Final Services Held Friday for Josephine Schupfer

Flowers, friends and family were the center of Josephine Deobald Schupfer's life until her death at Coeur d'Alene Monday morning, March 26. She suffered a heart attack and died upon arrival at Kootenai Memorial Hospital.

She was the last of the six children of Charles and Mary A. Deobald, American Ridge pioneers, to pass away. She was born on the ridge on October 17, 1898. In 1921, she married Otto Schupfer and moved to Juliaetta on the homestead of his father, Mathias Schupfer, one of the three brothers from Austria who founded the village of Juliaetta in 1870's.

Otto and his brother, Herman, purchased the Potlatch Telephone Company in 1915 and Otto became the manager and line man when Herman began work with Washington Water Power. Josephine assisted Otto in his work answering trouble calls at home and also helping out on the line. When needed, she would leave her housework to go along and be on the other end of the line when Otto was testing, to bring tools to him from the pick-up and to drive the pickup when a pole was being raised.

During the 1920's Otto and Josephine operated a silent movie theatre in Juliaetta and then later with his brother and family, the Kendrick theatre. Josephine enjoying selling tickets and meeting the public.

She was an enthusiastic flower gardener — raising mainly dahlias, mums, snow balls and peonies. When the spirea bushes and large pink horse chestnut three are in bloom in early May, the yard looks its best. For many years, the graduates of the local schools would depend on her abundance of flowers to decorate the gymnasium for exercises.

The Schupfers always took a Sunday drive and would end up visiting in the homes of relatives and friends. They continued this practice through their entire 58 years of marriage. At least one long trip was scheduled each year for the family. Otto passed away in 1979.

Josephine spent three weeks in March visiting two nieces and their families in Lynnwood, Wn. She had returned from the coast on Friday before her death three days later.

Survivors are two daughters—Maryann Meyer, Hesperia, Calif., and Maribel Samuelson, Post Falls; five grandchildren—Judy Gardiner, Long Beach, Calif., Wally Otto Meyer, Hesperia; John and Glenn Samuelson, Post Falls; and Steve Samuelson, Moscow; three great grandchildren—Tammy and Heidi Harris, Long Beach, and Richie Meyer, Hesperia; and 13 nieces and nephews.

Services were conducted by the Rev. W. H. Tensmeyer, Dalton Gardens, at the Juliaetta Community Church Friday afternoon with Lonnie Williams, longtime family friend, assisting. Janice Groseclose was organist. "Beyond the Sunset," and "How Great Thou Art" were sung by L. R. VanDusen, Spokane, accompanied by his wife, Mary. He had also sung at the 50th anniversary party for Otto and Josephine at Hayden Lake in 1971, and at Josephine's 85th birthday party at the Samuelsons last September.

Burial was in the Juliaetta Cemetery.

Cancer Society Plans Annual Fund Drive

"Many of the 180,000 deaths from lung and colorectal cancers predicted for 1984 could have been avoided through prevention and early detection," said Esther Wilson, Crusade chairman of the Latah County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

"Nowadays we know what we can do to protect against cancer, especially these two deadly forms, she said.

The American Cancer Society is focusing on lung and colorectal cancer during its annual April educational and fund-raising Cancer Crusade. Local volunteers will be distributing the new folder, "A Quick Test on Cancer Risks for Lungs, Colon and Rectum," starting the last week in March through April to each home. The test has questions which are designed to measure a person's built in risks, such as personal and family medical history, age and lifestyle. It also includes a section that explains the significance of the answers and describes measures to take to guard against these cancers.

According to the American Cancer Society, a person is at much greater risk for lung cancer if he or she has a history of heavy cigarette smoking or exposure to certain industrial substances such as asbestos. Lung cancer is very difficult to detect early, and only 9% of all lung cancer patients live five years or more after the diagnosis. Only 39% of people with early detection of lung cancer survive five years or more.

Recent trends indicate that the death rate from lung cancer for women is quickly approaching that of men. This has been attributed to a narrowing of the gap between male and female smoking rates.

