Big Grange Hurrah For Elsie Onstoft December 6

The same evening recently that it was making plans to honor long-time member Elsie Onstoft, Kendrick Grange also discussed the possible reasons for the decline of the Grange as a fraternal organization in Idaho. Elsie, who will celebrate fifty years of Grange membership and service at a potluck in her honor on December 6, can well remember when the subordinate and Pomona Granges in Latah County were thriving, active centers for rural family life.

Today most Latah County Granges see only a handful of members getting together to keep the traditions and purposes of this national farm organization alive. Moscow Grange, once one of the the county's most active subordinate Granges, is currently preparing to surrender its charter. Others cling to existence in the faith and hope that they can still play a role in the life of their community, even with a much, much smaller active membership.

Vera Hutcheson, Kendrick' delegate to last month's state convention, reported that Granges in the southern part of the state did much more to involve younger members and children, a factor considered essential to maintaining the Grange and assuring its future. Vera suggested a possible reason for this is the continuing presence of small family farms in the south.

Others feel that the decline of Grange membership can be attributed to the changing nature of the family today. Millie Corkill, another veteran member of the Kendrick Grange, argues that too many parents today don't care enough to try to involve their children in community organizations such as the Grange to help create a sense of unity and shared values.

Kirk Rush, a member of Moscow Grange, feels that where the Grange as an institution once belonged to the members, today the members belong to the Grange—meaning that the hierarchy originating at the national level controls the program rather than letting individual Granges experiment with different meeting formats and activities. Rush feels that the Grange as a traditionally constituted has served its purpose and should end with a hurrah rather than a whisper.

Whatever its future, the Grange today has reason to celebrate the contributions of members like Elsie Onstoft. Grangers and Grange friends alike are invited to bring their favorite dishes to a potluck honoring Elsie on Tuesday, Dec. 6, beginning at 6:30 p. m. at the Kendrick Grange

Brocke Family Reunion In Coeur d'Alene on Thanksgiving Day

The first family reunion of the children of the late M. Eugene and Florence H. Brocke since their passing was held over the Thanksgiving holidays in Coeur d'Alene at the home of Vickie Brocke Hamilton.

Don Brocke, along with his wife Joyce and children Gene, Rob and Kell Brocke traveled to Coeur d'Alene on Wednesday evening and had a late dinner at a Coeur d'Alene restaurant then stayed overnight at the home of Vicki and Rob Hamilton for a Thanksgiving Day family reunion. Cindy Brocke Olson, who has recently moved back to Idaho and is living in Coeur d'Alene about five blocks from her sister Vicki also was at the Thanksgiving family reunion along with her roommate and performing partner, Candye DiLascio. Kerrie Hamilton was also there; the youngest son of Rob and Vicki Hamilton, and Taunn Hamilton, the oldest son of Rob and Vicki, who is away at school called home so everyone was able to speak to him.

It was a very traditional Thanksgiving feast with roast turkey, pies and huckleberry cheesecake. Later that day Don and Joyce, along with Vicki and Robin visited at the home of Cindy and Candye where Don and Cindy spent time in the music room singing. Don played the 12-string acoustic guitar while accompanied on her keyboard. Afterward Robin entertained the adults with antics on the microphone, the adults concluded that he has a possible stage presence that will hopefully be developed, at least there is no stage fright among relatives.

The cousins enjoyed a Super Nintendo marathon in Rob and Vicki's new family room that is in the recently remodeled basement of their home.

Don and Joyce Brocke, along with children Gene, Robin and Kelly had breakfast Friday morning at a pancake house in Coeur d'Alene. The boys got helium balloons and then they all returned to Kendrick Friday afternoon. It was all very enjoyable.

More family gatherings are planned in the years to come. The children and adults alike had a lot of fun as everyone reminisced and visited together.

A monument, a double headstone, for the late M. Eugene and Florence Brocke, had finally been placed at American Ridge Cemetery just before the Thanksgiving family reunion.

