Tigers Blitz Genesee 30-6; Deary Here Friday

Coach Terry Webb had his KHS Tiger football team up and ready, just as he wanted to, Friday night at Genesee and the Tigers won their first league game 30-6. "Only the league games count," Webb had said before the season began. Last Friday's game counted—and the Tigers won it.

Genesee drew first blood early in the opening quarter on a two-yard run by Dan Stout. The Bulldog's kick try for the extra point failed but the GHS team made the lead hold up until the second quarter when Tiger quarterback Reece Hewett passed to Shane Taylor for 14 yards and six points. The two teams battled on even terms until just before the half when an alert Chad Henson recovered a Bulldog fumble on the GHS 5 yard line and took the ball into the end zone for another six points.

The Tigers scored twice more in the third quarter. Hewett carried the ball in from 3 yards out and then passed to Shane Taylor in a play covering 33 yards for the second score.

Hewett, who was having a good night in the passing department, teamed up with Scott Powers in the fourth quarter to score the final Tiger touchdown.

Hewett completed 18 of 33 passes Friday night for 237 yards and three touchdowns.

Deary Here Friday—

The Tigers will be back on their own gridiron this Friday night for a contest with the strong Deary Mustangs. Deary romped to an easy 36-0 victory over Troy last week.

Return from Vacation

Rudy and Glynis Meyer combined business, pleasure and Rudy's recuperation in a three-week trip this month that ran through a 10-state area visiting friends and relatives. They also visited their daughter Loanne in Phoenix.

Among the points of interest the local couple saw were J. R. Ewing's "South Fork" ranch and his work-place in Dallas, Texas. They viewed the assassination spots of John F. Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald. Another place of interest was the big mansion of J. B. Hunt.

At the Chris Town Mall in Phoenix the most fascinating sight was a sand castle made up of 180 tons of sand.

The Meyers saw some terribly dry states and the forest fire smoke followed them to Nebraska. They reported that it was good to be back in Idaho after the high temperatures in Nebraska, Texas and Arizona!

Thanks for Your Donations of Clothing

Hardy thanks to everyone who donated clothes and toys for Nicaraguan children. Since half the population of that tiny country is under the age of 16 years, your gifts are truly manna from heaven for the young people of that nation.

God bless you.

Brammers Return from Trip to Eastern States

Jean and Ernie Brammer returned Monday of this week from an eleven-day trip visiting Jean's cousins in Tennessee and Virginia. The last four days were spent with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ramey at Washington, D. C.

One highlight of their trip was a personal tour of a portion of the White House after working hours, guided by the Ramey's friend, who is a U. S. Secret Service agent for the president. Some of the rooms they went in were the president's barber shop, the Roosevelt Room, the cabinet room and the press room. They could not go in the Oval Room but could view it from the door way.

Before leaving the White House they went out to the Rose Garden.

One afternoon Jean and Ernie attended the annual Maryland Renaissance Festival located near Annapolis, Maryland.

Roberta Manwaring drove Jean and Ernie to the plane and also met the plane at Lewiston when they returned home Monday afternoon.

Manning Onstott Chosen Kendrick 'Granger of the Year'

Twenty-three members and four guests gathered at the Kendrick Grange Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 20 at 6:30. A delicious turkey and dressing supper was served by Grace Ingle, assisted by Ruth White, Kathryn Morey and Vera Hutcheson.

In the course of the evening several events occurred.

Manning Onstott was honored as "Granger of the Year". Committee chairman Frank Jacobson gave a report on Manning's many accomplishments as a Grange member. He joined subordinate Grange in 1943 and Latah County Pomona Grange in 1945. Frank stated Manning gave 30 years of that time in active service as an officer and committeeman and other accomplishments. He, and many other, were very active in the renovation of the hall and the move downstairs in 1973. With the help of his wife, Elsie, making a scrapbook, Kendrick Grange won third place that year in National Community Service contest.

Manning wrote and read a very informative account of the work of the Grange in an item of "What Grange Means to Me."

He was presented a certificate of merit by the Worthy Master, Nell Heimgartner, on behalf of the committee and the Grange.

