Library Needs Your Support

By Carolyn Gravelle

What great company I have found in the Juliaetta Library. I get to

"hand-pick" my friends there.
Through videos I meet Bill Moyers; Christie; I read poems by Stanley Kunitz, fiction by John Updike. Isaac Asimov and Stephen King provide thrills in science and horror. Brink, Mark Twain and Beatrix Potter-the list goes on and on . . .

Their friendships invite me into their minds, allowing me to linger with them until I close their book, processing charge is required. set the magazine aside, turn off the tape, or pop out the video.

It's nice knowing them this way It's also nice to know others enjoy this kind of company.

Within the last year, the authors circulating at the Juliaetta Library alone were 12,284! Now for a place the size of Juliaetta-that's a lot of

And what's more amazing is that having so many guests didn't cost

True, it did cost-but it's not the expense that each of us paid for every author we wanted to meet. Inthrough taxes.

Of course, there are those who cry, "It's not fair." But then, those are often the ones who don't use the lib-

And it isn't fair because they aren't giving themselves a chance to meet some great minds. They might be pleasantly surprised to find how truly inexpensive it is to venture through generations of ideas by just sharing the cost with taxation.

With the dramatic increase of prices for printed materials, the proposed tax levy (the one to be voted upon Tuesday, May 21, at the Moscow-Latah County Library branches) is not asking for more money—in fact, it is just asking to continue the 1% ad valorum tax for two more years because the current one has run out. It's merely a renewal of what we have paid with a continued guarantee of good library service.

There is no tax increase. If by chance the tax levy was voted down on Tuesday, what would that mean to Juliaetta?

According to branch librarians Jan Welles and Cynthia Nye, the Go ahead and visit the library to vote "yes" on May 21 for the tax levy.

Then together we can count on our library having those paperback books to continue hand-picking our special, friends for a reasonable cost.

The Juliaetta Library will be open May 21, for polling. Any resident of Latah County, living outside the Moscow city limits, is eligible to

Sally Thanks Her Friends—

A special thank you is in order for the help I received this last week end at the Chicken Co-op when I was unable to be at work. I would like to thank the following for helping me out: Syrina Groseclose, Kelly and Jimmy Sandino; Marie, Bethany, Levi and Wally Eckroth. We could not have done it without you. To Robin Sandino for filling in at the last minute and doing a great job. I am ever so grateful.

Glyna Salonen and Jenifer Curry, you are always there in a pinch and to Iris Eckroth for taking over and making this weekend a success, words are just not enough to express how much I appreciate everything

Thank you also for all the well wishers and understanding customers who were so patient with us.

I am so lucky to live in a community where there are so many caring and helpful people. Dick Witt, thanks are in order to you for taking over my radio.

Thanks again and God Bless all. Sally Browning
