Please Join with the Idaho State Police In Saving Lives

The month of December has been proclaimed "Drunk and Drugged Driving Prevention Month". The goal is to save lives!

The theme for this month is "Let's Take a Stand". Friends don't let friends drive drunk. Do something before tragedy strikes a loved one or a friend.

Our objective, says the Idaho State Police, is to make people aware of the tragedies occurring on our roads and highways with the use of drugs and alcohol so that people can assist in preventing these needless deaths during this holiday season. The use of the designated driver is a must for those who wish to use alcoholic beverages during the holidays and make it home alive. People need to know that the drinking driver is out there, and the best way for motorists to protect themselves is by staying alert and using their seatbelts. Seatbelts save lives!

Drug- and alcohol-related deaths on our roads and highways occur every 22 minutes in the United States. About 20,000 lives were lost this year in 1991. About three-quarters of a million people are injured in drug- or alcohol-related motor vehicle crashes each year. This is equal to the population of San Francisco. There is nothing accidental about impaired-driving crashes, which are the number one killer of teenagers in our country. A young American dies every three hours in the U. S., due to drug- or alcohol-related accidents.

During the month of December, the Idaho State Police will be conducting five major emphasis patrols to saturate certain areas in the five north central Idaho counties with State Police troopers. The major areas of patrol will be the Lewiston, Moscow, Orofino, the Kamiah/Kooskia and Grangeville/Cottonwood areas. State Troopers will be on patrol during the hours most drinking drivers are on the highways.

The Idaho State Police will also be making a strong effort to increase public education and awareness during December. We need help from Idaho's citizens in stopping needless highway deaths. Anyone witnessing drug- or alcohol-impaired driving is urged to contact the State Police. Callers may report impaired drivers toll-free from anywhere in Idaho by dialing 1-800-233-1212.

Future Farmers, Future Homemaker Chapters Important Part of KHS

By Anna Klatt

Kendrick High School continues to offer a wide variety of clubs to its students. Future Homemakers of America and the Kendrick Future Farmers of America are two of K. H. S.'s most well-known and long-lived organizations both still offer the same opportunities as they did 15 years ago.

Future Homemakers of America isn't just cooking anymore. It teaches its members how to survive in the real world. If students would like to be a part of F. H. A., they must be enrolled in at least one semester of a Home Economics class and declare themselves a member by paying the $4 membership dues. During the year, F. H. A. keeps very busy doing community work and fund raisers. To help fund the club's activities they hold their annual Koffee Kidnap, as well as other fund raising projects such as the sale of posters. There are several contests F. H. A. members may participate in. These are called S. T. A. R. events (Students Taking Action with Recognition). At the district contest, members may enter different categories. A few are illustrated talks, job interview, family communication, or food service. If members win a gold at the district level, they then go on to compete at the state level during the state convention held in the spring. This year's officers are Nichole Klatt, Representative; Carolyn Carter, Public Relations Officer; Bethany Eckroth, Secretary; Darbi Kechter, Vice President, and Aundie Howerton, President. Amie Bruce is the State F. H. A. District 2 Director. Mrs. Sharon Hoogland is the club advisor.

The Kendrick Future Farmers of America is a fun and exciting club according to students at K. H. S. To become a member of the F. F. A. you must be enrolled in an Ag Class. The club has a $15 registration fee, which makes members eligible to participate in any contest. F. F. A. has to offer, such as the annual soil judging contest in Troy each fall. The group looks forward to its annual trip down south each spring to participate in the state convention, and getting the opportunity to send students to the national convention. The club holds an annual slave sale and a dunk tank at Locust Blossom Festival and also sponsors car washes throughout the year. This year's officers are Toby Foster, Sentinel; Jami Silflow, Reporter; Jake Marek, Treasurer; Amy Pinson, Secretary; Jessica Bunch, Vice President; and Jennifer Hazelitine, President. Tim Hardy is the club advisor.

Idaho Seat Belt Use Jumps to All-Time High

Boise—Seat belt use statewide improved markedly from the figure recorded just three months ago, according to a recent survey. Idahoans buckled up at a rate of 83.2 percent, the highest mark ever recorded by the state, the Idaho Transportation Department's Office of Highway Safety reported.

In addition to improving over the last survey taken, the survey shows an increase in compliance of over 37 percent since the seat belt law was enacted in June, 1988.

In the survey of 21 cities across the state, Southcentral Idaho again led the state, with a rate of more than 83 percent. Twin Falls weighed in at more than 68 percent compliance, the highest of any survey city.

Lewiston and Moscow came in above the 60 percent barrier, while Coeur d'Alene just missed the 60th percentile. The North Idaho community recorded a 59.9 percentile rank, a jump of over 10 points from the September survey.

The second-highest increase was noted in the city of Rexburg, which rose almost nine points. The Eastern Idaho region, which traditionally has trailed behind the rest of the state in seat belt use, saw an increase of almost 14 percentage points in the recent survey.

Preston, Blackfoot and Salmon reported the least compliance, all under 25 percent.

Statistics prove that not wearing a seat belt is a dangerous game, with too many losers. Of the 218 people killed in automobile accidents last year in Idaho, 177 of them (81 percent) were not wearing a seat belt.

Seat belts prevented injury to more than 18,600 people who were buckled up at the time of an accident. Last year, not wearing seat belts cost Idahoans $153.8 million.

