

Main Street Project Revealed as Part Of a Larger Plan

By Frank Jacobson

When Kendrick's Mayor Jerry Brown identified the topic for the August 31 public hearing as the "Main Street project," he was only partly right. Finally one was to learn that the talk of a three phase program referred to by those who'd done their homework was right on. In fact, as the presentation by JUB Engineers of Coeur d'Alene proceeded, it turned out that Kendrick's overall project to improve water and sewer services could in time go through six phases and that the cost to the individual household could increase by up to $30 a month.

The reader shouldn't panic—not yet anyway. For now two proposals are being studied by the Kendrick city council, each proceeding through the first four phases. In the so-called A Proposal, the options include (1) the Main Street project, including new water and sewer lines under a reconstructed Highway 3, (2) a new well, (3) establishment of a reserve account, and (4) additional water lines (laterals off Main Street, for example). Total cost, $1,700,000 with $450,000 of it to be financed through a bond issue increasing the household cost of service by $1.38.

An Option B proposal totaling $1,790,000 for the first four phases would include provision for $90,000 to completely replace Main Street sidewalks, which under Proposal A would be repaired only and that where utilities necessitated crossing established sidewalks, whatever their condition. The inclusion in this proposal to provide for all new sidewalks is a welcome wrinkle in the plans for Main Street and responds to a major need in the city of Kendrick.

Sidewalk replacement would be financed from a block grant proposal totaling $420,000 in phase 1. The additional cost per household for all four phases in Proposal B would be $14.86 a month to cover a bond issue of $540,000.

As it turns out, having figures like those cited above does not simplify deciding what Kendrick currently needs in the way of water services and what the voter will be willing to support come the November election. The reader should put himself in the place of a city council member and try to decide how many phases of either plan the household may be able and willing to underwrite through increased monthly service fees. It is not a simple task. The final decision regarding the scope of the bond election will be a mixture of prudence and fiscal reality, along with a large measure of sheer gamble, particularly with reference to the amount of the community development block grant!

The Mayor, following the engineer's presentation, called for reaction from Kendrick residents. Among those responding, Pete Ware noted that we've already moved from a Main Street project into what now proves to be at least a four phase project for water services improvement, with two more phases waiting in the wings. His question for the mayor—and for all of us—was, "Where does it all end?" Will he and others be able to afford to retire and go on living in Kendrick on a fixed income? As for those who shrug off such a concern by saying, "Well, that's the way it goes," that sounds more like dollars speaking than concern for the people who've lived here and helped make this town what it is.

There were affirmative responses from the audience concerning what quickly became known as "the fifteen dollar plan." These individuals, without having time to study the figures presented to them, were willing to go all out. Not so Frank Abrams, who offered a motion to direct the council to seek public support for a bond issue to help underwrite the costs of the first two phases only of Proposal B. The rules of parliamentary procedure defeated his intent, but his call for a limited approach to improving water services is a model of trying to be realistic, at least as one man sees the situation.

Your writer is concerned about the poor attendance at that August 31 meeting, both of the town's reputed leaders and if its business and institutional representatives whose silence on the issue is ominous. This is their community, too, not just that of a handful who turn out for a highly informative evening meeting. What does their seeming indifference communicate? Let them look at the two proposals before the council, let them struggle with the question of what to do, and let them be heard! One could count the businesses represented there on one hand. And his other hand could be used to count the institutions and organizations represented. Shameful!

Oh, and for those of you who would ask what business it is of a resident of Leland, NezPerce County, to be concerned about this, my ans-

Storytime at Juliaetta Library Thursday Mornings

The Juliaetta Library will have Storytime for pre-schoolers on Thursday mornings at 10:30, reminding librarians Jan Welles. All are welcome to attend and parents are encouraged to stay for the program and also invited to bring younger siblings if they would like. The programs are geared to children from 3 to 5 years of age, with Mrs. Welles reading several short books and then the children may make an easy craft to take home. The library staff feels that this is an excellent opportunity for parents to meet others with children the same age and also for the children to interact with others before starting school.

Because of a time constraint, the Kindergarten students will not be joining the storytime once a month as they usually do. However, all those kindergarten students who aren't in school on Thursday should feel welcome to join the others for Storytime.

