Whitepine League Will Switch to 8-Man Football

Representatives of high schools in District II met recently and agreed to drop the current 11-man football program in favor of an 8-man game. The main reason, it was cited, was the declining enrollments at all of the secondary schools in the District.

Although the approval of this change was almost unanimous among the schools, many sport fans are asking why Kendrick High School is going to 8-man football when they had 40 players turning out last season. One of the reasons for the concern was that with an 8-man team not as many kids will get to play. Others feel that 8-man games are not "real football."

This week Gale Vallem, principal of Kendrick High School, and one of those involved in the decision, brought in some thoughts on the change. They reflect on the questions he has had asked since the proposal was acted on.

1. You always start the season with more players than you have at the end of the season. Players either quit or are injured. Kendrick ended this season with less than 30 players.

2. You hear it's because of numbers. The enrollment at Kendrick, Deary, Troy, and Genesee is dropping and the future looks like even smaller class sizes.

3. Highland High School went to eight-man football five years ago. They will be rejoining the Whitepine league this coming year.

4. Whitepine league is the A-4 schools in District II whose school enrollments are under 150. They include Genesee, Troy, Deary, Nezperce, Highland, Culesac, Elk River, and Kendrick. As you can see, Elk River, Culesac, Nezperce, and Highland don't have eleven-man teams now. The Whitepine league will have five members next year. Hopefully, in a couple of years, Culesac and/or Nezperce can field a team.

5. We have to consider people other than just Kendrick. As a member of a league we do have commitments to others. We play basketball and volleyball within this league also. Genesee and Kendrick both tried basketball in the A-3 level, but came back to play at the A-4 level during the 1982-83 school year.

6. Being in a league gives the kids, now and in the future, a better chance of playing students of their own size and capabilities.

7. If a JV program can be developed, even more students than now can be playing football. Others agree we have to develop a JV program.

8. The administration and school board agree that Kendrick cannot consistently play in the A-3. They would have at least 12-15 more juniors and seniors than Kendrick would have. It's not safe sending freshmen and sophomores against junior and seniors game in and game out. The size and experience is just not there.

9. The recent eight-man State champions have had 40 players on the roster.

Coach Webb Doesn't Like It—

Terry Webb, the football coach at Kendrick High School, is one of those who is not pleased with the decision to change to eight-man games. "It, (11-man), is just a better game," said the popular young coach. Webb took over as head coach six years ago at a time when the Kendrick program was in a shambles, and proceeded to build KHS back into a football power. He guided his Tigers to three State Play-offs and has always fielded a tough, rugged team.

One of the main reasons Webb opposes the change is that he feels Kendrick still has the numbers to field a competitive 11-man entry in area competition. But Webb was not at the meeting that made the decision. "I don't know much more about it than what was in the papers last week," he said Tuesday.

It was rumored that Terry would resign his position at KHS rather than coach eight-man ball, but he said Tuesday afternoon that he had not formally done this.

Webb just likes 11-man football alot better. "Look," he asked, "would you watch black and white television if you had a good color set?"

While not everyone likes the decision to change over to eight-man football, the switch doesn't bother Ozzie Kanikkeberg at all. Ozzie, who has coached at Genesee High School for 35 years, and is one of the most respected coaches in the state, told the Gazette Tuesday morning that the change was, "a matter of logic in our case." Adding that "we were down to 80 and 90 pound freshman."

"Look," Kanikkeberg said, "The rules are identical—it's the same game." He conceded that there are some offensive plays that can't be run in an eight-man game, but he thinks the fans might find the more open offense will be more exciting for both the players and fans.

Does playing eight-man ball hurt a player's chances of playing college

Local Cub Scouts Held Pack Meeting Nov. 3

On Thursday, Nov. 3, the J-K Cub Scouts held their Pack Meeting. The Cubs were busy making Thanksgiving decorations. The next Pack Meeting will be Thursday, Dec. 1. Be sure and be there!

At the November meeting, Travis Bostick and Gary Mitchell received their Scholar Badge and William Nye received his Bobcat Pin. One-Year pins were presented to Billy Brown, David Donaldson and Richie Hitchcock.

On Nov. 10th, Dens 1 and 2 traveled to Spaulding to visit the Indian Museum. They saw many interesting displays. Those accompanying the boys were Margaret Bostick, Iona Calkins and Zana Wonder. Thanks for your help, we couldn't do it without you.

The Cub Scouts have started their fund raising sale. This year the boys are selling a 3-pack of Bic pens for $1. Those helping with the sale on Nov. 4th were Justin Cope, Tami Hitchcock, Jodi Mitchell and Ben Nye. Thanks for the help. If we missed you and you would like to buy some pens, please contact a Cub Scout. The Scouts will be selling pens until Dec. 1.

Scouting For Food—

The J-K Scouts are also helping with the "Scouting for Food" program. The Scouts have set up donation boxes at the Juliaetta Market, Kendrick Country Store and Phil's Food City for the week of Nov. 12-19. All food donated will go to Good Samaritan Food Bank that serves this local area. Help others this Thanksgiving Holiday!