Hall. Come and add to the big HURRAH for Elsie!

Christmas Lighting Decorating Contest Again This Season

The holiday season is upon us again. Time for joy, harmony, peace and love. And, once again, the Kendrick-Juliaetta Community Development Association is sponsoring a Christmas Decorating and Lighting Contest.

Last year the towns of Juliaetta and Kendrick and outlying areas were ablaze with beautiful lights and decorations and the judges were hard-pressed to choose winners.

The contest is open to all who reside within Kendrick Jt School Dist. No. 283. Those who live outside of the two towns and wish to be included in the judging, are asked to call 289-3861 or 289-4167 and leave their names and locations to make certain they are not missed.

This year there are two categories: Religious and Winter Wonderland. There will be first and second place prizes awarded for each town and also for the outlying areas.

Look for more news on this subject next week.

Local V. F. W. Post Urges Community to "Remember Pearl Harbor"

Americans everywhere will be asked, once again, to "Remember Pearl Harbor" on Wednesday, Dec. 7. But for veterans of World War II that reminder will be unnecessary—for the men and women who served in that great war remember it, all too well. The members of Baker-Lind Post 3913, join in remembering the sacrifice young American men made during the conflict. Some from our community made the supreme sacrifice to defend our nation, and it is only fitting that we remember and honor them.

Fifty-three years ago on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, the sky over Pearl Harbor, Hawaii was filled with Japanese planes. When the last wave of attacking aircraft rejoined the Japanese fleet, 1,178 lay wounded and 2,403 were dead or dying. A great portion of the U. S. Pacific Fleet was in shambles.

Thus began America's entry into World War II—five years that changed the world. The United States returned from World War II as the world's greatest military and economic power. America was the world's peace-keeper and a symbol of freedom and liberty for all. But, today we stop to pay homage to those who paid the price for America's greatness.

That first morning at Pearl Harbor, men were killed as they ran to man their battle stations. Families across our nation listened in horror as the radio announced the destruction and death. For those men and women and their families, we pause this week to remember.

Beginning at Pearl Harbor and throughout World War II American soldiers, marines, and airmen suffered injuries, many which they still carry today. For those who escaped death and physical injury, World War II has also changed their lives forever.

THANK YOU FROM NELL C.—

I was so thrilled to see the group of old friends who surprised me on my 90th birthday on Nov. 23rd.

Thank you for the beautiful cards, flowers and delicious food. Most of all, thank you for your friendship and love.

Holiday Mailing Tips Given by Post Office

During this holiday season you can help yourself and those who receive your letters and cards by addressing the mail so that it is "readable".

The days of sorting mail primarily by hand are long gone. State of the art letter scanning equipment, capable of reading eight addresses every second, or about thirty thousand addresses an hour, is now in use in post offices throughout the country for rapid processing of letter mail.

Here a few simple guidelines for letters or parcel labels:

Print or type addresses with black ink. Place the address horizontally in the approximate center of the envelope and keep each line of the address flush left.

Which address should I use?—My street address or my P. O. Box Number? You may use both, but if you have a P. O. Box No. it must be used and must be placed closest to the town & state, i. e.

Sally Doe
208 E 3rd St
Box 345
Kendrick ID 83537-0345

Use capital and lower case letters. Omit periods, commas, and apostrophes to separate, state and ZIP codes, because optical scanners and bar code sorters work better when they don't have to read punctuation.

Use standard abbreviations, such as ST for street and DR for drive. Always provide apartment and suite numbers, adjacent to or above the street address line, never below.

Always use correct ZIP Codes or the correct ZIP plus 4, if known. When using an attention line, place place it on top of the address block.

Leave and area ¼" in the lower right-hand corner of the envelope blank because that's where the optical scanner sprays the bar code. Always include a return address on all letters and packages.

Automation helps the Postal Service handle growing volumes of mail quickly and accurately and helps keep postal costs down. By addressing it right the machines can speed the mail on its way.