The library will still show two short films from the State Library on one Thursday each month. These films are for pre-school age children and have always been enjoyed by everyone in the past. The first and second grades will still be making their monthly visit to the library and Mrs. Welles will still be taking books to the Juliaetta Elementary School once a month to share with the students.

Anyone who has not received an application for a library card for their student may pick one up at the library. The Latah County Library requires that all students have a card before they may check out books.

Stop by the library during open hours: Monday 3 to 6, Wednesday 3 to 8, Thursday 10-6 and Saturday from 10 to 12 noon. Phone 276-7071 for more information.

Colton Trips Tigers, Troy Here Thursday

Kendrick's football team absorbed another loss last Friday night on the home field, taking a 52-22 loss at the hands of the Colton Wildcats in a non-league contest. The Tigers are now 0-3, but coach Kevin Driskill still has faith and hope for his young team this week, saying "We're making progress" Tuesday morning. The Tigers put points on the score board Friday night for the first time this season and finished all four quarters.

More of a worry than the scores of the games, Driskill and the Tigers lost two first string starters this week with Jim Tate facing reconstructive surgery on his knee and Nick Anderson out with a cracked knee cap. Tate, a tailback, is lost for the season.

Colton rolled up a big lead in Friday night's game, but the Tigers were able to get some points on the board in the second half. Danny Brown was a pleasant surprise for the Tigers, picking up 190 yards on fifteen carries, including touchdown runs of 81 and 53 yards.

Troy Here Thursday— Someone will get in the win column Thursday night as the Tigers host the Troy Trojans at a game that begins at 7 o'clock. Both KHS and Troy have identical 0-3 records, so someone will finally win.

Please note the game is Thursday night rather than the usual Friday night contest, to avoid conflicts with the Latah County Fair.

Cedar Ridge Dinner Will be Sept. 30

The Cedar Ridge Friendly Neighbor Club will serve its community dinner on Saturday, Sept. 30 beginning at 5 p. m.

Look for more information in next week's paper.

Henry Schoolcraft discovered the source of the Mississippi River in 1832 at Lake Itasca.

wer is that I have from the beginning of the community development effort argued that all of us in the larger community of Kendrick-Juliaetta are bound together economically, and that what the citizens of one town vote on does have significance for all of us who happen not to be able to vote with you in November. Each of us outsiders will, in his own way, help pay the cost of whatever you decide. Think about it. Study the issue. Be heard!

Clarence Thornton Passes Sept. 9

A funeral for Clarence A. Thornton, a retired lumber worker and a lifelong area resident, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at Malcom's Brower-Wann Chapel at Lewiston. The Rev. Robert Novak of Kendrick Assembly of God will officiate.

Burial will take place at Lewis-Clark Memorial Gardens with the Veterans of Foreign Wars Baker-Lind Post 3913 concluding the service.

Visitation was from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. at the memorial chapel. Clarence died Saturday, Sept. 9 of congestive heart failure at the home of his daughter, Judy Haley, in Kendrick. He was 83.

He was born Sept. 3, 1912, at Leland, Idaho, to Albert and Sadie Gilbert Thornton. He was raised there and, as a young man, worked for farmers in the Leland area.

He married Grace Elizabeth Henderson Feb. 14, 1942, and shortly thereafter, joined the U. S. Army. He served and fought in a number of battles in the South Pacific, including the bloody battle of Okinawa where on April 20, 1945, was wounded in the right arm and thigh. Attached to the infantry, Thornton had been overseas 20 months and had also taken part in the battle for Makin Island prior to being wounded on Okinawa, and for which he received the Purple Heart. He was honorably discharged later that year.

After he returned to the United States, he and his wife moved to Kendrick, where he worked at Mead and Howard Lumber Co. After Mead and Howard closed, he started working for Gem State Lumber Co at Juliaetta. He worked there until he retired in 1970 because of emphysema. His wife died Feb. 8, 1982.

