

CAMPING IN BEAR COUNTRY? HERE'S HOW TO PREPARE

Camping in bear country? Expect the unexpected, because bears are predictably unpredictable, says National Wildlife magazine. Knowing about bears in bear country could make the difference between an outdoor adventure and a tragedy, according to the bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

"Few back country campers have ever seen a bear. Far fewer have been injured by one," says Stephen Herrero, a wildlife biologist with the University of Calgary.

However, after conferring with National Park Service officials and experienced campers, Herrero and others have made some sharp conclusions about how campers can avoid problems with the wild creatures.

As one biologist succinctly stated: "There are no absolute formulas because the characteristics of individual bears vary as much as do the characteristics of individual people." The first step is to understand a bear's habits and actions. If given a choice, bears are usually known to be shy animals and will run away from an intruder rather than challenge him. On the other hand, if a bear is surprised or senses a threat to its cub, it will probably defend its ground. When inspecting their surroundings, bears are known to grunt, woof, and snap their jaws as they determine the threat of danger nearby.

After all, the most valuable ingredient to a safe, accident-free outdoor experience is preparation for an encounter. Here are a few suggestions, according to National Wildlife:

* Always remain calm, running or shouting could encourage an attack, each time the bear retreats, slowly retrace your path on the trail making your way toward a tree sufficiently big enough to carry your weight, and tall enough to be out of reach from below.

* If an attack seems unavoidable, and there is no tree in sight, playing opossum—by lying limply on the ground as if you were dead—could save your life. Others have also advised kneeling on the ground with your head between your knees and clasping your hands behind your neck—forming a tight, well-protected ball while shielding your face, neck and chest areas.

* Hikers should never travel alone, some even recommend hiking in groups of six or more.

* Familiarity with an area and selection of a proper campsite are also important. Game trails should be avoided, since bears often use them at night.

* Keep a clean campsite—no hungry bear can pass up leftover scraps. If there are fishermen in your party, make sure that they prepare their catches at least 100 yards away, and that they store their clothes in airtight sacks in order to prevent the escape of enticing odors of fresh fish.

UI CONTINUING ED CLASSES CAN ACCEPT MORE STUDENTS

Moscow—Interests in communications, exercise or career improvement can all be accommodated by some of the UI continuing education courses that still have room for more students.

Three different aerobic time slots have spaces for a few students and one time period of slimnastics could accommodate more people.

Three different aerobic slots have spaces for a few students and one time period in slimnastics could accommodate more people.

In activities for children, there is room for the second gymnastics session which begins in October and in French, the beginning of October.

Career opportunities programs with space available include spreadsheet with Lotus, business letter writing, financial management for women, financial planning, real estate essentials, beginning and refresher typing and the Graduate Examination Preparation Preparation Class.

In Idaho nonresidential construction value rose abruptly during July said James Hoogland, Jr. and Reselle Robinson, bank managers reporting the July Idaho Construction Report, a publication of First Security Bank of Idaho, N. A. The report, edited by Dr. Kelly K. Matthews, senior vice-president and economist for First Security Corporation, will be distributed this week.

Commercial construction permits totaled $2.4 million in Twin Falls and $2.9 million in Idaho Falls.

Conversely, residential construction permits declined in July significantly from the previous month. The 11 percent drop below June's residential permit total indicates that the higher mortgage rate are slowing the level of residential construction.

Total construction value for authorized building permit construction in 51 major Idaho locations in July was $42,442,442, or 13.8 percent above 1983. New residential construction for 386 dwelling units total. Nonresidential construction valued $17,236,977, an increase of 4.6 percent in number and in increase of 2.1 percent in value compared with a year ago.

Nonresidential construction valued at $17,236,977 was up 108.4 percent from last year, while alterations and repairs totaling $9,145,666 were down 16.7 percent.

Constitutional Amendments Two amendments to the Idaho Constitution will appear on the general election ballot. These have been proposed to the people for ratification following action by the legislature.

The amendment proposals, the Legislative Council's statements of meaning and purpose, and the statements for and against are listed as follows:

H. J. R. No. 5 Section 5, Article III, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to read as follows:

SECTION 5. SENATORIAL AND REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICTS. A senatorial or representative district, when more than one county shall constitute the same, shall be composed of contiguous counties areas, and no county shall be divided in creating such districts.

The question to be submitted to the electors of the State of Idaho at the next general election shall be as follows:

"Shall Section 5, Article III, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to provide that senatorial or representative districts shall be composed of contiguous areas when more than one county constitutes the district and to provide that a county may be divided in creating such senatorial or representative districts for the Legislature of the State of Idaho?"

Legislative Council's Statement of Meaning and Purpose H. J. R. No. 5

MEANING AND PURPOSE The purpose of this proposed amendment to Section 5, Article III, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho is to allow counties to be divided in the formation of legislative districts.