Idaho's safety belt law requires all drivers and front seat passengers in passenger cars, pickups, and vans to wear safety belts. The child restraint law requires parents or guardians to properly restrain children under the age of four or 40 pounds in an approved car safety seat.

Cincinnati, Ohio was named in 1790 by General Arthur St. Clair, to honor the Society of Cincinnati, an organization of Revolutionary War Army Officers.

Claude C. King, 97, Retired Southwick Farmer, Passes

Claude C. King, a retired Southwick and Cavendish farmer, died of causes related to age Monday, Dec. 21 at the Lewiston Care Center. He was 97.

A native of North Carolina, he was raised in the Cavendish-Southwick areas, where he and his wife lived and farmed for many years.

He was born January 18, 1895, in North Carolina to James R. and Nancy Flanary King.

The family came to the West when he was young and settled at Tacoma, where he attended schools for a few years.

They later moved to the Cavendish-Southwick area and he attended school at Southwick.

He and Bessie Triplett were married March 30, 1916. After their marriage, they remained in the Cavendish-Southwick area. He served as postmaster at Southwick for about a year, then farmed in the area.

His wife died July 16, 1981, and he moved to Lewiston in 1982. He lived in the Burrell Station until entering the care center in March 1990.

An avid outdoorsman, he raised hunting dogs and enjoyed hunting and wildlife photography. He served as clerk of the Southwick School Board from 1933 to 1938.

Survivors include a son, Ralph W. King of Lewiston; a brother Ray C. King of Lewiston, three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Two brothers, two sisters and a son, James, died previously.

His funeral was conducted Wednesday, Dec. 23, at Malcom's Brower-Wann Chapel at Lewiston with the Rev. J. Stanley Lyman officiating.

The family suggests memorials be sent to the Juliaetta-Kendrick Ambulance Fund.

John Deobald Wins Weekly Football Forecast

Last week's forecast was sponsored by Wayne Harris Auction Service. This week's contest is being sponsored by Jeffrey's Lounge.

This week our football forecasters say:

Don Chrystal: Green Bay will defeat Minnesota at Minnesota.

Jeff Smith predicts the Detroit Lions will beat San Francisco at San Francisco.

Wally Butler thinks New England will beat Miami at New England.

Silflows Hosted Christmas Dinner for J/K E. M. T. Unit Members

A Christmas dinner was hosted by Gary and Shary Silflow for the local E. M. T. group Wednesday, Dec. 16. Approximately 40 people attended even though a snow storm caused some concern.

No sooner had the dinner begun when the radios went off. So off they go with the rest of the group "standing by."

The children enjoyed an evening of snowboarding and sledding—with only one major collision.

A good time was shared by all, by a group of excellent volunteers in our community.

"See you folks again next year."
—Shary

BE CAREFUL AROUND
SNOW REMOVAL EQUIPMENT

This winter, motorists can increase their safety by taking precautions when driving near snow removal equipment. Snowplow blades forcing snow up and off the road can cause blizzard-like or reduced visibility conditions for drivers following too closely.

Caution and cooperation are the keys to snow removal safety. Drivers can help to increase safety by remembering the following tips.

- * Remain two car lengths behind snow plow trucks for every ten miles per hour of speed of your vehicle. Chemicals or abrasives being spread by trucks can damage your vehicle. Snow being removed from the road can spray out, reducing visibility.

- * Do not pass a snow removal vehicle unless it is absolutely necessary. If you must pass, do not pass through the snow plume coming off the snowplow, and pass only when you can clearly see the road ahead. Be patient if cars are stacking up behind a snow removal vehicle. The snowplow operators will let you pass when it is safe.

- * Do not cut back immediately in front of a snowplow truck; the plow blades are often covered with snow and can be difficult to see. The plow extends as much as 30" beyond the truck width.

- * Do not brake suddenly if you are traveling in front of a snowplow. The heavy vehicle cannot stop as quickly as an automobile.

- * Expect to see snow removal equipment in action during a storm. Snowplows are continually clearing the streets to provide the best possible road conditions, so be on the lookout for them.

- * Do not abandon your vehicle under the passage of this Ordinance, and after consideration is received from the successful bidder, execute and deliver a Deed for the real property described herein.

SECTION 5. That should a petition expressing dissatisfaction with this sale be filed with the City Clerk within sixty (60) days following the passage of this Ordinance containing the names of at least ten (10) percent of the qualified electors, then the contemplated sale shall not occur until the appropriate special election is held on the question of whether or not to sell the real property.

SECTION 6. EFFECTIVE DATE. That this ordinance shall be in full force from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED by the City Council and APPROVED by the Mayor this 8th day of December, 1992.

OPEN NEW YEAR'S DAY

We're glad it's Christmas--

The Christmas season is with us again, with all the inspiration, tradition and magic it holds. We are inspired and renewed as we reflect on the true spirit of the holiday—the birth of Jesus and God's great promise. We are glad to observe the traditions of the holiday with warm feelings of good will to people of good faith everywhere and express our gratitude for the friendship and support of family and friends. And, we are touched by the magic of Christmas with all its color and excitement.

While we are caught up in happiness and excitement of this time of year we do pause to quietly reflect on those who are not with us this Christmas, but whose lives have touched ours and whose memory adds to our treasury of recollections.

It is with sincere gratitude that we offer our thanks to the community for its continued support and friendship. We wish for you and your all the wonderful things the Christmas season holds.