Clarence enjoyed hunting and talking to his friends, both young and old. He was a familiar figure sitting on the Main Street "Liar's Bench". And many who saw that "old fellow" who always said hello when you passed, never knew they were talking to one of the community's genuine war heroes who had shed his blood on the beaches of the South Pacific during one of the fiercest battles of World War II. Clarence would never tell you he'd talk about the weather, hunting, fishing, the old days, or anything else—but he never told you that.

He attended Kendrick Assembly of God and was a member of Baker-Lind Post 3913, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Survivors include one stepson, Raymond Eugene Lockett of St. Maries, Idaho; two daughters, Judy Haley and Karoleen Lohman, both of Kendrick; two sisters, Edith Boggs and Alice Bluhm, both of Everett, Wash.; seven grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Four brothers and four sisters died previously. The family suggests that memorial, if desired, may be made to the Juliaetta-Kendrick Ambulance Fund.

Birthday Celebrations were Enjoyable for Thelma Meyer

My celebration began at the Senior Citizens special birthday dinner on August 30 with my foster son and wife, Lawrence and Jo Abitz of Seattle and their family and friends. On the day of my birthday, August 31, family members including Carolyn and Mathew from Minneapolis joined in a dinner gathering where the menu was fresh coast salmon with garden vegetables and fruit and angel food cake and ice cream. We also celebrated Lawrence Abitz's 80th birthday along with mine.

I attended the open house at VJ's Beauty Bar and had a hair set and manicure.

Saturday, Sept. 2, from 2 to 4 at Cameron Lutheran Church, many relatives and friends came from far and near to greet me with smiles, hugs and special cards and flower bouquets, books and balloons. There was a special picture display and then refreshments including a beautiful birthday cake baked by Marilyn Chase and Shary Silflow. Many family and friends stayed for supper. That night when I went to bed and closed my eyes, I kept seeing your smiling faces as I drifted into a wonderful sleep after such a great day.

I thank the Lord for all of you and all the wonderful ways He blessed every day of these 90 years.

He opened Empire Car Upholstery in Lewiston and operated the company until '62. That year he moved to Kendrick and purchased the Swinging Bridge Ranch mid-way between Kendrick and Juliaetta, and raised Black Angus cattle. He also operated C-R Little Auto Shop at Kendrick.

District School Enrollment Rises

Enrollment continues to climb at both Juliaetta Elementary School and Kendrick High School, reported Supt. Dr. Eldon Taylor this week. The district total shows a 15 student increase with the elementary school being the most dramatic with a 12 student increase and the junior and high school up 3 students. The total numbers are district-wide 390 students compared with last year's 375 students after the post-Labor Day weekend.

Construction at the high school continues ahead of schedule. Roof rafters for the new addition are expected on the site by mid to late week. The pilings have been dug and the concrete and rebar are being poured and put into place at Juliaetta Elementary School. Kenaston Corporation's time line is for the exterior shells to be completed by the first of the year for both additions.

In 1970 the Ludwigs were appointed to Panama for a special assignment. They served there until 1972. At that time they were appointed as missionaries to Brazil. The Ludwigs arrived in Brazil and have been involved in evangelism and church planting. Rev. Ludwig has served as District Superintendent and Mrs. Ludwig as District NWMS president.

The deputation service will include message and video and a display of items from the field. Everyone is invited to come and hear about the missionary work in Brazil.

Please Don't Burn Yet

Kendrick's acting fire chief Dave Klatt suggests that it is still a little early in the season to begin burn-leaves and other material outdoors. The fire season is still on and despite the rainy weather, the danger of fire getting out of control is still present.

Arts Committee, Community Players Thank You all

The K-J Arts Committee and the Kendrick / Juliaetta Community Players would like to thank all who supported and attended this year's production, "A Dubious History of the Potlatch Valley" on Sunday in the Kendrick Park. Everyone involved had a great time and enjoyed the opportunity to work with one another. All agree that the rewards of such a venture are in the enjoyment of the audience as well as the participants, especially the kids.

It is hoped that through the continued support and encouragement of the entire Kendrick-Juliaetta community it will be possible to continue this tradition in years to come. The generous donations of Sunday's audience will permit all expenses incurred to be met, as well as establishing a small production fund in the treasury of the Community Development Assoc.