A Silver Medallion of Kendrick's Centennial was presented, also on behalf of the Grange by Worthy Lecturer Ross Armitage.

Other special events of the evening were Jim Nelson, Vo-Ag instructor at Kendrick High School and students John Callison and Ron Wylie spoke on the FFA program and some of its accomplishments during the year. They also told of special occasions that are forthcoming, such as Award Night, slave day, judging at fairs and special contests. They are very busy and are doing well.

They want to raise funds to send members to the State Convention and one delegate to the National Convention in Kansas City, Mo. They are also looking for a special project.

A reading by Grace Ingle was enjoyed.

Master Nell Heimgartner, in the absence of the C. W. A., presented the Needlework Contest Awards on the Pomona level. They went to Marjorie Eldridge, Eva Rosenau, Kathryn Morey, and Ruth Heimgartner.

Tony Bashore, Grange Insurance representative from Clarkston was present and spoke on Grange policies including insurance for senior citizens also covering nursing homes. He also said they offered special insurance to 4-H and FFA members to cover their animals. Insurance is as low as 40c a month for sheep and 80c a month for a cow or steer. He will visit the Grange at regular intervals. He also spoke of scholarships available to Grange members and children of Grange members. Forms are available through the insurance representative and are due in by April 1.

Lecturer Ross Armitage read several interesting historical facts.

Installation of officers will be held at Moscow Saturday evening, Sept. 24, at 7:30.

The next meeting of Kendrick Grange will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 6 at the Kendrick Grange Hall with the new officers in charge.

Kendrick Grange Officers Installed

Some sixty-two Grangers met in Moscow last Saturday evening for the joint installation of sixty Pomona and subordinate Grange officers. Many of those installed serve as officers in both a subordinate and the Pomona Grange.

Twelve of Kendrick's fifteen officers for the coming year were duly installed by Wilf Vedder of Mica Flats Grange, State Deputy for District 3 of the Idaho State Grange. Nell Heimgartner of Kendrick was installed as Pomona Master.

The meeting, which was open to the public, was presided over by Gordon Dailey, Master of the Moscow Grange, which provided refreshments following the ceremony.

Kendrick's three remaining officers will be installed by Master Frank Jacobson at the next meeting of the local Grange on Tuesday, October 4, at 7:30 p. m. That same evening the Grange will also receive a new member and will complete its consideration of resolutions to be this year meets in Idaho Falls on acted upon at State Grange, which

Tony Loeser Wins Football Forecast

Young Tony Loeser of Kendrick picked all but 3 of the games in the NFL correctly last weekend to win the Kendrick football forecast. Dirk Hammond of Juliaetta also picked all but three winners, but Tony named the winner of the tie-breaker Monday night contest between the Broncos and the Raiders right and Dirk didn't. So Tony wins the $5 gift certificate.

Jeff Smith, who keeps the results of the Weekly Forecast, said the contest continues to attract the attention of local sports fans. He said here were nearly 100 entries last week.

Out On the Limb—

In spite of his miserable record of forecasting football game results, Jeff Smith was back again this week with his out-on-the-limb selection that Miami would defeat the Minnesota Viking at Miami. Jeff, we are said to report, has a 1-3 record this season. Maybe he should get some hints from Tony Loeser!

Report of a Small Vacation

Here's a report by Gene Heath of a small recent vacation:

We were just the other side of Burn's Junction on that straight shot highway from Boise to San Francisco when we came on an accident scene. In that section of Eastern Oregon there isn't too much in the way of instant communications. Farms and businesses are up to 50 miles apart and in the Burn's Junction coffee shop and by the way that is the only building in that town, residents told us by their observation it took an hour and fifteen minutes after a reported accident before the volunteer ambulance arrives at an accident in the area.

How lucky we are in the Kendrick area: The first E. M. T. (Barbara Heimgartner) arrived at Mom's catastrophe in Hubbard Gulch in about five minutes with the ambulance and crew soon after.

But down in Eastern Oregon on this bright Sunday morning with perfect roads, and the victims not 20 feet of the road, by my watch it was almost 3 hours before the loaded ambulance zipped past. It was surmised the accident may have been caused by the combination of an old car, poor tires, and maybe a little too much speed.

