart. Benefits will be paid on time under any foreseeable circumstances.

More information about the Social Security Amendments of 1983 is contained in the leaflet "Social Security Strengthened." Free copies can be obtained at the Pullman Social Security office located at SE 1205 Johnson Ave in the Professional Mall or by writing to PO Box 459, Pullman, Wa. 99163. The toll-free telephone number in Washington is 1-800-562-6350 and in Idaho is 1-800-632-5121.

Stony Point

Nellie Dean Steigers, reporter

We were sad to hear of the recent home fire of old acquaintances, Bob and Vicky Fleming in the Southwick area.

Mildred Has New Helper!
"Freda", now answered the phone on Tuesday a. m. call for our Mildred's news. "Pat" has steady employment elsewhere, now tending children of a Lewiston teacher, Mildred said. Barbara Heath made her usual early a. m. visit Tuesday, Sept. 6th.

Bea answers phone on Tues. a. m.
Mrs. Beatrice Hoisington, at times does answer her phone. The first time we have contacted her personally. A trip across the house (a large one) leaves her tired, she says. Feeling better recently but not 'work brittle' as Nellie expresses it. Good daughter-in-law Katie still comes once a week to do the wash, and clean the house!

To a Keuterville Wedding
Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Heimgartner attended a wedding on Saturday in this beautiful country, then spent overnight at the home of son, David Straw at Clearwater.

One day Grandma Zumhofs was visited at the Lewiston Care Center last week. Grandma was reported as enduring her constant painful rheumatism, as cheerfully as possible.

Harvesting finished and school now uppermost at the Don Hoisington home. Kendrick pupils.

Young Brady Stevens answering the call for 'news' said Mama Patti was curling sister Hollis's hair! Lapwal students.

Jennifer Thompson of Lenore, and Bekalyn Steigers of Cherrylane, spent the long weekend at the homes of their parents returning to their U. of I. schooling on Monday eve. Both girls are active members of the Youth Group of the Cottonwood Creek Community church and fast friends.

Son Alan and wife, Jacki were Monday supper guests in the Stony-point home of Wayne and Ruth Heimgartner. Older son Harold and wife of Clarkston enjoyed a visit from his parents one day last week.

Bernice Foss of Lapwal area, with her granddaughter Christine Freeman of Clarkston visited at the Erma Stevens home Sunday afternoon. Erma visited her mother Myrtle Heimgartner in Lewiston on Friday, Sept. 2nd. A visit was made to the Alvin Steigers residence on Wednesday evening.

day evening.

A group of the Cuddebec Steigers residents traveled to the Seattle-Bellvue, Wa. area to attend the wedding of Chad Steigers, oldest son of Carl and Wilma Steigers on Saturday, Sept. 3rd.

Father Ron Huff stayed at the Lewiston home and tended the little twins.

Little Miss Ashley Gibbs, new tiny daughter of Melanie and Johnny Gibbs Jr. made her first public appearance at the Sunday services of the Cottonwood Creek Community church September 4th.

Former Minister and wife in area!
Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fields, with daughter, Jeanie, grandchildren, Shawn and Spacy Smith, accompanied by Grace Hobson were Tuesday, Sept. 30th callers in the Glen Stevens home.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stevens and mother Effie Powell just recently returned from 'Family Camp' at Alacca Camp near Harpster. Perfect weather and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Heimgartner and family accompanied by Everett Heimgartner of Clarkston were Monday Labor Day dinner guests in the Wayne Heimgartner home.

Family Wood Gathering
Traveling to the over 2,000 acre 'cut-over' country, beyond Winchester, in the Forest area, recently purchased by Hunt Hatch, a large contingent of trucks of varying sizes, and a car or so, were members of the Hatch-Talbot-Steigers, spending 2 days sawing and splitting winter firewood for the various homes!