Any ideas, suggestions, clothing, or other costumes or props would be greatly appreciated. Please contact Ellen Magnuson, Kari Galloway, or any member of the Arts Committee or Development Assoc with questions, comments, or donations.

As a related development, the Arts Committee would like very much to resume sponsorship of a Jr. High/High School drama club if there is sufficient interest among students. Stay tuned for continuing drama!

Harvest Winds Down in Area

The end of this year's long and often delayed harvest is finally in sight for farmers in the area with most all of the local warehouses reporting that most of the wheat and barley is either in or should be cut within another 4 or 5 days, if the weather remains favorable. Unwanted rain has delayed harvest operations at least three times in the past month, the last was Thursday when another storm put the farmers out of the fields. There are still some peas and lentils to be cut and those growing garbanzos this year are still waiting.

Despite the delays and the extra moisture the crops have been reported as being at least average and in some cases above average. Randy Olstad, manager of Lewis-Grain Growers Kendrick warehouse said, "We're almost complete" on wheat and barley. "There's a few acres yet to come," he added, but thought another 4 or 5 days should finish those up. Lentils are still out, but they'll start coming in better if the weather holds good. The quality has been good, Olstad said.

Mary Belle Larson, one of the managers at Kendrick Rochdale said that co-op was "just about all done" with the wheat deliveries with a little spring barley still out. On Tuesday morning the Rochdale was taken in mostly lentils and some garbanzo for Brocke & Sons. Mrs. Larson also reported that quality and yields were good this year.

Still "burning the midnight oil" Dean Brocke of Brocke and Sons, after eight o'clock Tuesday night, reported that the peas "were almost in" but that that there were still a few out. The quality, despite the rain and delays was "reasonably good" and the quantities were "quite good." Dean estimated that lentils wear about 80% in, and put the garbanzo crop at about 20% completed. "We're hoping for a nice, dry September," Brocke added. "There's only one way to say it," Dean said when asked about the quality of the lentils and garbanzos, "its excellent."

Community Program In Park Pleased All Who Attended

Those who were part of the second annual community program Sunday afternoon in the Kendrick Park "pleased 'em all" and ranged from 100-year-old A. C. Wilson, who stood proudly tall as he was introduced and recognized as the oldest war veteran in the area, down to tiny 6-year-old Sarah Smith, whose performance as a "rock and roll" girl and a salmon heading up the Potlatch River, captured everyone's attention and heart. The program, directed by Kari Galloway, had something for everybody, from the serious to the hilarious.

It was estimated that over 200 people gathered at the park on a beautiful warm late summer afternoon and responded well to almost two hours of home-grown talent.

Using the theme "The Dubious History of the Potlatch Valley," Kari Galloway and her volunteer Kendrick / Juliaetta Community Players traced the history of the area from the legend of Coyote (Scot Carpenter), sitting on a disguised rock (his dad, Jim), to the twisting performance of Elvis, (Kyle Pea), who rumbled through "Blue Suede Shoes" while a bevy of young ladies (Amber Tefft, Kari Dammerman, Sarah and Amy Smith, Rachelle Berg, Kayla Pea, Katie Carpenter, Megan and Mollie Warner, Amanda and Stephanie O'Callahan and Annie Osborne), all responded appropriately. These same girls also portrayed the salmon that once migrated up the Potlatch River. Ellen Magnuson narrated the salmon story.

The arrival of the first homesteaders (Dennis and Deanna Hamilton, Phyllis Berg and Bob Hassoldt), was illustrated and Kari Galloway and Sharon Harris identified each other by their "Tan Lines", as early-day farmers in an original song.

Live music for portions of the program was provided by Danny Fey, Dana Magnuson, who also served as master of ceremonies and chief narrator, and Chas Lyons. These gentlemen were three of the original Cedar Ridge Four.

"The Lard Bucket Brigade" entertained the audience several times during the afternoon. This group was formed from those who participate at the Meal Site and Golden Sunset Seniors and were Hulda Clemenhagen, Gertrude Sneve, LenaBelle Morgan, Louise Pea, Marie Grant, Marjorie Cobb, Ross Armitage and Lucille Magnuson, whose accordion provided the melody. Norman Olson's leadership kept the group in rhythm.