To take a leaf from the politicians notebook I have a couple of ideas to spend other people's money to improve the accident health care in that area. I think maybe the medical community around Portland could help subsidize the installation of emergency phone stations at intervals along the highway, and secondly if they really felt generous, could see to the installation of an arceal rescue unit.

To a more pleasant subject: headed south just as you approach Jordan Valley, Oregon (a town of a couple hundred population) on your right hand and a little off the road is an easy-to-miss small restaurant, The Basque-American, and we had one of the finest meals I have recently enjoyed there.

Donna Goff Named Kendrick's New City Clerk

Mrs. Donna Goff has been hired as the new city clerk of Kendrick, Mayor Darrel Brocke announced this week. Her selection was made from a list of eight applicants for the position. The field was screened down to four finalists and these were interviewed by the council last Saturday morning and the selection of Mrs. Goff was determined following the interviews.

Donna will replace Mrs. Sharon Harris, who had been clerk for the past eight years, but resigned to devote more time to her own accounting and bookkeeping business.

Mrs. Goff is an experienced clerk and accountant and was previously employed in the office of the Animal Clinic at Lewiston until she retired and moved to Kendrick to be with her father, Ben P. Cook.

Brocke said the city plans on remodeling the City Hall, (the former forestry building), and the new clerk will be conducting city business from 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Monday to Friday.

The city hopes to have the office ready by Monday, Oct. 3.

Mayor Brocke said he and the council wished to thank all those who applied for the position of city clerk and each application was given serious consideration. The council also wishes to thank Sharon Harris for her many years of service and wishes her the very best in the future.

Meal Site Tidbits—

Several Golden Sunset Seniors participated in the Elder Walk Program at Lewiston on Sept. 17. Those attending were Irene Christensen, Delores Polumsky, Jim and Edna Bower and Ruth White.

On Wednesday at the meal site, the film "Alaska" was shown by Melanie Bacon and her "little helper." It was a very interesting film showing many pictures of the early days in Alaska. The Klondike Gold Rush was supposed to be a big opportunity to get rich, many sold everything they owned here in the states and traveled to Alaska to stake their claims only to find they were too late. Beautiful scenery of glacier mountains, rivers, wildlife and the large cities of today were other features of the film. Fishing and forestry are its major industries, along with farming which one finds it difficult to relate to that state. One of the huge successes of our time was the building of the Alaska oil pipe line which carries one million barrels of oil per day to the terminal. Indian villages, their way of life and huge totem poles were shown, it is a very interesting culture to see. It is also known as the land of the midnight sun, at Burrow where the sun never sets for 2 1/2 months out of the year and during the winter months, sun isn't seen for 2 1/2 months.

Also, do you know there are more bears in Alaska than people?

Thanks, Melanie for a wonderful educational film and we are looking forward to next month's surprise.

Friday at the meal site was another day of feasting and friendly companionship. Now that local fairs and some other activities are behind us, perhaps we can all join together for some happy fun meetings again.

The visitor maps are printed in multi-colors, at a scale of one-half inch to the mile and show roads, trails, streams, lakes, recreation sites, land ownership, travel information and other points of interest in the National Forests.

For $2.50 each, black and white contour maps of the 7.5 minute series are available for National Forest lands in the Northern Region. Order forms for these maps will be sent upon request. In ordering these black and white contour maps (7.5 minute series) include the quadrangle name and location. An index of the areas is printed on each Forest Visitor map.

Yellowstone Animals Will Benefit from Fires Experts Say

What one University of Idaho expert termed a "lodgepole pine desert" is being renewed by the fire raging in Yellowstone National Park.

Ernest Ables, professor and head of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, said the dense canopy formed by interlocking crowns of lodgepole pine prevented shrub and grass growth on the forest floor in many areas. The amount of food available to the park's large ungulate population—mule deer, elk, moose, bighorn sheep, pronghorn antelope and bison—was not as abundant as it will be next spring when the burned areas have grasses and other herbage, shrubs and seedling trees growing on them.