EFFECT OF ADOPTION If this amendment is adopted, it will permit the formation of legislative districts that cross county lines.

STATEMENTS FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

1. Recent judicial decisions have shown that it is a practical impossibility to comply with the Idaho Constitution and not divide counties in forming legislative districts while complying with federal mandates to form legislative districts of equal population. This amendment will remove a barrier to the goal of achieving the "one-man, one-vote" principle of representative government.

2. Economic and social considerations do not follow county lines, most of which were established over a half-century ago. This amendment will allow legislative districts to be formed which can take these economic and social considerations into account, and still maintain a high degree of population equality.

3. Without this amendment, the large, unwieldy "floterial" legislative districts established by court order for the 1984 elections will be continued in some form or another. The large population numbers and the huge land areas included in the "floterial" districts have diluted the citizens' ability to know and contact their local legislators. If this amendment is adopted, legislative representation of a more local nature can more easily be achieved.

4. Without this amendment, representation in the legislative body of the state will depend more on archaic county lines than people. Since only people vote, this amendment will allow legislative districts to be formed with the primary emphasis on the voting public, and not on county lines that were formed when the most common means of transportation was the horse and buggy.

STATEMENTS AGAINST THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

1. Splitting counties to form legislative districts will only lead to voter confusion as to who represents them in the Legislature.

basic of governmental units, and performs many important governmental functions. The county form of government should be strengthened and improved, not split and torn asunder as this amendment would do.

3. This amendment would allow rural, isolated areas to be combined with urban areas in forming legislative districts. This practice will dilute the representation of the interests of our most important agricultural industry.

4. This section is a part of the original constitution of this state. It has served well for nearly a century, and the fact the 1984 legislative elections will be conducted in conformity with its requirements shows that no amendment is needed.

S.J. R. No. 117 Section 7, Article XV, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to read as follows:

SECTION 7. STATE WATER RESOURCE AGENCY. There shall be constituted a Water Resource Agency, composed as the Legislature may now or hereafter prescribe, which shall have power to formulate and implement a state water plan for optimum development of water resources in the public interest to construct and operate water projects; to issue bonds, without state obligation, to be repaid from revenues of projects; to generate and wholesale hydroelectric power at the site of production; to appropriate public waters as trustee for Agency projects; to acquire, transfer and encumber title to real property for water projects and to have control and administrative authority over state lands required for water projects; all under such laws as may be prescribed by the Legislature. Additionally, The State Water Resource Agency shall have power to formulate and implement a state water plan for optimum development of water resources in the public interest. The Legislature of the State of Idaho shall have the authority to amend or reject the state water plan in a manner provided by law. Thereafter any change in the state water plan shall be submitted to the Legislature of the State of Idaho upon the first day of a regular session following the change and the change shall become effective unless amended or rejected by law within sixty days of its submission to the Legislature.

The question to be submitted to the electors of the State of Idaho at the next general elections shall be as follows: "Shall Section 7, Article XV, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to provide that the Legislature shall have the authority to amend or reject the State Water Plan in a manner provided by law and that any change in the State Water Plan shall be submitted to the State Legislature upon the first day of a Regular Session following the change and the change shall become effective unless amended or rejected by law within sixty days of submission to the Legislature?"

Legislative Council's Statement of Meaning and Purpose S.J.R. No. 117

MEANING AND PURPOSE The purpose of this proposed amendment to Section 7, Article XV, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho is to specifically give the Legislature constitutional authority to amend or reject the state water plan in a manner provided by law.

EFFECT OF ADOPTION If this amendment is adopted, it will eliminate any confusion about the role of the people's elected representatives and senators in the formation of water policy as prescribed in the state water plan for optimum development of water resources in the public interest.

STATEMENTS FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

1. When this section was added to the Constitution in 1964, most people assumed the Legislature would have some authority to accept, reject or modify the state water plan developed by the appointed Water Resources Board. A recent Idaho Supreme Court decision ruled that existing constitutional language was inadequate to grant such oversight. This amendment will preserve and protect the legitimate constitutional function of the Water Resources Board to formulate and implement a plan for the use of Idaho's public waters, yet restore final oversight of that plan by the elected representatives of the people.

2. Some aspects of the state water plan are extra important. Public waters may be allocated to some groups of citizens and not to others. The economic well-being of cities, regions or individuals may be sharply impacted. It is, therefore, important that the principals of equal representation and accountability to the voters be part of the process. These principles cannot be fully guaranteed through an appointed board.

3. Because the Idaho Water Resources Board is appointed, the potential exists for partisan or patronage appointments. These problems can be countered by insuring that the elected representatives of the people have influence in finalizing the water plan.

4. Legislative oversight on other major areas of state interest, such as education, corrections, other natural resources, or utilities, has not been withdrawn as has been done for management and development of water resources. The management and development of our water resources must be made subject to the review and oversight of the Legislature, just as are all other major concerns that affect Idaho's citizens.