Little Rustle Berg marched as a soldier with Dana Magnuson narrating a tribute to the area men and women who served in World War I and II, the Korean War and in Vietnam: It is safe to report every heart was proud when Magnuson introduced 100-year-old A. C. Wilson, of Bear Ridge, who had served in the Navy during World War I. It was proud moment for the community.

Other more serious moments were provided by John Wilson, Ross Armitage and Bill Roth, who recounted defining moments and well-remembered events such as the construction of a log bridge on Herman Lohman's land after a fire in 1939, the building of the area Living War Memorial /Swimming pool, and the great flood and fire shortly after the turn of the century.

That faith was, and still is, an important part of our history was movingly illustrated by Walt Lokteff, Joanie Wilken, and Joanne Gertje.

Kari Galloway and Sharon Harris got the audience back into a smiling mood when, dressed as 1920's flappers they asked in song and asked, "Ain't We Sweet?" They were indeed!

Dana Magnuson and his guitar reached back a few generations to sing the praises of a beauty in "The Leopard Skin Pill Box Hat" while his daughter Anna, appropriately strutted her stuff.

Jim Miller and his daughter Ruth Ann, attempted to bridge the generation gap as "Grandpa and Clementine" in a well-received comedy routine. And, finally Kari, Sharon and Robert Magnuson brought the program back to the world of today with a rap routine.

The behind-the-scene workers who brought the whole show together included Charlotte, Carpenter, Greg Crouch, Shari Pea, Lori Warner, Ellen Magnuson, Lucille Magnuson, Phyllis Berg, Michelle O'Callahan, Joyce Clemenhagen and Robert Magnuson.

Saturday afternoon visitors at the Smith place were Blaine Sutton and Cheryl Kislig of Lewiston, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown of Helmer and Mark LaBolle and son Andy of Texas Ridge.

Terry and Inez Willenborg of Juliaetta visited Karl and Wanda Enger last week, as did his sister Kathy Doyle of Palouse. Karl and Wanda attended auctions Saturday and Sunday to restock Wanda's Country Girl Antique Shop.

"Knowing the truth about symptoms and treatment can help people realize they don't have to suffer from ulcers," Kimmy notes.

The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today.

Inspection, Review Of Student Records

Certain rights pertaining to the inspection and review of student records and challenging the content of such records are afforded to parents of children under 18 years of age, students 18 years of age or older, and married students attending Public School District No. 283. The District has established procedures allowing the above individuals access to school records.

Joint District No. 283 has established and maintains records in the following areas: Academic, Attendance, Testing, and Health. These records are housed in the following locations: The central files, special education classrooms, and ancillary personnel offices. Individual student files reference the location of any additional records pertaining to the student. All records are stored in secure facilities.

All student records are maintained indefinitely. Special Education records, except for permanent attendance and enrollment information, which the district is entitled to maintain indefinitely, are destroyed when the information is no longer needed to provide educational services. Parents of Special Education students and eligible students will be notified when student records are to be destroyed so they may obtain copies of desired records.

Personally identifiable school records and files of students will be released to only certain school and other educational agency officials unless written consent of further release is obtained. Furnishing, in any form, any personally identifiable information contained in personal school records to any persons, other than the above will be permitted only by written consent, specifying the record(s) to be released, the reason therefore, to whom the copies are provided, or permitted when required by judicial order or lawful subpoena.

Any person, agency, or organization legally entitled to student records and desiring access to such records must sign a written form to be kept in the student's file for inspection by the parent or eligible student. Copies of student records are available at the school of attendance at a cost of 50 cents per page (unless the cost effectively prohibits parent or eligible student from obtaining a copy of the record). Joint District No. 283 is required by Federal and State regulations to make student records available to parents or eligible students who request to see them within 45 days of date of request.

Parents or eligible students may request a copy of educational records and obtain copies at their own request.

Parents or eligible students may request an explanation and interpretation of records.

If any educational record includes information on more than one student, the parents or eligible students of those children shall have the right to review and inspect the information relating to their children themselves or be informed of that specific information. Parents of eligible students may request amendments of records if they believe the information is inaccurate, misleading, or violates the privacy of other rights of the student.