"The best protection against the killer is for people to stop smoking or never start at all," explained Mrs. Wilson. She continued, "But with colorectal cancer, early detection in the key. Seventy-five percent of patients facing this second leading form of cancer can be cured if the disease is found at an early stage."

The American Cancer Society recommends three aids in detecting this cancer. The digital rectal examination is performed by a physician during an office visit and is recommended yearly after age forty. The stool blood test done by the patient at home is a simple method of testing for hidden blood. The American Cancer Society recommends the test every year after age 50.

Proctosigmoidoscopy, known as the "procto" is an examination in which a physician inspects the rectum and lower colon with a hollow, lighted tube. The ACS (American Cancer Society) recommends a procto every three to five years after age fifty, following two annual exams with negative results.

People at higher risk for this cancer have a personal or family history of colorectal cancer of polyps in the intestines. Patients with ulcerative colitis are at an increased risk for this form of cancer too.

"It's imperative that everyone knows what their personal risks for cancer are because this will affect their habits and health action said Crusade Captains Nell Helmgartner of Juliaetta and Barbra Clayton of Kendrick. We want to make sure that everyone in the Juliaetta and Kendrick area takes the quick test. Medical science has made great advances in the fight against cancer, but the important defense, the protection against this disease, has to begin at home."

Computer Program Tracks Possible Energy Savings

Clifton Anderson Associate Agricultural Editor

Moscow—Washing clothes with cold water will have energy but how many dollars do you actually save by cutting down on use of hot water? To have this question answered authoritatively, go to a county office of the University of Idaho Cooperative Extension Service and use the new computer program entitled "Hot Water-Energy Budget."

Ernestine Porter, UI extension clothing and textiles specialist, said the program can be used to estimate the money spent annually on heating water for your family. You can also estimate savings from economics such as eliminating one shower per person per week or changing one laundry load per week from hot to warm wash.

"This program calls for information about your family's water usage and can only be as accurate as your responses to the computer," Porter said. She said laundry costs can be reduced by using these energy-saving methods:

—Wash only full loads of laundry. —Use heated water in the washing cycle and cold water in the other cycles. Water should be no hotter than necessary for adequate soil removal and sanitation.

—Avoid over-drying in the dryer. Sort loads of fabric type and weight so all pieces in a load will dry at approximately the same time.

—Line-dry garments and household items when practical—weather permitting and provided you have a yard with a clothesline.

—Use the dryer efficiently. Avoid drying only one or two items at a time. Remove laundry when dryer stops, to avoid unnecessary wrinkling.

—Reduce ironing to a minimum by buying clothing and household linens that need little or no ironing.

Recipes From Camp Fire Girls Candy

Chocolate Supreme Pie

1 pkg. chocolate pudding mix
1 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
12 Camp Fire Mints, quartered
Prepare pudding mixes, as directed on packages. Add mints and pour into a baked pie shell. Or line the pie shell with whole mints, then pour the pudding mixture over them.
Chill well and top with whipped cream if desired.

Mint-Nut Cookies

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, well beaten
1/3 cup salad oil
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
dash salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup toasted coconut
16 Camp Fire Mints
6 drops mint flavoring
2 1/4 cups flour
Mix together sugar, eggs, and salad oil. Melt mints in a double boiler with 1 tsp. water. Add mint flavoring. Add to first mixture. Sift dry ingredients and blend into batter. Add nuts and coconut. Drop by teaspoonful on greased cookie sheet.

"Cool Frosting"

Add finely chopped Camp Fire Mints to powdered sugar frosting. Gives a cool mint flavor and a confetti appearance. Children love it spread on graham crackers, and as a frosting for hot cookies from the oven.

don at Camerillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster. One week-end was spent at Flagstaff where they visited the Lee Jones family. They also went to the Grand Canyon and visited some cactus gardens. They returned home March 28. It was a fine time, but mighty good to be home again.

Sunday, Art and Maxine and Gordon and Frances Peters went to Lewiston to see and admire great grandson Gabriel Steven Alexander.