To serve you better, the Kendrick Post Office will have extended hours from Monday, Dec. 12 through Tuesday, Dec. 20. The window will be open continuously from 8 a. m. to 4:45 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 17 we will be open 9 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

There are only 20 shopping days until Christmas.

THE FOOD BANK CHALLENGE

It was the month before Christmas And all through the counties Our thoughts were all focused On nature's great bounties.

But not every cupboard Is stocked for the season For hard times may hit us Without any reason.

So he who has plenty This season of giving Can share with his neighbors And help with their living

And how do we share What we have with the rest We give to the Food Bank Of what we've been blessed.

Farm Bureau, R. E. Magnuson, and Farmers Insurance, along with the Town — Country Diner have food boxes available to give to the Food Bank.
LET'S MAKE THIS A GREAT SUCCESS!

Local People Return From Caribbean Cruise

Ernie and Jean Brammer and Roberta Bingham returned home Thursday, Nov. 17 from a 10-day cruise in the caribbean on board the Sun Viking ship. The ports of call were St. Barts, Martinique, Grenada, Dominica, St. Maarten, St. Thomas, and Puerto Rico. Each port they visited had its own unique culture. The people were friendly and welcomed the tourists. Daytime temperatures ranged between 80 and 89 degrees—at nights 79 to 81 degrees.

Martinique is one of the largest islands in the Lesser Antilles. It is a mountainous island with many varieties of flowering trees, bamboo and wild orchids. In 1902 the volcano Mt. Pelee erupted, killing 30,000 people in the town of St. Pierre. The town has since been rebuilt.

Grenada is popularly known as the Spice Island. The tropical climate ensures the success of spice production — nutmeg, cocoa, mace, cloves, vanilla, cinnamon and ginger.

Dominia has the smallest population. It has volcanic mountain ranges, tropical rain forests, exotic ferns and flowers. Women wash their clothes in the mountain streams and rivers. Their clothes are very clean.

While the Sun Viking was docked at St. Thomas, Ernie and Jean had the opportunity to visit their niece, Lynn (Koepp) Heimgartner, who is currently living on the island of Tortola, northeast of St. Thomas.

It was an enjoyable trip and they were fortunate to avoid the tropical storm "Gordon".

Develop. Assoc. Annual Meeting Evening of Dec. 8

The Kendrick-Juliaetta Community Development Association will hold its annual meeting Thursday evening, Dec. 8 at 7:30 p. m. in the Kendrick Fire Hall. Please note that this is an evening meeting, rather than the usual noon meeting of the group.

President Lillian Howerton reminds all organization and both city councils that community projects they have on their agenda for 1995 and the near future should be submitted at this time. It is very important and beneficial to have those projects and plans included in the Gem Community Certification Report that is submitted to the Department of Commerce each year.

Anyone with a project to be included for the community next year should contact a board member, Infrastructure Committee chairman Donna Heinen or Business Retention and Expansion Committee chairman Chirstine Clayton. This information is needed before the Dec. 8 meeting.

The Assoc. invites everyone in the community to attend this very important meeting. Board members will be elected, information on what the communities future plan and projects are and how those plans will involve both city councils and the citizens of the community will be some of the subjects.

Ray Vincent, Jr. Wins Weekly Football Forecast

Maybe a "chip off the old block"? At least it looks like that from here as Ray Vincent, Jr. won last week's Kendrick-Juliaetta Weekly Football Forecast. Young Ray, still in grade school and a good Cub Scout, picked all but two of the games in the NFL last week correctly. Two other contestants also only missed two games so it went to the Monday night tie-breaker game and Ray, Jr. got them there. He may pick up his prize from Becky Britton at Farm Bureau Insurance in Kendrick.

This week's contest is being sponsored by Town and Country Diner. There were 37 entries submitted in last week's contest.