Parents or eligible students may initiate a due process hearing regarding the content of student records.

Needs children. In order to assure that we meet this commitment, so that all handicapped children are afforded a Free Appropriate Public Education, we need the help of the community in our "Child Find Activities".

What is Child Find?
Child Find is a service of the Idaho State Department of education and your local school district.

The purpose of Child Find is to identify children who may have individual needs that result from disabilities (handicaps) or developmental delays.

Child Find helps determine if a child has a disability and what type of educational services would meet his or her needs.

Who is Child Find Looking For?
Child Find is looking for children who are "not exactly the same as others their age". These youngsters may have difficulty walking, talking, hearing or learning. Or they may have behavioral problems.

Who Can Call Child Find?
Parents. Grandparents. Doctors. Teachers. Anyone concerned about a youngster who isn't exactly the same as others the same age.

How Can Child Find Help?
Many of the youngsters who are referred to Child Find may be entitled to special education and related services. And, the younger the child, the more effective those services will be.

Children who are referred to Child Find will receive free testing to determine if the differences you notice require services or if they are "nothing to worry about."

If the child has a disability and is eligible for special education or related services, the public school will work with the child's parents to design a program just for the child.

Children with milder delays and disabilities might not be eligible for services. But the school may suggest ways that parents could help.

Hoffman Family Reunion
August 26 in Kendrick

Descendants of the pioneer family of Charles and Lucy Hoffman for their fourth family reunion Saturday, Aug. 26 at the Kendrick Fire Hall. Of the twenty-nine attending there were grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren with husbands and wives.

The only living child of Charles and Lucy is Mary Hoffman Johnson, age 95. She is a very spry and alert young lady but decided that the long trip would be too tiring to attempt. Her daughter, Dorothy Matter of Coeur d'Alene was present. Roy Winegardner and Helen Swadener left the picnic early in order to drive to Coeur d'Alene and Kellogg to have a very pleasant visit with Aunt Mary on Sunday evening and Monday morning.

Other grandchildren present were Betty Hoffman Thoren and husband Bob from Tacoma, LenaBelle Hoffman Morgan from Kendrick, Lizzie Hoffman Gates from Vancouver, Washington, who came with her brother Adell and his wife Edie from LaPine, Oregon, Bernice Cludray Loomis from Lewiston, Rodney Smith from Ashland, Oregon, Willard Smith from Sumpter, Oregon, Jim Whittinger from Kendrick, Roy Winegardner from St. David, Ariz., and Helen (Winegardner) Gjovaag Swadener from Marysville, Wash. Great-grandchildren were Willard Smith's children Larry, Jan and Duane and LenaBelle Morgan's daughter Jan and son Roger. Great-great grandchildren present were Kyle Smith, grandson of Willard, Lew Anderson, grandson of Bernice Loomis, as well as Lew's son Nick. Several family friends came by in the afternoon to visit.

It was a very pleasant gathering of the family. A potluck lunch was enjoyed at noon and the time was spent visiting and catching up on activities and family changes during the year. The group looks forward to another such reunion in 1996 and are hoping for more of the younger generation to take part and keep up the memories of this pioneer family.

The first Boy Scout troop was founded by Lord Robert Baden-Powell, an English General in 1908.

KCK Members Traveled to Southfork for Weekend

The Kendrick Campers Klub selected the South Fork campground on the South Fork of the Clearwater River as the destination for another enjoyable weekend outing.

Making the trip were Jim and Jeanne Black, Roy and Edith Johnson, Fred and Alice Snyder, Jim and Jeanette Thiel, Gordon and Frances Peters, and Marge and Elmo Eldridge. The fishing was "just fair", but all enjoyed relaxing walks, and beautiful campfires. Jim Black sang and accompanied himself on a ukulele that he had handcrafted and Gordon played several songs on his harmonica. The group also enjoyed the traditional Saturday noon potluck.

Enroute home Sunday morning, 4 couples stopped at Julinda's where they enjoyed a delicious breakfast. It was a good outing.

A hanging basket attached to the inside of a closet door can hold paper bags or other items.
