Genesee FFA was at Boise conference

During the days from March 27th to the 31st, 14 FFA members and their advisor Mr. Randy Brown 26th. ventured to Boise, Idaho to attend Leslie Danielson. Wendy Ringe, Paul Brusven, Erik Odberg, Julie Johnson, Guy Esser, Marlin Smith, Chris Moser, Dean Ferguson, Jeff Sinclair, Marci Cromer, and Pat Borgen.

Overall it was a good learning experience along with a fun trip. Julie Johnson, the N. I. D. (North Idaho District) Representative in the Public Prepared Speaking Contest did very well as a freshman and came in the Public Prepared Speaking Contest did very well as a freshman and came in 6th place in the state. Another freshman, Erik Odberg, the N. I. D. Representative in the Creed Speaking Contest, competed in the qualifying round (to pick the top four), and made it to the finals where he received fourth place trophy after doing a terrific job. Congratulations to both contestants!

For the other 12, we spent our time in leadership workshops and Pat Stewart; to Helen Fey for the other various meetings. The convention consisted of six sessions in which four consisted of Delegate Business Meetings. During these meetings business was brought up before the state president. Each chapter (there were 75) had two delegates that could bring up any business and vote on the business brought forth, our two delegates were Leslie Danielson and Wendy Ringe and Jim Larsen was the alternate that sat in during any of the girls absences.

Besides the 14 members and our advisor, Dave Cvancara, the state secretary from Genesee spent some time with us. Dave was quite busy running several of the leadership workshops and his other secretarial

The Genesee chapter stayed in the Holiday Inn Holidome along with approximately 12 other chapters across the state. After a partial week of hardly any sleep or a completely nutritious meal, the members returned home completely satisfied of having a great time.

Genesee FFA was at Boise conference

During the days from March 27th to the 31st, 14 FFA members and their advisor Mr. Randy Brown 26th. Jeffrey Dean Spencer, a junior ventured to Boise, Idaho to attend the 1985 State Leadership Conference. Among the 14 members were Leslie Danielson. Wendy Ringe, Paul Brusven, Erik Odberg, Julie John-Moser, Dean Ferguson, Jeff Sinclair, Hepworth and his wife, Tanya from Marci Cromer, and Pat Borgen. Overall it was a good learning ex> perience along with a fun trip. Julie Johnson, the N. I. D. (North Idaho District) Representative in the Public Prepared Speaking Contest did very well as a freshman and came in the Public Prepared Speaking Contest did very well as a freshman and came in 6th place in the state. Another freshman, Erik Odberg, the N. I. D. Representative in the Creed Speaking Contest, competed in the qualifying round '(to pick the top four), and made it to the finals where he received fourth place trophy after doing a terrific job. Congratulations to both contestants!

which four consisted of Delegate be autograpred. Business Meetings. During these meetings business was brought up before the state president. Each chapter (there were 75) had two delegates that could bring up any business and vote on the business brought forth, our two delegates were Leslie Danielson and Wendy Ringe and Jim Larsen was the alternate that sat in during any of the girls absences.

Besides the 14 members and our advisor, Dave Cvancara, the state secretary from Genesee spent some time with us. Dave was quite busy running several of the leadership workshops and his other secretarial duties.

The Genesee chapter stayed in the Holiday Inn Holidome along with approximately 12 other chapters across the state. After a partial week of hardly any sleep or a completely nutritious meal, the members returned home completely satisfied of having a great time.

Animal Topics

H. R. McKelvey, DVMI

Ticks are starting to appear on animals in the lower elevations; a sure harbinger of spring. There are many kinds of ticks, including wood ticks, moose ticks (that will attach to horses), and even ear ticks. The most common tick in this area is the wood tick.

Ticks can be classified by the number of hosts they feed on. There are one host, two host, and three host ticks. The common wood tick is a three host tick and feeds on a different host during each stage of its development from larva to nymph to adult. It is interesting to note that larva and nymph stages attach themselves to small animals such as mice and squirrels and the adult stages' attaches to larger animals such as dogs, deer, and man. This is called gee-whiz information.

It isn't particularly important know, but whenever you hear you say "Gee-Whiz!" Unfed wood ticks can live about three years (Gee-Whiz). Female ticks require a blood meal before they can lay their eggs, which they lay after dropping off the host. An engorged female tick is usually surrounded by unengroged male ticks. If you pull a plump, soft tick from your pet look closely for hard, flat and smaller ticks in the same general area. Ticks usually attach themselves around the head, neck, and shoulders of an animal.

Occasionally a single tick will cause an animal to be paralyzed. This "tick paralysis" is caused when the tick releases a nerve toxin into a row won the small school first the skin of an animal. Why an individual tick causes the paralysis and another tick does not is unknown. Removal of the tick usually results in complete recovery in one to three days.