Picnic type lunches were enjoyed and one 'nooning' they hiked to the 'Brakes' of the Salmon River canyon! A fine view! A more disagreeable event was a rear wheel tire blow out on the large Steigers truck near Forest, the last vehicle out. A change of tires, then a phone call from the Winchester home of old friend Monty Stephens, was made by Ken to friend wife, Linda, already safely home by car to come looking for him, if not home by 10 p. m. as no more 'spares.' He arrived safely after 9 p. m. All were tired, but not many sprained muscles. Ernest took an active part in the expedition! The dry Tamarack wood piles safely home look wonderful.

Bob Coffland, of Joel, on a garden trip to Cherrylane on Labor Day told he had received a recent surprise check to $1,300.00 from a company he'd forgotten about! Near his 59th birthday. Who says the day of miracles is past!

Genesee Valley News

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Grieser were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Reed in Kendrick. They visited later that evening with Bernice and Gladys Grieser.

Randy Brown, vo-ag instructor at Genesee High School has moved with his family into the late Clarence Danielson house in the Valley, recently vacated by the Danny Danielson family. The Danielsons have moved into the Lloyd Ingram house which they have purchased.

Tracey Stout, 1983 graduate of Genesee High School, has enrolled for fall classes at the U. of I. She has pledged the Alpha Phi sorority. Her parents are John and Mary Stout.

By Jo Benschoter

Andy and Minnie and Tom Cox were Labor Day breakfast guests of the Tom Neal family in Moscow. Later in the day they drove to Lewiston and Clarkston where they enjoyed visiting the homes of several relatives and their families.

On Sunday, the Coxes visited Andy's sister, Margaret McDougal and her granddaughter, Leslie Felton and a friend who were houseguests from Chicago.

The David Neals accompanied Crystal's parents, Clinton Bateys to Harrison for the holiday weekend.

Dick and Vicky Benschoter spent the weekend with the Bob Benschoter family at Grandview Lodge on Priest Lake. Callers in the Dick Benschoter home during the week included Ann Turner and Jo Benschoter.

Betty May visited her mother, Mabel Glenn Friday afternoon. We all hope that Mabel's back will mend soon as she is not one to be idle.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Whitely and sons of Troy were Monday callers in the Warney May home.

Arle and Priscilla Armitage were Thursday morning callers on the Walt Benschoters.

Walt Has a Birthday

Saturday, September 3rd being Walt Benschoter's birthday, he and Babe had many callers to wish Walt a happy birthday. John and Beverly Kayler, Peck, came in the morning hours enroute to Moscow. Afternoon callers were Mabel Callison, Nancy Nye and her son, Steve Van Houten and Jo Benschoter. Supper guests were Bob, Diane and Chris Dupea of Orofino.

Sunday afternoon Tom and Wilma Greene of Lewiston were callers and on Labor Day Jerry Warner and Charlie and Teresa McCall and their little son, Tim visited during afternoon.

On Tuesday, August 30th, Jo Benschoter was pleased to have a phone call from her 2 nieces in Aurora, Colorado, Deloris Trantham and Wilma White. Letters and cards are exchanged regularly, but this is the first time they have heard each other's voices which added to the pleasure.

Jo Benschoter was in Lewiston Tuesday. Don accompanied her to have her glasses checked and they enjoyed dinner together. On Sunday Jo drove to Sweetwater and visited Don, Barbara and Ople Benschoter and also Sherry and Tyson Smith. They all enjoyed coffee and doughnuts at Sherry and Tysons cozy and comfortable home and then Sherry and Barbara pooled their dinner and the family were all together for dinner at the Don Benschoter home.

Kristle Paresi and her 6-week-old baby boy Mathew were Tuesday luncheon guests of Jo Benschoter. Kristle and her baby returned to her Portland home on Thursday with her parents for Fran's regular Drs. appointment. Danny and Bill Benschoter and Angie Dickison went later in the week and all stayed for Mathew Scott Paresi's christening on Sunday. Bill returned home with his parents but Dan and Angie remained for a longer stay.

Mike, Marvette and Travis Benschoter of Moscow were Monday, Labor Day evening dinner guests in Grandma Jo's home.