Hymn of Harmony

Lord let us sing a song,
A song to raise His name;
A hymn to share with worldly through,
For all the world the same.

We hope to sing of joy,
And His enfolding love,
As choirs of excellence employ

Please send a melody
To thrill a waiting crowd;
A perfect constant harmony
To praise Him long and loud.

We offer now our prayer
For faith to face the task.
A plea for strength to care and share
Our love with all who ask.

Most controlled hunt Harvest showed increase

Controlled hunt harvests in 1983 were up for all big game species except deer and bighorn sheep, according to results compiled from the Department of Fish and Game's annual telephone survey of permit holders.

Moose controlled hunts, open to Idaho residents only, showed an overall 89 percent success with 257 permits available and 229 animals taken. Hunters reported 100 percent success in 39 of the 55 hunts.

In 1982, the moose harvest totaled 147 for 173 permits—85 percent success.

The survey showed an estimated elk harvest of 2,795 with 7,610 permits, compared to 2,233 and 5,890 permits in 1982. Other controlled hunt estimated harvests last year (with 1982 figures in parentheses) showed:

Antelope, 2,440 harvested and 3,213 permits (1,984 and 2,435); mountain goat, 41 and 59 permits (32 and 52); bighorn sheep, 60 and 137 permits (64 and 127); and deer, 3,298 harvested and 6,200 permits (3,504 and 7,225).

Wildlife staff biologist Lou Nelson said he expected to have survey results for general seasons, archers and muzzle loaders early in April.

How Do You Become A Veterinarian?

"How do you become a veterinarian?" This question has been asked many times in the past few months. In this area becoming a veterinarian requires involvement in the Washington, Oregon, Idaho (WOI) Regional Program in Veterinary Medical Education.

It usually requires 7 or 8 years of collegiate level work to obtain a degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. The last 4 years are professional study at a College of Veterinary Medicine.

Both the University of Idaho and Washington State University have pre-veterinary programs designed to qualify a student for admission to a College of Veterinary Medicine. It is recommended that High School students who wish to take pre-veterinary training obtain credits in English, Mathematics, Science (Biology, Chemistry, Physics), Social Sciences and Language.

Pre-veterinary students are also required to have sufficient veterinary medical exposure and animal experience. This requirement is designed to allow a student to gain a realistic view of the profession.

Applicants to a College of Veterinary Medicine also need to submit recommendation/evaluation forms as an aid in evaluating personal traits. Personal development is also determined by achievements, leadership ability, participation in activities inside and outside of school as well as job and family responsibilities. Determination, motivation, responsibility and maturity are also considered.

After an initial screening of application forms to the WOI program a personal interview is granted to those candidates to be further considered. Additionally, interviews may be assigned the responsibility of writing an essay.

This is just a general overview of some criteria necessary to gain admission to the WOI program. Anyone wishing more information may write to the College of Veterinary Medicine, Office of Student Services, Washington State University, Pullman, Wash. 99164

Zenner - Schirmer Wedding Vows Said

Debbie Schirmer and Dan Zenner exchanged wedding vows Dec. 10 in a candlelight setting at St. John's Church in Mukilteo with Father James O'Grady officiating. Parents of the newlyweds are Stan and Marlys Schirmer of Everett and Al and Kay Zenner of Genesee, Idaho.

The bride appeared in a gown fashioned by her mother. Of white georgette, it was styled with a Queen Anne neckline, accents of venise lace on the bodice and sleeves and a cathedral-length train.

Shari Keffe attended the bride as maid of honor. She and bridesmaids Sherri and Arlene Schirmer wore matching ice pink gowns with maroon trim on the sleeves and belts, which were fashioned by the bride's mother from a design she and the bride created.

Al Van Orsdel of Santa Barbara, Ca., stood as best man. He was attired in a cream tuxedo, maroon cummerbund and bow tie and a ma-room rose boutonniere accented with pink and white, as were the bridegroom and ushers Mike Myers of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Bob Hildebrand of Encinitas, Ca. John and Pat Schirmer served as candle-lighters.