Ticks can also transmit a variety of diseases although this happens rarely. The most famous tick transmitted is so called Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

Ticks should be removed carefully to make certain the miniscule head and south parts are not left Insecticidal preparations recognition for participating in the called dips will kill the ticks on an animal and have some residual activity as well. Flea and tick collars help prevent ticks from getting on an animal but they often become too weak to do an adequate job. In heavily infested areas ticks seem to ignore flea and tick collars.

John and Betty May called on the Charles Whitley family in Troy on Thursday afternoon.

Rena and Ernie Andrews of Moscow were Sunday afternoon visitors in the Warney May home.

Don Benscoter visited with his mother, Jo, on Saturday. Lawrence and Nell Heimgartner called on Jo Saturday evening. Vick Benscoter dropped in to visit with Jo several times during last week, and with Amy Farington on Visitors during the week in the Walt Benscoter home were Priscilla Armitage and Vicky Benscoter. Wilma Greene of Lewiston stayed with Walt Benscoter over the weekend while helpr Maggie Lucker of Troy had some time off.

Sunday evening visitors of Walt Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heimgartner Benscoter were Diane and Chris Duvisited Sunday afternoon with sister pea of Orofino, and a friend of Joni Nunan of Troy had lunch with Dick and Vicky Benscoter on Friday. Dennis Driscoll was an afternoon visitor.

Dee and Jerry Saling of Spokane were weekend visitors in the Dick Benscoter home. Dee and Vicky attended the Renaissance Fair on Sunday afternoon. This was held at the Moscow City Park and was an interesting event.

Dick and Vicky Benscoter visited with Ella Benscoter at the Latah Care Center Sunday morning.

Linda had baked the cake-"Nellie -80 Years." The 8 candles were blown out by grandma Nellie and little great-granddaughter Brittany!

Next morning, Sunday, Linda arrived with a second cake, which was shared by drop-in-callers during the day. Most welcome and unexpected callers were former resident Cecil Jones, son Ronald and his wife Millie, now of Lewiston. Sol Jones (deceased) with his wife and 2 children, were part of our community life, living on Cherrylane Ranch, when all of us were much, much younger! They helped gather up, eat, and clean up a hasty lunch with Ernest and Nellie before driving on to visit others.

Merle Brown Cooper and brother Don Brown, of Lewiston, came later in the eve, having been repairing fence, thru poison oak brush, on the Pine Creek property, their childpart of the group which included hood home! More cake and turkey Henry and Susy Steigers, visiting was shared with them. Bob and Nina Coffland from Joel, with a card signed by many others!

gers and Dan, Patti and Tyson Stei- with their usual lovely gifts, came Saturday morning. Mary Hayhurs and Dorothy, nearly frozen after a day of garden club sale in Kendrick, > Phone calls from Eva Daniels (old friend); son Keith Steigers, recently home from a 5-week tour in Germany and surrounding countries, with wife Carolee; grandson Jim Steigers, spending his Sabbath in Tucson, Arizona; Mary Steigers in Lewiston — it's fun to be 80 years— Letters Cards!

Mildred's News-

Mildred Heath, with helper Freda, came for a most enjoyable afternoon lawn visit with Steigers on Tuesday afternoon. Old times relived! Mildred says son Gordon and wife

Grace plan repairing and moving into the trailer home owned by Leeat the foot of Hubbard Gulch, temporarily. The long, cold winters of Potlatch are not enjoyed by Grace! Edgar and Ruth, enroute to England, stopped briefly on Thursday. Inez Inghram of Asotin was her Friday Do you know baseball? evening visitor. Helper Pat was there for the weekend. Mildred feels good, she says!

Mr. and Mrs. Bud McGahey of Bear, 30 miles in the mountains above Council, Ida, enroute for the Troy area home of their daughter Eva, and the other Lakes, was a surprise visit that brot much pleasure to the Cherrylane Steigers on Tuesday, April 30.

A phone call from Keith Steigers, for his mother's birthday, reported them safely home from their Europeanstrip, but greeted by the news of the bad burns endured by youngest son Timmy during their absence! A flash flame ignited a rope entangling his feet, 2 cans of burnable liquid, and only his pocket knife falling from his burning jeans enabled him to cut the rope and escape. He is undergoing daily theraphy for treatment of the badly burned legs and one arm. Unable to wear "jeans" yet. But could have been worse!

Delores and Leslie Heimgartner spent overnite Saturday with the David Straw family. Young Darlene Straw was baptized Saturday at the LDS church near Kamiah and confirmed on Sunday at the church. Sunday afternoon was spent with the Tim Straw family before returning home to Stonypoint.

CAN OF CORN: An easily played fly

In the early 1900's, grocers usually stored cans of corn on a high shelf. When they needed one of the cans, they'd simply tip it forward with a rod or broom handle so the can would tumble easily into their waiting hands.

Someone, observing the similarity between the easily caught can and an easily caught baseball, started labeling the fly ball that is easy to play as an out "a can of corn."
