First Garden Seeds Go In

Last week was beautiful, warm weather in the valley. Many of our residents took advantage of it to get a start on spring yard and garden work. Martha Long reported that she even got some early garden planted on Thursday, March 8. Ed and Erna Nelson also couldn't resist the temptation to get some of their garden in too. The weather changed over the weekend though, and most of this week has been filled with rain and cooler temperatures.

Science Projects—
Science projects were due March
1. For a week before that date, the whole school was caught up in a flurry of hurry to get ready. Some people didn't make the deadline, some just barely did, but its plain to see this year's are new and exciting.

From computers to plants, to animals, there is a wide variety of subjects. Interesting projects on dreams, butterflies, computers and many different experiments with plants. For computer program Available example: one student watered bean plants with different fluids; another "The computer program is availtested different substances on apples. Many people have put a lot of time and effort into their projects they know that is what the judges are looking for. An optional choice is to go to the Lewiston Scence Fair, March 16, but they are required to exhibit their projects at the Kendrick-Juliaetta Science Fair in April. The teachers are Ms. Cozort, Mrs. Monroe and Mr

The first milk a cow or ewe produces is called colostrom and this milk is loaded with antibodies. Antibodies are large protein complexes that are a major component of the bodies defenses against infective diseases such as those caused by virus and bacteria Lambs and calves have a marvelous digestive mechanism that allows them to absorb these large protein complexe intact, but only for the first 12 to 16 hours of life. After that they digest these protective antibodies by breaking them down, (like adults do) which makes them worthless for disease prevention. The ability to absorb antibodies intact rapidly decrease with time; it is therefore important that newborns receive colostrom within hours after birth and preferably

A high light for Erma Stevens in St. Augustine, when her daughter, Fern Ankney and 3 grandchildren drove down from Charleston, S. C. to spend the day with her. In Missoula, Alberta Turner's two grandsons, John and Robbie Morris spent an evening and had breakfast the next morning with the Turners.

We saw thousands of snow geese around Socorro, New Mexico, several alligators were spotted beside the road in Florida.

We were either ahead or behind storms and had good weather for sight seeing—the day in Key West was in the 80's. We did learn it can really rain in Florida and literally poured on us one day while we were traveling—and the night before in Clermont, there was a terrific thunderstorm.

We came through lots of snow in Wyoming and Idaho. All agreed we had a good trip, saw many won-derful sights, but North Idaho is the best place to live and there is still no place like home.

We want to be Agribusiness Bank

No matter what size your business happens to be, First Bank of Troy has proven their loyalty to Palouse farming and ranching since 1905.

As the traditional farmer's bank in this area, we know more than a thing or two about the business you do. We know the problems. We know the answers. And, because we're local, we know you.

So, when you need a bank that understands agribusiness, talk to First Bank of Troy. When the business is farming, we mean business.