Special out-of-town wedding guests were the bride's grandmothers, Clara Ottosen and Marge Schirmer, both of Mitchell, S. D., and aunt of the bride, Marcene Kessler of Aurora, Colo.

A catered champagne reception at the Aerospace Machinists Union Hall followed the ceremony. The wedding cake for 200 was made by Arlene Schirmer, the bride's sister. Music for dancing was provided by Tangerine, a Seattle band.

The bride, a 1980 graduate of WSU works at Janni Annie's Restaurant in Lewiston, Id. The bridegroom, a rancher, graduated from the UI in 1979.

Following a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, the Zenners are making their first home in Lewiston.

Commission to Consider Plan for Nongame

Approval of a long-range plan for nongame management is scheduled for consideration by the Fish and Game Commission during its meeting in Boise, April 9-10. Also on the agenda are furbearer trapping seasons and regulations for 1984-85 and 1985-86, representing a Department of Fish and Game recommendation for a change from commission adoption each year.

Sessions are to be conducted at the department headquarters building, 600 South Walnut Street, starting at 1 p. m. and followed by a public meeting at 7:30 p. m., April 9.

More than 280 species of nongame are listed in the management plan, which sets up guidelines for 1981 through 1985 for groups that include mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians and species of special concern.

Public meetings were held around the state before the draft plan was put in final form, according to state nongame manager Martel Morache. Already in effect are management plans for big game, furbearers, upland game, waterfowl and resident fisheries. A plan for anadromous fisheries is expected to come before the commission later this year.

A switch to biennial furbearer regulations is feasible "because changes are usually minor or an annual basis," a wildlife bureau report stated.

Two other major proposed changes would close Camas county to fox hunting to protect a small population in that area, also, extend the bobcat season by nine days. The department said the longer bobcat season would not affect bobcat numbers because of a decline in trapping activity.

Genesee Senior Citizens Met

The usual covered dish dinner was held in the Legion building March 23, with Mr. and Mrs. J. Adrian Nelson hosts.

Gene Woodruff held a short business meeting. He and wife, Norma have just returned from a trip. The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting of March 9th. No corrections, so approved as read. Treasurer Gladys Liberg gave the financial report. She announced dues of $5.00 per member were now payable at this time.

Adrian Nelson made a motion to skip the taking of each person's blood pressure until next meeting. Seconded and passed.

Edith Archibald called our attention that Atheist Madelyn Murray O'Hair has been granted a Federal Hearing in Washington, D. C. on the subject of religion on the airways. She would ultimately pave the way to stop the reading of the Gospel on the airways of America. She took her petition with 27,000 signatures to back her stand.

Madelyn is also campaigning to remove all Christmas Programs and Christmas carols from public schools. We must act to prevent this. Printed formation can be secured from Edith Archibald and you must sign them and mail them to your favorite Idaho Congressman. Be sure and put the number of the petition—2493 on the lower left hand corner. One million signed letters are needed.

Edith had 100 copies ran off and distributed them to members.

President Woodruff will speak to Verla Hall and Dolly Gehrke to see if they will contact our local firemen—so that blood pressure of Senior Citizens may be taken the second meeting of each month.

No further business, so president adjourned the meeting. Adrian Nelson passed out tallies for pinochle and four tables of cards were played. Results, high Agnes Danielson; low, Tina Jacobs.

Submitted by Kathryn Zenner.

Canyon Chapter, O. E. S. Observes 60th Year

Canyon Chapter No. 67, Order of the Easter Star, was instituted Feb. 16, 1924. In celebration of our 60th anniversary, a potluck meal was held March 23, at the Fraternal Temple for members and friends. There were five visitors from Laurel Chapter No. 13 of Lewiston and a total of 29 in all present.

Worthy Matron Arline Holmes read letters from members who could not be present, and called on each past Matron and Patron to tell a little about their year in the East. A most enjoyable evening was spent reminiscing about the past 60 years.

Thank you also for the warm welcome given me this past week—there is no place like home and being close to old friends and neighbors.