Maurice Hornocker, director of the Wildlife Research Institute and an expert on wild cats, said, "Fire is a natural phenomenon. These forests have experienced fire many times."

He said the end result of most forest fires is improved range for the animals that live there. There are always both good and bad things happening with fires, some small animals die and some resources are destroyed, he noted.

The effects of fires on wild cats in Idaho and in Yellowstone National Park, will be minimal as long as their prey has enough winter range for the coming season, he said. Spring range will be better than for several years, since grasses and other quick growing forage plants will be abundant in burned over areas.

Stephen Bunting, associate professor of range resources, agrees. He said there should be a great increase in the variety of grasses and other annual and perennial plants and shrubs the animals like to graze by spring. "I think it is going to provide a greater variety of plant communities."

In the case of Yellowstone, he said he thinks the fires have skipped the large grassy meadows of the Hayden Valley and Lamar Valley. These areas will offer wildlife winter feed, but Idaho experts don't know how much.

Ables, Hornicker and Bunting all said a forest fire only burns about half the area attributed to it on a map. This leaves a patchwork of completely burned, partially burned and unburned areas.

Wildlife benefit from this situation because the unburned areas offer shelter some food and a source of seeds, while the burned areas provide grass and other quick growth plants for food.

Ables said the best wildlife habitats were created by large fires that burned around the turn of the century and in the 1930s.

The three men agreed that wildlife food supplies in the park can only be improved as a result of the fires.

Ables pointed out that accumulated dead trees and other forest debris had made some areas impassable in old lodgepole pine stands.

"Those areas needed to burn."

He did express some concern about areas with slower growing tree species, saying the large Douglas fir and Ponderosa pine along some rivers and the trees in sub-alpine conditions at high elevations would take a long time to regrow if they have burned.

Priscilla Armitage drove Walt Bencoter to Pullman on Thursday afternoon for his Dr.'s appointment. They later visited with Jack and Molly Bencoter at Pullman.

Diane Dupea stayed with her father Walt Bencoter over the weekend. Dick Bencoter was a Saturday morning caller. Vicky Bencoter also visited with Walt and Ruth Erickson during the week.

On Thursday Vicky Bencoter visited with Jo Bencoter and Arlene Clemm.

Dick and Vicky Bencoter enjoyed the Nez Perce County Fair in Lewiston on Saturday evening and saw many other people from this area who were also attending.

On Sunday morning Dick Bencoter called on Aunt Nancy Dryden

in Peck and did some chores for her. Rev. Walt Miller was a Sunday afternoon and evening visitor in the Dick Bencoter home, and watched the debate between the two presidential hopefuls with Dick and Vicky. A very 'civilized' evening—not even one argument over politics!

Obedience

General Bernard Montgomery, a professed Christian, has often revealed basic principles of obedience which should govern us as people under the great captain of our salvation. When he came into command in North Africa, to rescue the allied forces, General Montgomery expected his commands to be carried out. He says, "Orders no longer formed the basis for discussion, but for action . . . Previously orders had generally been queried by subordinates right down the line. I was determined to stop this state of affairs at once." Montgomery had uncovered the cause for the lost battles in Africa.

As Christians, far too often we find ourselves losing our own battles for the same reason, not obeying orders or commands from our Lord. Jesus said in Matthew 7:24, "Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock."

Doing the Word of God is obeying orders, and assures the Christian of victory. When was the last time you heard of someone calling for the elders of the church to come and anoint them with oil and pray because they were sick? But yet this is exactly what we are told to do in James 5:15&16 if we find ourselves ill. We are told that if an individual will do this, his sins will be forgiven, and God will raise him or her up out of their sick bed.

God's orders cover every area of life, guaranteeing in the final account success. Another example is found in the area of finances. The General's command is to sow money into his ministry, and to those in need. This is found in 2Corinthians 9:6. It is promised to us that if we will sow liberally, that we will also reap liberally. We must obey if we are to expect the desired success.

What are you facing that is a battle? Search the Word of God, and ask the Lord where you need to be obedient. "Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, . . ." 2Corinthians 2:14.