Out-on-the-Limb—

Jeff Smith's on a down-hill slide with his "out-on-the-limb" picks. If you remember, Jeff picked the Green Bay Packers to beat the Dallas Cowboys. They almost did it, too, but almost isn't quite good enough and Jeff slipped to 5 and 8.

Now this week he predicts the Philadelphia Eagles to beat the Cowboys at Phillie.

Meeting After Dec. 5

Ball Game at High School

Following the girls basketball game on Monday evening, Dec. 5, there will be a meeting in the KHS gym for parents and interested individuals to begin discussing plans for the Senior Class of 1995 graduation party.

This is to be a drug and alcohol-free party. All who want to support this endeavor are invited to attend.

For Juliaetta Residents: What You Should Know about Lead in Drinking Water

The U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) and the City of Juliaetta are concerned about lead in your drinking water. Although most homes have very low levels of lead in their drinking water, some have levels above the USEPA action level of 15 parts per billion (ppb), or 0.015 milligrams of lead per liter of water (mg/L).

Under federal law, the City is required to have a program in place to minimize lead in your drinking water by July 1, 1998. This program includes corrosion control treatment, source water treatment, and public education. The City is also required to replace each lead service line that we control if it contributes to lead concentrations of 15 ppb or more after the comprehensive treatment program has been completed.

If you have any questions about how we are carrying out the requirements of the lead regulations, call Frank Groseclose, City Operator, at the water treatment plant, 276-4270. This article explains steps you can take to protect yourself and your family by reducing your exposure to lead in drinking water.

Health Effects of Lead
Lead is a common, natural, and often useful metal found throughout the environment in lead-based paint, air, soil, household dust, food, certain types of pottery, porcelain, pewter, and water.

Lead can pose a significant risk to your health if too much of it enters your body. It builds up in body over many years and can damage the brain, red blood cells, and kidneys. The greatest risk is to young children and pregnant women. Amounts of lead that won't hurt adults can slow normal mental and physical development in growing bodies. In addition, a child at play often comes into contact with sources of lead contamination—like dirt and dust—that rarely affect an adult. It's important to wash children's hands and toys often and to try to make sure they only put food into their mouths.

Lead in Drinking Water
Lead in drinking water, although rarely the sole cause of lead poisoning, can significantly increase a person's total lead exposure, particularly infants who drink baby formulas and concentrated juices mixed with water. The USEPA estimates that drinking water can make up 20 percent or more of a person's total exposure to lead.

Lead is unusual among drinking water contaminants because it seldom occurs naturally in water supplies like rivers and lakes. It enters drinking water primarily as a result of corrosion or wearing away of materials containing lead in the water distribution system and household plumbing.

These materials include lead-based solder used to join copper pipe, brass and chrome-plated brass faucets, and in some cases, pipes made of lead that connect your house to the water main, called lead service lines. In 1986, Congress banned the use of lead solder containing greater than 0.2 percent lead and restricted lead content of faucets, pipes, and other plumbing materials to 8.0 percent.

When water stands in lead pipes or plumbing systems containing lead for several hours or more, the lead dissolves into your drinking water.

This means the first water drawn from the tap in the morning or later in the afternoon after you return from work or school, can contain fairly high levels of lead.

STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO REDUCE EXPOSURE TO LEAD IN DRINKING WATER

Despite our best efforts to control water corrosivity and remove lead from the water supply, lead levels in some homes or buildings can be high. To find out whether you need to take action in your own home, have your drinking water tested to determine if it contains excessive concentrations of lead. Testing is essential because you cannot see, taste, or smell lead in drinking water.

For more information about water testing and a list of local laboratories, call City Hall a 276-7791. If a test indicates drinking water drawn from a tap in your home contains lead above 15 ppb, take these precautions:

1. FLUSH YOUR SYSTEM
Let water run from the tap before using it for drinking or cooking anytime water has gone unused for more than six hours. The longer it resides in your home's plumbing, the more lead it may contain. Flushing the tap means running the cold water faucet until the water gets noticeably colder, usually about 15-30 seconds. If your house has a lead service line, you may have to flush water longer, perhaps one minute, before drinking.