TIGER CUB SCOUTS DONATE TO FOOD BANK

The six young men of the Tiger Cubs went to Phil's Food City Tuesday afternoon and each donated cans of food they had brought from their homes to give to the Good Samaritan Food Bank in Kendrick.

After dropping off the canned goods, the boys and their leaders went to the Pumpkin Patch Ceramic Shop and enjoyed a painting session before returning to the Fire Hall for treats and to close the meeting.

Julie Says "Thanks"

I would like to express my thanks and appreciation to the community for the support that I received during my week at the Idaho State Jr. Miss Scholarship Program. The overwhelming encouragement made it very easy for me to proudly represent Kendrick and Juliaetta. I would especially like to thank the K-J Jr. Miss committee, my parents and grandparents, the Lions Club, KHS, and Holly Baracklay for the flowers, cards and other gifts that I received during my stay in Moscow. Thanks again to everyone for the effort put forth to make my week at state a memorable experience.

Thank you,

ball? "Absolutely not," Ozzie said. "One season we had four ex-Genesee guys playing college football and none of them had ever played an 11-man game before they got to college."

Eight-man football will not be anything new for the Whitepine league which played the game for over 10 years back in the late 50's and 60's and then jumped up to 11-man ball after the area experienced a population and school growth in the late 60's.

Local Telephone Rates Will Raise

Recent action of the Federal Commission will increase the cost of phone service for most residential and single line business customers of the Potlatch Telephone Company. Beginning December 1, the FCC Interstate access charge will increase $.60 per month from its present $.26 level.

The December increase, the second in a series of three such increases in the toll access charge, is a result of continuing action by federal regulators to shift the cost of the nation's phone system from long distance to local exchange customers.

At the same time the FCC ordered the increase, AT&T announced that it would cut the cost of Interstate long distance service by an average of 3.8%, or $697 million annually, coincident with the $.60 increase of the interstate access charge. "The net cost of phone service—both local and toll—for some customers will actually drop," said Marilyn Eichner, manager of Potlatch Telephone Co. A customer whose average monthly Interstate long distance bill exceeds $15 is likely to see a smaller combined local and long distance bill.

In 1984, the FCC set out on a program to shift a portion of the cost of the country's phone system from the long distance to local customer. "Most folks don't realize a large portion of the cost of the wire that connects a phone to the local exchange switching office is paid for by users of long distance service," stated Eichner.

But that's changing. Since 1984, AT&T has been able to reduce its interstate long distance rates by over 38%. The drop in toll rates has occurred as a consequence of the FCC ordering the introduction in 1984 of a monthly interstate subscriber line access charge. As a result of federal action, most residential and small business customers are paying more for phone service. At the same time some business and residential customers—those who are heavy users of interstate long distance service—are paying less for phone service than they did a few years ago.

The trend in increasing monthly charges and decreasing long distance rates is expected to continue at least through next year. "The FCC interstate access charge is scheduled to increase to $3.50 on April 1, 1989," said the phone company manager. "AT&T's long distance rates will probably be cut 2% to 3% next April." The trend, lower interstate long distance rates and higher monthly charges, is a result of action taken by federal regulators and the courts to encourage competition in the long distance marketplace. While long distance competition has benefited some customers, the vast majority of phone users, particularly those in rural areas, are paying more for phone service as a result of competition.

In addition to a cut in toll rates, AT&T is also planning to reduce the cost of many of its discount calling plans including "Reach Out America" and "Pro America." The cost of WATS and 800 Service will also drop.

The AT&T reduction does not have any effect on its state interstate LATA long distance charges. Such rates are controlled by state, not federal regulators.

"Flash" Merrell Wins Football Forecast

Trina "Flash" Merrell of Juliaetta tied with five other contestants in last week's football forecast of NFL games, but predicted the outcome score of the Monday night tie-breaker to claim the $5 gift certificate. "Flash" came closer on the final score of the Monday night game than Don Bateman did, who finished in 2nd place.

This week's forecast is being sponsored by the Kendrick plant of the Lewiston Grain Growers, but the winner may pick up the $5 gift certificate at the Town and Country Diner.

Out on the Limb—

Jeff Smith's beloved Miami Tuna Fish betrayed him again last week after he boldly predicted they would beat Buffalo. And Jeff's Out on the Limb pick's slipped deeper into the shame of poor predictions. In an effort to excuse his miserable record, Smith issued the following public statement—and we quote:

"Well, my Miami Dolphins took a turn for the worst last night, when Buffalo and the refs beat Miami. You understand I'm not giving up on Miami, but instead I have the attitude of 'wait until next year.' Also, there are some terrible rumors floating around that I'm converting into a Seattle Seahawk fan! Of course, we all know that's not true, but to set the record straight, I always will remain a Dolphin fan."

Smith then went on to predict that Atlanta will beat the LA Raiders at Los Angeles.

We anticipate success
We can live with disappointment.
In asking for support
We risk rejection.
When help is freely given
Certain special harmonies appear
Which make that first uncertainty Worthwhile.
Win or lose, we've made alot of friends.

Thanks for your help.