Although toilet flushing or showering flushes water through a portion of your home's plumbing system, you still need to flush the water in each faucet before using it for drinking or cooking. Flushing tap water is a simple and inexpensive measure you can take to protect your family's health. It usually uses less than one or two gallons of water and costs less than five cents per month.

To conserve water, fill a couple of bottles for drinking after flushing the tap, and whenever possible, use the first flush water to wash dishes or water plants. If you live in a high rise building, letting the water flow before using it may not work to lessen your risk from lead. These plumbing systems have more and sometimes larger pipes than smaller buildings. Ask your landlord for help in locating the source of lead and for advice on reducing the lead level.

2. USE ONLY COLD WATER FOR COOKING AND DRINKING
Try not to cook with or drink water from the hot tap. Hot water can dissolve more lead more quickly than cold water. If you need hot water, draw water from the cold tap and heat it.

3. REMOVE LOOSE LEAD SOLDER AND DEBRIS
Remove loose lead solder and debris from plumbing materials installed in newly constructed homes where plumbing has recently been replaced, by removing faucet strainers (aerators) from all taps and running water for 3 to 5 minutes. Thereafter, periodically remove strainers and flush out debris.

4. IDENTIFY AND REPLACE LEAD MATERIALS WITH LEAD-FREE ONES

If your copper pipes are joined with lead solder that has been installed illegally since it was banned in 1986, notify the plumber who did the work and request it be replaced with lead-free solder. Lead solder looks dull gray, and when scratched with a key looks shiny. In addition, notify the Idaho Division of Environmental Quality about the violation.

5. DETERMINE WHETHER YOUR SERVICE LINE IS MADE OF LEAD
The best way to determine if your service line is made of lead is by either hiring a licensed plumber to inspect the line or by contacting the plumbing contractor who installed it.

You can identify the plumbing contractor by checking the city's record of building permits which should be maintained in files at the city or county building department. A licensed plumber can at the same time check to see if your home's plumbing lead solder, lead pipes, or pipe fittings that contain lead.

The City also maintains records of materials located in the distribution system. If the service line connecting your dwelling to the water main contributes more than 15 ppb of lead to your drinking water after the comprehensive treatment program is in place, the City is required to replace the line.

If the line is only partially controlled by the City of Juliaetta, the City is required to provide you with information on how to replace your portion of the service line, offer to replace that portion of the line at your expense, and take a follow-up tap water sample with 14 days of replacement.

Acceptable replacement alternatives include copper, steel, iron, and plastic.

6. HAVE AN ELECTRICIAN CHECK YOUR WIRING

If grounding wires from the electrical system are attached to your pipes, corrosion may be greater. Check with a licensed electrician or your local electrical code to determine if your wiring can be grounded elsewhere. DO NOT attempt to change the wiring yourself because improper grounding can cause electrical shock and fire hazards.

The steps described above will reduce the lead concentrations in your drinking water. However, if a water test indicates that drinking water coming from your tap contains lead concentrations in excess of 15 ppb after flushing or after the city has completed its actions to minimize lead levels, you may want to take these additional measures.

7. PURCHASE OR LEASE A HOME TREATMENT DEVICE

Home treatment devices are limited in that each unit treats only the water that flows from the faucet to which it is connected, and all devices require periodic maintenance and replacement.

Devices such as reverse osmosis systems or distillers can effectively remove lead from your drinking water. Some activated carbon filters may reduce lead levels at the tap; however, all lead reduction claims should be investigated. Be sure to check the actual performance of a specific home treatment device before and after installing the unit.

8. PURCHASE BOTTLED WATER FOR DRINKING OR COOKING

You can purchase bottled water for home consumption as an alternative to tap water.

Your family doctor or pediatrician can perform a blood test for lead and provide you with information about health effects of lead.

Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, 334-6584, can provide you with information about the health effects of lead and how you can have your child's blood tested.
